NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WAY AHEAD ON SEEDING

Minnesota Red River Valley Farmers Have Spring Work Well Along.

Fully 50 Per Cent of Wheat Seeded and in Some Portions More.

Crookston, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seeding operations in the Minnesota Red River valley are far in advance of ordinary at this date, due to ideal weather conditions of the past week.

Fully 50 per cent of the wheat is in the ground throughout the valley, and in portions of Polk county 75 per cent of the wheat is seeded. Many farmers have finished their wheat seeding, and there is already a considerable acreage of oats sown. The ground is in ideal condition, the soil working up like a great garden patch.

After a 100-mile automobile trip yesterday, County Commissioner J. D. McPhee, who made an inspection trip through southern Polk county with James Stoddard, assistant land commissioner for the Great Northern, said: "The Red River valley never gave better promise. Owing to the large amount of plowing done last fall and the ideal conditions this spring, the acreage will be large, and as the farmers got an early start, more work will be put on the fields than usual. It will also give the farmers more time to prepare their corn ground properly."

More Corn and Clover.

There is a noticeable increase in the amount of corn, alfalfa and clover the farmers are preparing to sow this spring. C. C. Heath, at the head of the First State Bank of Beltrami, stated that he had sold, through the bank, 2,000 pounds of alfalfa seed and 3,000 pounds of clover seed, interesting himself in this simply to promote better farming. He also stated that the corn acreage around Beltrami in southern Polk county would be increased about 25 per cent. From all the valley counties reports indicate good progress in seeding operations, with increased sales of clover and alfalfa seed. The farmers all have their corn seed as a rule, though the sales have been heavier than usual in addition to the home-grown seed, as a result of many farmers who have never raised much corn going into that crop more extensively. Owing to the high price of wheat there will be an increased acreage of that cereal this year also.

SEES GREAT FUTURE IN DAIRYING WAY

Ensilage Expert Pleased With Red River Valley Progress.

Crookston, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. D. Smalley, who installed the first ensilage cutter in Wisconsin in 1886, is spending several days in a tour of the Red River valley. "This section," he said, "is going to be a great field for the manufacturers of silos and ensilage cutters during the next few years. It is an ideal dairy country, and the farmers are making great strides in herd improvements by the addition of full blood sires and a few thoroughbred cows as herd foundations. The increased corn, alfalfa and clover acreage is significant and indicates future farming on a business basis and a permanent prosperity for the valley and consequently better business along all lines. Every section of the valley I have visited shows a large influx of new settlers this spring and this is another significant circumstance."

Many New Settlers.

Not only have hundreds of new settlers arrived, but they have brought stock with them and are prepared to start farming right, which fact has served as a great impetus to business along all lines. The new farm buildings under construction, the large volume of silo orders and the purchase of improved machinery, corn planters, etc., has served to stimulate business to a marked degree and greater optimism never prevailed than is in evidence from one end of the valley to the other this spring.

BEMIDJI WILL VOTE ON BONDS TUESDAY.

Bemidji, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Tuesday the question of whether Bemidji shall be bonded for $60,000 to pay outstanding warrants and $5,000 of which shall be used for the benefit of the permanent improvement fund, will be decided at a special election.

It develops that the money can be obtained from the state for 4 per cent, which would mean a saving of 2 per cent to the city, as 6 per cent interest is now charged on all unpaid warrants held by the banks, and it would also do away with the discounting of warrants, which is the common practice when the warrants are cashed.

The bonds will run not to exceed twenty years from date given and shall be retired as follows: $4,000 on July 31, 1920, and $4,000 each year thereafter, until issue is fully retired.

TO INVOKE INITIATIVE.

North Dakota Woman Suffragists Will Try Again to Secure Votes.

Fargo, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The suffragists of the state are preparing to start their 1916 campaign in a short time. They plan to invoke the initiative and the referendum in order to get the question again before the people. Two years ago they had a constitutional amendment started in the legislature and last fall they also had the question submitted in another form. The general vote defeated the suffrage proposition 49,000 to 40,000 in round numbers. At the last legislative session the senate passed the suffrage constitutional amendment but soon after it was sent to the house the senate recalled it and killed the measure.

SEEKS TO ENJOIN LIQUOR SHIPMENTS

Attorney General Linde of North Dakota to Test Webb Law.

Fargo, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota will be so dry from a liquor standpoint that the desert of Sahara will look like a swamp if Attorney General H. J. Linde's plan to prevent liquor shipments entering this state wins. He will test the Webb national law for the first time in this state and through a combination of the Webb law and the North Dakota state prohibition law he hopes to secure injunctions against both the freight and express departments of all the railroads leading into the state to prevent liquor shipments.

He is here today planning to secure first an injunction against the Northern Pacific, but the absence of Judge Pollock, who is assisting in the "dry"

HENRY J. LINDE,
Attorney General.

Basis of Contention.

The attorney general calls attention to the fact that the North Dakota law prohibits the importation of liquor into the state but formerly this could not be enforced because of its conflict with the interstate commerce laws, but there is a clause in the Webb law which specifically states that liquor shipments into dry territory shall not be regarded as interstate traffic and through the provisions of both laws it is expected to head off liquor shipments of any nature.

Both prohibitionists and the liquor interests are intensely interested over the new phase of the case as outlined by the attorney general and are closely watching the results. Several attorneys here insist that Linde's position is correct and his action will stand the test of the courts. If the injunction against the Northern Pacific can be made to stand the test of the courts all the other roads will be immediately enjoined.

SEVERE BREAKING OUT AROUND MOUTH

Itched and Burned. Scratched Causing It to Spread All Over Face. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. All Healed Inside of Ten Days.

Sprague, Wis.—"I have used Cuticura Soap and Ointment with marked success. I had a severe breaking out around my mouth which itched and burned causing me to scratch. That caused it to spread all over my face and it broke out in little blisters then got rough. It nearly set me crazy some days.

"I had been using other remedies without success until I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and the first two applications gave me great relief. I used the Cuticura Soap to bathe with and Cuticura Ointment right afterwards. I kept on using them until they removed all traces of the breaking out. Inside of ten days it was all healed up." (Signed) Mrs. C. I. Green, July 27, 1914.

The delicate yet effective super-creamy emollient properties, derived from Cuticura Ointment, render Cuticura Soap most valuable in overcoming a tendency to distressing eruptions and promoting a normal condition of skin and hair health.

MILLERS ARE AFTER WHEAT

Market Advances on Good Inquiry Here From Eastern Millers.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 17.—After a period of hesitancy at the outset, wheat prices again moved up today, and the close was strong on all the American markets.

An interesting feature reported was the development of buying from Eastern millers, some of it being presumably for export. A local milling company advised the booking of a substantial order in patent flour from the Belgian Relief committee. The springing up of export demand for flour is regarded with satisfaction by Duluth grain men as it will afford an opportunity to market considerable off-grade wheat for which there has up to the present been only a limited sale.

It is reported that the Dutch government is in the market for a large quantity of flour, and that France is also disposed to buy freely.

The extent of the export business being put through is shown in the heavy clearances being recorded from day to day. Today wheat and flour clearances were reported at 946,000 bu, and 726,000 bu for oats were sent out.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.58⅝, and it closed ⅞c up at $1.59½. July opened unchanged to ⅛c up at $1.56@1.56⅛, and closed ¾c up at $1.56¾ bid. September closed 1⅝c up at $1.21 bid, that being taken as evidence of the interest being already displayed in the new crop.

Durum was again easy, the question in the May future working down 1½c to a close of $1.71½ bid. July closed ½c up at $1.60½.

Spot wheat at Liverpool closed with a moderate advance attributed to firmness of cargo offerings, and a disposition on the part of Argentine dealers to raise their offers in view of the strong bidding on that market by three of the European belligerents.

Flaxseed Slightly Easier.

Trading in flaxseed was featureless, with operators marking time pending developments as to the acreage seeded in the American and Canadian Northwest this spring. It is admitted that there will be a material falling off. In the province of Saskatchewan, for example, it is estimated that the flaxseed area seeded will show a decrease of at least 25 per cent.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.99¼, and it closed ¼c off at $1.99 asked. July opened unchanged at $2.02 and closed ¼c off at $2.01¾ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.03¾ and closed ½c off at $2.03¼ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¾c up at $1.79½ bid, and July ½ up at $1.82¾ bid.

Oats closed ⅜c up at 55⅞@56⅜c for on the track; rye, 2c up at $1.10@1.11, and barley unchanged at from 65@76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c up at 66¼c bid, and July at ⅝c up at 66¼c bid.

Le Count wires from Kansas City: "Kansas wheat looks like a garden. Crop is growing very fast, some fields are large enough to hide a rabbit. Another good rain by May 15 will make a crop equal to last year's. Something very unusual must occur to beat Kansas out of another good wheat crop."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market showed a steady undertone, although actual business was light. Increased interest is being shown here in new crop deliveries. Spot market was steady and unchanged with winters, both old and new, about unchanged with Plates offered at 1½d decline. There is talk of larger world's shipments this week with a better percentage to the United Kingdom.

"Argentine rains interfere with deliveries and Paris prices continue to advance with offerings throughout France light and prospective arrivals lighter. The Continental markets do not share the easier tendency and bidding is maintained at the advance. Corn was strong with spots ½@1d higher and very unfavorable weather in Argentina lowered crop estimates and extreme scarcity of Plate offers, both old and new."

Minneapolis cash market was stronger, with a good demand for top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 4@6c over May, and velvet chaff at 2@2½c over May. There were moderate flour sales. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.57 to $1.61 and No. 2 northern at from $1.52½ to $1.58½.

Sales of a fair tonnage of spring wheat to Eastern millers was reported today by S. H. Jones. He regarded that development as a gratifying feature.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Opens Easier With Quick Rally Following Active Buying.

Chicago, April 17.—Notwithstanding that as a result of unresponsive cables, wheat today opened slightly easier, the market subsequently showed a quick rally with commission houses active in buying. Reports of a need of rain in the Ohio valley counted against the bears and so also did complaints of dry soil conditions in South Dakota. The ensuing bulge in prices, however, led to a good deal of selling of a profit-taking kind. Opening quotations, which varied from ⅜c off to ½c up, were followed by a decided advance all around, and then a moderate sag.

Later a fresh advance took place in consequence of shorts evening up for the week-end. Closing prices were unsettled at ⅜@2⅛c above last night.

Bullish Argentine news and firmness in Liverpool gave strength to corn. Shipping demand improved, and speculative sellers were scarce. After opening ⅛@¼c to ⅜@2c higher, it made a substantial further advance before beginning to react.

Word from the seaboard that big sales had been made for export helped later to lift the market anew. The close was strong, 1¼@1¾c net higher.

Oats hardened moderately with corn. Afterward the gain disappeared under a little increase of selling pressure.

Provisions developed firmness owing to the upward tendency of the hog market. Trading, though, was mainly of a local sort.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Industrial and Equipment Issues Gain Three to Seven Points.

United States Steel Real Feature By Reason of Activity.

New York, April 17.—Today's two-hours session of the stock market was accompanied by a further upward whirl of prices. Virtually all the industrial and equipment issues which are said to have received war contracts added to recent gains, overnight advances ranging from 3 to 7 points. Almost the sole exception was American Locomotive. United States Steel was the real feature by reason of its activity. It sold at 59⅞, a new record for the current movement. Other speculative favorites, including Reading, St. Paul and Amalgamated also ascended to higher levels. The close was buoyant. Bonds were firm.

Dealings in Steel were on an enormous scale, with several lots of 2,000 to 4,000 shares.

Directors of the Butte-Alex Scott Copper company at a recent meeting in Duluth decided to push shipments at the mine to its fullest capacity, and at the same time develop the 1,900 and 2,000-foot levels. The directors were very jubilant over the price of copper metal and especially with the very favorable developments of ore in the lower levels of the mine as reported to them by the superintendent, Charles J. Stone, who attended the meeting. The Scott mine is estimated to have more ore in sight at the present time than at any time during its history.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, April 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"Progress in trade continues and the improvement as a whole is of gratifying proportions, but there is nothing in the commercial situation resembling the remarkable revival of activity on the stock exchange, with sales of over 1,000,000 shares a day. This speculative movement, while having a somewhat stimulating effect on business sentiment as perhaps discounting the future, has no counterpart in actual industrial and merchandising conditions as existing today. The cotton goods market is active and the mills are well supplied with orders. Woolen goods are strong. Foreign trade continues active in certain lines. The war orders contribute to great prosperity. The increased domestic and export consumption of raw cotton is one of the influences working mightily for business betterment. Activity in export trade still contrasts with limited domestic buying in iron and steel. There has been a marked expension in foreign demand.

"Bank clearings for the week amounted to $3,021,801,927, an increase of 9.7 per cent as compared with the same week last year.

"Business failures during the week total 501 as against 315 for the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 64 as compared with 30 for the same week last year."

GERMAN SHELLS FALL ON SWISS TERRITORY.

Delemont, Switzerland, via Paris, April 17, 5:40 a. m.—German shells fell on Swiss territory Tuesday for the third time since the outbreak of the war, says the newspaper Democrate. The Germans were trying to destroy a French observation post at Pfetterhausen but the gunners' aim was bad and the projectiles overshot their target, dropping around the town of Beurnevesain.

McHENRY'S ELECTION CONTEST MAY HALT.

McHenry, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the close election here when the members of the board of trustees were each defeated by one vote, a contest has been started and the matter has been taken into the district court. There are two factions her and the chief trouble has been over the building and the management of a town hall. An effort is being made to restore harmony and to have the contest withdrawn.

BIG HOIST BEING INSTALLED AT THE NORTH BUTTE MINE

Barnes-King Company Is Continuing to Pile Up Earnings.

Butte, Mont., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest electrically driven mining hoist on the two American continents is being installed at the Granite Mountain shaft of the North Butte Mining company. The electrical equipment on the hoist is designed to handle seven tons of ore per trip. The ordinary operating rope speed can be increased up to 3,000 feet per minute. The equipment is designed to handle hoisting from various vertical depths down to 4,000 feet, and the cycles of operation have been chosen to give approximately capacities from various levels as follows: 300 tons per hour from the 2,000-foot level, 250 tons from the 3,000-foot level and 200 tons from the 4,000-foot level. The hoist itself has cylindrical drums 12 feet in diameter and the rope to be used is 1⅝-inch steel cable. On this installation particular attention has been given to economy of operation, reliability under all conditions, and safety first.

A system of control protects the equipment against starting too suddenly, overwinding, failure to apply brakes, overloading the equipment and overspeeding. The magnet switches are arranged so that they will not close at more than a predetermined speed. Overwinding is prevented by the operation of the Wessinger safety stop device, and failure to apply brakes is taken care of by equipping the system which operates the brakes with two electric magnets connected to emergency valves in the brake operating system. It is claimed that with the automatic safety devices it is possible to start a cage or skip from any level by simply throwing the lever into the full speed ahead position and calmly walking away. The automatic devices will bring the hoist to rest when the skip or cage approaches the collar of the shaft. There is no fear of the safety devices not operating every time the hoist operates, and they are always in operating condition. They are not emergency devices of that dangerous type which are called upon only to operate when things go wrong and are then found to be in an inoperative condition. Mining men and machinery men say the new hoist is the most perfect piece of electrical mechanism ever turned out by the Westinghouse company.

Barnes-King.

The Barnes-King Development company is piling up earnings and is approaching the time when, stockholders hope, it will be placed on a permanent dividend-paying basis. In March the bullion cleanup from ore of the North Moccasin mine amounted to 3,060 ounces, the mint return being $55,000. The yield per ton on the ore was $11.44, by far the best showing that has been made in a single month since the Barnes-King has been operating the North Moccasin. The cost of mining and milling was $4.50 per ton, making the total cost of mining and milling about $21,600, leaving a net profit of $33,400 for the month, or over 8 cents per share on the stock outstanding. The gross returns on the February operations were $41,705 from 4,287 tons of ore, an average of $9.32 per ton. In January the output was 4,809 tons, approximately the same tonnage as in March, but the gross yield for January was only $44,834.

At no time since the Barnes-King has been operating the North Moccasin has there been so much and such high grade ore in sight as at present. The profits from the North Moccasin have paid for that property and for the Piegan-Gloster mines, together with all improvements that have been made at the latter property and at the mine and mill of the North Moccasin. It is expected that operations at the Piegan-Gloster can be started by May 1. The electric hoisting engine for the Piegan-Gloster has been shipped, and it is anticipated that all the equipment for the mine and mill will be received and installed by the time the Montana Power company is ready to turn on the electric power. The work on the line is being pushed steadily and be complete as far as Marysville within the next few weeks.

The Barnes-King has had an unusual and exceptional career. Promoted and floated in fraud, with practically nothing to back up the big capitalization, investors gave up all hope of ever realizing anything, but after a varied career in the hands of dishonest and incapable men, it was taken over by the men who are now operating it, men closely associated with the Anaconda Copper Mining company, who had much money in the Barnes-King and had many friends who were similarly stung. Under the presidency of Charles W. Goodale, the company proceeded along conservative lines and looked about for other properties through which the company might be placed on its feet. The directors bought the North Moccasin and then the Piegan-Gloster and are still looking for others. The outlook is that original investors will get back all their money and more than good interest on it.

Pilot-Butte Enjoined.

The Pilot-Butte Mining company has been temporarily enjoined, at the instance of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, from working on the disputed vein, claimed by the Anaconda company to be the Emily vein owned by that company, the injunction having been granted by Judge Lynch of the district court, after a hearing which was held in June of last year, the court having had the matter under consideration for ten months. The injunction was applied for in October, 1913. That was when the Pilot workings were at the 2,000 level. It was claimed that the company was mining on the Emily vein from that point upward to the 1,800 level. At the 1,800, according to the claims of the Anaconda engineers, the Emily vein was fractured and faulted. The injunction applies during the pendency of the controversy and until the final determination of the issues. The Anaconda company is also required to maintain the present status of the vein in dispute below the 1,800-foot level of the Badger claim wherever the vein may be found on its dip within tht surface lines of the Pilot claim. As a condition to the continuance of the injunction order the Anaconda company was required to file a $5,000 bond, to which the Anaconda attorneys took exceptions. The Pilot-Butte expected the injunction and appeared in court immediately with a bill of exceptions, which was allowed, and the matter will at once be taken to the supreme court for review.

The vein in controversy is the main vein upon which the Pilot-Butte company has been working, but there are three or four other veins on the Pilot claim, from which the company has been mining and shipping ore until the Anaconda company refused to settle with the Pilot-Butte, pending determination of ownership of the ore in dispute. Since then the Pilot-Butte company has been carrying on development work and what ore has been taken out has been stored. The Pilot-Butte engineers claim that all their developments go to show that the contention of that company is correct and that the vein in dispute has its apex in the Pilot ground, while the Anaconda engineers are just as positive the other way.

The report given out by some officers of the Pilot-Butte company that arrangements had been made with another mill for the treatment of the zinc ores from the Pilot seems to have been a mistake, as the alleged arrangements were never made. It was at first stated that Clark Timber Butte Milling company would take the ore, and later it was stated that arrangements were being made with the operators of the old Heinze mill at Basin, but this deal has also, apparently, fallen through.

Miners' Wages.

With copper at and above 16 cents a pound for a majority of days of April, the miners' wages for the month will undoubtedly be $3.75 per day, in accordance with the agreement of the mining companies with the miners. Although the agreement was made with the Western Federation of Miners and the Butte Miners' union, which are no longer in ocntrol of the Butte miners, the agreement will be carried out with the men, as announced by C. F. Kelley, managing director and vice president of the company. With the promised advance of the metal to 17 cents and more, wages will increase to $4 a day. The arrangement between the mining companies and the miners is pretty close to a profit-sharing system.

BIG BOND ISSUE BY THE RAINBOW

A proposition to issue $400,000 of 6 per cent convertible bonds for the purpose of raising the money required to complete tho payment for the property, complete the Butte & London contract and develop the Rainbow shaft has been adopted by the directors of the Rainbow Lode Development and placed before the stockholders of the company. President Congdon, in his announcement, gives a full statement of the conditions that face the company.

The total authorized stock of the company, amounting to $800,000, divided into 80,000 shares of a par value of $10 each, has been issued and paid for and the proceeds, with the exception of $3,000 in cash on hand, has been paid out.

The money realized from the sale of stock has been disbursed as follows: For the property, $487,731.43, or 61 per cent of the total.

Construction and equipment of Rainbow shaft, $41,468.72, or 5.2 per cent.

Development work at Rainbow shaft, $179,300, or 22.4 per cent.

Butte & London contract (equipment and development), $73,300, or 9.2 per cent.

Legal and general expenses, $12,600, or 1.6 per cent.

Supplies on hand, $2,559.79, or .3 per cent.

Cash on hand, $3,000, or .3 per cent.

These are the estimated disbursements up to June 30, 1915, at which date the company must provide additional funds to carry forward the development work or else quit.

There is still a total of $120,000 due on the property.

The company's approximate requirements are:

To provide for completing property payments	$120,000
To provide for completing Butte & London contract	97,000
For development at Rainbow shaft and for interest payments	186,000
Total requirements after June 30, 1915	$403,000
Less estimated cash on hand June 30, 1915	3,000
Total new capital required	$400,000

In order to supply that $400,000 needed by the company, a bond issue for that amount is offered to all stockholders for subscription at par.

BUTTE-DULUTH REPORT FILED

Receiver Says Machinery and Mill Must Be Kept Clean.

Butte, Mont., April 17.—Charles M. Everett has filed his first report as receiver of the Butte-Duluth Mining company. In it he states he has taken in $8,784.29 for copper sold. He has expended $1,340.51 for labor and supplies in keeping the mill and machinery in order, and has incurred indebtedness of $1,926.36 for the same purpose. These two items leave a balance of $5,517.42. The receiver asks permission to settle the accounts. He says the machinery and milling apparatus are of great value, and unless taken care of and cleaned and protected, would be greatly damaged. He also sets out that some of the creditors have started proceedings in the United States court to have the company declared bankrupt. The Federal court, however, has not yet assumed jurisdiction or taken charge of the property, which is still in his care.

EAST BUTTE MINE IS NOT OPERATING

Active Mining Will Not Be Resumed for Few Days.

Butte, Mont., April 17.—Notwithstanding the announcements made recently there has been no resumption of work at the East Butte. So far as known the active mining operations will not be renewed for a few days. Since the normal production of about 1,250,000 pounds of copper a month requires the services of not less than 600 men, the date of opening the mine is being awaited with a great deal of interest. Former employes of the East Butte will, it is understood, be given the preference so far as possible when the hiring of men begins.

Oscar Rohn, the company's manager, is still in the East. His communications to company officials here indicate he has great confidence in the price of copper holding up well for a long time to come, in view of the possibility of the European war coming to a close soon. Since the property was closed down last fall extensive repairs and improvements have been made to the plant.

TONNAGE TO BE DIVIDED

Development Work Has Started at the Hill Crest Mine.

Brainerd, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Shipping from the Cuyuna range this year, carried on by the Northern Pacific railway and the Soo line, it is reported, will be on a 50-50 basis. In other words, the tonnage will be divided. Last year the Northern Pacific railway connected with the Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore company, whose tonnage had previously been shipped entirely over the Soo. At Cedar Lake, on the Northern Pacific main line, Staples to Duluth, connection was made with the Soo line.

Of importance on the range was the opening of development work at the Hill Crest mine. Hydraulic equipment in the shape of one unit operated by electric power from the Cuyuna Range Power company is sluicing away the overburden. Water is obtained from Blackhoof lake nearby. A sand sucker has been installed and the entire operation was similar to what was so successfully carried on at Riverton by the Rowe mine of the Pittsburg Steel Ore company. Wilbur Eva is the superintendent in charge, and twenty-five men are being employed at the start.

At the Rowe Pit.

The Rowe pit mine is working one unit of its hydraulic system and two steam shovels. A concentrator is being built. It is anticipated that a large tonnage will be mined and shipped this year. The Pennington people are stripping with one shovel the Armor No. 1 mine. The Thompson pit mine is using one shovel.

The Armour No. 8 underground mine of the Inland Steel company has started shipping and is now hoisting from shaft to cars. It is believed that the output from this mine will be 275,000 tons this season. The Kennedy underground mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore company has not started shipping and is hoisting and stockpiling. A record-breaking day was made by the Inland Steel company in its stripping operations last week when 558 cars were removed in one day.

Drilling Operations.

H. J. Kruse of Crosby will soon have two drills in operation again. John Olson and associates of Deerwood will soon start drilling the north half of the northeast quarter of section 25, township 45, range 30. This land is owned by L. J. Alberts of Deerwood, and lies east of Brainerd. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company is drilling for the Pioneer Development company of St. Paul and other parties in the Rice river country near Aitkin. C. B. Buckman of Little Falls, former congressman of the Sixth district, is interested in mineral land holdings near the Barrows mine. He and his associates will soon resume drilling in the south half of the south east quarter of section 10, adjoining the Barrows mine. The mine is situated on the north half.

Good Ore Showing.

The Great Northern Exploration company, exploring the forty near the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine, is meeting with great success. Ore has been found running up in the sixties in several holes.

The Wilcox mine at Woodrow is cross-cutting and shipping the ore encountered. Additional raises are being provided for. When shipping is in full blast trainmen of the Northern Pacific hope to handle a train a day from this one mine. The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd is approaching the 150-foot level, where drifting will be carried on. Charles C. Jones of Duluth, managing director of the company, was at the mine recently and was pleased with the showing made by Supt. Andrew Johnson.

The Barrows Mining company expects to start work soon on its new shaft near Barrows.

OLD DIRECTORS ARE RE-ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Calumet & Arizona Held at Warren, Ariz.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 17.—Routine business and the acceptance of annual reports was the gist of Monday's meeting of the stockholders of the Calumet & Arizona company. The meeting was held at the offices in Warren and was attended by Cap. Tom Hoatson and Peter Ruppe, from Calumet, Mich. The meeting at this time was entirely formal.

The result of the meeting was the re-election of the present board of directors and its re-organization will all of the old officers.

Cap. Hoatson was accompanied to Bisbee by Dr. H. P. Harlow of Boulder, Col., who is the dean of the medical school of the University of Colorado, and who is also interested in Calumet & Arizona. After an inspection of several days in and about the district the party went to California for a trip.

In speaking of Michigan conditions Cap. Hoatson declared the producers were pressing the limit and that every available miner was given work. He told of a bulletin being posted calling for 2,000 able bodied miners.

MOUNTAIN CON MINE RESUMES

Another Anaconda Property Begins Mining After Long Shutdown.

Butte, Mont., April 17.—The Mountain Con mine, which has been closed since last August, resumed operations Thursday morning, when mining of ore was begun. This means the employment of 350 more men by the Anaconda Copper Mining company, and it is expected to take out from 600 to 700 tons of ore per day at this mine.

The Mountain Con has been down since the European war caused the curtailment of production. It was one of the mines closed at that time and during the past eight months it has been kept in good repair and many minor improvements have been made. The underground workings have all been put in first-class shape.

During the shutdown, one big improvement has been made. A new air line extending from the collar of the shaft to the 2,500-foot level has been installed and has taken the place of the small old one, which was about worn out.

The news that the Mountain Con would start added to the general feeling of satisfaction in the community over the return of good times. The only shafts that are now down are the Mountain View, the Never Sweat, the Belmont and the Moonlight. The two latter are small mines and do not employ a large force of men.

At the Belmont some new improvements are being put in that, when completed, will add greatly to the equipment of that mine.

The Mountain Con is one of the Centerville mines.

UNISSUED BONDS TO BE TAKEN UP

Financing of Consolidated Coppermines Has Been Carried Out.

New York, April 17.—The resumption of earnings, and financing of the company for continued development work account for the rise in Consolidated Coppermines.

The company's Ora claim located in the mouth of the Liberty pit of the Nevada Consolidated Copper company is now being steam-shovelled by the latter company and 24,000 tons of ore per month are being produced for the Consolidated Coppermines company free of mining cost. This ore is being sent down to the McGill concentrator and smelter.

General Manager Gray, who has been in the East for several months trying to arouse interest in financing Consolidated Coppermines so as to permit continuing its development campaign, reports good progress. A large part of Consolidated Coppermines' authorized bond issue remained unsubscribed at the time the European wars broke out last summer and demoralized the copper industry. It is reported that satisfactory arrangements have been entered into for the taking up of these unissued bonds. With the funds thus obtained Consolidated Coppermines will resume churn drilling on the Giroux tract adjoining the Nevada Consolidated workings.

It is the intention of the Consolidated Coppermines company to develop a large ore body on this tract. Already over 26,000,000 tons have been blocked out and it is expected that further drilling will put 60,000,000 tons of ore into sight, with possibilities of over 100,000,000 tons. A very considerable part of this tonnage is close enough to the surface to be mined by steam shovel in open pits. It has long been the cherished ideal of the Consolidated Coppermines company to make a low-cost steam shovel proposition of the Giroux enterprise.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

DEMAND FOR RESIDENCE PROPERTIES VERY BRISK

Many Sales Are Closed and Inquiries Are Numerous.

New Congdon Park Residence—Steel Plant District Active.

As shown in the record of transfers gratifying activity was experienced by real estate operators during the week. A large number of sales of residence properties were effected in both the eastern and western sections of the city, and inquiries being received are of such a satisfactory nature that realty men are looking forward to closing up a good grist of transactions during the next six weeks.

That the own-your-own-home idea is growing is shown in the number of lots sold in the new outlying plats for immediate improvement in the building of moderate-priced homes. The easy situation in the money market, and the fact loans are being readily made upon house propositions is promoting expansion in that direction.

The movement in business and industrial properties is at a minimum at present, but that is attributed largely to the firmness with which all centrally located frontages are held by their present owners, rather than to any indisposition to talk business on the part of investors. At that, however, progress is reported in negotiations covering three important prospective deals, and it is predicted that two of them will be brought to a focus within the next few weeks.

Congdon Park Sale.

An interesting feature of the week was the purchase by W. H. Kilchil from the Hartman Building company, through its agent W. C. Sargent, of a lot containing one and one-half acres of ground at the northwest corner of Fourth street and Hawthorne road in Congdon Park. The purchaser proposes to improve in the building of a home in keeping with the substantial improvements about to be made in the park this season by other recent buyers of building sites. Mr. Kilchil intimated today that he will break ground for a house next week.

Dr. J. A. McCuen has purchased house No. 1923 Fifth street east, and he will occupy it on May 1. W. C. Sargent represented the purchaser and W. D. Underhill the seller in the transaction.

Sales of a number of other properties during the week were reported by Mr. Sargent, the list including a house at Fifty-first avenue east and Glenwood street at $2,000; two 80-acre tracts and a 20-acre tract at Wrenshall; a lot on Seventeenth avenue east; and a lot on Robinson street, Lakeside. A good inquiry was met with by him for houses and for home-craft parcels both in large and small areas.

The N. J. Upham company reported the sale of house No. 6210 Greene street, West Duluth. Interest in Waverly park lots was advised to be improving and the indications now are that a number of deals will be put through by the end of the month, said Mr. Upham.

The Gary Land company advised the sale of five lots in Gary Central division to outside investors. As a result of the resumption of construction work at the steel plant, substantial improvement has already come about in investment inquiry for properties in that section and considerable activity is predicted during the season.

Marked expansion in inquiry for building lots in the outlying districts and house properties was advised by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. Sales of two lots at Lakeside, a lot in Hunter's Park and a lot in the Park Drive division were put through during the week.

W. M. Prindle & Co. sold a house and lot on Twelfth avenue east to Mrs. H. F. Allen at a consideration of $8,000 and a house, 1101 East Third street, to Joseph Randall at $6,000.

A brick flat building on Ninth avenue east was sold by the same office to A. Schonfield at $5,000 and earnest money was taken on four other house sales in the Eastern section of the city.

Harry L. George reported the sale of an 80-acre farm at Clover Valley, north of Palmer's station to a buyer who proposes to begin improvements upon it this spring.

Richardson, Day & Cheadle reported an improved market with many inquiries and some sales. The sales reported by them are as follows: A six-acre and a five-acre tract in Norton's Duluth outlots; a fifty-foot frontage on the Boulevard, between Lake avenue and First avenue west; a lot on the Boulevard in Chambers' division, and a lot on Brookside court in Norton's Steel Plant division.

The Benjamin F. Schwieger company sold to Bert W. Blenkhorn, for Louis Oullette, a five-room dwelling at No. 119 Devonshire street, at a consideration of $2,000.

The Western Realty company reported the sale of a five-room house at No. 613 Twenty-third avenue west to Axel Wall for $2,500; also a half-acre tract in Homebuilders' Park to Ernest Martinson for $425.

Charles P. Craig & Co. sold for the Lakeside Land company to W. E. King a lot on Dodge street for immediate improvement. A house and lot on Dodge street was also sold to Carl H. Ehls. That office besides sold a 2½-acre tract on the Lester river to J. P. Rossman. He will improve in the building of a modern summer home.

Stryker, Manley & Buck sold for A. W. Johnson to David Tessler, a house and lot on Fourth street, near Eleventh avenue east at $4,100. An active week was experienced by the office in the inquiry for lots at Ingleside Park. Sales were made to the following: A. Brotherton, G. E. Morterud, A. Morterud, J. E. Hedlund and Charles Elofson.

SEVERAL ADDITIONS TO LIST OF HANDSOME RESIDENCES

Five New Structures Are Planned for Congdon Park District.

Building Inspector's Office Sets Record for the Season.

High-class residences in the eastern districts of the city featured in this week's record of building operations. Just as had been foreshadowed, Duluth's substantial coterie of modern residences is to be considerably augmented this season. In addition to several new undertakings of that nature it is announced that work decided upon last summer but deferred on account of the disturbed financial conditions is to be proceeded with at once.

Under the former head comes a handsome home for F. A. Cokefair to be built at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Kent road at an estimated cost of $25,000. The exterior is to be of tile and stucco and in its interior plan some new features designed to contribute to comfort and convenience will be introduced. The plans and specifications for it have gone out for figures from the office of F. G. German, architect, and they are due to be returned by April 22.

Plans for the proposed G. A. Tomlinson home in Congdon Park, also prepared by Mr. German, will go out for figures next week. It will be of tile and stucco construction and will be rated as one of the handsomest residences in the city. A brick garage was built on the property last fall and the foundation for the house was then laid.

Three other homes in Congdon Park will be proceeded with immediately and an extended season's program is assured there.

Bids upon the W. C. Agnew residence were opened yesterday at the office of Frederick W. Perkins, architect, and, after going through a number of close figures entered, the general contract was awarded to Otto Johnson. The home will be of brick, with a slate roof. With a modern garage attached it will be 45 by 150 feet in size upon its ground floor, making one of the most commodious houses in Duluth.

Another proposal there is a residence for W. H. Kilchil on one and one-half acres of ground bought by him this week at the northwest corner of Fourth street and Hawthorne road. It is intimated that a home fully in keeping with the size of the lot and its favorable location will be built at once and that the ground for the foundation will be broken next week.

Plans for the G. H. Spencer home to be built in the park are also in preparation by F. W. Perkins, and they will go out for figures within a week or ten days.

Work Becomes Active.

A record for the season in the number of jobs authorized by the building inspector was set this week. They numbered fifty-five, involving improvements estimated to cost $36,385. With a few exceptions they were for home building and improvements.

In the way of business blocks, plans are out for figures from the office of F. G. German upon a one-story brick building, with full commercial basement, to go up at Superior street and Twenty-third avenue west. The F. I. Salter company is the agent for the owners of the property.

McLeod & Smith have started upon their pile and reinforced concrete foundation contract for the new Gowan-Lenning-Brown wholesale grocery plant upon Lake avenue south. Plans for the superstructure are now in preparation by F. G. German, and they will be ready for figures in a couple of weeks.

C. E. Nystrom, architect, has been commissioned to prepare plans for remodeling and reinforcing the school at Roosevelt, Minn. At present the structure is regarded as unsafe, and only the ground floor is being used for classrooms.

George H. Lounsberry has been awarded the contract for building a

CHECK IS NO GOOD.

Former North Dakotan Is Arrested in Minnesota.

Staples, Minn., April 17.—A. H. Armstrong, who recently moved from Petersburg, N. D., to a farm across the river from Motley, is in trouble over a check which he turned in to the Thompson Land company for $1,900 on a lumber deal. He was put under arrest Wednesday.

It seems that about a week ago Armstrong bought $2,200 worth of lumber and wood at Motley, making a check for $1,000 on a bank at Petersburg, N. D., for the first payment and securing the balance with a mortgage. The check came back protested; hence the arrest.

It is alleged that his wife has money in the aforesaid bank and that up to the present time both he and she have been checking on this money without trouble, but that the bank now refuses to honor checks drawn by the husband, for some reason or other.

The steamer Charles S. Hebard, C. H. Francke, master, was the first boat to leave Duluth harbor for the lower lakes this season, passing out through the piers of the Duluth entry at 2 o'clock this morning, bound for Buffalo with wheat. The Hebard, which is owned by the Wilson Transportation company of Cleveland, will take about four days for the trip, and no delays are expected as the ice situation is pretty well defined and the route is quite clear.

Capt. Richard Knapp, master of the Lakeport, said this morning that he had a good trip. He encountered very soft ice south of Whitefish point, so soft that he had difficulty getting through; and that he skirted fairly large fields south of Portage and near the Apostle islands. The Lakeport has on board the cement she was bringing up last fall, when she was stopped at the Sault. She will leave for Port Huron next week with package freight. Her sister ship, the Lakewood, loaded with cement, will leave the Sault for Duluth next Wednesday.

The Hebard carried 343,000 bushels of spring wheat, which is consigned to Buffalo.

So far as known, no other boats have received orders to sail, but it is likely that several will head down the lakes before the day is over, most of them carrying grain, and one or two carrying ore. Only four boats that wintered here have escaped grain charters. Other vessels in the harbor loaded with grain and ready to go are the following, together with their cargoes:

Boats—	Cargo.	Bushels.
Pope	Wheat	371,000
W. D. Davock	Oats	334,000
Sinaloa	Corn	258,000
J. T. Kopp	Wheat	317,000

SHIPPERS ASSURED OF GREATER SAFETY

All Licensed Officers in Merchant Marine Must Aid Inspectors.

Greater safety to vessel crews on the Great Lakes is assured this season, inspectors say, because of the putting into force of an act of congress regulating the inspection of vessels in the merchant marine. Licensed officers may now assist in such inspections and give information to inspectors without fear of being reported to their superiors. It is a safety measure and believed to be one that will be of much benefit to shippers and passengers. The revised statute reads as follows:

"All officers licensed under the provisions of this title shall assist the inspectors in their examination of any vessels to which such licensed officers belong and shall point out all defects and imperfections known to them in the hull, equipments, boilers or machinery of such vessel, and shall also make known to the inspectors at the earliest opportunity all accidents or occurrences producing serious injury to the vessel, her equipments, boilers or machinery, and in default thereof the license of any such officer so neglecting or refusing shall be suspended or revoked.

"No inspector or supervising inspector receiving information from a licensed officer who is employed on any vessel as to defects in such vessel, or her equipments, boilers or machinery, or that any provision of this title is being violated, shall impart the name of such licensed officer, or the source of his information, to any person other than his superiors in the steamboat inspection service. Any inspector or supervising inspector violating this provision shall be subject to dismissal from the service."

COAL CARRYING AT ABOUT SAME RATE

Shipments to Lake Superior Not Heavy Early in Season.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rate on 2,500,000 tons of coal to be shipped by the C. Reiss Coal company to its docks at the letding ports on Lakes Michigan and Superior will be 30 cents a ton this year, which is the same rate that was pand last year. The contracts for carrying this coal are subject to the going rate, but the companies that have the business have contracts for their portion of the coal over a period of years.

Shipments of lake coal will not be heavy the early part of the season. Some of the coal that figured in the business will go gorward next month, but few of the shipping companies expect to do much before the first of June.

The iron ore sellers have not talked prices and inquiries that have been made have not brought forth a quotation. There has been very little figuring done. Furnaces are said to be using up ore in the yards, and little buying is expected until the furnaces run short of special grades.

HEAVY ICE STILL BARS AT BUFFALO

Northeaster Hoped for—Package Freighters Start Next Week.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the fact that ice conditions in the vicinity of Buffalo are the worst in years, it is probable that navigation will open here somewhere about April 25 or 26. There are several vessels loaded now, and it is stated on good authority that the line steamers of the Lehigh Valley, Western Transit, Mutual Transit and Anchor Line will move from here with package freight about April 25.

Marine men are anxiously awaiting for a good blow to clear this end of the lake, realizing that if they have to wait for the ice to break up and float awayq, it will take the big field the best part of ten days to float down Niagara river. On the contrary, if there is a good northeaster soon, the ice will be dislodged from its hold here and sent kiting up the lake to lose itself in deep water. The ice off Buffalo is already honeycombed and discolored, indicating that the mild weather of the past few days is doing its work.

THIRD LOCK NOW IN COMMISSION

Two More Vessels Come Through Sault—No Trouble in River.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up—Franz, 9 a. m.; Drummond, 10.

These steamers experienced no trouble in making the Sault river this morning. Weather continues warm and clear. The third lock of the American canal went into commission today.

CANADA ADOPTS U. S. CHANNEL RULES

Hydrographic Office Receives Corrected Light List of Great Lakes.

Capt. Albert Swenson, hydrographic officer at this point, announced today that he has received a supply of books just issued by the lighthouse service branch of the department of commerce, which gives a light list of the Great Lakes for the United States and Canada, corrected to April 1. These books may be obtained by vessel men at the hydrographic office in the Torrey building or at the customs office, Federal building.

An interesting development in navigation matters that has come about during the off-season is the change in light and buoy rules of the Canadian government. That government has now adopted the United States rule of having lights and buoys on the starboard side of channels intermittent red, and those of the port side intermittent white. This is considered an important change and it is expected will do away with any chance of confusion. Heretofore the Canadian regulations were opposite in effect to the American regulations.

It is announced by the hydrographic department that this season the gas buoy which, during last season, marked the wreck of the Charles S. Price, the steamer which capsized in Lake Huron during the hurricane of Nov. 9, 1913, will be discontinued, the wreck having sunk to a depth which renders it no longer a menace to navigation.

Further announcement is to the effect that a hand fog horn has been established at the light station on the northeastern extremity of Michipicoten island, Lake Superior, and it will be used in answering signals from steamers in the vicinity of the station in thick weather; and also that this season a submarine bell will be established on Martin Reef light vessel.

Second Vessel Leaves Harbor.

Fleet Starts Next Week.

The Northern Navigation company announces that, ice and weather permitting, the first sailing of its steamers from Sarnia for Lake Superior points will be one week from today. The first part of the season the company's boats will run only to the Canadian Head of the Lakes, and later in the season, as usual, Duluth will become a port of call.

STARVING IN AUSTRIA.

Report Brought By Man Just Back From War Country.

Hurley, Wis., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Angelo Pedri, a former Hurley citizen, arrived Wednesday morning from the battle region of Europe. He was accompanied by his wife and young son and they were twenty days in making the journey from the province, Northern Austria, to America.

They left Hurley for Austria about a year ago and since the war broke out they have been anxious to return to America but were unable to leave the country until about a month ago.

Mr. Pedri says the conditions in the portion of Austria in which he was located are most distressing; many of the people are actually starving, that they have scarcely anything to eat but potatoes, it being impossible to get a loaf of bread at any price. Mr. Pedri carried his United States citizenship papers on his person and hence was allowed to pass the port of Gibraltar unmolested.

NEW HURLEY BUILDING.

W. depot. The building will be a two-story brick structure, 50 by 55, with basement. The excavation for the basement is now in progress and it is expected the building will be completed by July 1.

Deceased was 42 years of age and was born in Wausau. He left Hurley about eighteen years ago and since that time has made his home at Anaconda. He leaves a wife and five children.

North Dakotan Ignores Ruling Against Sending It to Belligerent.

Carrington, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—White flour, costing him about 20 cents a pound, including the original cost and milling expense, is being sent parcel post by Bernard Kasselheim, of this city, to his parents in Germany despite the ruling of the postal department that contraband could not be sent to a belligerent by parcel post.

Ten pounds of flour is being shipped by Kasselheim each week, and several consignments have reached their destination, although he is not anticipating that all of his flour will get through.

'BACK TO LAND' MOVE STRONG

Influx of Settlers to Northwest Brings Steady Sale of Farms.

Fertility of St. Louis County Soil Proved By Statistics.

The "back to the land movement" is making rapid headway, as shown in the steady influx of settlers to the Northwest during the past few years, and the increased sales of farming tracts in this district reported by Duluth operators.

Said Kennith S. Cant of Cant & McLean today in reference to that subject:

Wrong Impressions in City.

"It is surprising to find what erroneous impressions exist in the minds of many city people concerning Northern Minnesota farm lands. To many of the ordinary laymen, Northern Minnesota is a vast, untraveled waste, populated mostly by moose and wolves and a few scattered homesteaders. Many are ignorant of the vast development that has been taking place before their very eyes.

"They do not know of the thousands of miles of roads, the hundreds of schoolhouses that are being built, and the vast sums of money that are being spent yearly by the state to make our Northern Minnesota farm lands attractive to the settlers.

"It is an absolutely assured fact that the man of ordinary intelligence, who is sound physically, will be a complete success on a piece of Northern Minnesota farm land. Upon investigation one will find that the percentage of men who have left the cities to engage in farming, and have later returned, is exceedingly small, the only reasons forcing them to return are in the main old age, lack of help, accidents or misfortune of some kind.

Objections Not Well Founded.

"We hear the objection raised by some that Northern Minnesota lands are hard to clear. Did those same people who raise those objections stop to realize that, if nature has raised such an enormous crop of timber on those lands, she would certainly reward the man who cut down that crop and started to raise another crop of produce of some kind with a proportionately large yield of such produce? It is only logical to believe that the ratio of productivity of any soil is directly proportionate to the amount and size of the crop which nature originally raised on it.

"By consulting the records of the Minnesota State Fair association, one will find that St. Louis county products, raised on soil which was originally heavily timbered have taken dozens and dozens of prizes and probably will do so for many years to come, which goes to prove that ultimate results will pay many times over for the trouble of getting these lands under cultivation. Neither must the items of firewood and timber for building purposes be overlooked in making a selection of a piece of farm land. Is it not considerably better to have enough timber for one's own purposes on his land rather than have it hauled a long distance at great cost? We who live in a timbered country do not appreciate its blessings until we have lived on the plains where the open prairie stretches away in the distance for miles and miles beyond the horizon without a stick of living timber to be seen anywhere.

Northern Minnesota Opportunities.

"Where in the United States can you find so many inducements and opportunities held forth to the actual settler as in Northern Minnesota? In some parts of the United States the settler must contend with poor water or none, in other places, poor railway facilities, in other places no schools, no markets, roads, no wood, no rainfall, poor climate, low prices for produce, but never in Northern Minnesota, with its network of enterprising railways, its magnificent rural school system, conceded to be the best and most fully equipped in the country, excellent roads, abundant rainfall, 10,000 lakes and rivers, wonderful climate and all the other requirements which go to make the life of the farmer happy and contented.

"In my estimation, the cardinal principles which an actual settler must follow in making the selection of a piece of farm land, are as follows: See that the soil is good, get land fairly level, not too rolling, located on or near good roads, within walking distance of a schoolhouse, not too far from railroad and located in a community that will offer good prospects for the future and a chance for the man to grow and prosper with it. Then if he applies himself industriously to the cultivation of his land, in a few years he should be as independent of the rise and fall of the business barometer as any king."

CROPS IMPROVED BY INOCULATION

Experiment Station Tests Show How Alfalfa Quality May Be Bettered.

Tests made at the Minnesota experiment station under the direction of A. C. Arny of the division of agronomy and farm management, show that the quality of alfalfa is improved by inoculation and by the use of lime where lime is somewhat lacking in the soil. This is true not only on land of moderate productiveness, but on land of high productive quality. Moreover the quantity of the yield is increased.

This is contrary to the belief held by many who say that on land of high productiveness inoculation is unnecessary. The general acceptance of the conclusions, therefore, will mean not only larger alfalfa crops in Minnesota, but alfalfa richer in protein, and so worth many more dollars to the acre.

The results of the experiments conducted by Mr. Arny has just been tabulated, determinations as to nitrogen content having been made under the supervision of R. W. Thatcher of the division of agricultural chemistry.

There were two separate sets of experiments. The first had to do with highly productive lands. On these, with no inoculation or added lime, 4.18 tons of field-cured hay were obtained from three cuttings. On similar land, with inoculation but without lime, 4.89 tons of alfalfa were cut, and when lime was added the tonnage was increased to 5.07. With alfalfa at $12 a ton, therefore, the value of the crop was increased $4.92 by inoculating and $7.03 by inoculating and using lime.

But analyses of the quality of the crop showed that whereas the average protein content was 15.73 per cent, with no inoculation, it was 16.83 per cent with inoculation alone and 17.86 per cent with inoculation and lime. Reducing these figures to dollars and cents the gain in the quality of the crop was $7.69 by inoculation and $13.36 by inoculation and the use of lime.

If one is going to use highly productive land for alfalfa, therefore, those experiments indicate that he should inoculate with soil from other alfalfa fields and that, if there is a lack of lime in the soil, lime should be added.

On land of moderate productiveness, with no inoculation, .63 of a ton of alfalfa were grown. With inoculation and lime the tonnage was increased to 1.51, a gain of .88 of a ton, worth $10.56. The increase in the protein content of the alfalfa was even more remarkable. This jumped from 157.3 pounds of protein to the acre to 478.7 pounds. This increase at 4½ cents a pound meant an added return of $14.46.

The inoculation in all of these experiments was made with soil from an alfalfa field.

TRACTOR AS FARM HELP

Steam and Gasoline Engines Important Adjunct to Minnesota Farms.

Engineering Course Offered By Agricultural Department of University.

Minnesota has become a center for the manufacture and distribution of traction engines. More than thirty sizes and styles of such engines are manufactured in the Twin Cities alone, and more than ninety diferent types are distributed from the Twin Cities.

This shows the tremendous strides being taken by the traction engine as an adjunct to the farm. Naturally the increasing use of the traction engine calls for an increasing number of competent engineers. To meet this demand the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota has, for several years, offered a traction engineering short course. This year the traction engineering course will be given from May 4 to June 4 at University farm, St. Paul.

The course is not supposed to turn out proficient engineers at the end of the five weeks, but it is intended to give confidence to possible owners and operators of traction engines, and to prepare the way for engineering advancement. Those who receive diplomas after examination at the end of the course may take out engineers' licenses. Those who do not care to take out such licenses may learn to operate engines on their farms with a greater degree of efficiency and a smaller waste of time through stoppage.

The course begins with some study of physics. It then takes up steam boilers, including the various types, fittings, and management; pumps, including classification, construction, calculations, and operation; steam engines, including classification, construction, valve setting, lubricators and oil pumps, governors, engine calculations and management. Along with the study of steam engines goes a comprehensive course in gasoline engines. This includes the mechanism of the gasoline engines, gas fuels, governors, carburetors, systems of ignition, cooling, lubricants, multiple cylinder engines, and gasoline tractors.

As supplementary studies are included blacksmithing, belt-lacing, babbitting, pipe-fitting, rope-splicing, soldering, and tube-setting.

Work is continued from 8:15 to 4:30 every day except Saturday. Saturday afternoons are devoted to visiting factories and other places of interest about the Twin Cities.

Those wishing to enroll should address J. L. Mowry, University farm, St. Paul. The tuition fee for the course is $15, and board and room can be obtained on the campus for $17.50 for the five weeks.

POTATO DISEASES AND THEIR CONTROL

There are three quite common diseases of seed potatoes, two of which are very destructive in their effects upon the succeeding crop. These diseases are the "Stem Blight" or "Fusacium Wilt," the "Little Potato Disease" or Rhizoctonia, and potato scab.

These diseases live over in the soil from year to year and land once infested should be devoted to crops other than root crops for at least three years. When clean ground is used each year, the diseases are perpetuated by using diseased seed or by sound seed which has come in contact with diseased seed in the bin, wrapons or sacks.

Seed potatoes infected with the "stem blight" are easily recognized by cutting off a thin slice of the stem end of the tuber. If the disease is present brown discolorations are seen in the flesh in the vascular ring just beneath the skin. While all brown markings may not be caused from this disease yet, if "dry rot" is associated with it one can be reasonably sure of the infection. The use of the clean seed plot together with the treating of seed is the only practical method of eradication.

The "little potato disease" or Rhizoctonia, can be identified on the seed stock as it appears as tiny corky black specks on the skin, resembling very much the "black rust" as seen on the wheat. The disease lives over in the soil and in the skin of the potatoes from newly infected hills, hence the disease is easily controlled by treating with corrosive sublimate.

In treating seed potatoes for scab and the other diseases, the corrosive sublimate solution is best. It is made by using one ounce of corrosive sublimate to every ten gallons of water. The sublimate should be put in solution in a wooden vessel (never use metal for it acts on metal). By dissolving it in a few gallons of hot water it is easily diluted to the required strength.

The solution is very poisonous so every precaution must be taken to prevent stock from drinking it or eating treated seed.

One very simple way to treat seed potatoes is to get a tank large enough for seventy-five or 100 gallons of solution and then treat ten bushels at one time. The seed should be soaked two hours, then cut and planted, and by arranging batches of ten bushels while another is being treated the man can be cutting one lot. Treating them should not cost more than 1½ cents per bushel or more than 20 cents per acre, an outlay which is returned many fold.

SUMMER RESORTS.

NE-NA MIK-KA-TA

(which in the Chippewa means East Portage) is located in a sheltered bay on Pine island at Lake Vermilion.

Our choice has been approved by men from the banker to the woodsman who enjoy and know the real beauty of nature. Lake Vermilion (well named the Playground of Minnesota) is attracting more attention this year than ever before. Our advertisements in national outing magazines has sold many tracts to people in the east who have never seen Ne-na Mik-ka-ta, and probably won't until this summer.

Our Money Back Guarantee plan allows one to safely do this. Ask us about it. Prices range from $35 a lot up according to size, location, etc. On easy terms if desired.

Let us send you illustrated literature describing Ne-na Mik-ka-ta together with price list and many names of buyers.

Ne-na Mik-ka-ta as a summer resort has many advantages over the ordinary summer resort, which becomes very apparent upon investigation.

HOUSE IMPATIENT WITH DILATORY TACTICS FOR HOLDING BACK BILLS

Filibuster Charged in Criticism of Obvious Schemes of Delay.

Cuts Made in the Appropriations for the State University.

Bill Requiring Minnesota Stone in State Buildings Is Passed.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house killed the Malmberg amendment striking out the appropriation of $25,000 for the university extension work by a large vote.

The senate passed the bill by Sam Y. Gordon abolishing the office of hotel inspector and putting the work under the dairy and food department.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the house has become impatient with the dilatory tactics that are being used in that body to prevent consideration of woman suffrage, temperance measures, the per capita bill and others was made plain this morning. The word "filibuster" was used in the debates this morning several times in criticism of obvious tactics of delay. The first time was on a proposal to make the little omnibus appropriation bill a special order for tomorrow before it had even reached the house.

Talk of Filibuster.

On this motion Representative Knud Wefald of Hawley said the appropriation bills should be given every consideration, but that he did not wish to be made an innocent party to any filibuster.

Apropos of numerous amendments proposed to the educational appropriation bill, which was taken up this morning, Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minneota said it was beginning to look as though a considerable proportion of the amendments offered to appropriation bills were designed to be a part of a filibuster to

JEALOUS INDIAN MURDERS WOMAN

Postmistress at Keshena Shot By James Wapoose, Rejected Suitor.

Shawano, Wis., April 19.—Miss Mary Dickson, postmistress at Keshena, official agency of the Menominee Indian reservation, was shot and instantly killed last night by an Indian named James Wapoose, a rejected suitor. Wapoose then fired two shots into his head. He was taken to the government hospital where it is said chances for his recovery are slight.

The shooting occurred while Miss Dickson was buggy riding with another young man. Wapoose lay in hiding at the side of the road and when Miss Dickson and her escort came along in the buggy, Wapoose demanded that the girl go with him. Upon Miss Dickson's refusal Wapoose fired two fatal shots one entering the temple and the other the neck.

Miss Dickson's companion fled to the woods

Wapoose had recently been performing for a moving picture film company at Minneapolis, posing an an Indian warrior and horseman. Miss Dickson was a sister of "Tony" Dickson, a baseball player, formerly with a Wisconsin-Illinois club.

TO BE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE FIRST TURKISH ARMY

FIELD MARSHAL VON DER GOLTZ.

Constantinople, April 19, via London.—Field Marshal Baron Kolmer Von Der Goltz has been appointed commander-in-chief of the First Turkish army.

Field Marshal Von Der Goltz in the early part of the war served as military governor of Belgium and in January was sent by Germany to Constantinople to assist in directing the Turkish army which he reconstructed in earlier years.

HOUSE IS FAR BEHIND WORK

General Orders Not Likely to Be Reached Before Adjournment.

Chief Business Will Be Passing of Appropriation Bills.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the senate well abreast of its work and the house so far behind that it is making no attempt whatever to catch up, the legislature today entered upon the last lap of its work.

Wednesday is the last day for passing bills, and the session will doubtless run to midnight—possibly later if the clock is turned back, as sometimes happens.

Thursday the legislature meets to approve the journal, and incidentally to let the members tell each other how good they are and say good-by. The session will adjourn sine die at high noon.

The principal business before the legislature this week will be the passage of the four appropriation bills. The house has passed two of them, and the senate has passed two. However, each must go through both branches, and there will be differences

FAMOUS FRENCH AVIATOR IS MADE PRISONER BY GERMANS

Lieut. Roland G. Garros Captured at Ingelmunster, Belgium.

Well Known in United States Having Flown Here Many Times.

Berlin, April 19.—By wireless to Sayville.—The report on the progress of hostilities given out today by German headquarters relates that Lieut. Roland G. Garros, the famous French aviator, has been made a prisoner by the Germans at Ina Gelmuster, Belgium, seven miles north of Courtral.

Lieut. Garrose is well known in the United States, having flown in many competitions in this country.

Since the beginning of the war he has been among the most intrepid and daring of the French military airmen. His late exploit was at Dunkirk, three days ago, when he shot dead in the air the aviator and the observer of a German aeroplane. He went out against this machine alone, and as his machine was the faster he was able to gain an advantageous position from which he fired with fatal precision.

Two of Garros' bullets took effect

COL. ROOSEVELT ON TRIAL FOR LIBEL IN SUIT FOR $50,000

CASE HEARD AT SYRACUSE

Brought By William Barnes, Political Leader of New York.

Examination of Talesmen in Special Panel Begins at Once.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 19.—Theodore Roosevelt and William Barnes faced each other in the supreme court here today when Mr. Barnes' suit for libel, demanding $50,000 damages, against the former president, was called for trial. Mr. Barnes and Col. Roosevelt sat at adjoining tables but except for one glance by Mr. Barnes at the colonel, neither paid any attention to the other. The room was crowded to the doors and outside the courthouse a great crowd of curious persons, kept in line by policemen, awaited an opportunity to get into the room.

Examination of talesmen in the special panel of seventy-five called for the case, began as soon as Justice William S. Andrews ascended the bench and opened court.

Draws Great Crowd.

The prospect of hearing the trial of the $50,000 libel suit brought by William Barnes against Theodore Roosevelt drew a great crowd to the courthouse here today before even the first of the special panel of 75 talesmen appeared. It had become known in Syracuse that after the lawyers, talesmen and reporters had been seated less than fifty spectators could be accommodated. Consequently those most anxious to secure seats in the courtroom appeared early.

Mr. Barnes upon his arrival here last night held a conference with his attorneys in a hotel. Col. Roosevelt spent the night at the home of his friend, Horace Wilkinson.

The most elaborate preparations were made to handle the crowd at the courthouse. The courtroom itself was practically isolated from the rest of the building by boarding up the corridors approaching it. In these partitions small doors have been cut. About fifty deputy sheriffs and policemen were on hand to preserve order.

Colonel Arrives First.

Col. Roosevelt arrived at the courthouse before his opponent. He wore a large black felt hat, pulled down

TENSION BETWEEN ITALY AND AUSTRIA IS NEARING BREAK

Result of Recent Negotiations Is Now an Official Secret.

Universally Believed That Crisis Is Rapidly Approaching.

Great Britain Is Watching Every Move With Alertness.

London, April 19.—Whether the negotiations between Rome and Vienna concerning Italy's demands for territorial concessions have been broken off remains for the moment an official secret, but it appears to be universally agreed that the tension is approaching the breaking point. It is suggested here that the Italian foreign office is awaiting an ultimatum from Vienna on the subject of Italy's military preparations along the frontier as a pretext to sever the remaining ties barring an outbreak of hostilities.

The alertness with which every move, diplomatically or otherwise, made by Italy, is now followed in London, indicates the high importance attached here to efforts to bring Italy to the fighting line. One of the main reasons advanced for this desire to include Italy in the partnership of the allies is that in no other way is it possible to close effectually the door through which supplies are still reaching the Teutonic allies in considerable amount.

A case in point is the confiscation

BARON DE REUTER SHOOTS HIMSELF

Head of Foreign News Service Despondent Over Death of Wife.

London, April 19.—Baron Herbert de Reuter, managing director of Reuter's Telegram company, was found dead yesterday at his home near Reigate, Surrey. A discharged revolver was found near his body and the authorities declare there is little doubt he committed suicide. Baron de Reuter was prostrated by the death of his wife last Thursday. Her body is still in the home awating interment. Their only son is in the army.

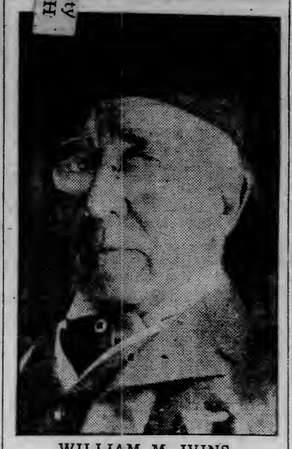
Baron Auguste Julius Clemens Herbert de Reuter was born March 10, 1852. He was educated at Harrow, Oxford and Paris. His wife, whom he married in 1876, was a daughter of the late Robert Campbell of Buscot Park, Berkshire. Besides the son and heir who is in the British army, they are survived by a daughter, who is the wife of J. W. E. J. Douglas.

Baron de Reuter succeeded to the title upon the death in 1899 of his father, who was created a baron of the duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha in 1871. Royal license for permission to use the title in England was granted in 1891 by Queen Victoria.

The first baron was the founder of Reuter's Telegram company, now one of the leading news gathering organizations of the world. In 1851 when the cable was laid between England and France the headquarters of the company was transferred to London.

TURKS PROTECTING LAND SIDE OF FORTS

Erecting Wire Entanglements on Both Sides of the Bosporus.



London, April 19.—"The Turks are erecting wire entanglements and making other preparations on both sides of the Bosphorus against a land attack in case the Russians renew their assault upon the Bosphorus," says the Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent. "A railway is being pushed along the coast for the purpose of carrying guns from place to place as they are needed.

VILLA WEAKENING ON COAST OF MEXICO.

On Board U. S. S. Colorado, Mazatlan, Mex., April 17, by radio to San Diego, Cal., April 19.—The Villa movement on the west coast of Mexico is said to be rapidly collapsing. Guaymas is the only port on the mainland commanded by the Villa forces. It is believed the lower California towns held by Villa troops are unable to resist an attack.

The Yaqui Indians are now conducting an independent warfare and are giving trouble to both the Villa and Carranza forces.

CHIEF COUNSEL FOR BARNES IN SUIT AGAINST ROOSEVELT

WILLIAM M. IVINS.

TO ABANDON OFFENSIVE IN WEST ZONE

Plans Indicated in Official Communications to Italian Cabinet.

Heavy Artillery to Be Transferred From Verdun to Poland.

Reports on Situation in the Carpathians Are Still Conflicting.

Abandonment by the German general staff of plans for a general offensive in France is inferred in Rome from information received there. It is said this decision is indicated by official communications to the Italian cabinet, as well as by statements of Germans in official circles, and that hope of penetration further into French territory has been put aside.

A dispatch from Geneva gives the impression that the Austrians and Germans have decided to concentrate their energies on the eastern campaign. It is said that at a council of war presided over by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg it was determined to transfer the Austrian heavy artillery now before Verdun to Poland, and to send back to Cracow, Western Galicia, the Hungarian cavalry now on the western front.

SITUATION STILL TO BE CLEARED.

The situation is still to be cleared up. Confident assertions from Berlin last week that the Russian advance in the Carpathians regions had been halted are offset by the claim of the Petrograd war office that the principal chain of the mountains, comprising a seventy-five-mile section of the front, is now in possession of the Russians and that 70,000 Austrians have been captured in the last few weeks. It is said in Petrograd that the movement toward the interior of Hungary will be resumed after the troops have been rested and reinforced. The Austrian war office, however, maintains that the Austro-German forces are gaining further victories.

Count Alvaro de Romanones, former premier of Spain, has made a public statement that a "solemn declaration" should be be made by Spain to show where her sympathies lie in the war, without violating her neutrality. He pointed out that Spain's relations with the Triple Entente, consisting of Great Britain, France and Russia, had been more and more friendly during recent years.

CAME OUT OF DARDANELLES

Turkish Torpedo Boat Slipped By Allies' Ships Month Ago.

Attacked Troop Ship and Was Forced Ashore By Cruisers.

London, April 19.—A Chios dispatch to the Times dated Sunday gives an account of the attack on the British transport Manitou by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean sea, based on stories of the torpedo boat's crew, who assert that the second torpedo which they fired hit the Manitou and must have caused considerable damage.

The torpedo boat was a small 97-ton craft named the Demir Kapu, and was manned by 34 men, of whom seven were Germans.

According to the story told to the governor of Chios, the Demir Kapu slipped out of the Dardanelles a month ago and had since been lurking in coves along the Asiatic shore, waiting for a chance to destroy any troop ship which might appear.

The opportunity came two days ago when the Manitou separated from her escort. Having launched two torpedoes, the second of which, according to the men's account, did damage to the ves-

LEO M. FRANK LOSES CASE BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Justices Hold He Has Not Been Deprived of Any of His Rights.

Believed Only Pardon Officials of Georgia Can Now Save Life.

Washington, April 19.—The supreme court of the United States today decided against Leo M. Frank in his habeas corpus case.

Justice Pitney delivered the opinion of the court. He concluded by saying:

"In all the proceedings in the courts of Georgia the fullest right and opportunity to be heard according to the established modes of procedure have been accorded to him."

"In the opinion of this court," said Justice Pitney, "he is not shown to have been deprived of any right guaranteed to him by the Fourteenth amendment or any other provision of the Constitution of the laws of the United States; on the contrary, he has been convicted and is now held in custody under due process of law within the meaning of the Constitution."

It is believed that only the state pardon officials of Georgia can now save Frank from the death penalty for his conviction of the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl.

Sentenced Three Times.

Leo M. Frank's legal fight for life has taken a place among the celebrated murder cases of recent years. Seven times since his conviction in August, 1913, the lower and supreme courts of the state of Georgia refused to grant Frank a new trial or to set aside the verdict; three times the sentence of death was passed upon him and twice appeals were made to the United States supreme court, the first being unsuc-

WILL CLELAND BECOMES DIVISION FREIGHT AGENT.

William A. Cleland, a former Duluth young man, has just been promoted to the position of division freight agent for the Northern Pacific road at St. Paul. Mr. Cleland has been in the employ of that road at St. Paul for a number of years, but spent his boyhood and early manhood in Duluth.

He is a son of Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Cleland, who, for years, was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Duluth, and who now lives in Minneapolis.

Other changes announced by the Northern Pacific are the appointments of James L Burman and Lawrence R. Capron as assistant general freight agents.

Chicago, April 19.—John Cudahy, the packer, is ill of the grip here, but it was said at his home today that the case is not serious. Mr. Cudahy is 72 years old, and every precaution to prevent complications is being taken.

BORGEN FOR CITY CLERK

Palmer Will Not Be Reappointed When Council Organizes.

Voss Will Probably Be Only One to Vote for Him.

Charles S. Palmer will not be reappointed city clerk when the new council formally organizes this afternoon, it was announced this morning, and indications are that Walter Borgen will be given a majority of the votes cast for the position.

Indications at noon were that Commissioner Voss would be the only member of the council who will vote for the reappointment of City Clerk Palmer for the next two years, while Mayor Prince and Commissioners Merritt, Silberstein and Farrell will vote for Mr. Borgen. Eleventh-hour opposition against Mr. Palmer developed yesterday, after it had generally been admitted that the present clerk would continue for two more years.

WALTER BORGEN.

Mr. Borgen has been assistant to Chief Clerk Arneson in the state legislature and he returned to Duluth last night, on receipt of word from his friends that his appointment was no longer in doubt.

Fred Ash, deputy city clerk, resigned this morning and will leave with Mr. Palmer, he said, although his office comes under the civil service regulations.

Mr. Palmer has been connected with the city clerk's office for about eight years and four years ago succeeded H. W. Cheadle as head of the department. He said this morning that he has made no plans for the future, having believed that his reappointment was assured. He will leave the latter part of the week for Chicago, where he will attend the convention of the Royal League of America.

HAD NO PART IN ANTI-TROYER MEETING

Knights of Columbus Not Political Society, Says Head.

George W. Atmore, grand knight of Duluth council, Knights of Columbus, issued the following statement today:

"I wish to make clear that the Knights of Columbus had nothing to do with the meeting held at the Knights of Columbus hall yesterday afternoon, other than to rent the hall to the people who held the meeting. Non-participation in politics is one of the cardinal principles of the order—one that is never violated. The meeting yesterday afternoon was held in the hall which is under lease to us, and which we sub-let. The impression might be gained from the prominence given the name of the hall in the morning paper that the meeting was held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and it is that impression we wish to correct."

Farmer Alleges Assault.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 19.—Andrew Olson, with four ribs fractured and beaten in a horrible manner, caused warrants to be issued for P. W. Masse is under arrest in Grand Forks, but refuses to come to Minnesota without extradition. The others still are at liberty.

NEW MEMBERS TAKE OFFICE

Bernard Silberstein and James A. Farrell Are Now Commissioners.

Council Will Be Organized and List of Appointments Announced.

At noon today Bernard Silberstein and James A. Farrell became members of the city commission, succeeding William A. Hicken and Roderick Murchison.

This afternoon the two new commissioners will meet with the holdovers and the council will be reorganized in a resolution to be introduced by Mayor Prince, dividing the departments in the following manner: James A. Farrell, public works; Leonidas Merritt, utilities; Bernard Silberstein, safety; Fred J. Voss, finance, and Mayor Prince, public affairs.

Immediately after organizing, the council will make the following appointments: Henry F. Greene, attorney; B. J. Campbell, auditor; J. A. Scott, assessor, and Walter Borgen, clerk.

In addition to this program of organization, the council will take up the regular routine of business. The proposed appropriation of $2,500 to pay for improving the exterior of the new armory will probably be brought up, although the commissioners have planned no action on the matter.

Up to noon no restraining orders were presented to the commissioners prohibiting action on the sprinkling oil contract and indications are that, unless some legal action is taken by M. C. Voorhees of the Pure Oil company before 3 o'clock, the contract will be given to the Standard Oil company on its bid of 3½ cents per gallon. Mr. Voorhees claims his bid of $.0342 was lower, but Commissioner Murchison declares that the oil samples did not come up to the specifications.

Business men from Gary are expected to attend the meeting and formally ask for the construction of the 66-foot pavement through the suburb this coming summer.

Contracts for the pavement in Fifth alley, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues east, will be awarded to August Bodin on his bid of $1,336.80, and for the gas and water extensions in Howell street, from Lakeview drive to Vermilion road, to A. Hedenberg on his low bid of $509.50.

Saloon license renewals will be granted to the following: Frank and George Gardner, 113 West First street; R. W. Armstrong, 205 West Michigan street; Peter Beschenbossel, 415 East Fourth street, and A. L. Stevenson, a transfer of Gust Carlson's license at 15 North Fourth avenue west to the same address.

"THE LURE" AT LYCEUM.

Baldwin Players Appear in Famous "White Slave" Melodrama.

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Pope's familiar quotation is most apt in the discussion of such plays as "The Lure," which was presented by the Baldwin Players yesterday at the Lyceum.

The argument for them, of course, is that they point a morsl, and sound a warning. Certainly vice is not held up in an attractive way, but one wonders how many such plays would be written and produced if they were not financially profitable. How long would managers continue to issue these timely warnings if the returns did not recompense them? How long would the theater preach without pay? How long would the dramatist continue to discourse on the perils of the white slave traffic, if he talked to empty seats? When such warnings are sounded for a price, when the preaching is paid for, the motive in producing the plays can no longer be considered as an excuse for them. They must stand or fall on their own merits, or justify themselves with their results.

What the effects are, it is difficult to say. They must vary with the person. In some impressionable minds, such a play as "The Lure" might create a wholesome horror of vice that would have a positive effect for good. In others, it might create a morbid curiosity that would prove the truth of Pope's lines. The general effect of a flood of such dramas and picture plays cannot be questioned. The details of the vice traffic are as familiar to the average young person of today as their school lessons—perhaps a trifle more so. Every dramatist who deals in such subjects is playing with fire.

With the theater-goer of mature years, it is largely a matter of good teste. The character of a mature man or woman is not likely to be affected one way or the other by such a play as "The Lure." But there are some subjects that are taboo in polite society, although the list may be shortening. Even today, the details of the management of an underworld resort are not freely discussed in polite circles. But in spite of the preachments it contains "The Lure" is very good melodrama withal, and that probably explains its popularity. The version as given by the Baldwin Players has evidently been carefully blue pencilled, but the second act undoubtedly has a "punch" and this "punch" has not been affected by the blue pencil.

Even if one's sensibilities have been offended by the details of life in a half world resort, there is still a thrill in the rescue of the two young women by the secret service agent. It is a good climax and well worked up.

The honors this week go to Miss Margaret Lotus, Joseph De Stephani, and William Mortimer, all of whom have the most distasteful of parts. Miss Lotus appears as the dive keeper. She is compelled to characterize, to adopt the speech and mannerisms of such a woman, and she does it and makes it effective. It is the best piece of work Miss Lotus has done since she has been in Duluth.

De Stephani has the role of the thoroughly despicable cadet. He does not shirk it, nor try to palliate it, but "goes through with it," and makes the cadet as low a creature as the dramatist intended him. Mr. Mortimer has an equally unlovely role as Captain Jim, the ward boss, and he plays it as conscientiously as Mr. De Stephani does the cadet.

Mr. Barton appears in the part of Bob Macauley, the secret service agent. It is a role that calls for no great study, for it requires little skill to be the ready-little-help-in-time-of-need hero, but Mr. Barton is thoroughly satisfactory in it. Miss Olsson's role this week, is likewise rather colorless, but she plays it intelligently. Miss Maud Melville has returned to the company and is seen briefly in the first act as the mother, while Miss Keers plays the colored maid. Miss Blair has the brief part of Nell, played in the original company by Miss Lola May.

"The Lure" will continue until Thursday night with a special matinee Thursday.

HIGH STANDARD KEPT UP.

Third Week's Bill at Orpheum Pleases Capacity Audiences.

The Orpheum management is keeping its word.

With the opening of the third excellent bill at the local playhouse yesterday, there was further evidence of the management's intention to give Duluthians the best there is in vaudeville for the remainder of this season.

This week's bill might be said to rank even higher than those of the last two weeks, because of the exceptional variety and novelty in the numbers.

Two crowded houses greeted the players at the opening performances yesterday and in the evening the audience encored every number time and again. Two headliners are featured on this week's bill, and they are both deserving of their positions. Marie Nordstrom, known in private life as Mrs. Henry Dixey, presents a sketch entitled "Bits of Acting," which was written by Frances Nordstrom, who played here last week. In it Marie Nordstrom gives her impressions of what constitutes a popular song hit on the vaudeville stage, how various actresses play tragic scenes on the stage, and how such incidents would be enacted in real life. The act shows thorough training and study on the part of Miss Nordstrom, and is highly entertaining in an original way.

Clayton White and company in "Cherie," scored a hit. The sketch is one of the real classics of vaudeville and Mr. White is one of the cleverest purveyors of slang ever heard in Duluth. He reminds one very much of Bert Leslie. "Cherie" is the story of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington, who have quarreled, and Bruce Ascott, who comes to the home in an effort to bring the unhappy couple together. Mr. White plays the role of Bruce Ascott, owner of race horses, and the manner in which he attempts to help his friend, is a scream.

Mason, Wilbur and Jordan open the bill in a comedy pentamine number entitled, "A Soldier's Dream." It is an acrobatic specialty. They do "everything that is not done at a regular military camp."

Leona Thurber and Harry Madison are still popular with Orpheum patrons, judging from the reception given them on their appearance last night. They return this time in "On a Shopping Tour," Mr. Madison giving imitations of shop girls in department stores. Their version of a vaudeville show, with Mr. Madison presenting the special features, was also well received.

W. C. Field is another favorite, who returns for a week's visit to Duluth. His act is not much different from what it was last year, but the audience enjoyed it even more than during his former visit here. Mr. Field is a juggler who styles himself "The Silent Humorist," and he certainly lives up to his title. He is a scream as a pool player.

"Real class" is the most fitting expression for Kate Elinore and Sam Williams, late stars of "Naughty Henletta" and "All Aboard." The two appear in hunting costumes and offer a string of new jokes. Mr. Williams is also the possessor of a good voice and his song numbers were well received last night.

"Dogs of war" are portrayed in real flesh at the Orpheum this week by Trevitt and his military canines. The dogs are trained like real soldiers and they go through drill manuevers with the ease and precision of veterans. Mr. Trevitt simply gives orders as a captain of a company would in drilling his men. The act closes with a battle, the United States "soldiers" winning out.

The travel pictures take the Orpheum patrons through German East Africa and China. The bill will continue throughout the week, with daily matinees.

Theater Gossip.

The seat sale opened this morning for the Ziegfeld Follies next Friday and Saturday, and for Maude Adams the following Monday. The advance sale has been exceptionally heavy, and the outlook is for crowded houses at the first two road attractions the Lyceum has offered in several weeks.

BIG SEAT SALE

With indifference to cost and but with one end in view and that to please its patrons, the management of the New Grand has booked for the first half of the week an array of vaudeville talent and photoplays that would be hard to beat. Heading the bill are The Four Mikos in an exposition of living statuary. There are twelve numbers all told, posed by two well developed young men and two attractive young women, and although in some of the pictures the artists are burdened with but little else than the silvering for the platinum effects, the manner in which it is done removes all taint of immodesty or vulgarity, it is claimed.

Stone and King open with a bit of nonsense and run a merry pace, winding up with some clever songs.

Fred and May Waddell are versatile entertainers. Fred Waddell's witty monologues are contagious. Miss Waddell's songs are well selected to show her chief attributes, ranging from comic and sentimental verse to quaint melody.

The photoplay feature, "Between the Two of Them" is a charming domestic drama in three parts headed by Sidney Drew. "The Face on the Curtain," featuring "Broncho Billy" Anderson; "Joey and his Trombone," a comedy, and "Sentimental Sophie," a single real special, complete an enjoyable entertainment.

On Thursday the favorite comedian Charles Chaplin will be seen in his latest success "A Jitney Elopement." The story is in two reels and can best be described as starting with a chuckle and ending with a roar.

"The Cowboy and the Lady," with S. Miller Kent, which comes to the Rex today and tomorrow, is the latest release of the Metro Pictures corporation, and the most recent work of the B. A. Rolfe company.

WESTERN FILM AT THE REX.

"The Cowboy and The Lady" picturized by J. W. Noble from the play of the same name by Clyde Fitch, is an extraordinary picture in many ways. The contract between Rolfe and the Fitch estate, compelled Mr. Rolfe to stage the piece in the locale mentioned by the author and in order to carry out the contract, it was necessary to travel more than a thousand miles, with a caravan of ten wagons, eighty people and sufficient material to make a five-part picture. Helen Case and an exceptional cast support Mr. Kent.

"Damon and Pythias," the five-act production that is being presented by the local order of Knights of Pythias, played to a large audience at the Zelda theater this afternoon. The production will be shown tonight and tomorrow in six complete performances for the last time.

FRIENDSHIP PLAY AT THE ZELDA

A new show for Wednesday, "The Dancer and the King," featuring Cecil Spooner will be presented. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Zelda will present the photoplay feature, "Should A Woman Divorce?" This film is in five acts. The management has decided to give everyone an opportunity to see this production, and for the benefit of all those who work in stores late Saturday night, a special performance will be given beginning at 10:45 p. m. and ending about 12:30 in the morning.

FRENCH AVIATOR IS MADE PRISONER

and the German machine crashed to earth. Both the aviator and the observer had been shot dead.

Lawyer By Profession.

Garros was born of French parents at Capetown, Union of South Africa, 1885. He is a graduate of the University of Paris and for a time practiced his profession in the French capital.

The exploits of Garros have made him a prominent figure in aviation circles throughout the world.

Among the aviation records broken by Garros were his flight made on Dec. 11, 1912, when he ascended to a height of 19,032 feet and established a world's altitude mark; his flight from Tunis to Sicily in December, 1912, when he traveled for a distance of 160 miles entirely over water, and his flight across the Mediterranean from St. Raphael to Bizerta. This latter feat was accomplished by Garros in 7 hours and 53 minutes in which time he traveled 648 miles.

sel, they were obliged to make off hastily, as the troop ship's signals for help brought two cruisers bearing down on them.

Outpaced Pursuers.

They headed for the gulf of Smyrna and the torpedo boat outpaced its pursuers, and at night fall slipped into an indentation on the Asiastic shore. It tried to regain the open sea early Saturday morning, but was discovered at 10 o'clock off Cape Kara Burnu by the two British cruisers. Turning back in the direction of the gulf, the torpedo boat was confronted by a third cruiser, and a hot chase ensued in the direction of Chios. In the channel between the island and the mainland, the cruiser gained on the Turk, which became the target for some thirty shells, all of which fell into the sea. Finding flight hopeless, the commander of the torpedo boat eventually ran his boat aground at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on a sandy beech near Komi in the Bay of Kalamuti.

Denied By Guard.

The Turks assert that the cruisers fired on them while they were scrambling ashore, but this statement is denied by the Greek coast guard to whom they surrendered. Before landing they found time to throw overboard their torpedics and ammunition.

The governor of Chios had them sent to Kastro, where they were interned. On their march through the streets they were insulted by crowds of Greek refugees, whose rage was mainly vented against the Germans.

The Daily News' Chios correspondent says the Demir Kapu was the only enemy vessel which succeeded in eluding the allied watch at the outlet of the straits and that she was in a position to inflict terrible damage on the allied troop ships.

Twenty-four Drowned.

An official statement from the British admiralty, issued last night, gives the substance of a further report concerning the loss of life aboard the transport Manitou, which was attacked by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean sea. The report shows that 24 men were drowned, instead of 100 as first reported, and that 27 others are missing. The transport itself was not damaged. The loss of life was due to the capsizing of one boat in the water and another while being lowered, owing to the breaking of a davit.

cessful and the second resulting in the decision today.

The murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, a factory employe, of Atlanta, Ga., which at first appeared to be a crime of only local importance, eventually developed into a case of nation-wide interest. This was due in large part to the efforts of Frank and his friends to obtain for him a new trial or annulment of the verdict. Added interest in Atlanta was given the case because of its having been brought into a municipal political controversy, which involved attacks on that city's police and detective departments and wrangles among factions in the city administration.

Widely Agitated.

Soon after the trial ended, the case came in for agitation which spread all over the country.

Mary Phagan was murdered April 26, 1913, on a Southern holiday in observance of Confederate Memorial day. Shortly after noon of that day she was seen to enter the pencil factory, in Atlanta, where she had been employed and where she went to obtain wages due her. Her body was found next morning in the basement of the factory, with a cord tied about the neck.

Leo M. Frank, a young Jew, a college graduate and married, whose home had been in Brooklyn, N. Y., was superintendent of the pencil factory. Three days after the murder, Frank was arrested on suspicion, and on May 8, Frank and a negro watchman at the factory, Newt Lee, were held by the coroner, for the grand jury's action. Lee subsequently was released. Sixteen days later, "Jim" Conley, a negro sweeper at the factory, made a confession to the police in which he accused Frank of having killed the Phagan girl, and declared he had helped dispose of the body. Conley, who was one of the chief witnesses for the state at Frank's trial, was convicted as an accessory after the murder, in February, 1914, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment. He began his term last July.

Placed on Trial.

Frank was placed on trial in superior court, July 28, 1913, Judge L. S. Roan presiding. Judge Roan died March 23, 1915, in New York. A verdict of guilty was returned Aug. 25, Frank being sentenced to death. In his statement to the jury at the close of his trial Frank said he had seen Mary Phagan in his office in the factory, a few minutes before the time the state contended she was murdered; that he paid the girl her wages and that she left his office. The theory of the defense has been that Conley, who was about the building when the girl entered, and who had been drinking, attacked and killed the girl after she left Frank's office.

In October, 1913, Frank's attorneys filed a motion for a new trial, alleging 103 errors in admission of testimony and conduct of the trial, and also charging that demonstrations by the crowd within and outside the court room during the trial had interfered with a fair verdict. Judge Roan denied the motion and the Georgia supreme court affirmed his action Feb. 17, 1914. A motion for rehearing of the appeal was denied by the state supreme court two weeks later.

Motion For New Trial.

An extraordinary motion for a new trial and a motion to set aside the verdict were filed simultaneously in superior court, April 16, 1914. Among the grounds alleged in the motion for a new trial was that of newly discovered evidence. The motion to set aside the verdict was based on the ground that Frank's constitutional rights had been violated by the trial court. His attorneys alleged that Frank had not been given a fair trial because of the "spirit of mob violence that pervaded the court room"; and also that his constitutional rights had been violated because Frank and his attorneys had been absent from the court room, without Frank's consent, when the verdict was returned. This absence, it was claimed, was at the request of the presiding judge who was quoted as saying he feared mob violence against Frank and his lawyers if a verdict of acquittal were returned.

Motion Denied.

The extraordinary motion for a new trial was denied by the superior court May 6, and the decision was affirmed by the state supreme court Oct. 14. The superior court on June 6, 1914, dismissed the motion to set aside the verdict on constitutional grounds, by sustaining the state's demurrer to the motion. The supreme court affirmed this action Nov. 14, 1914, and six days afterward the supreme court refused to certify a writ of error to the United States supreme court.

To review that action, application was made first to Justice Lamar, then to Justice Tolmes and finally to the entire superior court of the United States, for a writ of error. All held that the decision of the Georgia supreme court could not be reviewed because its action was based on grounds of procedure, namely, that the plea for setting aside the verdict should have been advanced at the time the motions for new trial were made.

Application For Writ.

Application was made Dec. 19 to Judge Newman of the Federal district court for Northern Georgia, for a writ of habeas corpus, alleging Frank had been convicted without due process of law; that the trial court had lost jurisdiction over him during the trial because it was "dominated by a mob hostile to the prisoner," and that Frank had been absent from the court room when the verdict was returned. Two days later Judge Newman refused the writ of habeas corpus, holding that to grant it would mean that a Federal court should review the action of the state courts in a manner not warranted by the law of the country, and that, too, after the supreme court of the United States had decided no Federal question remained for consideration in the case. Judge Newman also refused to issue a certificate of "probable cause" for appeal to the supreme court, but it was issued by Justice Lamar Dec. 28 and the case came to the supreme court for review of Judge Newman's action, argument being made last February.

SUMMER DAY FOR DULUTH

One Heat Prostration; Perfect Weather Empties Hotels and Homes.

Thousands Enjoy Outdoor Amusements; Crowd Streets at Night.

Yesterday was a perfect "summer" day, it was enjoyed to the utmost by all classes of people in Duluth. It was the hottest April day for this city in forty years, excepting April 14, 1908. The temperature registered 81 degs. at 2:30 o'clock yesterday, and one heat prostration, which was probably the first ever recorded here during April, occurred. The maximum temperature for April 14, 1908, was 82 degs.

Everybody Outdoors.

Residences and hotels were deserted in the afternoon, and it seemed as if the whole population turned out en masse to enjoy the perfect weather. The skies were mostly clear and the breezes warm; for once there was no chilly wind coming off the lake. People turned their attention to every conceivable form of out-door amusement. The streets were crowded with people in their best Sunday "togs," and jitneys did a flushing business, and were loaded to capacity with joy-riders, thousands of persons visited the United States ship canal to watch the ice float out into the lake, and hundreds of others hied themselves to the parks. At Lester park rowboats were active, and the oarsmen enjoyed the novel experience of jumping from their boats to large cakes of floating ice. The bubbling fountains on the downtown streets were well patronized by thirsty pedestrians, and the big crowds continued their strolling up and down the streets until a late hour last night. Altogether it was probably the most enjoyable day Duluthians have experienced this year.

Overcome By Heat.

Nick Czakomal, a carpenter, was overcome while standing on the curb in front of a Superior street theater late in the afternoon. Police answered a call for an ambulance; but friends of the man helped him to a nearby drug store and he soon recovered.

Soda fountains and parks did a Fourth of July business, while the police and fire departments had a busy time of it. Firemen answered seven alarms, including six grass fires, during the day.

Early in the day there was a slight southwest wind that allayed the intensity of the heat, but later this was not in evidence, and thousands sought relief from the sultry air, in the parks. The weather was unsettled, changing from sunny to cloudy several times.

Despite the hot sun, thousands were out strolling in their summer togs, or their lightest winter togs. Thousands who did not have their summer gray suits or other hot weather attire, promenaded on Superior street, or on the boulevard, or along the ship canal piers, carrying their extra garments on their arms.

That members of the fire department were far from enjoying a quiet, peaceful Sunday, is shown by the list of alarms to which apparatus responded.

The list includes:

9:50 a. m., grass fire at 25 Fifty-seventh avenue east.

10:32 a. m., grass fire at Thirty-ninth avenue west and Ninth street.

well over his eyes. The colonel stopped in the corridor outside the courtroom and greeted several friends. Then he went in the room and took a seat at the table reserved for his counsel.

When Mr. Barnes arrived in court he took a seat at his counsel's table. Col. Roosevelt was sitting with his back toward his opponent. To all outward appearances neither was aware that the other was anywhere near.

As soon as Justice William S. Andrews had ascended the bench, the roll of the special panel of seventy-five talesmen was called and the selection of the jury began. Each side was informed by the court that they would be allowed six peremptory challenges. The talesmen were questioned by William L. Barnum, a Syracuse attorney for Mr. Barnes. He wanted to know whether the "political prominence heretofore" of either one or both of the principals would affect the decision of possible jurors. He also asked talesmen whether they believed a man in politics might be libeled just as any other citizen.

Defendant Once President.

The fact that the defendant has been president of the United States and governor of New York was also dwelt upon by the attorney in framing his inquiries.

Under the procedure adopted for the selection of the jurors, Mr. Barnum continued the questioning of talesmen. It was planned to have him examine twelve men and then allow counsel for Mr. Barnes to question them. As the examination proceeded Mr. Barnum delved deeper into political and legislative matters, asking the talesmen to what extent they had been interested in such affairs.

Once during the questioning, Mr. Barnes, who had changed his seat, swung around in his chair and gazed at Col. Roosevelt for fully two minutes and then swung back to the table again and wrote a memorandum on a pad of paper.

The colonel seemed to be intensely interested in the answers given by the talesmen. He leaned far across the table in front of him so as to catch every word that was said.

by the Swiss authorities, announced in Geneva today of a carload of machine guns of American manufacture which was on the way to Germany from Genoa. Shipments of iron, copper, antimony and sulphate have been reaching Germany with a fair degree of regularity.

German Statement.

Berlin, April 19, by wireless to Sayville.—German headquarters this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"To the south of Ypres the British were yesterday ejected from the minor German positions still occupied by them in this locality. British attacks along the railroad between Ypres and Comines broke down with very heavy losses to them.

"Near Melmunster, Lieut. Garros, a French aviator, has been made prisoner.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle there have been artillery duels.

"French attacks against our position at Combres and in the Vosges resulted in failure.

"On the eastern front the situation remains unchanged.

"French and British reports concerning victories on the western front are all inventions, as is sufficiently proved by the regular reports from German headquarters."

French Statement.

Paris, April 19, via London, 2:40 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"British troops yesterday captured in Belgium, near Zwartalen 200 yards of German trenches. These they have retained in spite of several attacks.

"We have been successful on both banks of the river Fecht, in Alsace, and our advance is being pressed forward on the north bank. We have gained possession of the summit of Burgkorpfeld; to the southwest of Schilleckerwassen, which directly commands the valley. On the south bank, in the region of Schnefanrieth we have made notable progress, our troops marching from the south to the north in the direction of the Fecht and Metzerol, which is southwest of Colmar. In this district we made an important gain with the occupation of a series of elevations, the northermost height of which commands the course of the Fecht in front of Burgkorpfeld.

"In the course of this action we captured a division of mounted artillery, two cannon of 74 millimeters caliber and two machine guns.

"The German aeroplans which flew over Belfort recently dropped four bombs. These did some damage to two hangars and set fire to four chests of powder.

No casualties resulted nor was any serious damage done."

Permission for transportation through the United States to Galveston, has been asked.

Gen. Davilla, succeeding the late Gen. GEN. VILLA WILL MODIFY DECREE

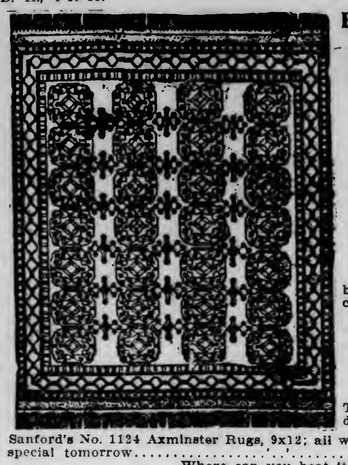
Mexican Leader Acts on Protests From U. S. and Britain.

Washington, April 19.—Gen. Villa's mining decree will not be enforced until he "is in a position to give guarantees and transportation to the industry." State department advices today from Villa's headquarters at Irapuato sent April 16 said the "protest of the United States and Great Britain had been laid before Villa and he had given assurances that he would modify the decree to avoid possibility of international complications. The decree provided among other things for the forfeiture of mining property upon which development work was not carried on or when taxes were not paid within a stated period.



Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported today that Alfred Tappan of New York, threatened with execution by Carranza forces in Yucatan, now is to be tried on a charge which does not involve the death penalty. FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that is absolutely unequaled. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils will open, air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, hard cold or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial.

DIVER FAILS TO FIND BODY

Five-Hour Search of Canal Bottom for Drowned Boy.

For five hours yesterday afternoon Capt. Horace H. Thompson, diver, searched the bottom of the ship canal in vain for the body of 5-year-old Chester Guith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guith, who was drowned Friday night at that point.

Hundreds of persons who gathered along the ship canal piers seeking relief from the heat, followed every move of the diver, as he worked his way from the inner end of the pier to the outside lighthouse. His search was without results, the only failure in sixteen years of diving, according to Capt. Thompson. It is thought that the current carried the little body out into the lake or back into the harbor. In the latter event, the body may, later, rise to the surface, but it is thought likely that the lake has claimed it.

Chester, with two playmates, was playing near the harbor end of the piers on the Minnesota Point side. He ran to the head of the steps leading down to the water's edge, waving his arms to his companions, and, turning, cried to them:

"Watch me jump."

As he turned he lost his balance and fell over into the canal, being carried away by the swift current.

"I thought the body might have lodged in the rip-rap, as there is twenty feet of it blanking the piers on each side. I walked along the bed of the canal from the harbor clear out to the end of the piers, searching around each rock. It was light after I passed the shadows under the canal bridge, and I could see for twenty feet in either direction. The canal water is between thirty and thirty-five feet deep at this point."

Chester had been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Brown, 905 Lake avenue south. His mother, who was in Minneapolis at the time of the accident, is prostrated. It was the first evening of Chester's life that he had been allowed to play outside for a little while after supper.

WEST END

MATERIAL WEALTH AND SOUL POVERTY

Both Body and Spirit Should Be Developed, Says Pastor.

"Unbalanced: Material Prosperity, But Soul Poverty," was the subject of a sermon last evening by Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. The pastor said that Christ's parable of the rich fool gives the solution of the unbalanced life, which he said was like a ship's cargo that shifts from side to side in the storm and causes it to go under.

"We form our opinions of those we come in contact with," said Rev. Mr. Nelson. "This man has splendid abilities, but there is something in his life that unbalances him and unfits him for the higher achievements. Naaman, the Syrian general, was a great man, but he was a leper. The young nobleman who came to Christ with a clean slate as far as keeping the divine commandments was concerned, went sorrowfully away, because Christ told him to sell what he had and contribute to the poor.

"Material prosperity or poverty work about the same way in the unbalancing of life if we lose sight of God and the value of our souls. We become independent both of God and man as material prosperity accumulates. How many like the man in the parable have become selfish and greedy when things have come their way and their usefulness has ceased and the tree has dried up. Poverty has driven many to the other extreme and unbalanced many.

"Bitterness against God is the tendency which lies close at hand, also bitterness against those who possess a little of these luxuries. Between these two dangers there comes the Christ life, and helps us solve many of the great problems under which this old world is at present disturbed. Was any richer than Christ the son of God, and yet did any human being stoop to greater poverty than He? His was the well balanced life and He calls us to follow Him.

"Poverty of soul resulted from the rich fool seeking only to satisfy his animal nature, while his soul was starving. The soul cries out for God and will never be satisfied with the full granaries or the wealth of this world. The soul of man needs God."

FIRST ORE VESSEL CLEARS LOCAL DOCKS

Quincy A. Shaw Opens Season; Good Year Expected By Officials.

The steamer Quincy A. Shaw, loaded with 9,500 tons of ore from the Sliver mine, cleared from the D. M. & N. ore dock at 6 p. m. Saturday. The steamer was the first to be loaded at the local docks this season.

It is not expected that any more boats will be loaded at the West end docks until the latter part of this week. Regular hauling of ore from the Proctor yards to the docks will probably begin about Wednesday. It will not be until the latter part of this week or probably the first of next that the crews on the local docks will be greatly increased.

According to expectations of officials of the road, this year will be a busy one in ore hauling. The company will have the greater bulk of ore to handle from the western range for the Oliver Iron Mining company, and this corporation will this year devote its time to mining its own properties. Last year the company spent a great deal of its energies in mining the Hill ore properties. Its lease on these was surrendered on Jan. 1 this year.

"FIRST FIND THIS EQUAL"

Safety Commissioner Silberstein Gives Ultimatum as to Police Chief.

Talks to Gathering of Men Opposed to Chief's Reappointment.

"Whenever you men or I find a man of good standing in Duluth, as good or better than Chief Troyer, I will appoint him chief of police."

This is the statement given by Commissioner Silberstein of the public safety division in answer to a protest against the continuance of Chief Troyer, made by forty Duluthians at a meeting held in the hall at 212 West First street, yesterday afternoon.

The protest meeting was called together by M. J. Filiatrault, president of the West Duluth Silberstein-Farrell club, and was attended by representatives of prominent political and civic organizations. Commissioner Silberstein was also invited to be present, as those in charge wanted to show him the sentiment against the retention of the present head of the police department. Many accusations were made against the chief by the speakers, the principal one being that he had been active in the recent political campaign.

Peter Grignon, president of the French Naturalization club, presided at the meeting and addresses were made by M. J. Filiatrault, Peter Grignon, F. J. Dacey, M. E. Louisell, John Murphy, John Gaska, Former Mayor McCuen, H. J. Mullin, R. F. Berdie, William Miller and D. B. Erspamar.

"Chief Troyer will remain as head of the police department for the present," said Commissioner Silberstein when called upon to explain his stand on the matter. "It is true that considerable opposition to Chief Troyer and much criticism of the police department has developed, and I have been approached by a considerable number of citizens who have voiced this sentiment. In justice to the public, however, I propose to become thoroughly acquainted with the department, and any conclusion I may then come to will be based on a desire to do full justice."

POLISH FLAG DAY PROGRAM

Duluthians Will Raise Money for Countrymen in Europe.

Tentative plans for a Polish flag day celebration to be held in Duluth on May 3 will be made Wednesday evening at a meeting of Duluth Poles at the Polish Catholic school hall, Fourth avenue east and Fourth street.

Members of the local Polish colony met last evening at the St. Peter's and St. Paul's Polish Catholic church at the West end, but definite action on the program and the place of holding the celebration was deferred until the meeting of Wednesday night. A. Grabarkiewicz presided at the meeting.

It is probable that the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, will be engaged for the occasion.

May 3, is a day of significance to every Pole. On that date in 1871, a liberal constitution was adopted by the kingdom of Poland. It is celebrated as Americans would celebrate July Fourth.

In order to raise money for the stricken people of Poland, one of the bloody battlegrounds of the great European war, flags will be sold in Duluth on that day. In this way, Duluth will contribute her share to the fund which is being gathered for the relief of this devastated country and its starving inhabitants.

GERMANY MAY MAKE APOLOGY TO HOLLAND.

Berlin, April 19, wireless to Sayville —Among the items given out for publication yesterday by the Overseas News agency were the following:

An official investigation of the torpedoing of the Dutch steamer Katwyk near the North Hindur lightship in the North sea on April 14, still is pending. If it is shown the vessel was sunk by a German boat, Germany will be ready at once to pay damages and apologies according to the provisions of international law. No tension between Holland and Germany is feared.

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

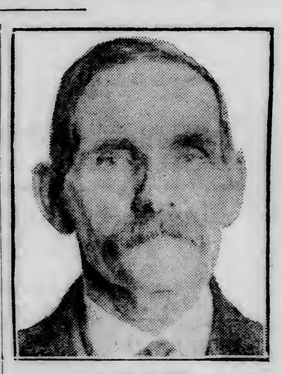
Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N. Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



DISGUSTED BURGLAR SLAMS OUTSIDE DOOR.

Wyndmere, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Disgusted at his bad luck in not being able to find anything worth while, a burglar who raided the J. Irwin home in this city, evidently ransacking it from cellar to garret, gave the door through which he emerged, a very unceremonious bang.

Members of the household were just about to give the alarm when the man, with an oath, slammed the door behind him as he departed.

ST. PAUL RAILROAD MAN PUTS ENDS TO SUFFERING WITH AKOZ

R. H. LOVE IS QUICKLY RELIEVED OF RHEUMATISM BY NEW CALIFORNIA MINERAL.

R. H. LOVE.

R. H. Love, a well-known railroad switchman residing at 344 Herschel avenue, St. Paul, after suffering twenty years with rheumatism, finally found relief by using Akoz, the new California medicinal mineral. When Mr. Love began taking Akoz, he suffered so that he could not put his coat on. After a month of the Akoz treatment he felt better than he had in a long time.

"For twenty years I suffered with severe rheumatism in my left hip and later in my right shoulder," said Mr. Love. "I tried all sorts of remedies and various physicians but nothing gave me any relief until I tried Akoz.

"The Akoz internal powder brightened me up and made me feel better than I had for a long time. The Akoz Compound, used externally, relieved the acute pain. For the first time in four months, I was able to put my coat on. In a short time I was able to move my arm freely. I am highly pleased with Akoz."

Akoz is not a patent medicine or drug, but a natural mineral of exceptional curative properties. What Akoz has done for Mr. Love it has done for many others, who have found Akoz very effective for rheumatism, stomach, kidney, bladder and liver trouble, catarrh, eczema, diabetes, Bright's, congestions, piles and other ailments.

Akoz is being demonstrated at the Lyceum Pharmacy, Fifth avenue west and Superior street, Duluth. Visit, phone or write the Akoz man at this store for further information regarding this advertisement.

SACRED CONCERT BY RIPON COLLEGE BOYS

Glee Club Entertainers at Y. M. C. A. Sunday Afternoon Meeting.

The Ripon College Glee club gave a real treat to those who attended the sacred concert given by that body of singers at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Their repertoire covered a wide range of popular sacred airs, and the instrumental numbers were equally well enjoyed.

Wilfred Lucas has an exceptional baritone voice and sang the Van Lear "Come Unto Me" with credit. A trombone solo by Edgar Zobel, the "Still Wel Die Nacht" was a feature. ITALY AND AUSTRIA HAVE FAILED TO AGREE

Rome, April 19.—From an authoritative source it is learned that, notwithstanding Germany's efforts, Italy and Austria have failed to reach an agreement as to territorial concessions. Many reports have been current respecting the proposals said to have been made by influential Austrians to preserve peace with Italy, for the temporary disposition of the province of Trent, provided Austria consented to cede it to Italy. The latest proposal, according to these reports, was that the territory be ceded to the pope and that the pontiff turn the territory over to Italy after the war.

Prince von Buelow, German ambassador at Rome, is said to have frowned upon this suggestion because he feared it would be a new source of friction between Austria and Italy—something he had been striving to eliminate.

KENNEY-ANKER CO.

FINDS NEW EVIDENCE.

Theodore Swanson Would Add to List of Wife's Shortcomings.

Theodore Swanson, paperhanger, who counterclaimed adultery in a divorce action brought against him in district court by Mrs. Olivia Swanson, has dug up another charge against his wife and, although the case has been tried and submitted to Judge Dancer for his decision, he is asking that the case be reopened and testimony received to prove his assertion that his wife has been unfaithful to him.

Swanson, in his cross bill as originally drawn, accused his wife of having had wrongful intercourse with two men. One was Earl Safford, a young man who lived with the Swansons as a boarder, and the other was Oscar Swanson, with whom she is alleged to have committed adultery at 426 East First street on July 4, 1908. Testimony on both counterclaims was taken when the case came on for trial on April 9. The case was submitted to the court on April 12.

After Swanson's attorney, J. H. Whitely, had rested his case, some one informed him that he had overlooked a bet and that testimony was available to prove the assertion that Mrs. Swanson had proved unfaithful to him on one other occasion. Attorney Whitely sought to have the testimony admitted at that time, but the court ruled against him because it was not an issue within the pleadings.

After the case was submitted, Attorney Whitely amended his answer so as to include a charge that Mrs. Swanson had wrongful relations with one Frank Landahl on or about Aug. 1, 1909, at 430 East First street. In an affidavit, Swanson declares that he has three witnesses, residents of Hunter's Park, who will take the stand to testify on this point.

The motion to reopen the case and permit Attorney Whitely to file an amended answer pleading the new counterclaim, will come on for a hearing before Judge Dancer at the special term session Saturday. George B. Sjoselius, attorney for Mrs. Swanson, will appear in opposition to the motion.

WIFE VICTIM OF SHOOTING

Mrs. Charles Shubbe, Accidentally Shot By Husband, Dies.

Was Loading Weapon at Request of Foster Daughter.

Mrs. Charles Shubbe, age 50 years, died at the Duluth hospital at 1 o'clock this afternoon as the result of a shot accidentally fired by her husband shortly before midnight Saturday at the home of her foster daughter, Mrs. William Van Aspern, 4432 Oneota street. Mr. Shubbe was loading a revolver at the request of Mrs. Van Aspern, who wanted it as a protection against her husband, who is alleged to have threatened her bodily harm a short time before.

Death occurred after the woman had been in the Duluth hospital for just thirty-six hours. Little hope had been held out for her as the bullet had torn some of the delicate tissues of the intestines. Dr. W. E. Judson and Dr. R. S. Forbes, who operated on the woman almost immediately after she was brought to the institution, held out no hope for her recovery.

Was Nursing "Grouch."

The accident occurred on the breaking up of a party at the Van Aspern home. According to the story told the police, the host had become angry at something that had taken place and had gone outside to nurse his "grouch." As the members of the party were about to leave, Mrs. Van Aspern went outside to tell him to come in to say good-by to the visitors. But instead of complying with this request, he is said to have sworn and then kicked at her.

Becoming frightened, Mrs. Van Aspern returned to the house and went upstairs for a .38-caliber bulldog revolver, which she intended having handy for protection against her husband. She, according to the story told the police, asked Mr. Shubbe to load the gun. It was while complying with this request, assert witnesses, that the shooting occurred.

Several Witnesses.

In the room where the shooting took place there were besides the two principals, Mrs. Gust Gaul, a daughter of Mrs. Shubbe, her 11-year-old son, and Mrs. Hans Medalbo. Neither Shubbe nor any of the witnesses was able to say whether the bullet discharged was one that was in the gun or whether it was one that he had just placed in it. Only one empty shell was found in the gun when it was turned over to the police.

Police Notified.

The police were notified almost immediately after the shooting. Sergeant Andree of the West Duluth station, with two other officers, at once went to the scene. Shubbe was placed under arrest but released yesterday forenoon.

Shubbe has been employed as special policeman for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad. He resided with his wife at 132 North Sixty-fourth avenue west. They were married four years ago. Mrs. Van Aspern was raised from childhood by Mrs. Shubbe.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR GOVERNOR

Hammond Will Address School Children and Inspect Blast Furnace.

Entertainment was planned for Governor Winfield Scott Hammond, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus and other out-of-town visitors to the annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club at the meeting of the general committee Saturday evening. A visit to the various schools in the western end of the city as well as to other points of interest was planned.

The reception committee will meet the governor and his party at the union station at 7:30 a. m. Thursday, April 29. A breakfast will follow immediately at the Duluth Commercial club, following which an informal reception will be held for a few minutes.

The party will leave shorty before 9 o'clock for the western end of the city. At 9 o'clock it is proposed to give the children of the Merritt school an opportunity of hearing a short talk from the governor. At 9:30 o'clock he will speak at the Ely school and at 10 o'clock he will address the students of the R. E. Denfeld high school. The party will be at the Longfellow school at 10:30 o'clock and at the Irving school at 11 o'clock.

Governor Hammond has expressed the wish to witness one of the blasts at the Zenith Furnace company and following his talk at the Irving school the party will go to this plant. First the party will view the various parts of the plant. At 12 o'clock the regular "heat" will be poured and for the first time in his life he will witness the raw iron being poured from the big furnace.

If possible the committee will take the governor and his party to the steel plant. Members of the committee feel confident that officials will grant the permission for a small party to go through the plant. This permission will be asked of the officials this week. In addition to visiting the steel plant it is proposed to also visit the Universal Portland cement plant and Morgan Park.

PLAYGROUNDS TO UPLIFT THE CHILD

Would Build Up Bodies and Uplift Morals, Says Minister.

Playgrounds and recreation were the theme of a sermon by Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, last night. He recommended that the city authorities take up the proposed project of spending $12,000 for supervised recreation places. In part he said:

"The highest test of government is the provision it makes for the child life. This provision must be both protective and constructive. We must protect the children from dangers, both physical and moral. To this end we have the police, the public health department, the building inspector, and other officials, whose business it is to prevent the children from meeting with accident or losing their lives by preventable disease. We are becoming more wide awake to the need of such work every year, in spite of the fact that the United States government now pays $464,000 a year for the entire expenses of its child welfare bureau, as against several millions for its agricultural department.

"Prominent among the various movements for the betterment of child life morally and otherwise, is the playground movement. Because this is a constructive piece of work, looking toward the future of the children, instead of being a more preventive task looking to the present only, it fails to secure the support which it ought. To be sure it is preventive, with a present application, in that it will safeguard our children morally and prevent them from getting into places and company that will develop vicious habits. But it is more: it is constructive in that it will help to build up the bodies of the children for future usefulness, and at the same time build up useful moral habits, which will ripen into noble character.

"At this present time a plan is being considered that will give Duluth a system of up-to-date, well-supervised recreation places. It is my earnest hope that this plan will be adopted by our school board and city council, and thus keep Duluth where she now is, in the front rank of progressive cities. The cost as proposed, $12,000, is remarkably low for the results to be obtained. Let all good citizens back up the movement to whatever extent is possible.

STAR PLAY WINS GAME.

Anderson Steals Home, Capturing Contest for Zenith Furnace Nine.

The stealing home by Ernest Anderson in the ninth inning after two men were out, put an abrupt end to a game between the Zenith Furnace company's team and the Fiwells yesterday afternoon. The score was tied 4 to 4 in the ninth inning, and Anderson for the former team had got to third base, while the first of the next two men had whiffed. The run gave the Zeniths the game.

The Zeniths have so far won every game played this season. The first contest was won from the All Stars. Last Sunday they won from the Moose. Each of the three games has been played on the Fifty-second avenue grounds.

GRASS FIRES NUMEROUS.

Rats Were the Thieves.

At noon today the solution of the theft was found. Remains of the chickens were found under the barn. The entire brood had been smuggled under the place by rats and consumed by them.

Mr. Lynch is now preparing traps to catch the rats and expects to have his revenge within a short time.

PLAIN TALKS ON RELIGION

Father Mullaly Gives First Address to Men at Lyceum.

Secondary Object Is to Explain Beliefs of Catholic Church.

That God is back of all and is the only reasonable explanation of the existence of man and matter, was the keynote of the address, "Reason and Religion," delivered this noon by the Paulist missionary, J. Edward Mullaly of Chicago, who began a week's series of addresses at the Lyceum theater today.

Father Mullaly said the theories of Darwin and kindred scientists of the Nineteenth century were unprovable as to the origin of man and life, and God was just as essential to explain evolution as religion. The tide has now turned he said away from the Darwinian theory, and science has been forced to admit that no explanation of life is demonstrable except through God as the creator. Bishop McGolrick introduced the speaker and fully 700 men and women, many of them non-Catholics, heard the address.

Father Mullaly will speak each noon this week beginning at 12:10 and closing at 12:50 sharp. The sermon tomorrow will be on "The Divinity of Christ." Musical numbers will precede the addresses. Father Mullaly said, in part:

"The object of these lectures is primarily to promote religious faith among men, and secondarily to explain as far as time will allow some of the beliefs and practices of the Catholic church in order to correct any misunderstandings which earnest and fair-minded people may entertain regarding the same.

"This series of lectures will follow a definite outline. The first three will try to show the logical development from religion based upon human reason to orthodox Christianity. The last three lectures will explain some of the misunderstood teachings of the church and will summarize the Catholic's reasons for his faith.

"The first lecture is on 'Reason and Religion.' This lecture is necessary as a starting point because of the widespread religious indifference both in practice and in belief prevalent among men in the present day.

Must Be Consistent.

"First of all religion must be consistent with human reason in so far as reason is able to go, but there are many things even in the natural order which reason does not and cannot understand, and therefore we are forced to recognize that reason has limits also in the supernatural order. As far as reason may be followed religion must be consistent with it.

"Reason normally exercised leads to a belief in and a practice of religion. It compels man's intellect to a belief in God. Unless God exists I cannot understand anything else that is. Reputable modern science and philosophy both have proved beyond reasonable doubt that once nothing whatsoever existed. Where there now is a universe, once there was but an aching void. Suddenly into this void a universe was projected. Whence came it? Some say that it always was, that matter is eternal. Foremost modern scientists, among them Herbert Spencer, Sir Oliver Lodge, Crooks, Roentgen and others, have declared that eternal matter is an impossibility. The very facts upon which modern astronomy is based are in direct contradiction to the eternity of matter.

The First Cause.

"This great problem of the origin not only of matter but of energy and motion demands that before this universe existed and separate and apart from it there is a first cause, an omnipotent, omniscient being whom we call God. If God is not, where were the gigantic quarries out of which this universe was made? Where were the tremendous workshops in which it was fashioned? Who framed the immutable laws which governed the material universe? My mind cannot conceive or grasp anything that is without at the same time recognizing that this first all-powerful cause created it out of nothing but an act of His own will.

"Furthermore the perfect design in the universe demands the pre-existence of God. It is impossible to conceive of dumb matter arranging itself in such harmonious order without the existence of an all wise governing cause. Even dumb nature demands the existence of God. The smallest form of vegetable or animal life, nay even the very existence of life itself demands the existence of a source from which it came. Reputable modern science far from disproving or undermining this fact has established that all life has arisen from pre-existing life and that spontaneous generation is a physical impossibility. The existence in the world of such things as right and wrong, of a moral law, demand the existence of an all-good and all-just God. Furthermore the belief of the overwhelming majority of mankind in the existence of God is direct evidence that this belief was firmly implanted in the heart of man in the beginning.

"Unless God is, the eternal questions of whence have we come, why are we here, and whither do we go are unanswerable. Human life is a black nightmare and its end is despair.

Praise to Creator.

"Since God is so pre-eminent in the world, it behooves men to recognize Him in a fitting way. All dumb nature in its unconscious adherence to His laws gives praise to the Creator. Man alone of all creation with his free will can refuse to recognize and to serve God, but because he is an intelligent being he can also raise his mind to serve God, but because he is an intelligent being he can also raise his mind up even unto God. Because he is free he may refuse to serve, but for that same reason he is bound to serve. In the words of Rosseau: 'Man was born free, but is everywhere in chains.' The question is in what way is God to be served, or what constitutes religion? God is infinitely great and man finitely small. Therefore I adore His Infinite majesty. He manifests His power through nature, therefore I fear him. He shows His wondrous works to me, therefore I praise Him. In every act of my life I am conscious of His infinite love and mercy for His creatures. Therefore I love Him. The sum total of man's relation to God or the recognition by the soul of its absolute dependence upon God constitutes religion. Some men say in this age that religion was all right in the so-called Dark Ages. How can men be so blind? As long as God is God and man is man will man have need of God and need religion. Man is never half so noble as when in humble communion with his Creator.

Natural Religions.

"But what sort of religion shall man practice? It is widely maintained in this day that a natural religion is sufficient to man's destiny. Without entering into an analysis of natural religion it is sufficient to recall that as a matter of historical fact natural religions never have been satisfactory even to the formulators of those religions themselves. Before the Christian era Plato formulated a very highly developed natural philosophy and religion, but even he was not satisfied with it and prophesied the time when God Himself would make known His will to men. Emerson in our own day elaborated a most highly developed natural philosophy, but said that this religion would not satisfy the average man, and we know that the latter went to his grave an agnostic. God is the God of the average man. My reason cannot believe that He has left man unto himself. It seeks a manifestation from God of His will to men. Such a religion would be supernatural and obviously superior to the most highly elaborated natural religion. The primary question then is, has God spoken? Human history tells me He has. First of all He implanted in the heart of man His divine law when he created man. Later He codified that law through Moses and the prophets, and finally when man had drifted away from that law and the greatest nations of the civilizer world were lost in the darkness of religious despair, when 'man's longing for God's own word became the greatest humanly possible, then God sent to men that sublime radiantly beautiful character to whom is given the name the Son of God, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. The question now is, is Jesus Christ God? and here we leave the question to be considered in the following lecture."

Kansas City, Mo., April 19.—The special car carrying Mayor Donn M. Roberts and fourteen others convicted in the Terre Haute election conspiracy case arrived here at 7:30 o'clock this morning, en route to the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth. The pary spent one hour in Kansas City. It will reach Leavenworth at 9:50 o'clock.

Breakfast was served during the stay here. It was said the trip from Indianapolis had been without incident.

No one was permitted to board the car here. When the train carrying the men came into the depot three cans of steaming coffee were taken to the coach. Then the serving of breakfast began. It consisted of the remains of a "box lunch" which was given each man when the train left Indianapolis. Officials in charge said the convicted men were cheerful and had stood the journey well.

SHAKE-UP IN STOCK COMPANY

New Leading Man and Leading Woman for Baldwin Players—Mr. and Mrs. De Stephani Will Take Vacation.

Rumors of impending changes in the personnel of the Baldwin company at the Lyceum were confirmed this morning by Manager Walter S. Baldwin.

The changes will bring a new leading man, a new leading woman and a new "heavy" to Duluth, and mark the departure of at least four well-known mmebers of the present company.

After playing nearly a year in Duluth, Homer Barton will be succeeded on May 2 by John A. Lorenz. Mr. Barton will take a vacation of several weeks. He has been asking to be relieved for some time, and was only waiting for Mr. Baldwin to secure a suitable successor. The contract with Mr. Lorenz has not been finally closed, but it will probably be signed today or tomorrow. He has been leading man for two years with the stock company at the Wadsworth theater, New York, and has played some important roles with road attractions.

Miss Doris Olsson will return to Boston for a short stock engagement with her former manager, and will open in September in a road attraction. She will be succeeded by Miss Ann Bronnaugh. Miss Bronnaugh has played the leading roles with such attractions as "Seven Keys to Baldpate," and has been leading woman with stock companies in Winnipeg, Des Moines and Brooklyn. This change will also take place on May 2, when the company will open in "Fine Feathers."

This week is the last for Joseph De Stephani and his wife, known as Miss Helen Keers. They have been with Mr. Baldwin for 102 weeks in Duluth and other cities, and they are also going to take a vacation. Miss Maud Melville has returned and will play the character-parts which Miss Keers has been playing, and Mark Elliston, a new "heavy" man from the Shubert Theater Stock company at Milwaukee will replace Mr. De Stephani. A. Romaine Callender will also return next week, making an additional member.

William Mortimer will remain with the company, as will Miss Margaret Lotus and Miss Geraldine Blair.

"The changes have all been carefully considered," said Mr. Baldwin, "and they have come about amicably. Mr. Barton wanted a rest and Miss Olsson wanted to return to the East. Mr. and Mrs. De Stephani also were ready for a vacation and they have all remained with me until I could get suitable successors, so that the company will not be weakened."

TWO ANARCHISTS ARE SENTENCED

Abarno and Carbone Must Serve at Least Six Years in Prison.

New York, April 19.—Frank Abarno and Carmine Carbone, anarchists, who made and set a bomb in St. Patrick's cathedral, March 2, when hundreds were worshiping within the edifice, were sentenced today to serve not less than six years nor more than twelve in Sing Sing prison.

Abarno and Carbone were found guilty by a jury last week. The detection and conviction was due to the detective work of a young Italian policeman, Amedio Polignana, who left his class in the police school for recruits, posed as an anarchist, won the prisoners' confidence and as a supposed fellow anarchist followed every move in the conspiracy, keeping police headquarters advised almost daily during the months of his investigation.

BRITISH SUBMARINE AGROUND: CREW TAKEN

London, April 19.—The British admiralty, in a statement issued yesterday afternoon, announced that the submarine E-15 ran aground Saturday on Kephez point in the Dardanelles while attempting a difficult reconnaissance of the Kephez mine field.

A statement said that, according to an official communication at Constantinople, the officers and men were rescued and made prisoners.

Says Boat Was Sunk.

Constantinople, April 19, via Berlin and London.—The following official statement was issued by the war office yesterday:

"The British submarine E-15 has been sunk in the Dardaneles, west of Karanlik. Three officers and twenty-one men of the crew of thirty-one were rescued by the Turks. Among them was the former British vice consul at Dardanelles."

FIELD MARSHAL VON LINDEQUIST IS DEAD.

Amsterdam, April 19, via London.—Telegrams received here from Berlin announce the death of Field Marshal Oskar von Lindequist.

Born in 1838, Field Marshal von Lindequist had an active military career. He was a lieutenant at the age of 19; took part in the Danish campaign of 1864; was in the war against Austria in 1866, and in the war of 1870 he was present at Sedan and during the siege of Paris.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN PUGH AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

JOHN T. PUGH.

John T. Pugh, son of Senator T. M. Pugh, and one of the best known grain men in Duluth and the Northwest, died yesterday afternoon at 4:15 at his home, 2118 East Second street, after an illness of six months. The funeral will be held from the family residence at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the body will be then taken to Mankato, Minn., Mr. Pugh's birthplace, where it will be interred in Minneopa State Park cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Pugh, besides his father, are his widow and infant son, and his brother, Edward H. Pugh.

For twenty-six years Mr. Pugh was connected with the Van Dusen-Harrington Grain company, and for a number of years has been its assistant manager. He was one of the leading members of the Duluth board of trade and was a member of the executive committee on inspections. Mr. Pugh was born in Mankato on July 3, 1871. Nine years ago he was married to Miss Dana Van Vliet of Duluth. He was a member of the Elks, the Duluth Curling club and the Duluth Boat club.

In his capacity with the Van Dusen-Harrington company, and also with the Board of Trade organization, Mr. Pugh made many friends through a genial, friendly disposition, and without doubt was one of the most popular of the younger business men of the city.

His death severed a remarkable bond which has existed for years between the veteran Senator Pugh and his two sons, John and Edward. Despite the difference in their ages, the three men had been almost inseparable companions. Whenever one member of the family was seen in a public place, friends could be sure that one or both other members would not be far distant. They were like three boyish chums.

Mr. Pugh had been suffering from pernicious anaemia for several months, and his death was not unexpected.

PREACHES SERMON ON THE SEVEN SEALS

Pastor White Gives His Interpretation of John's Vision.

Pastor Stemple White of the Seventh Day Adventist church spoke to a large audience yesterday afternoon at the Modern Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west, on the "Seven Seals" of the Revelation prophecy.

"The Book of Revelation, which contains several lines of prophecy reaching from the first to the second advent of Jesus Christ, was given to John on Patmos in the year 96 A. D.," said the speaker. "In vision, John saw a door opened in heaven, and he heard a voice saying 'Come up hither, and I will show thee things which must be hereafter.' In holy vision, John beheld God upon His throne, holding in his hand a book of seven scrolls, written within, and sealed on the backside with seven seals. This book contained the future conflicts of the church, and since no one can read the future except God, no one could open the sealed book but the Son of God. As these seven seals were consecutively opened to John, he penned down all that he saw as recorded in chapter six."

Illustrated With Charts.

Using large colored charts in illustration, Mr. White continued: "The white horse, and rider with bow and crown, well represents the apostolic church which, in its purity, and spirit filled, carried the gospel to all the known world in one generation. Unjust religious legislation could not check with bitter persecution the heralds of the gospel, who went everywhere preaching the Word of God, and we find some of Caesar's household enrolled among the saints. But apostacy crept in; perverse teachers arose among the clergy as Paul foretold; the church courted the state; and so in the second seal we see a red horse and the rider carries a great sword, symbolic of state power. As apostacy deepened, and the church and state became fully united, lo! a black horse, with balances in the hands of the rider, well represents the dark period of the fourth to the sixth centuries. Under the fourth seal, John beheld a pale horse, on which death sat, and hell (the grave) followed. This most fittingly represents the horrible persecutions of the Dark Ages, when the noontide of the papacy was the world's moral midnight.

Crying for Vengeance.

"As the fifth seal was opened, the slain souls under the altar were represented as crying for vengeance to God, ever as Abel's blood cried out from the ground. John learned that they were to rest, as Job declared, in the grave until the return of the Life Giver, when they would receive a crown of life.

"As the sixth seal was opened, John beheld a great earthquake, even that of Lisbon, 1755. He next foretold the dark day and night of May 19, 1780, about which Whittier and Cowper sing in their poems, and which has been further immortalized in sermon, press, historical data, astronomy and autobiography. John next records the last sign, as recorded by Jesus himself in Matthew 24, even before the ascension, the falling of the stars, which took place in 1833, Nov. 13. People are still living who witnessed that supernatural wonder. Horace Greely wrote of it in the New York Tribune. As the seventh seal opens, there is silence in heaven one-half hour (prophetic), or seven and one half literal days, for all the holy angels, with the Father, accompany Jesus at His second advent to gather and translate the holy saints of all the ages. The great men of the earth, having rejected the gospel of the lowly Nazarene, are unprepared, and try in vain to hide from the King of Kings, while the redeemed of earth at that time will joyfully exclaim, 'Lo! this is our God, we have waited for Him, and He will save us.'"

Dr. Paulson to Speak.

Dr. David Paulson of Chicago will speak next Sunday at the Woodman hall on "How to Postpone Your Own Funeral," and at the Adventist church at night on "Soul-saving in the Slums of Chicago."

PERFECT BLISS FOR CHRISTIAN DEAD

Live With Christ After Passing From Earth, Says Rev. Mr. Fish.

"The Blessed Dead" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church yesterday morning. He said:

"Concerning the gladness of those who have died in Christ, the Scriptures give very strong reassurance. Stephen, the martyr, said: 'Behold, I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing on the right hand of God.' Some stop their ears to this and to like testimony, but the Holy Spirit through Scripture record authenticates it.

"In Rev. xiv, 13, John was bidden to write at the dictation of the Spirit, 'Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them.' The climax of all authoritative declarations comes from Jesus' own lips: 'I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also.'

"Science returns from psychical research to report the probability of felicity beyond the border of this life. Philosophy declares endless blessedness a question of probabilities. The Prince of Life boldly declares, 'I am the resurrection and the life.'

Blessedness Assured.

"Henceforth blessedness is assured for all believers in Him. From now on social and moral conditions of the earth will become more and more grievous. Soon wars, plagues, moral darkness, industrial oppression will render it better for saints to die than to live. Men shall gnaw their tongues in pain and vainly seek death. Then the death of body will be sweet release for the saints. But we have not yet reached that degree of social disintegration. It is still good fighting. Red blood in our veins and courage in our hearts and a fighting chance to stand for the right makes living now a joy. But it is well that God has hidden from us the glories of the beyond. Paul who glimpsed paradise was at times homesick for his heavenly home. He fain would be loosed from the body to be present with the Lord.

"But we should never pity or feel inclined to help the dead in Christ. They are a thousand-fold better off than we are. Now at this present moment they are blessed. This day, the thief, who was crucified, is with Christ in paradise. This day and even on the very day of his death Lazarus is conscious and comforted. Moses and Elijah are now living and able to converse with the blessed Lord.

Other Claims.

"Some proclaim the annihilation of the dead and others declare that the soul sleeps in death. Both these theories are unscriptural. The body sleeps, but the spirits of the departed are awake, eager witnesses of us who here are running the race of mortal life. The Scriptures explain that our conscious life is not dependent on arterial circulation, nor of the relations of the brain. Death is decay of body, but the conscious ego of man never ceases to be. Death is separation from body. The second or moral death is separation from fellowship with God. But for man inbreathed of God, with the breath of lives, death is not loss of personality or of consciousness.

"The blessedness of those in Christ means enjoyment. Those who die in Christ sink into the arms of everlasting peace in paradise. No more labors nor pains, no sufferings nor loss await these believers. There is no purgatory to burn away the sins of those who trust in the finished atonement of Christ. There is no limbo to separate unbaptized babes from Christian parents. To such children belongs the kingdom of heaven.

Purgatory and Limbo.

"Both purgatory and limbo are man-invented terms for conceptions that are foreign to Scriptural thought and teaching.

"Both believers and unconscious babes who die go at once to be with Christ. They become sinless at once by a glimpse of His face. Only those who die intelligently choosing the wrong or refusing the lordship of Christ are lost.

"The test for intelligent people in lands that have been evangelized is what is your vital daily relation or attitude to Jesus Christ. In Christ you must live devoted to His interests in loyal consecration if you are to die in Christ. Those who live in selfishness or in godlessness have no affinity for nor relation to the blessedness of the home in which Christ is worshiped as Redeemer."

HAPPINESS FOUND ONLY IN SERVICE

One Must Find His Work, to Get Most in Life, Says Gebauer.

"The Purposeful Life" was the subject of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church. He said, in part:

"Purpose and work are the very essence of the universe; they are expressed in all that lives and moves and has being. Purposeful work is the keynote of human life. Hence the problem of life is for the individual to find his work, his mission, and carry it on in harmony with the purpose of the all-life. Naturally in such a life is alone the great satisfaction or happiness which men seek so often where it cannot be found. Happiness in the end is nothing but harmony with the great purpose of being. When our souls are attuned to the infinite, then, we have the joy which the worldly mind cannot comprehend. The sad thing in life is to see so many people waste their days in trying to find happiness where it cannot be. The spiritually sound harmonious soul need not seek for happiness; it only has to cultivate it within. Indeed, the general desire for pleasure is a plain indication of how inwardly empty the world is. The soul full of the love of the ideal, by whatever name it may go, is joyful even in the hour of sorrow. It realizes the divine purpose and adjusts itself to it. That is why and rightly some of the more modern religious cults take joyfulness as the test of religion. Faith in God and joy are one. The soul with a great purpose, with a great and holy responsibility, has greatest joy. Never pity the men or women who carry a great burden; rather pity the poor and miserable souls who go through life without a great and holy duty that lifts them and challenges them to fulfill their divine destiny. Pity above all those deluded minds, who still believe in the notion, that happiness and pleasure are the same. Sad it is to see the joy-hunters on the fields of material enjoyment. There is something depressing about a crowd, that is out merely for amusement. There is no serene contentment in their looks, for they are dissatisfied at heart, vainly do they endeavor to tickle themselves into happiness. But true happiness is far from them; they only will find it, when they join their souls to the purpose of the all-soul and find their lives in life's service."

SYMPATHY FOR SICK IN SPIRIT

Dr. Ryan Says Such Need Attention Given Physically Ailing People.

Declaring that the spiritually sick need the same sympathy as those who are physically afflicted, Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, delivered a sermon yesterday morning on the miracle of the healing of the palsy-stricken man.

"All about us," said he, "we have the spiritually sick, manifested in a variety of ways, as ill-temper, selfishness or a score of other faults which mar the spiritual life. These people should be treated with the same sympathy as the physically sick, and pointed to the sure cure for spiritual ailments, the religion of the Master, which has power to make the sick life "every whit whole.'

"Degeneracy of the body and depravity of the mind are usually the results of sin. They may, however, result from other causes than sin, as heredity or the circumstances arising from our present conditions of society. In the case of the man afflicted with palsy the suffering was the result of his personal bad habits. He accepted his healing as the direct message of the Master, and understood the deep significance which underlay the words, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee.'"

TALKS ON GOSPEL OF INCOMPLETE

Dr. Fraser, at First Presbyterian Church, Preaches on Seeing Only in Part.

"The Gospel of the Incomplete" was the subject which Rev. H. W. Fraser, D. D., of Vancouver, B. C., took for his sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. His text was from I Corinthians, xiii, 12: "Now I know in part."

Dr. Fraser declared that the words of Paul in his letter to the Corinthians described the human limitations as to things beyond the grave, and that it is proper that man should know only in part.

"Those who would scoff at belief in God," said he, "ask 'What is God like?' and there are some who feel that their position is insecure because they cannot answer. It is far from insecure, for were we to know what God is like, in other words, if we knew God, we would have fully penetrated the veil and would be equal with God, for we know all things. We do not know what life is. Some scientists have told us that the human being is the result of evolution from the monkey. But that does not tell us what life is, even if it were true.

"The four questions of one's existence are naturally: 'What is God?' 'What is life?' 'What of the present?' and 'What of the future?' In them all we only know in part—even of the present we are not sure—but when all is said and done, it is only the present that we know much about, and it is the present that should concern us most. Of the future we know but little, but in the present we may make preparation that in the future we will know more."

ABOUT READY TO TRY TO RAISE SUBMARINE

Four Lines Now Fast to Hull of F-4 at Bottom of Ocean.

Honolulu, April 19.—Work has been going on continuously preparatory to the first effort to raise the sunken submarine F-4 by direct lift. It was expected this effort would be made today. Four lines are now fast to the hulk, connecting it with two scow pontoons.

Though weak from exhaustion and nervous strain, William F. Loughman, a diver, engaged in the work of raising the submarine F-4, who was forced to remain for four hours under water Saturday at a depth of 220 feet, was well on the way to recovery today.

After Loughman was brought to the surface, he collapsed.

Loughman reported that lines were well secured to the F-4 sufficient, he thought, to warrant the beginning of work of hauling her into shallower water.

CREW OF TORPEDOED GREEK SHIP LANDED.

London, April 19.—The crew of the Greek steamer Ellispontos, torpedoed Saturday by a submarine, five miles west of the North Hinder lightship, has arrived at Flushing, according to a dispatch to Reuter's agency. The captain, who was badly wounded and taken to a hospital, said his steamer was torpedoed without warning. The crew got away safely in boats, however, and rowed to the lightship.

It is reported from North Hinder that German aviators tried to drop bombs on two British trawlers and fired on them, but without result.

The Ellispontos, which left Ymuiden, Holland, Saturday for Montevideo, Uruguay, was a vessel of 1,923 tons. Her crew numbered twenty-one men.

Meriella pleaded guilty also to a charge of carrying concealed weapons, a revolver, which he attempted to use, having been found in his pocket when he was arrested Friday night.

He was held in $2,500 bail on each charge for grand jury action.

The following account of the wedding of Miss Mary Buchanan and Harold Wilson Sweatt, that took place Saturday evening at Minneapolis at which Harry Lee of Duluth was an usher and which was attended by Mrs. Jack Stickney Sneve, also of Duluth, is taken from the Minneapolis Tribune:

"One of the prettiest weddings of the week was that of Miss Mary Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Buchanan, to Harold Wilson Sweatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sweatt, which was solemnized last evening at the Gothsemane Episcopal church. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Gilbert M. Foxwell, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. Irving P. Johnson.

"The bridal party entered to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, sung by the full vested choir. During the ceremony the members of the choir sang the hymn, 'Oh Perfect Love,' and following the Mendelssohn wedding march, which was used as the recessional, rendered 'Rejoice Ye Pure in Heart.'

The ushers, Charles D. Sweatt, Lewis Buchanan, Robert Gallagher, Glen Wyer, William Wheelock and Harry Lee of Duluth, led the procession, and they were followed by the two bridesmaids, the Misses Bernice and Virginia Sweatt, sisters of the bridegroom.

"Mrs. Karl Brackett, who was her sister's matron of honor, followed next. "The bride entered alone. Her gown was of white satin and tulle.

"Roger Wilson attended Mr. Sweatt as best man.

"Following the ceremony an informal reception for the immediate relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, 3112 Second avenue south. Receiving with the bride and groom were: Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Wilson, grandparents of the bridegroom.

"Mrs. Buchanan wore black net with trimmings of turquoise blue taffeta, and Mrs. Sweatt's gown was of white silk with trimmings of tulle.

"Mr. Sweatt and his bride left for a wedding trip through the East and they will be at home on their return at 3806 Lyndale avenue south.

FEATHERED TOURISTS HERE

Woods Alive With Gaily Colored Songsters Attracted By Unusual Warmth—Time to Erect Houses.

Hundeds of gaily colored tourists, singing and warbling and chirping, have arrived in Duluth during the last two days of warm weather, and now are house hunting. They intend to stay the rest of the summer.

Hastening the northward trip because of the unusually springlike atmosphere, birds which visit this part of the country each spring have been swarming in from the east, south and west, until the woods and parks and suburban districts fairly are alive with subjects of the air kingdom.

Sunday was an ideal day to pay formal calls and renew old acquaintances, and the birds used it to the utmost advantage, judging from expressions of the many ornithologists who spent the day in the open.

Wrens, hundreds of red wing black birds, rose breasted grosbeaks, phoebes, pee-wees, several varieties of the warbler family, and many other denizens of the forest, now can be seen. With the others also was one hermit thrush, according to a well known bird expert.

Now that the birds are here, vacant houses are growing scarce, and the birds would be very much obliged if Mr. and Mrs. Citizen would provide a place for them, if they want a very desirable tenant, with musical talent, for the season.

"People make a mistake in putting up houses," said S. George Stevens, attorney, a prominent naturalist, this morning. "They should try to observe the customs of the 'boarder' they are seeking.

"Wren houses should never be close together, for wrens are more pugnacious even than the sparrow, and fight among themselves without provocation. This also is true of the blue jay.

"The martins, on the other hand, are sociable, and like to be near other families. They usually combine against the sparrow, for their own protection. It is a good idea to prepare martin houses now, but not to put them up until the martins arrive.

"They are the latest of all spring visitors, and if houses are put up for them now, the sparrows will be in possession before the martins reach Duluth."

Contrary to the opinion of many bird lovers, Mr. Stevens is a strong defender of the much abused English sparrow. He advocates putting up houses for the sparrow, and letting them live, believing that nature can balance the harm doing more than any individual.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Brush Elbows With the World.

There is no surer or saner way to an understanding and sympathy and charity for all things that live than this touching of elbows with the rank and file of humanity. The aversion to mingling with the class or classes which we consider beneath us is an evil which is growing tremendously in this supposedly democratic country of ours. It is one that will ultimately result here, as elsewhere, in the most frightful social conditions.

It is not that any man would insist that the scholar should hobnob with the man who bets money on the races and gains his truest enjoyment watching a prizefight. Nor should we expect that the woman of fashion should associate intimately with the one who makes her hats or the cook who provides for her table. Naturally the scholar finds the company of another scholar more congenial, and the sporting man is more at ease with companions of his ilk. So would the milliner and the cook each find it as impossible to enter into the interests of the woman of fashions.

I think people would generally be satisfied with the position in life that their endowments placed them in, were it not for the barriers which each class presumes to set up between themselves and the next one lower down in the social scale. Men and women, the moment they gain anything in material ways over their associates and co-laborers, immediately set themselves up as being of finer clay, even though they have not a single attribute outside of this one advantage that warrants their assumption of superiority.

Touching elbows with all kinds and conditions, keeping the mind and brain open to the wonderful lessons that may be learned by an understanding, or even an insight, into the various stages of the development of man, and the necessity of these stages to bring him to the highest state that we recognize, is one of the unfailing signs of greatness in man.

When you hold aloof from a man because his coarser instincts repulse you and his occupations and interests seem to you to have no place in the world, and are to be tolerated only because they must be tolerated, you are sinking to a narrow and insufferable level yourself, even though you are an acknowledged leader of all leaders in your particular realm.

It takes all kinds to make up the world. Each has his place and his right. Recognition of this indisputable fact, forbearance, kindness, charity and sympathy would go far toward making the great majority more companionable beings.

"DRYS" AND "WETS" BOTH GRATIFIED

Fargo, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General H. J. Linde delighted both the prohibitionists and the resubmissionists by proposing to test the Webb act, but their jubilation is due to slightly different viewpoints of securing a temporary injunction against the Northern Pacific Express company to prevent liquor shipments into North Dakota.

The prohibition leaders believe they will have the means to completely eliminate liquor shipments and sales into North Dakota. They are decidedly optimistic over the action of the attorney general and are convinced he has a solution of the problem that will be upheld by the courts.

Going to Highest Court.

No matter what the decision of the state courts, the matter will be carried to the United States supreme court for a final decision.

The liquor advocates are just as jubilant as the prohibitionists. They insist that if all roads into the state are prevented from making liquor shipments it will insure the resubmission of the liquor question, a matter they have unsuccessfuly attempted for the past quarter of a century.

GROWING INTO YOUR JOB.

In a dialogue during the Federal industrial relations commission hearing in Chicago, J. Ogden Armour criticized certain types of labor leaders, and was answered by Commissioner Garretson, head of the Order of Railroad Conductors. Mr. Garretson confessed that in its early days the order was criticized as "irresponsible," and Mr. Armour suggested that "maybe the wrong man was at its head in the earlier days."

"No, it was the same man," was Garretson's reply, and Armour said: "Then you have gained experience—you have grown into your job."

It is a common experience in public as well as private affairs. One of the most noteworthy examples of it was that of Mayor Seidel of Milwaukee, who, though criticized as a radical Socialist before he took office, became so conservative when he found himself actually responsible for the conduct of public affairs that the Socialists themselves turned against him.

Many men who have been bitter in their criticism of others for their handling of important questions have changed their attitude entirely when they came to doing the handling themselves. It may be due to better information, or it may be due to keener realization of the results of a mistake. Whatever the cause, it seems to be a trait of human nature to be radical when out of power and conservative when in power.

It really, as Mr. Armour said, is a case of "growing into your job," getting a mental development that makes it possible for you to see all around the different questions that arise, and understand them better than you did when you first undertook that particular line of work. And as the phrase indicates, it is not an evidence of weakness, but of strength, for a man to change in this way. The man who fails to develop under responsibility, who does not "grow into his job," is not fit for the job. He either has reached the limit of his development or has not progressed far enough to rise to the possibilities of his new place.

If you want to see the legislature at work, see it this week.

HUCK FINN.

It's hard to picture in a ninety-year-old man who signs his name "B. F. Finn" (ten to one the "B. F." stands for "Benjamin Franklin") the boy whom nearly everybody remembers for his escapades of taking a dead cat to a cemetery at midnight to get rid of warts, and of floating off down the Mississippi river with a runaway slave as his only companion on the raft—his only companion until the king and the duke happened along.

Out in Oregon is a hale and hearty old man who says he is the original of the Huckleberry Finn of Mark Twain's stories. He says the writer got little from him except his name, and took a fancy to that when they were both working on the steamer Shotwell, running out of St. Louis. The Oregonian says Tom Sawyer was his chum. He has lived on the McKenzie river for about forty years.

It's a shame to be too particular in cases like this, but somewhere in his writings Mark Twain declares that Tom Sawyer never really existed as one boy, but that he is a fictitious character made up of the characteristics of a number of lads. So how Tom could have been a chum of this Oregon ancient is somewhat of a puzzle.

We rather wish he'd left Tom out of his little talk. Huck was a shiftless chap, to be sure, but we always had a liking for him, and made liberal allowances for the hard row he had to hoe in the matter of ancestry, both natural and adopted. So to find that Huck in his old age is inclined to make rash statements that don't square with known facts is disappointing.

And yet, maybe after all he's only living up to the standard he set for himself that time down the river when Jim had been stolen from him by the king and the duke and traded to a planter who proposed to send him back to his owner and get a reward. Huck, you remember, went through the crisis of his life in that hour, and decided against virtue for all time—unless it promised immediate rewards. So let's be charitable, and give him a chance this time, as "the hare-lip" did in the story, to "play another chicken bone and get another think." As a boyhood friend who has not even yet deserted us, he is entitled to that much consideration.

A New York police sergeant is worrying because a circus friend threatens to make him a present of an elephant. What do you suppose the elephant thinks about the scheme?

THAT JAPANESE NAVAL STATION.

Another "big navy" lie has been nailed—the yarn about the Japanese establishing a naval station at Turtle Bay, in Lower California. Commander Irwin of the United States cruiser New Orleans himself made the investigation, reported by wireless to Admiral Howard, and the admiral telegraphed it on to Washington.

It's amazing how busy the heavy armament advocates can get over some ordinary little thing. Away back last December a Japanese ship was wrecked; recently efforts at salvage have been begun; result, wild statements about the establishment of a Japanese naval base right on this continent, all ready to send a hostile fleet against this country.

It isn't the first time the alarmists have spread false rumors to try to scare the people into demanding that they be allowed to pay heavier taxes to support a bigger armament. And it won't be the last time, more's the pity. But it serves to illustrate and emphasize the necessity of the American people keeping their wits about them, and not allowing the agitators to stir them up over nothing or less.

Gen. Wood's statement that the Panama defenses are in good condition and adequate is due to bring one broadside from Gussie Gardner and another from Oyster Bay.

SOMETHING BESIDES THE CODE IS WRONG.

One day last week J. W. McElhinney, a circuit court judge of the state of Missouri, instructed a jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" in a trial for obtaining money under false pretenses The evidence was all in, and so far as has been shown it was reasonably conclusive; the trial was at its end; and suddenly the attorney for the defense found that in copying the indictment a clerk had omitted the word "did."

Horrors! "Did" left out? Help! The judge was stirred to the very depths of his soul. It was outrageous to put a man on trial when the indictment lacked a "did." So he instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty," and the jury did.

Here is the way the clause in the indictment read (insert the "did" after the first name Reichard and you will have the way it should have read):

> That B. C. Stevens, Jr., on or about July 23, 1914, feloniously, designedly and fraudulently, with the intent then and there to cheat and defraud one George H. Reichard falsely and fraudulently represent, pretend and state to the said George H. Reichard that a certain deed of trust, etc.

Four years ago Judge McElhinney granted a new trial to three ex-policemen and one other man because he had himself omitted the word "find" in giving his instructions to the jury that found them guilty.

In 1909, Supreme Judge Gantt of Missouri remanded the case against Fred Warner, a member of the St. Louis house of delegates, charged with bribery, because the word "the" was omitted from the indictment, which thereby was made to say "state of Missouri" instead of "the state of Missouri."

In 1901 Supreme Judge Sherwood of the same state reversed and remanded a case against one Hagan, charged with murder, because the word "did" was omitted from the indictment.

All of which has led the St. Louis Republic to demand an immediate campaign for a revision of the code for Missouri court procedure. The Republic means well, but what is needed in Missouri is not so much a revision of the code as a revision of the bench, or its occupants. The old maxim says that "the law is common sense." In Missouri the law appears to be uncommon nonsense, when interpreted by some judges. Whenever the list of silly members of the American judgeship is compiled, Judge McElhinney's name ought to lead all the rest.

Men who couldn't find time to vote are respectfully referred to the report of a suffragist leader that she not only went to the polls on election day, but got breakfast, dinner and luncheon for the family, testified in a lawsuit, went to the bank, read the papers, organized a Bible class and "performed numerous minor duties at home and abroad."

No Goo-Goo Eyes.

Judge: "Binks says she gave him a vacant stare."

"That was her father. His kick made the stair vacant."

Good Reason.

Baltimore American: "Your friend has such a winning personality."

"Yes; that is the reason you don't want to play poker with him often."

How the Papers Told of Lincoln's Murder

From the New York Evening Post.

Consider—although it is not a pleasant subject for thought—what the front pages of the New York newspapers of today would look like in the event of the assassination of a president. Imagine the shouting, six-inch, black and red headlines, the photographs, the detailed descriptions of the catastrophe, the interviews with everyone a witness of it or connected, however remotely, with anyone concerned in it.

This is the best way in which to realize the contrast in the manner in which the newspapers of New York announced on the morning of Saturday, April 15, 1865, the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Heavy, black column rules upon the pages were what first caught the eyes of the readers that morning, as the early editions were cried through the streets. Then, as they were snatched from the hands of the vendors, instead of a topline announcement the full breadth of the page, that could be read across the street, were seen, in capitals of about half the size a newspaper of today might accord to a murder by gunmen, such illuminating statements within the breadth of a single column as:

HIGHLY IMPORTANT!
AWFUL EVENT!
A TERRIBLE CRIME!

Beneath these first lines the reader discovered that the president had been shot in a theater in Washington, that the assassin had escaped and that Secretary Seward had also been attacked in his home.

The most remarkable treatment given to the event by any newspaper, according to standard of modern journalism, and probably of the days of 1865 as well, was that of the Tribune. Upon its first page appeared the black mourning column lines, as in the others; but otherwise the page was undistinguished. Its leading stories consisted of such features as letters from Confederate leaders regarding the last days of the Civil war, whose end in the preservation of the Union had been announced in the news of the fall of Richmond and the surrender of Lee only five days before. Inside, on the fourth page, appeared the following:

HIGHLY IMPORTANT!
The President Shot!
Secretary Seward Attacked!

The Times was typical of the rest of the papers of the city, more up to modern form with its story on the front page, although the melodramatic phraseology of the headlines would probably excite caustic comment from the head of a copy desk today:

AWFUL EVENT!
President Lincoln
Shot By An Assassin.
The Deed Done at Ford's Theater Last Night.
The Act of a Desperate Rebel.

The Herald also followed the custom of the day of labeling the news of the tragedy, with the impressive caption:

IMPORTANT!
Assassination
of
President Lincoln.
The President Shot at the Theater Last Evening.
Secretary Seward
Daggered in His Bed
But Not Mortally Wounded.

The effectiveness of the developed science of handling news is again demonstrated by contrast in some of the reports of the catastrophe which appeared under the headlines that look so odd now. Most of the newspapers finally had at the head of their accounts the official announcement of the assassination, sent out by Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war, at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, but the special dispatches and Associated Press bulletins received before that were garbled and contradictory. For instance, the reader of the Daily News, after going through the headlines, came upon these bewilderingly mental impressions in the leading report:

(Special Dispatch to the Daily News.)
Washington, April 14—Midnight.
The president is still living, but his death is expected every moment. A strong military force is prepared for any emergency that may arise. The president's back was turned to the assassin when the fatal shot was fired.
Before the audience could recover from the alarm produced by the shot and flash of the pistol, the assassin sprang from the box upon the stage exclaiming: "Sic semper tyrannis," and rushed past the wing, brandishing a large dirk knife.
It is not known that any attempt was made to stop him, those on the stage of the theater being no doubt deterred from doing so by the certainty of immediate death. He is said to have entered the president's box but a moment before the shot was fired.
Those who were present described him as a stout, beardless man of about 30 years.

That description must have pleased John Wilkes Booth, matinee idol, if it chanced to come under his eyes.

In all of the earlier accounts, it was left uncertain who was the assassin. He was referred to usually as "the villain" or "the man," but no name was mentioned. In a few of the dispatches, buried away unobtrusively in the middle, was a statement that Laura Keene, the actress, thought that she recognized him in his rush across the stage as the actor, John Wilkes Booth. There was also the climactic announcement:

The excitement was of the wildest possible description, and, of course, there was an abrupt termination of the theatrical performance.

The evening papers had an opportunity to co-ordinate the news of the tragedy and present it more in the form which it would be likely to take today. So the Evening Post gave the following account on its first page:

AN APPALLING CALAMITY!

Assassination of the President.
Mr. Lincoln Shot in Ford's Theater in Washington.

Mr. Seward's Throat Cut.

Dispatches From Secretary Stanton.

Abraham Lincoln was assassinated in Ford's theater in Washington at 9:30 o'clock last night, and at about the same time Secretary Seward was attacked in his sickroom and his throat cut.

The official dispatch from Secretary Stanton was appended, with a description of the scene in the theater and at the death-bed of the president.

On the third page there were other stories, giving a review of the early morning dispatches and accounts of affairs related with the central event. The first of these, from a first edition at 1:30, was headed:

THE ASSASSINATION!

Death of Abraham Lincoln.

Death of Messenger Hansell.

Secretary Seward in a Precarious Condition.

Reward of Ten Thousand Dollars for the Arrest of the Assassin.

Two Men Engaged in the Murders.

J. Wilkes Booth the Murderer of the President.

The second, from the second edition at 2:30, took up the arrangements for carrying on the affairs of the nation upon the death of its chief executive, as follows:

Later Particulars.

Last Moments of Mr. Lincoln.

The Surgeon's Report.

The Remains of the President Taken to the White House.

Inauguration of Andrew Johnson as President of the United States.

Accident Prevention Pays

Pittsburgh Dispatch: An interesting and important showing is given in a chart published by the safety and welfare bureau of the United States Steel corporation showing the results of its efforts to prevent injuries and that establishing systematic work on that line pays the employer as well as the employer.

Starting with the record of 1906 this chart shows the diminution of serious accidents. Fatal injuries, losses of members and disabilities lasting over thirty-nine days, made a total in the seven years ending with 1913 of 11,074 less than would have been the case if the 1906 rate had continued. In the three years of 1911-13, inclusive, the employer spent $2,002,712.27 for safety and had 6,308 fewer accidents than indicated by the 1906 rate. The gross saving in casualty expenses was $4,775,62.64; the net saving $2,771,-80.35. This, it will be seen, makes a profitable result for the employer.

How about the employes? Beside the undeniable benefit to the men in the decrease of over 11,000 accidents they gained in a constant enlargement of the compensation paid to injured men. For every $100 paid in 1906, the employer paid $150.40 in 1907, $191.90 in 1908, $195.60 in 10, $248 in 1910, $280.60 in 1911, $308.10 in 1912 and $373.10 in 1913.

This shows a benefit on both sides. The men helped, of course, as they nearly always will when they see the other fellow lifting at his end of the log. The money yielded over 100 per cent in returns. The men had it proved to them that their co-operation would benefit themselves as well as the employer; and they turned in and made it a success. Accident prevention pays, not only in the social sense, but in dollars and cents.

Our Ex-Presidents.

Washington Star: Gen. Harrison returned to the bar, and prospered. He was so independent there after his term in the White House that he once rebuked an attorney in opposition for referring to it in a case on trial. Mr. Cleveland found congenial work at Princeton after the "fitful fever" of politics was over. Mr. Roosevelt in private life is taking care of himself in strenuous style. He gets his own prices for the products of his pen, and keeps that reasonably busy. And surely Mr. Taft is asking no odds of anybody. He is hoeing his own row, not only profitably, but with ease and as if he liked the employment.

Of all our public men Mr. Taft is absolutely the best loser on a large scale to date. He has never complained once about the country's verdict of 1912. He accepted it promptly in the best of spirit, and has not changed his humor. He discusses it without levity or solemnity, and with evidence that he has examined it from all sides. He is welcome everywhere, and in all companies. As a law teacher he is performing a great service to the entire country. For in his classes wherever he lectures are promising young men soon to take their places as molders and leaders of opinion, and he is helping to mold them.

(This must be at shut of day)
Forty grains of wild sea-sand
Where you think a mermaid lay.
I have heard that it is best
If you gather it, warm and sweet,
Out of the dint of her left breast
Where you see her heart has beat.

Out of the dint in that sweet sand
Gather forty grains, I say;
Yet—if it fall you—understand
There remains a better way.

Out of this you melt your glass
While the veils of night are drawn,
Whispering, till the shadows pass,
"Nixie—pixie—leprechaun!"
Then you blow your magic vial,
Shape it like a crescent moon,
Set it up and make your trial,
Singing, "Elaby, ah, come soon."

Bring the buds of the hazel-copse
Where two lovers kissed at noon;
Bring the crushed red wild-thymo tops
Where they murmured under the moon,
Bring the four-leaved clover also,
One of the white, and one of the red;
Bring the flakes of the May that fall so
Lightly over their bridal-bed.

Drop them into the vial—so,
Swing their incense to the dawn,
Singing, as you come and go,
"Nixie—pixie—leprechaun!"
And, if once will not suffice,
Do it thrice!
If this fail, at break of day,
There remains a better way.

Bring an old and crippled child
Ah, tread softly, on tiptoe—
Tattered, tearless, wonder-wild,
From that underworld below;
Bring a wizened child of seven,
Reeking from the city slime,
Out of hell into your heaven.
Set her knee-deep in the thyme.

Feed her—clothe her—even so!
Set her on a fairy throne.
When her eyes begin to glow
Leave her, for an hour—alone.

You shall need no spells or charms,
On that hilltop, in that dawn.
When she lifts her wasted arms
You shall see a veil withdrawn,
There shall be no veil between them,
Though her head be old and wise.
You shall know that she has seen them
By the glory in her eyes.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From diary:

At a dinner last night I heard two women talking across the table. One was a delightful old soul with gray hair and a lace cap, and the other a sprightly young finishing-school product, who talked with a slight menu card accent.

"Can you imagine anything more distressing?" the young woman was saying. "We were unable to get a drawing room, mothah, and I had to come across the continent in an ordinary sleeping section. I slept in the uppah berth. I had never been in an uppah berth before. It was awful. Have you ever tried rahding across the continent without any drawing room?"

"Well," replied the dear old lady with the lace cap, in a sort of apologetic tone, so low that only a few at the table heard it, "you know I never have crossed the continent but once, and then it was impossible to come in a drawing room. I made the trip in a wagon."

Here was an experience that impressed me with the vitalizing qualities of the California climate far more than all the optimistically superlative talk of the California natives:

I went from Los Angeles over to Santa Ana one day to call on an elderly couple who had moved to California some thirty years ago from the little town where I was raised. In the far-off days when I used to play in their back yard they had owned a horse—a rather amiable, pleasant-faced little old horse with an odd sort of a coat that was a cross between a dun and a bay. I recalled that I was fond of this horse thirty years ago, and had felt a keen sense of regret when these good neighbors took it with them to California.

So I inquired: "What ever became of the horse with the funny color?"

In concert they pointed out a window and replied:

"There he is."

Sure enough, leaning against a fence in the barnyard, under the shade of a sheltering palm, was my old friend, the horse, in the same peculiar coat and looking as hearty and prosperous as when I last saw him thirty years previous."

The California clime had suited that horse exactly. I learned on inquiry that the other members of his family which had remained in the East died comparatively premature death—all under thirty.

At Riverside, Cal., the other day I went out to a government Indian school on a peculiar mission. I desired to find, if possible, a mollycoddle Indian. It seemed to me that out of several hundred Indian pupils there might be one individual who had taken up our modern civilization and gone with it the whole distance, even to the extent of wearing a wrist watch and spats, and having social ambitions. An Indian like that ought to be worth looking at, and if there was one to be found, I wanted to see him. But my quest was a failure. The head of the school gave me his personal word of honor that, notwithstanding all the civilizing influences brought to bear on his pupils, he had never encountered such a thing as a mollycoddle Indian.

East or West, travelers in sleeping cars have practically the same characteristics. All are ready, with hats and coats on, and standing in the passageway, for disembarking, from five to seven minutes before the train pulls into the station.

Some Fruits of Liberty

Charles W. Eliot in the April Atlantic: A brief review of the sources of the important discoveries and inventions, which have made the industries of the civilized world vastly more effective since 130 than they ever were before, will convince any impartial person that the means of improvement have come from the free countries, and not from the countries despotically governed.

Going back to the latter part of the eighteenth century, we find that propulsion by steam on land and water was first made commercially successful by Englishmen and Americans; and that English and French chemists made the fundamental discoveries in chemical theory, in the early part of the nineteenth century, the development of the factory system with steam-driven machinery was an English achievement, and later an American.

Coming on in the nineteenth century, it was Americans who developed the telegraph and telephone as industrial implements, and thereby changed in large measure the habits of industrial, commercial and financial life, and in many respects of domestic and family life also. It was an Italian who invented and introduced in practice wireless telegraphy—a delightful instance of the transmission of a genius for physics in the same nation through centuries. It was Americans who invented and made commercially practical electric lighting and the wide diffusion of mechanical power by electricity. The explosive engine was developed as an industrial agent in France; and the gasoline motor and the automobile have been French, English and American developments.

The aeroplane heavier than air was invented by Prof. Langley, when secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and was developed for practical use by two other Americans—the brothers Wright. The cotton gin, on which the whole cotton textile industry is founded, was the invention of an American, as were also the sewing machine, the typewriter and all sorts of shoe machinery.

Still Re-fighting Waterloo.

Pall Mall Gazette: In an article, written to disparage the fighting qualities of our troops, Prof. Leyden revives the legend that the Germans—not the English—brought about the victory of Waterloo. Visitors to Java find that this honor is claimed on behalf of yet a third nation. A monument at Batavia is inscribed: "To the perpetual memory of that most famous day on which, by the resolution and activity of the Belgians and their famous general, William Frederick George Ludovic, prince of Luxemburg, after a terrible conflict on the plains of Waterloo, when the battalions of the French had been routed on every side, the peace of the world dawned once more."

After Election.

Washington Star: "Will the musicians be on hand to greet you when you get home?"

"I'm afraid so," replied Senator Sorghum. "My campaign manager has written informing me that I owe money to every band in town."

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Shame on Them.

Pine River Sentinel-Blaze: The Elwell law has been repealed. Shame on the legislature that did it.

Stop the Damage.

Park Rapids Journal: Now that the state legislature has taken a fall out of the Elwell road law and put a crimp in other items of interest to Northern Minnesota we move for immediate adjournment before any more blacklisting is done for this part of the state.

Non-Voters' Size.

Tower News: A bill is up which will endeavor to make men vote whether they want to or not, else be subject to a fine. The man who never votes is, happily, rare. He should be. The man who can live in a country and not want a hand in its government is really not much of a citizen as you will observe by taking notice. To miss a vote is excusable, but to willfully remain away from the polls on election day and always, brands the man who does it as the replica of the aperture in a doughnut.

Why Not?

Baudette Region: If the legislature is sincere in its promise to economize, why doesn't it adjourn?

Why Work at All?

Red Wing Eagle: Another fool bill, added to the long list already proposed by our worthy solons, is one introduced by one of the senators providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment to make it unlawful to require wage earners to work more than six hours a day. Why not make it unlawful to work at all? The world already contains a large contingent that consists of the highest and lowest strata of humanity. Why not make the middle strata quit, too, for a change?

Good Record.

La Porte News: The time for the introduction of new bills before the legislature has expired and the time from now on will be taken up in trying to push through some of the bills already presented. So far, this legislature has passed fewer laws than any previous legislature for some time. Let us hope they do not spoil this record.

A Cheerful Sound.

Redwood Gazette: We are not going to say anything about the legislature in this issue. "If you cannot say something good, keep still," is the motto recently adopted by us. But April 22 does have a cheerful sound.

One Good Phase.

Luverne Journal: Now that the state senate has killed the bill providing for taking the census this summer, we newspaper fellers can lie to our heart's content about the populations of our respective towns. Here's a headline we have prepared for the issue of the Journal of Dec. 30, 1915: "Luverne Now Boasts a Population of 4,327 Souls!" Who will dare to say we speak not truly?

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

You can make it your business to live and proclaim the Gospel while you serve behind a counter, or on a railway train, or on a policeman's beat, "to pay expenses."—Told at Midnight in a Sleeping Car.

O happy earth! O home so well beloved!
What recompense have we from thee removed!
One hope we have that overtops the whole,—
The hope of finding every vanished soul
We love and long for daily, and for this
Gladly we turn from thee, and all thy bliss,
Even at thy loveliest, when the days are long,
And little birds break out in rippling song.
—Celia Thaxter.

If our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.—I John iii, 20.
Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God.—I John iii, 21.

A sense of duty pursues us ever. It is omnipresent, like the Deity. If we take to ourselves the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, duty performed, or duty violated, is still with us, for our happiness or our misery. If we say the darkness shall cover us, in the darkness as in the light our obligations are yet with us. We cannot escape their power, nor fly from their presence. They are with us in this life, will be with us at its close; and in that scene of inconceivable solemnity which lies yet farther onward we shall still find ourselves surrounded by the consciousness of duty, to pain us wherever it has been violated, and to console us so far as God may have given us grace to perform.—Daniel Webster.

Dayton, Ohio.

The Crime of Being a Boy.

Detroit News: Prominent Chicago attorneys have leagued together in an agreement to defend boy prisoners without charge.

Judge Harry Dolan, originator of the scheme, says that every boy is "guilty until proven innocent." He points out that one-eighth of the boy population of Chicago is arrested every year on charges ranging from the use of the word "copper" in taunting a policeman to singing on a park bridge after midnight.

The line between mischief and crime in the boy-world is very vague. Laws made by adults for their own protection and comfort do not have the fervent sympathy of youngsters; they are primitive creatures being gradually pressed into the shapes required by civilization. Too frequently, in the pressing process, they are broken and become expensive liabilities instead of assets of the state.

The juvenile court, with its probation system, has been a recent step taken here for the conservation of boys. Municipal playgrounds, properly conducted, will be another.

If you don't want Socialism, quit repeating the beatitudes which teach, "The meek shall inherit the earth."

If you don't want Socialism, disagree with Paul who said, "If a man will not labor, neither let him eat." If you don't want Socialism, quit praying, "Thy Kingdom Come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

If you don't want Socialism, repudiate Christ's teachings, "He that would be great among you let him be your servant."

If you don't want Socialism, quit advocating the universal Fatherhood of God, and the universal Brotherhood of Man. If you don't want Socialism, quit preaching justice to all men, and preach special privileges for the rich, and oppression for the poor.

If you don't want Socialism, renounce Christ's teachings on wealth: How shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of heaven. If you don't want Socialism repudiate Christ's teachings on war; for if you do have Socialism, the prophecy of Isaiah will be fulfilled, "They shall beat their swords into plow shares, and their spears into pruning hooks. nations shall not lift up sword against nations, neither shall they learn war any more." If you don't want Socialism, you will have to repudiate Christ and the Bible; for the observance of their fundamental teachings will make Socialism inevitable. Look out! so we don't repudiate Christ for capitalism.

VALUE OF KIND WORDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We do not appreciate the value of just a few kind words to the man who is down and out. I heard not long ago a talk made at a hall where there were all men. Perhaps now one would wonder why a woman happens to be in a place where there were all men, but this happened to a place for the public. We were passing, another woman and myself, and merely dropped in. I looked over the crowd and it appeared to be all men, with the exception of two or three women. These men looked as if they would like a little handout. Clad in very rough clothing and with sorrowful expressions some turned and glanced to the rear of the room, only to find a few well dressed women which seemed to deaden their hearts as they slowly turned their head back to the speaker in front again. Now what do we want to do in a case of its kind? The past cannot be undone no matter what kind of life a man has led.

This is the point I want to impress most emphatically. We should try to say kind words, try to wash off the shame for these poor souls, and speak the word in a most encouraging way, being careful not to remind them of their past lives. A. S.

Duluth, April 17.

WHAT THEY STAND FOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly advise me through the Open Court, what the initials "A. P. A." stand for, as I have heard this expression a number of times. Would thank you for any information you may be able to give. Respectfully yours.

IG NOR AMOS.

Duluth, April 17.

They stand for American Protective association. It was organized at Clinton, Iowa, in 1887 for the purpose of restricting immigration and combatting the Roman Catholic church. It spread very rapidly, but died out about as quickly and little is heard of it now, except in a joking way.—The Editor.

DEFENDS JUDGE WINDOM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In public affairs questions sometimes arise which can only be decided by the proper court.

Such a one arose two years ago, when Mr. Farrell had a plurality of first choice votes for commissioner, and it was best that it be decided once for all, whether the city charter's arrangement for counting second and third choice votes was valid.

The Herald did not abuse Mr. Farrell for bringing up this question for decision, nor allow letters in the Open Court disparaging him.

Why, then, when a similar question has arisen in the case of Judge Windom, does The Herald publish an editorial criticising him, and allow a letter personally abusing him in its columns? (The letter seems to miss the point at issue entirely.) The question whether the office of municipal judge is one to which the law of the state or of the city applies is one which the proper court alone can decide; it can only be decided by the court when brought before it by an interested party. If Judge Windom had refused to be a candidate he could have brought no contest, and nothing he could have "said" beforehand would have had legal effect—the matter was not before his court.

This is the first election to that office since the charter was adopted, so it is the first opportunity for settling the question, and it should now be fixed for the future. Why all this criticism? Can any one imagine?

If Judge Windom had gone for his opponent with a gun, there might be reason to find fault, but like a law-abiding citizen, he has brought his legal question to the proper court for decision, and will no doubt abide by its ruling, whatever the result may be. It is a poor return for his years of service to give a kick in the rear as he (perhaps) retires from office, and an offense to several thousand voters who preferred him to any other candidate for that office. Respectfully,

M. J. JAQUES.

Duluth, April 16.

Mrs. Jaques is somewhat astray on the facts. Mr. Farrell did not bring proceedings to prevent second and third choice votes being counted for another candidate. He sought to have counted votes which were cast for him but not counted because the voters, while voting for him, failed to vote for two commissioners. Therefore The Herald did not criticise him. If there were no letters on the subject published in Open Court, the reason was that none were received. There is not a similar question in Judge Windom's case. The people of Duluth in adopting the preferential ballot acted by authority of a state law, and the supreme court has declared it valid. When all the votes were counted, it was found that Judge Windom was third in the race. The correctness of the count is not attacked. Had Judge Windom been so anxious to find out whether the preferential system applied to the judgeship election he had ample opportunity to have the point decided in the courts before the election. It is a safe bet that if he had received a plurality of first, second and third choice votes he would never have raised the point.—The Editor.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

For His Majesty and His Mother Too

ALL pediatrists whose teachings are considered authoritative in medical circles agree upon one prescription for the baby and his mother, and that is outdoor air. Some of the old-timers still refer, as a matter of habit, to the necessity of avoiding drafts while pursuing the treatment, but the real leaders of the profession are trying hard to forget that old stuff about drafts, because it is now known that what we call "fresh air" is not to be had without a draft.

Speaking of the ventilation of hospitals, Dr. J. A. Miller of New York voiced this opinion at the annual meeting of the American Medical association last summer: "I myself do not feel that the so-called drafts are as much to be dreaded as we have been accustomed to think. Although our textbooks ascribe some eighty-odd diseases and conditions directly to exposure to cold and drafts, recent studies tend to show that these conditions are usually due to bacterial infection in which exposure plays no or only a minor role. * * * Our own observations of young men exposed to chilling and drafts from fans after long continued exposure to high temperatures, demonstrated nothing but agreeable effects.

Let the Housework Wait.

Now, you young mothers, "exposure" and "drafts" are quite as harmless for you and the baby as for any one else. If you nurse the baby you must have a daily walk in the open air, for your own good as well as the baby's; if you are raising him on the bottle he will rest better nights—and so will you—if he gets his daily ration of fresh air. He will assimilate his food better, gain faster, and have less trouble with his tummy. Never mind what his father's old fogy notions may be—father can stand the enervating influence of warm, vitiated air, but the baby and you cannot. Let grandma predict all the dire calamities she can conjure up. Let the neighbors click their tongues and wag them to their hearts' content. But give the baby a fair start in the world. He's your baby and he has a right to be well. Count that day lost when housework cheats you both out of your regular airing.

Questions and Answers.

What Kind of Goitre?: I am extremely nervous, have catarrh of head and throat, kidney trouble, and a goitre. My eyes bother me. Does the goitre affect my eyes? I have anemia, I think. Will you please advise me what to do? Should I see a specialist?

REPLY.

Your age and other details should be mentioned. Perhaps it is exophthalmic goitre (prominent eyes). This affects the eyes, heart action and nervous system very much. Place yourself under the care of your family doctor. There is no such thing as a goitre specialist.

* * *

Symptoms of Pellagra: Please tell me what are the symptoms of pellagra, and whether there is any cure known.

REPLY.

Mental depression or disturbance of some kind; digestive disturbance and intestinal trouble of obstinate character; often a sore mouth; and roughening and pigmentation of the skin, particularly on the wrists. The best treatment thus far known is a liberal diet, including a goodly proportion of beans, peas, vegetables and fruit.

* * *

She Must Agree With Us: Is there any way I can get copies of your articles on "colds" and their prevention, as published in the Health talks? writes Mrs. C. R.

REPLY.

Until our publisher gets out that hypothetical book we occasionally refer to, you will have to depend on the paper for back copies. Anyway, it's encouraging to know that one reader agrees with our views on "colds."

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnosis. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady care of The Herald.

SHOW RESULTS OF NEGRO EDUCATION

Hampton Quartet and Lecturer Give Entertainment; Two More Programs.

Negro melodies and many sidelights on negro education in the South were features of the entertainment yesterday as given by the Hampton Institute quartet and Prof. William Dodd, member of the faculty of that school, who gave an address. The party is on its way to the Panama exposition. In addition to the program given at the Pilgrim Congregational church yesterday, members of the Duluth Commercial club will be entertained this noon, and a third program will be given at the First Methodist church tomorrow night.

Old Negro Melodies.

Many of the old negro songs, well known throughout the land were sung as only members of that race can sing them, and Prof. Dodd gave a very clear and complete idea of educational work among the negroes of the South. He said in part:

"Gen. Samuel Armstrong began a negro school, with two teachers and fifteen students of varying ages, in a plantation house and army barracks at Hampton, Va., forty-five years ago.

"Following a brilliant war record and the administration of a large territory at the close of the war, Armstrong chose to give his life to training leaders for a race. 'We are here not merely to make students, but men and women; to build up character and fit teachers and leaders,' he said. For twenty-five years he worked unsparingly and unceasingly until the old mansion house where Hampton Institute began was surrounded by shops, dormitories, recitation halls; until he saw the Hampton idea, carried by his students and teachers, taking firm root throughout the South—at Tuskogee, at Calhoun, at Mount Meigs, and in scores of communities near and far.

"With shattered health, exhausted from years of pleading for Hampton, worn out before his time, Armstrong literally gave his life for an idea of education and human training, when he died in his prime.

"The 150 buildings, the thousand acres of land, the course in fifteen trades, in teaching and home-making, in business and farming, and the 800 students training for leadership are the physical growth of Hampton.

Eight Thousand Graduates.

"Eight thousand men and women have gone out from Hampton to the South and West, trained in teaching, trained in home-building, trained in the trades. In taking their places in negro industrial schools of the South and in hundreds of communities, this army of workers has helped to decrease the illiteracy of the negro from approximately 100 to 30.4 per cent.

"Through Hampton outposts and graduates, the method of industrial training has become thoroughly established as the educational solution of a race problem.

"Hampton today has become the headquarters of an army of uplift. The class which graduates this year will take positions at strategic points in leading the effort for better soils, better farming and industrial training. Girls skilful as teachers and ground in home arts and home industries will go from Hampton to supervise the negro schools of whole counties in Southern states. In Virginia alone there are eighteen women graduates of Hampton, who are directing the instruction of negro children in every country school of eighteen counties, under the direction of the state supervisor of rural schools. A Hampton graduate visits the negro schools of the entire South, studying the field."

MOOSE LODGE IN MEMORIAL SERVICE

W. S. McCormick Is Chief Speaker—Initiation and Banquet Tuesday.

W. S. McCormick was the principal speaker yesterday afternoon at the annual memorial services of Lodge No. 505, Loyal Order of Moose, at Moose hall, 224 West First street. The program included special music and a ritualistic ceremony.

At a meeting tomorrow evening, the lodge will initiate a class of candidates. The affair will be followed by a banquet and social entertainment.

Plans for a Moose sanitarium in Minnesota are now being made. The matter will be taken up for consideration this summer at the national convention of the order to be held at San Diego, Cal.

NO BATTLE IN NORTH SEA, SAYS CHURCHILL.

London, April 19.—Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, has issued the following denial of recent rumors:

"There has been no naval action of any kind in the North sea during the past month, nor any action of any kind in the Dardanelles other than the local bombardments and reconnaissances by single ships.

"Since March 18, only two or three men have been hit in the Dardanelles and there has been no loss or injury to French or British ships."

Blood Troubles Can not Remain If Properly Treated.

There is in S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, a property that absolutely compels harmful influences to disintegrate and lose their identity. No matter what they are called nor how destructive they are there is in S. S. S. a powerful, searching counter influence to annihilate the most eruptive germ, causes the mucous linings to convert it into an inert substance that is quickly thrown out of the blood and out of the body by the skin, lungs, kidneys, bowels, and destroyed in the liver. There is not a single advance in medicine today that in any sense is an improvement over S. S. S. Surgery is a wonderful, masterful science, but when it comes to purifying the blood S. S. S. stands alone. Thousands of doctors have prescribed it. Their patients do not always know it is S. S. S., because they leave the treatment to the doctor implicitly. But fair-minded doctors long ago realized that in the vegetable nature of S. S. S. were certain ingredients that to the blood in sickness were just as essential as the flesh-building elements of the grains, meats, fats and sugars of our daily food. The average doctor is humane and of trained intelligence. He has seen the recoveries from worst cases of blood trouble by the use of S. S. S. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. EARLY RULING LOOKED FOR District Court Expected to Decide Municipal Judgeship Soon.

Three Judges Hear Arguments in Windom-Smallwood Contentions.

An early decision of the mandamus action brought against the city by Judge William L. Windom to test the validity of the preferential system of balloting as applied to the office of municipal judge, will be forthcoming from the three district court judges who listened to arguments presented by attorneys appearing before them in Judge Cant's division of the court Saturday afternoon.

The case came on for a hearing before Judges Cant, Dancer and Fesler on an order to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue against the city requiring the council to declare Judge Windom elected to the office of municipal judge by virtue of the fact that he obtained a plurality of the first choice votes cast at the municipal election.

On Mandamus Proceedings.

Judge Windom, candidate for re-election, was defeated by Capt. W. H. Smallwood under the preferential system of balloting. Capt. Smallwood received enough second and third choice votes to overcome the Windom plurality of first choice votes. The city council canvassed the returns but mandamus proceedings instituted by Judge Windom prevented it from issuing a certificate of election to Capt. Smallwood.

Judge Windom's contention is that none but first choice votes should have been counted for the office of municipal judge, in view of the fact that the office of municipal judge is a state or constitutional office and one not controlled by the city charter. His attorney, H. C. Fulton, argued that the preferential system of voting applied only to city offices as distinguished from a state office, to which latter classification the municipal court judgeship belonged.

Smallwood's Side of It.

H. H. Phelps argued that the legislature drafted legislation referring to the Duluth municipal court after the new city charter had been adopted and the preferential system of balloting had been in effect and that the lawmakers must have had the Duluth system of voting in mind when they provided that the day of election for municipal judge should be on the same day as that provided for by the city charter. He also contended that if the legislature had intended that two methods of voting be carried into effect on election day that it would, in express terms, have so provided.

The judges, sitting en banc, listened to arguments on a demurrer to the writ.

DULUTHIAN LANDS TWO MONSTER BEAUTIES

H. F. Williamson Hooks One 5-Pounder and Another Better Than That.

Had Isaak Walton himself, patron saint of all anglers, been alive yesterday, he would have envied the catch made by Harvey F. Williamson, 2402 East First street, at Brule, twenty miles from Duluth on the south shore.

Two large rainbow trout, one weighing five pounds and the other a little more than five pounds, were brought back by the Duluth sportsman. Both fish are said to rank with the largest of this variety ever caught in the immediate vicinity of this city.

Mr. Williamson caught both with a five-ounce rod and a small spinner about a half inch in diameter. He did not have a landing net large enough to pick up his catch, and succeeded only after a struggle of nearly half an hour in each case.

Fifteen minutes after the first beauty had been landed, the second strike came. Creeks and rivers are full of steelheads and rainbows en route to spawning beds.

"FOR HIRE" DRIVERS MUST HAVE LICENSE

Chief Troyer Issues Order Restricting Operations of Chauffeurs.

Unlicensed chauffeurs will be prohibited from operating cars for hire, according to an order issued yesterday by Chief Troyer.

The action on the part of the chief was taken at the request of C. H. Healy, member of the state board of automobile examiners, on his return from St. Paul Saturday night, after attending a meeting of that body. It is proposed to hold examinations on the second Wednesday of each month for all would-be drivers.

This movement, Chief Troyer said, will weed out the unskilled drivers and will help the police department in its safety-first campaign. The reason why the state law was not enforced heretofore, he said, was because no regular examinations were held.

"The state law," said Chief Troyer, "which prohibits unlicensed drivers from operating cars for hire, will be rigidly enforced following the issuance of certificates. Under the present condition, brought about by neglect of the state to hold an examination, numerous unskilled drivers are operating in the city. The weeding out of those unfit to be trusted with cars will be an important step toward traffic safety."

NO INDICATIONS OF ANY NAVAL ACTIVITY

Japs Merely Carrying on Salvage Operations on Wrecked Cruiser.

Washington, April 19.—Commander Noble Irwin of the cruiser New Orleans reported to the navy department yesterday that he had investigated the Japanese naval activity in Turtle bay, Lower California, and found no indications of other than salvage work on the stranded cruiser Asama.

The commander's report was sent by wireless to Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, who telegraphed it to Secretary Daniels as follows:

"The Asama still aground in San Bartolome bay. Only other vessels present, one repair ship and two colliers. No indications of other than salving work."

Secretary Daniels had called upon Admiral Howard for a special report in view of press dispatches telling of the assembling of a squadron of foreign warships in Turtle bay of a large camp established by the Japanese ashore, and mines laid in the harbor.

The Asama has been aground in the secluded Mexican haven since December, and the reports indicated that the presence of other ships aiding in getting her afloat was being made the excuse for the establishment of a permanent base of operations.

The Japanese embassy issued a statement declaring the operations were solely for salvage purposes and denying that there was any intention of establishing a naval base, and later Gen. Cantu, military governor of Lower California, telegraphed the Villa authorities that the Japanese activities were limited to salvaging the Asama.

Admiral Howard sent orders by wireless to the New Orleans, which had left San Diego, Cal., Friday for Mazatlan, Mex., directing Commander Noble to stop in at Turtle Bay, exchange the usual visits of courtesy, and report upon what was going on there.

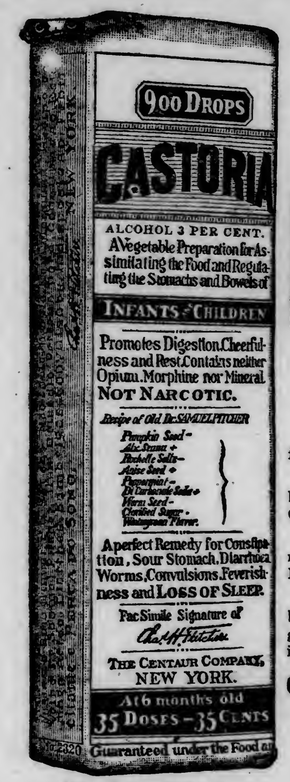
FUNERAL OF NELSON W. ALDRICH HELD SUNDAY

Providence, R. I., April 19.—Leaders in political and financial affairs of the nation were present in Grace church yesterday at the funeral of Nelson W. Aldrich, for nearly a generation United States senator from Rhode Island.

More than 1,000 persons were at the railroad station when the body arrived from New York. Flags were at half mast throughout the city.

The services were conducted by the Right Rev. James Dewold Perry, Episcopal bishop of Rhode Island, assisted by the Rev. Frank Warfield Crowder, rector of the church.

CROSBY SENIORS' PLAY.



Present "The Country Minister" Twice With Success.

Crosby, Minn., April 19.—The senior class of the high school Friday night presented the five-act comedy drama "The Country Minister" in the Workmen's hall to a good sized audience. All of the cast took their parts well and with the selections rendered by the school orchestra between acts the evening's program was considered very good. With a matinee in the afternoon a neat sum was realized. The cast follows: Ralph Underwood, the country minister, Sidney Lefko; Helen Burleigh, a rich city girl, Romayne Latta; Gregory Heath, a gentlemanly villain, Frederick Crosby; Jerushy Jane Judkins, a country postmistress, Jessie Bame; Roxy, a fresh airer, Edna Saunders; Jud Pordoe, an escaped convict, Theodore Nelson; Granny Grimes, an old hag, Geraldine Bame; Timothy Hodd, a whittler, Robert Lund; Deacon Potter, a trifle deaf, William Raymond; Tom Sparrow, a country boy, John Sewall; Wm. Henry, another country lad, Stephen Darling; Fanny, the maid, Ebba Yernberg.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

HIBBING MAY HAVE WOMAN POLICEMAN

Demand Made That Police Matron Be Appointed Now.

Hibbing, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A chief of police, members of the park, library and water and light boards and other appointments will be made at the meeting of the village council tomorrow night, providing Mayor V. L. Power, who is in St. Paul, returns.

It is also expected that the council will take some action relative to the appointment of a police matron. Mrs. Delia Stover has received several recommendations for the position and it is possible that her application will be acted upon favorably. There are other applicants. Mrs. Stover is a trained nurse and has lived here twelve years.

Need Police Matron.

The need of a police matron in Hibbing is considered imperative, more because this village has a term of district court three times a year.

A petition signed by 369 taxpayers, asking that W. J. Power, brother to Mayor Power, be appointed to the water and light board, has been received by the council. The term of W. J. Curran, chairman, expires. W. J. Ryder automatically takes the chairmanship. Fred M. Smith will be chairman next year.

DRILLS FOR COAL IN POLK COUNTY

Virginia Expert Believes There Is Bituminous Field Near Mentor.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. O. Johnson, local mining man, is home from a trip to Mentor, Polk county, where he is starting the first drill to be put to work in that section, exploring, what is believed to be a bituminous coal field of considerable proportions.

"There is no question about the Polk county coal fields," said Mr. Johnson. "There are undoubtedly large measures there of a good grade of bituminous coal and those who have conducted such little exploration as has been done, claim also that a good grade of anthracite has been found. We shall start a drill today."

Mr. Johnson says it is a mistake to confound the deposits in the vicinity of Mentor with the lignite deposits of the northwestern section of the state. He brought home with him samples that show an excellent grade of bituminous.

EVELETH OPERETTA DELIGHTS CROWDS

Three Performances of "A Nautical Knot" Give Audiences Pleasure.

Eveleth, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The operetta, "A Nautical Knot," which was given at the auditorium Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday night by the high school chorus, was a great success in every way. The students acquitted themselves very creditably, and the whole play went off smoothly.

"A Nautical Knot" is an operetta in two acts of sea shore life. It contained about twenty musical numbers, solos, duets, trios and choruses. Besides the musical numbers, there were three dances. The first was a Stollers' dance by ten sailors and ten girls; the second, a flower dance by seven girls, and third, the well-known sailors' hornpipe. All of the dances met with the approval of the audiences.

Miss Emma E. Vogel had charge of the operetta. Miss Pauline Rabinowitz had charge of the dancing.

Large audiences were present at the three performances. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades were admitted free of charge to the afternoon performance. Over 500 children were present.

CONVICTED SIXTH TIME.

Virginia Woman Has Penchant for Blind Pigging.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—Convicted for the sixth time of running a blind pig on the North side, Mary Rukovinch has been given another chance by Judge Gillespie after her trial.

Judge Gillespie sentenced her to pay a fine of $50 and costs or ninety days in the county jail and then suspended sentence with an order that she henceforth refrain from conducting a blind pig.

This was the sixth time that this woman has appeared before the court on the same charge and five times she was fined $50 for each offense, which she promptly paid at the time of her conviction.

WILL BORROW MONEY.

New Village of Franklin to Get Into Game Early.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new village of Franklin, adjoining Virginia, which has just selected its first set of village officers, is without money to begin and will make arrangements with a local bank to carry warrants until tax money comes in. There is a large amount of valuable mining property in the village.

It is expected the village council will authorize the building of a village hall at an early meeting. It is announced that some road improvements will be started in the near future.

A board of health has been appointed, consisting of Messrs. Hendy and Baker of the council and Dr. Ewen of Virginia as health physician. The appointment of Ernest B. Mills of Virginia as village attorney has been confirmed.

Record blanks and books for the village officials will be ordered at once and other details pertaining to the organization completed. George H. Lohnes is president, James Mahoney recorder and Jack Reuter treasurer of the village. The members of the town board are Adelbert Baker, Joseph Hendy and George Scott.

VIRGINIA PLAYERS TO BEGIN PRACTICE

Manager John Sundheim on Ground, Prepared for Tryouts.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager John Sundheim of the Virginia team in the Northern league arrived from Chicago last night. He has signed some crack players and announces the Virginia team will begin practicing here next Thursday in Oliver park.

The club will play its first game with the Hibbing team next Sunday.

FINNISH PATRIOT DIES.

Noted Man Who Lectured on Mesaba Range Is Called.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—News has been received here of the death at Pittsburgh, Pa., of Capt. Koch, a distinguished Finnish patriot, who was exiled by the czar of Russia not many years ago because he would not do war duty. Capt. Koch visited the Mesaba range last year and delivered two lectures in behalf of the freedom of the Finns. The story of his escape from Finland across the Gulf of Bothnia in an open boat and his subsequent arrival in America formed a stirring story of the patriot's career.

PLAN NEATER HIBBING.

Vigorous Spring Cleaning Campaign to Be Tackled.

Hibbing, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A vigorous clean-up campaign to make this one of the cleanest villages on the range, will be inaugurated this spring.

Already several loads have been raked and the green grass is coming out, while alleys and back yards will be religiously searched for ash piles and tin cans, which will be taken outside of the village limits and disposed of. The incinerator, which was to do away with all rubbish for the spring clean-up, will not be ready for this work, although it has been reported that work on the incinerator may begin soon.

Besides cleaning alleys and back yards and planting flowers and bushes in the front yards, it is expected that steps will be made towards a garden campaign. Plots which can be used for gardening purposes may be furnished by the village.

APPLAUD HIBBING BAND.

Sunday Concert, Enjoyed By Big Crowd, Well Received.

Hibbing, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elaborate preparations are being made for the dance to be given Monday night, April 26, at the armory, by the concert band.

The proceeds of the dance will be used to pay outstanding debts of the organization, which, according to members, have greatly impeded the band in its progress.

The concert given by the band yesterday afternoon at the armory attracted fully 1,000 people. This program was exceptionally difficult, but was, frequently applauded.

McKINLEY TO INSTALL NEW WATER SYSTEM.

McKinley, Minn., April 19.—At the organization meeting of the village council a tax levy of $30,000 was made for the ensuing year. Of this sum it was decided to expend $18,000 on the construction of a new water works.

W. H. Radermacher of Gilbert was elected village attorney, the First National bank of Biwabik was chosen as the depositary. G. W. Ellis was again named superintendent of the water and light department at $85 per month; Otto Johnson, marshal, at $75 per month and the village clerk's salary was fixed at $20 per month.

PIPE LINE WORK WILL SOON START

Hibbing, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next week work will begin on the construction of the pipe line which will connect the reservoir, to be built south of Alice in conjunction with the complete new water system for Hibbing, with the tower tank in the cemetery here. The tower tank, which is 165 feet in height, was recently completed at an expense of $22,000.

Engineer R. J. Morehouse, who has charge of the work, will probably have the location of the power house and reservoir designated some time this week. This is held in abeyance pending the capacity of well No. 3, now being drilled. This well, it is said, will have a greater capacity than either of the two others, which together have a capacity of 1,700,000 gallons of water a day.

3,000,000 Gallons Daily.

The contract held by the Lane & Bowler company, water developers of Houston, Tex., calls for a daily capacity of 3,000,000 gallons of water a day and pumping devices to handle 5,000,000 gallons. The reservoir will hold 1,000,000 gallons of water. The tank will hold 300,000 gallons.

The new water system has been heartily indorsed by mining companies, who recommended to the village council that the offer of the Layne & Bowler company to develop the necessary water or receive no pay, be accepted.

TWO VIRGINIA WOMEN NEARLY NAB BURGLAR

Mrs. Mark Eddy and Daughter Come Near Making Arrest.

Virginia, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mark Eddy and her daughter, Clara, are voted in the heroine class today because of their daring attempt to catch a burglar in the Eddy home on Central avenue last night.

They were awakened shortly after 10 o'clock by some one prowling around in another room and Mrs. Eddy investigated. As she entered the room a man dashed into the clothes closet. Miss Eddy joined her mother and the two tried to keep the closet door closed while they screamed for Mr. Eddy who was sleeping in another room. The intruder, however, forced the door open, dashed by the screaming women, and jumped from an open window. They got a good look at him and have given the police such a clear description that an arrest is expected. The burglar got nothing.

Among the latter will be a fire-fly dance, phantom dance, Indian war dance and dance of the wind spirits.

PRAISES RANGE SCHOOLS

University Lecturer Marvels at What the Range Boasts.

Hibbing, Minn., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speaking here Saturday night on "State Resources," Prof. Edward M. Lehnerts of the general extension division of the state university lauded the schools of the range as little short of wonders in the way of advancement and up-to-dateness.

"What impressed me most," he said, "is the wonderful progress, energy and vitality of the school systems here. I can readily see that the range is progressive in all civic lines, but as my line is education, the remarkable facilities for education of school children especially appeals to me. Every department is complete in itself. Thoroughness in providing students with practical as well as theoretical training, are outstanding features."

HOUSE IMPATIENT WITH DILATORY TACICS FOR HOLDING BACK BILLS

prevent consideration of other pending measures. Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin resented this suggestion, and said the appropriation bills are very important and should be considered without limit.

For State University.

The appropriations for the state university were the target of house activities this morning when the educational appropriation bill was taken up shortly before noon. Representative Greene wanted to cut the fuel allowance from $90,000 to $75,000, but his amendment was lost. Representative Davis had better luck with an amendment cutting the maintenance allowance from $550,000 to $525,000, which was adopted. Several of the members, during the debate on this amendment, expressed the opinion that salaries are too large at the university. At noon the house was discussing an amendment by Representative Malmberg cutting out the provision of $25,000 for university extension work.

Would Use Native Stone.

The house this morning passed the bill by Senator J. D. Sullivan of St. Cloud requiring the use of Minnesota stone in state buildings, after two important amendments offered by Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls had been adopted. One, which was accepted by the friends of the bill, provides that it shall not work to prevent the use of outside materials when an existing building is being extended.

The other makes the same provision as to groups of buildings, such as those on the university campus. This amendment was opposed by the friends of the bill, who declared that it would defeat the purpose of the measure. Representative Wefald said he couldn't see what harm would be done if a gentle building should be constructed on the university campus, even if the other buildings were made of other materials. The amendment was adopted, 53 to 52, and the bill was passed, 77 to 27. Representative Indrehus led the fight for the bill.

Insurance Bill.

This morning the house took up the Wefald special order on general bills selected by the country members, and the understanding was that it was to be resumed after the appropriation bills are disposed of. The house began the day by taking three-quarters of an hour over agreeing on the senate amendments to an insurance bill. Representative Rodenberg wanted to cut out the so-called retaliatory clause, under which insurance companies from states that bar Minnesota companies are forbidden to do business in this state, but his motion to amend was lost.

The Burrows anti-tipping bill was rescued from defeat in the senate this morning when the adverse report on it from a majority of the committee on general legislation was overturned by a vote of 34 to 27 and the bill placed on general orders.

Poultry Shows Lose Out.

Final action by the senate this morning on the bill for state aid to county fairs settled it that poultry associations are to lose the state aid they have heretofore had under the law. They were eliminated from this bill and put into another bill, which the house killed. When there was a conference on the county fair bill, it was hoped that the poultry associations might be put back into the law as they were before, but no attempt to do this was made, and their fate was sealed when the senate this morning concurred in the amendments and repassed the bill. The house amendment, against which there was a brief fight in the senate, takes state aid away from county fairs that do not charge admission.

The senate bill applying the principles of the abatement law to "blind pigs" was killed this morning when the senate adopted an adverse report of the temperance commission.

The senate under suspension of the rules this morning passed the McGarry bill giving the Itasca county commissioners $800 a year.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

that must be settled by conference committees. This will take up a considerable share of the remaining time. After today, each house will work chiefly on bills that have come from the other house, for there is very little chance of putting through a bill that must go through the routine of either branch between now and Wednesday night. For the house, for instance, to spend time in passing house bills is utterly waste motion, for the senate will not be able to handle them; and the senate is still less likely to bother with passing bills that must go through the house, for the house can never reach half the bills that have already been sent to it by the senate.

Big Grist of Bills.

The house has before it the special order under the Wefald resolution, consisting of bills selected by country members, numbering about fifty; calendar with something like seventy-five bills; and a general orders numbering more than 250 bills. The general orders probably will not be touched at all.

If the house membership were seriously disposed to work, it could pass a good many bills yet before the finish; but for the last week there has been a filibuster in progress, intended to prevent the house from reaching certain bills, chief among which is the bill limiting the expenditures of villages and cities of the third and fourth classes. It is still a question whether that bill will be reached, though there are evidences that many of the members who are disposed to work right up to the end have become aware of what is going on, and are determined to put a stop to it.

The Boxing Bill.

The senate has still to decide the fate of the boxing bill, and this was due to come up this afternoon. It was believed that there were votes enough to pass it when it was taken up Saturday, and if that was true, there seems no reason why it cannot pass today, though if it does it will be by a close vote.

Because of the amendment offered by Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth, limiting the number of boxing bouts allowed to twelve per year in each of the three first class cities, the bill will have to be returned to the house for repassage if it goes through the senate, and its opponents will make another attempt to defeat it then.

The senate tonight will take up as a special order the bill forbidding the university to affiliate with the Mayo foundation. It is not believed that the bill can be passed, and even if it should pass the senate there is virtually no chance of getting it through the house.

Telgen Orates Again.

A. F. Telgen of Montevideo, denied a chance to orate on his own bill forbidding deals in grain futures when the house voted the previous question before beating it, got his chance Saturday afternoon when the house had up for consideration the bill by Magnus Johnson prohibiting unfair discrimination between different localities in the purchase of grain.

Mr. Telgen made the most of it, and orated for more than half an hour despite protests and hints that his talk might kill the bill.

Nevertheless, the bill passed, with only nine dissenting votes.

The house Saturday afternoon killed Representative Lennon's bill providing for liens on gravestones and monuments and Senator Gillam's bill providing for appeals to the tax commission from decisions of county boards relating to tax abatements.

There was no anti-tipping bill. The house passed one by Representative Barrows, but it was killed Saturday afternoon by the senate committee on general legislation.

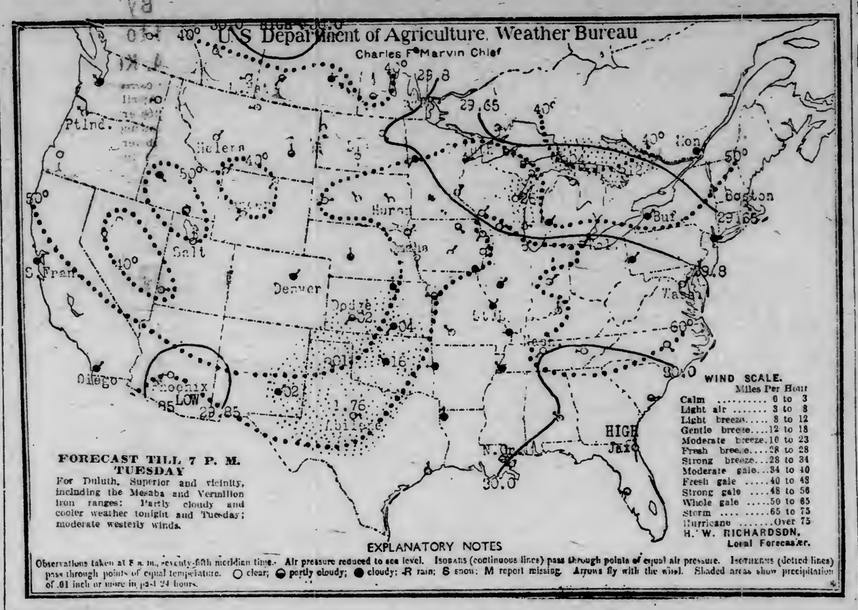
Charges Not Proven.

Vague charges against the business management of the state university will be held not proven by a report of the house committee on public accounts and expenditures.

No recommendations of a vital nature will be contained in the report nor will there be any pointed criticisms.

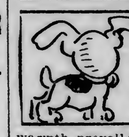
Several suggestions and explanations will be made, however, which will clear up rumors and general misunderstanding regarding certain conditions which have been pointed to with sharp disapproval by a number of house members from the country districts.

Regarding the activities of the agents sent about the state by the agricultural extension division of the university, which have been the target at which those urging an investigation hurled criticisms, the report will state that while there may be room for some criticism, inquiry of the most rigid nature failed to disclose any serious irregularities.



Charges that these agents are active in political affairs were made by several members who appeared at the public hearings.

The house committee already had begun an investigation of the institution, when the Malmberg-Lydiard-Greene resolution for an investigation, embodying what friends of the university characterized as vicious charges, was presented to the house and then withdrawn for correction. When it was resubmitted the sweeping charges previously made were not contained.



In addition to questioning university authorities on practically every subject relating to the matter and permitting others to question them at the public hearings, the committee held meetings at the university at which the financial affairs and other matters were thoroughly gone over.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless). Is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

The well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

FIGHT FOR ESTATE OF $16,000,000

One of Biggest Will Cases on Record Begins in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 19.—Trial of one of the biggest will cases ever heard in the civil courts of the United States, that against the will of the late James Campbell, traction magnate, was slated to begin in the circuit court here today. An estate conservatively estimated at $16,000,000 is involved.

Counsel for the contestants, who several times have asked continuances, today announced they were ready for trial, and confident of breaking the will which lawyers considered extraordinary in regard to the care with which it had been drawn up to guard against legal flaws. The contestants' case hinges briefly on the question of whether Mrs. Lois Campbell Burkham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell. The claim also was made that Campbell was of unsound mind, and was unduly influenced in making his will, but the case will not be heard on these contentions unless the contestants win on the first point of the parentage of Lois Campbell.

Left Estate to Two.

Campbell's will left his entire estate in equal shares to his widow and to Lois Campbell, to whom he referred as his daughter in his will. After their death and the death of any heir which Mrs. Burkham may leave, the entire estate will go to St. Louis university for the establishment of a medical school and hospital.

Both Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Burkham will appear in court. Mrs. William Harrison of Cleveland Ohio, a niece of Mr. Campbell, who is one of the contestants, arrived last night. Other contestants are Mammie C. Sparge and James C. Campbell of Chicago, Archer W. Campbell and Genevive Baker of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. R. E. Curtis of St. Louis, all nieces and nephews of Campbell. Many thousand dollars already have been spent in taking of depositions concerning the parentage of Mrs. Burkham.

The contestants' strongest witness, it is believed, will be Mrs. Edith Blair, by whose testimony they will attempt to prove that Lois Campbell Burkham is the daughter of Mrs. Hicks, now dead, who was a stepdaughter of Mrs. Blair and that Mrs. Hicks' child was adopted by the Campbells and therefore is not entitled to a half share of the estate.

SAYS SPAIN SHOULD NAME HER FRIENDS

Former Premier Declares Silence at Present Is a Crime.

Madrid, via Paris, April 19.—"Silence at present is a crime, for if we wait until the moment of victory to show our sympathy for the victor it is probable we shall be too late," was the assertion made by Count Alvaro De Romanones, former premier of Spain, in speaking yesterday to a large audience at Palma, capital of the Balearic Isles. He pointed out that Spain's foreign policy since the Cartagena agreement in 1907 has been more and more favorable to the Triple Entente.

"The present hours are so grave and important," said the former premier, "that it is necessary for Spain to make a solemn declaration. Without violating our neutrality we must say who among the belligerents we consider our friends."

GERMANY HAS NO IDEA OF KEEPING BELGIUM

Amsterdam, via London, April 19.—The Cologne correspondent of the Tijd discussing peace conditions, says:

"There is no serious thought in competent circles in Germany of retaining Belgium. Within a few weeks some surprising statements on this matter may be expected. The leaders of German opinion are now agreed that the aim of the war will have been reached as soon as Germany's national existence is guaranteed and her colonies secured."

Freckles and Blotches Are Easily Peeled Off

If you are bothered with any cutaneous blemish, it's a poor plan to use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, red blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If troubled with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel will prove wonderfully effective. —Advertisement.

BODY FOUND ON BAY FRONT; CLOTHING CONTAINED $940

With currency and bank certificates amounting to $940, in the pockets of his coat, the body of a man, evidently dead but a short time, was found on the waterfront near Tenth avenue west early this afternoon. From papers in the pocket, his name is believed to be Edward Larson, although identification has not been completed.

George Kelley, checker at the Soo dock, while on a noon-hour fishing trip, stumbled over the body, and reported it to Coroner C. F. McComb, who will hold an autopsy this afternoon. The body was taken to Crawford's undertaking rooms.

Judging from appearance, the dead man was not one of the colony of laborers and longshoremen frequenting the docks at this time of year. He was well dressed.

He is described as dark complexioned, of middle height and build, with dark hair. He was about 30 years of age.

Coroner McComb found no marks on the body to indicate violence, and believes that he was a victim of heart disease.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON BATHING BEACH

Park Manager Would Open Resort By Middle of July.

Work on the Fairmont park bathing beach will be commenced within a few days, it was announced this morning by Mayor Prince, head of the public affairs division.

Owing to the warm weather the last few days, the shore along the park addition is in good condition for grading and Park Manager Cleveland will begin at once preparing for the beach. About $7,000 will be spent there this year and Mr. Cleveland said this morning that he expects to have the beach ready for public use by the middle of July.

Arrangements are now being made, Mr. Cleveland said, for the bathhouses, bathing suits and other features of the new park addition.

Besides work on the Fairmont park grounds, Mayor Prince said this morning that the city property alongside the Curling club will be improved for use as a park. It will be known as the Lake Shore park, he said. In addition, the dams at Twin Lakes are now being improved and work on the new bridge is just being finished. The extension of the boulevard to Fond du Lac is also planned for this year.

BRITISH TRAWLER IS SUNK BY SUBMARINE.

London, April 19.—The British trawler Vanilla was sunk by a torpedo from a German submarine in the North sea yesterday, according to a report made today by Captain Hill, skipper of the trawler Fermo.

DULUTH PARKS WILL BE OPENED TUESDAY

Warm Weather Hurries Mayor Prince in Issuing Order.

All the Duluth parks will be formally opened tomorrow, although it is estimated that 10,000 people visited them yesterday.

Mayor Prince, head of the public affairs division, said this morning that the extremely warm weather of yesterday and today warrants a much earlier opening than usual and he gave orders to Park Manager Cleveland to clean up the grounds, start the fountains and open the various shelter houses and buildings.

Mr. Cleveland estimates the attendance in the parks yesterday at 10,000. Wherever it was possible he arranged to start the fountains and get the grounds in good shape for the crowds during the day, believing that the warm weather would bring hundreds of families out in the open. However, it was impossible to get all the parks in good running order on such short notice and with work being rushed today, he expects to have all the parks formally opened tomorrow.

The playgrounds for the children will not be ready for use for some time yet, it was said, owing to the fact that the grounds are not all in good shape. During the winter skating rinks were in operation and as a result the grounds are still wet and muddy.

WOMAN WILL BE GIVEN NEW TRIAL

Conviction on First Degree Assault Charge Set Aside.

A retrial of Mary Traverse, negress, whose conviction at the January term of court on a charge of assault in the first degree, was set aside, will be started before Judge Martin Hughes tomorrow morning. John H. Norton will appear as attorney for the defendant and County Attorney Greene will represent the prosecution.

The Traverse woman was found guilty on Jan. 21 of having fired a revolver two or three times at Pearl Hall, also colored, on Dec. 16 last. Shots were fired, but nobody was injured. When the woman was placed on trial she pleaded self-defense, and, while she admitted doing some shooting, she declared that she did not "start" anything.

The new trial was granted on a showing made by Attorney Norton that the court had erred in not permitting the jury to render more than two forms of verdict. Under the instruction of the court, the jury was obliged either to convict the woman of assault in the first degree or let her go.

Attorney Norton's contention was that the jury had the right to pass upon the question of whether the accused was guilty of a lesser offense than that charged in the indictment.

At the trial of the first case the prosecution was represented by Harry F. White, former third assistant county attorney.

NO TRUTH IN THEM.

Tumulty Denies Reports of Resignation of William F. McCombs.

Washington, April 19.—Published reports that William F. McCombs would resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee drew the following formal statement today from Secretary Tumulty at the White House:

"The story appearing in the morning papers of Mr. McCombs' resignation and my selection to succeed him as chairman of the National Democratic committee is made out of whole cloth and is the gossip of persons whose purpose is to make trouble and create discord within the ranks of the party."

OLD SOL RELENTS.

"Excessive Heat" of Sunday Moderates—Forecast Is "Fair."

After his spree Sunday, Old Sol relented a little bit today, and 76 degs. was the highest point the mercury touched. Weather Forecaster Richardson said this would probably be high for today and that it would grow cooler towards evening.

An ideal day is predicted for Tuesday, although spring gardeners who are looking for April showers will be disappointed.

GOOD YEAR FOR NORTH BUTTE

Gratifying Reports Made to Stockholders at the Annual Meeting.

Gratifying reports, both as regards conditions at the property and the mining outlook for the year, were presented at the annual meeting of the North Butte Mining company today.

The financial statement showed income for the year derived through sales of copper, silver and gold of $3,084,774.05. There was expended for mining and development work $1,367,541.46; for construction and equipment, $3,012; freight on ore, $41,306.96; concentrating, smelting, freight on bullion, refining and selling expenses, $1,267,320.80; general and miscellaneous expenses and personal taxes, $47,377.81, making a total of $2,726,559.03, thus leaving a net income for the year of $358,215.02.

The net cost to the company for producing copper was 11.505 cents a pound, after making allowance for $606,657.03 derived through sales of silver and gold and miscellaneous income.

The report of the president, Thomas F. Cole, set out that in order to block out the company's mining properties, there were purchased during the year additional fractional interests in the Lillie May and Sunset lode mining claims, and the entire interest in the King Fraction claim, and a small silver fractional claim, adjoining the company's original mining properties located in the West Side mineral district.

In the Butte East Side mineral area, there were purchased fractional interests in the Mabel, Grand Junction, Grand Junction Fraction and Lioness lode claims, and the entire interests in the Treat Fraction and Export lode claims.

Suitable ground for an ore treating plant with ample water rights has been purchased. Considering the large additional mineral area now owned by this company and the recent advancement made in the art of winning intensified values at increased cost from Butte ores with decreased costs, it was deemed advisable to purchase a site.

Year's Production.

During the year there were shipped 343,314 wet tons of ore and 71 wet tons of precipitates, and there were treated at the smelter 337,372 dry tons of ore and 43 dry tons of precipitates, of which 60,527 dry tons or 18 per cent were first class, and 276,845 dry tons, or 82 per cent were second class.

This ore produced 18,421,761 pounds of fine copper, 1,092,300.34 ounces of silver and 1,107,552 ounces of gold.

Sales of metals for immediate and future delivery were made as follows: Copper, 21,868,479 pounds, at prices averaging 13.7436 cents per pound; silver, 1,377,297.15 ounces, at prices averaging 55.881 cents per ounce; gold, 1,107,592 ounces, at $20.00 per ounce.

Three dividends, of 50 cents per share, were paid during the year, amounting to $635,000.

"The decrease in production and the increase in mining costs during the year," said the report, "were due to several causes. During the month of April and the first of May, a leaner grade of ore than heretofore had been mined, was encountered, and, following good mining practice, it was necessary to extract and treat.

"During the month of June, the controversy among the members of the miners' union at Butte resulted in the loss of operating time in that month.

"During the first part of August, the working force at the mine was reduced 50 per cent and mining operations were closed down during the last week in August and three weeks in September, pending repairs to the Speculator shaft. After the completion of repairs in this shaft, mining was resumed the last week of September and continued the balance of the year, on the basis of 50 per cent of the normal output of the mines."

According to the report of the general manager, John D. Pope, 17,400 cubic feet of development work was done during the year and the Granite Mountain shaft was sunk 240 feet. The mineral areas blocked out at the company's properties are reported to be well ahead of production.

Chester A. Congdon, William J. Olcott and John U. Sebenius, the retiring directors, were re-elected.

JAMESTOWN, N. D., MEN DENY CHARGES MADE.

D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Denial that they are in any manner identified with the campaign of referring measures of the last legislature is made by John Kauf of Jamestown in behalf of himself, O. J. Seiler and C. S. Buck, all of Jamestown. They have been connected up with the movement to refer a large number of legislative enactments, because of the fact that they have been closely identified, as relators, with the cases launched against the state board of control, in reference to the construction operations at the asylum for the insane.

GRAIN MEN ALSO LAND BIG TROUT

Guy Warren and George H. Foster of the board of trade are scoffing at the 5-pound and better-than-five-pound trouts that H. F. Williamson caught at the Brule on Sunday. They claim that yesterday, on the Brule, also, Mr. Foster caught a trout that weighs 5¾ pounds and Mr. Warren landed one that weighed 5½ pounds.

When it was suggested that there was not much of a "spread" in the figures for grain men, Mr. Foster retorted that the market was narrow.

"BUSINESS BUM."

"Special Rates By the Week" Offered Police Station Lodgers.

"Special rates by the week," says a sign which has been posted on the door leading to the lodgers' room at police headquarters, but in spite of it "business is bum," in the words of Louis Johnson, jailer.

With the advent of warm weather, repeaters at headquarters, although perhaps not poetically inclined, prefer the "wide canopy of heaven" to the "grimy cellar ceiling of the headquarters basement," as their coverlet.

Box cars and sheltered spots near buildings were more popular than Jailer Johnson's hotel last night, and the number of lodgers dwindled to 150 from 253 for the previous evening.

"Our rush is over," says "Louie."

MILLER WILL SPEAK TO OFFICE MEN.

J. Harris Trux, president of the organization, will preside and act as toastmaster.

AUSTRIAN ATTACKS SAID TO HAVE SUBSIDED

Petrograd, April 19, via London.—Austrian attacks on the height of the Mezolaborcz district of Hungary, where the Austrians for six days have been furiously attempting to regain positions recently taken by the Russians, appear to have definitely subsided.

BACK FROM BIG DITCH

One Year in Panama Zone Enough for Duluth Tug Captain.

Slides Still Serious Problem; Earthquakes Make Newcomers Nervous.

Capt. "Mike" Glockle, formerly master of a Duluth harbor tug, and later government pilot in the Panama canal, is back in command of a harbor tug in Duluth again—and glad to get back, he declares. He arrived last week and when the season really gets fully started, will be in command of the tug Harvey D. Goulder.

Capt. Glockle left here more than a year ago to become government pilot at the Panama canal, lured by the high pay which pilots received, but he says that a year of it is enough.

"The experience," said he to The Herald, "was worth while, but I have had enough. The heat is far too intense, and one missed too many things that make life worth living. When I struck the isthmus, I thought I would melt away with the heat, and the way I ran water was a sight. However, within a month after I had been there, I was as dry, so far as perspiration is concerned, as the seasoned ones.

"The Southern cross and the North star can both be seen on bright nights, says Capt. Glockle, and there is a variation of only about half an hour during the year in the length of days. The nights, by the way, the captain says, are cool for sleeping, provided the house faces the north, but otherwise it takes some time to get the day's heat out of them.

Capt. Glockle says that slides are occurring right along at Culebra cut and Gold hill. Asked as to what could be done about them he said:

"It is simply a case of keep removing the earth until the slides are exhausted. It will take a long time, perhaps, but the slides will ultimately remove enough earth so that the canal will no longer be blocked. These slides do not occur from the top of the adjoining hills, but push their way out from the bottom. The ground is of volcanic formation, and when the rock—which is of lava formation—is exposed by the removal of the earth, it becomes soft and breaks off, being some of the worst parts of slides. Earthquakes are frequent, but I do not think they will ever do much damage to the locks unless something of extraordinary violence takes places. Earthquakes have been figured on in the construction work and the bases of the locks and of the spillway at Gatun dam are deep and broad. Those earthquakes, to a new inhabitant, gives a new and not at all agreeable sensation, but you get used to it."

PASSED DIVIDEND TO MAINTAIN WAGES

Directors of Steel Corporation Explain Action of Last Quarterly Meeting.

New York, April 19.—Directors of the United States Steel corporation, it became known today, in voting at their last quarterly meeting in January to pass the dividend on the common stock, did so in the face of opposition on the part of many stockholders who thought the dividend should be declared, even if the corporation had to reduce wages to its great army of employes to obtain the money for the dividend.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, divulged this situation at the annual stockholders' meeting in Hoboken today. In a formal statement, Judge Gary said:

"We were sorry to hear that so many stockholders insisted that common stock dividends be paid, even if we had to reduce wages to do it.

Sorry to Pass Dividend.

"The management was sorry to be obliged to pass the dividend on the common stock. We had been hoping and had expected to continue the payment of the dividend without interruption, but conditions were such that it was impossible. We were confronted with the choice of passing the dividend or reducing wages. In view of the present high cost of living, we believed that the men were entitled to the wages they were receiving which we think are not too much.

"We thought the stockholders would approve of our decision to continue the payment of wages."

Judge Gary's statement referred to the dividend on the common stock for the last quarter of 1914. No action has been taken on the dividend for the first quarter of 1915. Directors of the company will meet April 27 to determine whether a dividend shall be declared. The common stock sold today at 60¾, the highest price since the stock exchange was closed last July.

The announced plan of reducing the directors from 24 to 18 members was approved at the stockholders' meeting today.

May Have to Cut Yet.

Replying to a question by a stockholder, Judge Gary said:

"We are not yet satisfied but that we may have to cut wages; but we hope will not be forced to."

Judge Gary said the corporation's business for 1915 had been better, so far, than for 1914. The company, he asserted, was doing a very satisfactory export business, but domestic conditions were not so good and prices had not been satisfactory.

"Therefore, our profits are small," he said. "I think earnings for the first quarter of this year will be small. Prospects for the second quarter seem to be considerably better."

Continuing his statement, Judge Gary said:

"I assure you that the country will prosper and I want to pledge again that the management of this corporation is going to be thorough, open and careful and that it has nothing in mind except the advancement of the interests of all stockholders, at the same time believing that the interests of the stockholders are the same as the interests of our employes, competitors, customers and the general public.

"Our position among the nations of the world is taking the lead. Finance, industry and commerce are better today than ever before. I hope that the holders of our common stock, even while not getting dividends at present, will not despair and sell it for something that they like better."

Alleges Pair Eloped.

Schafer, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—McKenzie county officials have caused the arrest of Frank Spalding at Redstone, Mont., and Mrs. A. J. Pangor, living near Bainville, Mont., on the complaint of the woman's husband, who charges they eloped from his home near here.

HEAVY OUTPUT OF RED METAL NEEDED

High Prices Firmly Established; Operations Greater Than in Years.

With copper metal apparently firmly established at around a 16½-cent a pound basis, and with the present substantial export and domestic demand, producers are straining every nerve to obtain a big output and thus make up in a degree for the period of inactivity following the outbreak of the war.

As a result many mining companies, particularly those in the Lake Superior district, are now producing at a higher rate than at any time in some years back. The lake mines are also specially favored in view of the call for their copper for the production of war munitions, some of the leading producers being reported to have made sales during the last few days at as high as 18 cents a pound. Mining men say that if the present rate of production and prices are maintained, 1915 will be one of the best years copper producers have ever enjoyed.

As set out in the appended table, prepared by Hayden, Stone & Co. of Boston, the leading companies are now showing almost phenomenal earnings:

WINS HIS POINT BUT IS CENSURED FOR LANGUAGE.

Although district court judges set aside the conviction of Andrew Barr in municipal court on a charge of having conducted an employment agency without first having secured a license, they called his attorney, John H. Norton, to account for his criticisms of Judge F. H. Cutting of municipal court.

"Certain language used by appellant's counsel in his brief with respect to the actions of the trial court," the memorandum of the district court judges states, "appears to be entirely unjustifiable and unworthy of counsel using it."

Barr was convicted under a city ordinance and appealed. The evidence showed that he was in the employ of the Northern Pacific Railway company over a crew of about eighty men and that he hired and discharged men at his pleasure. The city claimed that he had charged men for the privilege of obtaining a job and that, as he had no employment agent's license, he had violated the ordinance.

"It must be presumed," said the appellate court in its memorandum, "that the city council in passing the ordinance in question intended to regulate only such business as was lawful and legitimate. If the defendant did charge men for the privilege of obtaining jobs under him it constituted a breach of trust imposed in him by his employers.

"It cannot be assumed that the city council intended by the ordinance in question that any business should be licensed which was not legitimate and the carrying on of which constituted a breach of trust."

The judges concurring in the opinion were Judges Ensign, Dancer and Hughes.

Prevention of further adoption of this practice has been made possible through the co-operation of both Canadian and American immigration authorities.

PARAGRAPH COMMENT ON SPORT AND SOME SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

A FABLE—once upon a time there lived a pitcher. Mighty were his thews and sinews. War and devastation came upon the baseball land. Hosts were led forth to battle. The mighty pitcher, son of Johnson, was on the side of the American league. Then came ambassadors, laden with money and hipped with myhrr and incense, and led Johnson away to the Federal league camp, and the American league chiefs were very incensed. Then came more embassaries and emissaries, also heavily laden with kale and spondoolix, and finding Johnson on the plains of Kansas, engaged in the pursuit of milking a goat, captured his goat and led him away to the temple of big Chief Ban, saying, "We need you, Walter." Johnson pitched and won the opening game. And to show that wrath and hatred and an unchristian spirit was not upon them, the big chiefs of the cohorts of the Federal league met and prepared a banquet and sent fleet managers to invite the great Warrior Johnson to dine and mingle in their midst There was singing and speaking and many lies told, and the mighty Johnson was touched deeply, and he arose and spaketh as follows:

"Friends, money is not all, nay not even half; I care not for money, neither do I crave for pelf, but for your friendship and loving looks."

And the mighty host fell on its collective phiz and cried out, for it, too, was touched deeply.

Moral—The players don't care for money any more than the managers.

HARRY BLUME IN WINNIPEG

Duluth Magnate Reported to Be Conferring With Lawyers.

Candidates for White Sox Team Will Report Tuesday.

H. A. Blume is in Winnipeg, it is reported today. It is believed that the local baseball magnate has gone to the Peg for the purpose of aiding and abetting his conferees in the legal tangle that John Burmeister got the rest of the boys into when he caused A. H. Pulford and his franchise to be separated.

Northern league magnates declare there is nothing to the case. Last week Mr. Blume was in Minneapolis, as was Magnate Steece of Superior, and with John Burmeister and some of the league lawyers, discussed the case. Today it is reported that Magnate Blume is in Winnipeg.

The hearing of the injunction suit brought by Pulford for the purpose of restraining baseball teams of the Northern league from playing in Winnipeg, will come up Wednesday.

Players Are Arriving.

While the magnates of the league are tied up in court matters the players of the league are gathering on the various home diamonds to get in as much practice as possible before the opening of the season on May 6.

Darby O'Brien is expected back from Cleveland tomorrow and will give his list of raw recruits and tried veterans the once over. Practice will start at Athletic park and will continue until the members of the team that are finally selected leave for the opening game of the season at Winnipeg.

As has been stated previously, practice games between teams made up from the rookies will start on April 25. The games are for the purpose of weeding out the material that will not measure up to league standard and also for the purpose of getting the men in trim for the opening of the season.

Following is the lits of the men who are expected to report to the ball park tomorrow:

Pitchers—Leo Murphy, Montilla, Wis.; Orval Shoulders, Lincoln City, Ind.; James Murray, Chicago; J. H. Cunningham, Sturgeon Lake; Herbert L. Posten, Palliade, Minn.; Lawrence Findlay, Clyde, Ohio; Vic Travis, Duluth; James D. McLean, Minneapolis; R. N. Bush, Brainerd, Minn.; Ernest Forsell, Duluth; J. Boley, Murphysburo, Ind.

John S. Benton, first base, Chisholm; Omar Renneo, Proctor, outfield; J. Boland, Joliet, Ill., third baseman; Everett Alvin, Proctor, catcher; A. M. Bergen, outfielder, and M. Freidt, outfielder, Saskatoon; E. J. Needlkorn, Hastings, Minn., infielder; O. Olson, Minneapolis; John Mains, Chisholm, outfielder; Ben Jones, Garvin, Minn., fielder, and John Cardinal, Salem, Ohio, third baseman.

THE CHAMPION TO BOX RED WATSON

FREDDY WELSH.

World's lightweight champion Freddy Welsh will make his first appearance in this section of the Northwest, when he opposes Red Watson in Mike Collins' Hudson arena tomorrow evening. The bout is expected to prove a fast one, with Welsh getting the popular decision because of his wonderful boxing skill.

RED WATSON DANGEROUS

Coast Lightweight Has an Outside Chance Against Welsh.

World's Champion Is in St. Paul Awaiting the Gong.

Hudson, Wis., April 19.—All is in readiness for Hudson's first championship bout Tuesday night in which Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, will defend his title in a ten-round encounter with Red Corbett Watson, the coast bearcat. Both boys have trained faithfully and will enter the ring in excellent condition.

Welsh arrived in St. Paul last night and established headquarters at the Sherman house. He was accompanied by his manager, Harry Pollock, and a sparring partner. This afternoon he will take a light workout at Wood's gymnasium in St. Paul. Monday he will spend visiting Mayor Nye, Mayor Winn Powers of St. Paul and C. E. Hamilton, British vice consul at St. Paul.

Watson Finishes Heavy Work.

Watson finished his heavy training yesterday afternoon, stepping three lively rounds with Mike Gibbons and a like number of sessions with Harry Warren, a St. Paul welterweight. Today the auburn-haired battler will do light training at Cooke's. He is down to 137 pounds and expects to make 135 with ease. Tomorrow night, accompanied by his manager, Jack Kearns, Fighting Billy Murray and Joe Bonds, the western heavyweight, Watson will leave for Hudson. Welsh and his party will reach Hudson Tuesday noon.

Smith Works Hard.

Homer Smith, the slugging Benton Harbor, Mich., heavyweight, carded to meet Fred Fulton in the semi-windup, did eight miles on the road yesterday and went several rounds with his sparring partners. According to word from Rochester, Minn., Fulton is in great shape and predicts a victory by a knockout.

Both Predict Win.

Confidence reigns in the Watson camp. Jack Kearns, who has piloted three boys who have met Welsh, is confident that Watson will win Tuesday's battle. In fact, he predicts that his boy will upset the lightweight division and win by a knockout.

"I have seen Welsh in action on many occasions and know what he can do," said Kearns last night. "He will be unable to damage my boy, and if Red succeeds in whipping over one of his haymakers, the Briton will repose in slumberland."

Welsh Wary.

Welsh does not hold Watson lightly. He has heard of his ability and will show his ring class Tuesday.

"Welsh is not worrying about the outcome," said Harry Pollock, his mentor, last night. "Northwest fight fans will see the classiest ring general in the world when Welsh climbs through the ropes. He is in excellent shape and should win by a knockout."

Promoter Mike Collins reports a heavy seat sale. The automobile roads to Hudson are in excellent shape, and it is expected hundreds of automobilists will motor to the ringside.

WITH THE AMATEURS

The Woodlands, one of the strongest of the local baseball teams last year, have been reorganized for the season. George McLoughlin, at one time a member of the Duluth White Sox, will be with the team, as will a number of her strong candidates. Games will be arranged with all of the range teams.

Fitwells Lose Close One.

The Fitwells and Zenith Furnace baseball teams played a practice game on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds yesterday afternoon. The Fitwells were defeated, 5 to 4. The game was well played on both sides. Kozats and Anderson were the batteries for the Fitwells and McDougall, Gillan and Swanstrom for the Zeniths. A game will be arranged between these two teams later on in the season. The Fitwells would like to have a game for next Sunday. For games call Cole 373-D or address Ed. Clark, 3715 West Fifth street. Out-of-town games are wanted.

In an exhibition game played yesterday afternoon the Duluth-Edison baseball team defeated the Moose Lodge team, 505, by the score of 14 to 0. Alder started on the mound for the electricians, Olson finishing. Both hitters. Blaski and Olson did some heavy hitting for the winning team.

Juten Team Organizes.

The Juten Shoe company baseball team has been organized for the present season and is ready to meet any team in the city. Adam Graines, manager, 2317 West Eighth street.

The Portlands Win.

SEASON OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY

Attendance at Ball Games Better Than Expected—Teams Going Well.

Results Quite Even So Far; Unusual Early Season Plays.

New York, April 19.—Seldom in the history of baseball has a major league season started with a greater collection of uncertainties attached to it than the season of 1915, which opened last Wednesday. Whether the fans would take to the sport with the enthusiasm of past years, was an open question when the teams took the field for the opening games.

Many distractions threatened to interfere with the success of the season. Not the least of these was the European conflict. Another was the continuation of the baseball war, calculated to shift attention from the playing field to the business side of the game.

But the start of the season was decidedly auspicious. The attendance has been excellent—far beyond expectations for the most part. There has been plenty of enthusiasm and apparently keen interest in the chances of the various teams. For one thing, the clubs have been almost uniformly favored with clear, if somewhat cool, weather. In the two leagues, to date, there has only been one postponement because of bad weather. For another, the victories and defeats of the teams have been almost evenly divided.

Out of the sixteen clubs in the two circuits, no less than eleven split even on games won and lost when the new playing week opened yesterday. All told, the result of the first few days of play have been encouraging to magnates and players and to well-wishers of the sport.

To Early to Judge.

As to the capabilities of the various clubs, three or four days' play is hardly sufficient on which to base opinions. One can hardly say the Athletics of 1915, even without Collins, Baker, Bender and Plank, are outclassed simply because they happen to at the foot of the American league at the present moment. Neither can the Philadelphia Nations be heralded as likely winners just for the reason that they remain the only undefeated club in either league, and top the National circuit.

Some things, however, are pretty plainly indicated by the way the games of the past week have gone. One is that the Chicago White Sox are likely to be more dangerous contenders in the American league race than they have been for some years past. The acquisition of Eddie Collins obviously has strengthened the team materially, and there seems to be an opinion prevalent among Chicago fans that Clarence Rowland, the new manager, will get good work out of his collection of baseball talent. The Sox are batting excellently, as is evidenced by their thirty-nine hits in four games. In this department of play they were outdone only by the New York Nationals, with forty hits to their credit. The Boston Braves, the world's champions, got off to a poor start, and their chances of coming up fast were not improved to say the least, by the injury Saturday of Johnny Evers, the kingpin of their infield. But Stallings' bad batting of last season and his team's brilliant finish will not be forgotten in this connection.

Managers Encouraged.

In Philadelphia, Pat Moran obtained encouragement from the winning stride struck by the team with which he is serving his novitiate as manager, and there has been no ground for discouragement for Roger Bresnahan, the new manager of the Chicago Cubs. Only the Brooklyns, indeed, have lagged in the National league, and the team, hampered by bad weather and other setbacks in its training season is admittedly not in the best of condition as yet.

The Boston Red Sox, picked by many to win the American league pennant, are leading their league just at present, so far deferring predictions as to what strength they would manifest. As for Washington, the mainstay of their pitching staff, Walter Johnson, has proved he is in prime form, even if he did lose a decision as relief twirler on his second appearance of the season and this meaus much to Clark Griffiths' ambitious, hustling clan.

Donovan Succeeding.

Bill Donovan, the new head of the New York Americans, is getting good work out of his men, who seem even faster on the bases than last year, and likely to finish better if they display the improved batting power of which the training season gave indications.

The first week of play produced some feats of baseball that are unusual so early in the season. First of these was the no-hit game of Rube Marquard of the Giants against the Brooklyns at the Polo grounds. A close second was the one-hit nine innings pitched by Pennock of the Athletics against the Red Sox with the one hit after two were out in the ninth. In Philadelphia Saturday Fritz Maizel of the Yankees accomplished the rare feat of stealing second, third and home in succession.

Louisville jumped to the front in the American association and won the first four games.

In Federal League.

The Federal league season, which opened four days earlier than those of the big leagues of organized baseball, was well under way as the week ended. The Brooklyns, reinforced by Lee McGee, who jumped from the St. Louis Nationals to manage the former team, and Benny Kauff, star outfielder of last year's Indianapolis champions, have made almost a runaway race of it so far.

BOSTON MARATHON IS AROUSING INTEREST.

Boston, Mass., April 19.—Weather conditions were excellent for the nineteenth annual Marathon race of the Boston Athletic association today. Judging from the interest in former years, it was expected that fully 150,000 people would line the roads to watch the contestants run over the twenty-five-mile stretch from Ashland to Boston.

No previous winner was included in the list of seventy-five entrants, and the general expectation was that the record of 2 hours, 21 minutes, 18 1-5 seconds, established by Michael J. Ryan of the Irish-American Athletic club of New York three years ago, would not be bettered.

The competitors represented several Canadian cities besides New York, Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and other points within the United States, with a long list of New England runners. The start was scheduled for noon.

Minors Defeat Majors.

Rocky Point, R. I., April 19.—The Providence club of the International league defeated the Brooklyn Nationals, 6 to 1, in an exhibition game here.

COLLECTING HIS RECRUITS

Sullivan of Fort William Is Here Assembling His Team.

Dennis Sullivan, former Boston American league and Minneapolis and Kansas City American association player, is in Duluth today, collecting players for his Fort William Northern league team.

Sullivan played the outfield for Fargo last year and was appointed as manager of the Fort William team last fall. Duluth is the meeting point of some twenty young players that Sullivan will try out on the Fort Bill team this month.

The Fort William manager says that he expects two players from the Pacific coast, he wire coming Sunday. Sullivan's recruits met him yesterday and Saturday. The Fort William magnate has a large crowd of green players and he expects to mold his raw material into a fast team by the start of the season.

Callahan, a Cleveland boy, is in the city, while the other verdant hushers are expected to gather tomorrow and make the trip to the Head of the Canadian Lakes under the guardianship of the former big league outfield star.

"Dye, Hawkins, De Rose, Penfield and myself will be about the only players on the team that I know anything about," said Sullivan today at the Spalding. "I have a lot of young players signed up, but just how good baseball players they are, I cannot say.

"Some of the older players refused to sign at the salary offered. That leaves the greater part of the material an unknown quantity. It looks as if I would have to build my team from green players."

In his prime, Denny Sullivan was one of the most popular and one of the greatest outfielders that ever cavorted in the outer garden of the American association. While playing baseball, Sullivan has found time to take a regular college medical course, and during the past winter completed a post-graduate course.

Fort William players will start spring practice on April 20, the same date as that set for the assembling of the local tossers. Sullivan expects to meet about fifteen of his recruits here today and tomorrow, while the rest will come straggling in early next week.

"I can't say much about the prospects of Fort William," said Sullivan, "for the simple reason that I don't know much about the ability of the players. The old players refused to sign for what was offered them, so I am going ahead and will make the best of what I've got.

"Freddy Wines, who played in the W.-I., and Bob Stevenson, a former college boy who was with New Orleans for a little while last season, should make good. About the others I can't say much."

DATE NAMED FOR REGATTA

Boat Club Oarsmen Will Compete for Honors Next Saturday.

Ten Eyck Reduces Big Rowing Squad to Season's Requirement.

Plans and specifications, so to speak, were completed Saturday for the first annual spring regatta of the Duluth Boat club, and the announcement was made today that the shell event is scheduled for next Saturday on the bay course of the boat club.

There will be eight races between junior crews and two contests between eights made up of bantam men, and in addition there will be a race between the junior four, composed of Troyer, stroke; Hagberg, Hall and Vincent, and last year's bantam winners, the four that finished right behind the St. Paul Junior four at Kenora. In this shell will be Forsell, stroke, with Sneider, Prudden and Sutherland. This, by the way, is the four that may be sent to the senior four event in the Northwestern this season, in addition to the crack senior four that has been senior fouring for the past several seasons.

Some scullers are also on the program and Jimmy Ten Eyck is thinking of arranging a series of races between Kent, Hoover, Horak and Grant. All of the boys have been out in their shells for about ten days now, so a race between the single honor aspirants should result in some real racing.

Thus early in the season the big squad of oarsmen has been reduced to small dimensions. Ten Eyck made the final cut last Saturday, the following men being crew candidates that will likely be carried throughout the season:

Juniors.

Emmons, C. Moore, Osman, Webber, Paulsen, Porter, C. Olson, McQuade, Patslsperger, T. Hall, Burnett, Burgess, Paleen, Arons, Elsted, Blystone, Sperry, Spencer, Vincent, Nelson, Harney, Hammberback, McGraw, Arneson, Campbell.

Bantams.

McDermott, Mapp, Emerson, Rowland, Benton, Williams, Meagher, Swanson, J. Hagberg, Beschenbossel, Sheppardson, Heddenberg, Haley, Erickson, Bendickson, Harper, Klein, A. Olson.

PEERLESS is pure Southern Kentucky leaf, with the "body" for a real smoke or chew, yet rich and pleasing. It takes three to five years to age the tobacco in PEERLESS; the process can't be hurried. That's the reason PEERLESS is so ripe and mellow.

PEERLESS will "make good" the first time you smoke or chew it. But if you want to prove that PEERLESS satisfaction isn't a "flash in the pan" give PEERLESS a week's trial. Then you'll know that PEERLESS always satisfies, and you'll always keep on using it. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

STRICT REGULATION IN EXPORTING ARMS

Uncle Sam Issues Orders to Postmasters Relative to Parcel Post.

The United States government has issued an order imposing the strictest regulations regarding the shipment of arms and ammunition to Greece by parcel post. An order just received by Postmaster William E. McEwen follows in part:

"Postmasters are requested to cause careful attention and the widest possible publicity to be given by their offices to the following letter (translation) dated the 12th ultimo from the postal administration of Greece, relative to the importation of firearms into that country by parcel post:

"'In conformity with an act recently put in force, the importation into Greece of arms, pistols and revolvers by parcel post is permitted only upon presentation of a certificate of the ministry of the interior of Greece. If a parcel containing any of the articles in question is not accompanied by such certificate and if the addressee fails to present such certificate within the period of one month after receipt of the parcel in Greece, the parcel will be returned to origin.'

"In consequence of the foregoing, parcel post packages containing firearms should not be accepted for mailing to Greece unless accompanied by the certificate above referred to or marked to indicate that such certificate will be presented by the person addressed."

Panama Is Broke.
Panama, April 19.—Panama's finances have reached a critical state, owing to a deficit in the treasury of approximately $2,000,000 resulting from decreasing revenues and increasing expenses. The refusal of the United States to permit the republic to increase import duties, is regarded as the worst blow the national treasury has had, as the proposed increases were counted on to wipe out the deficit to a large extent.

CANADIAN RAILROAD MEN THREATEN STRIKE

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS

CHAPTER II.

In the preceding chapter it was stated that the company desired the people of the Twin Ports to be as well satisfied with its policy regarding extensions as they appear to be with its service and that some facts would be given having a bearing upon the matter of street railway extensions.

It is the intention of the company to make extensions as rapidly as a reasonably safe business policy will permit and, when extending, to build in the direction where the greatest number of persons will be served. We believe that it is equally as important to the two cities as it is to the company that this policy should be adhered to. The company desires to meet all reasonable demands for extensions and to build them when the prospective patronage is sufficient to make it probable that they can be continuously operated without seriously crippling the company or impairing the quality of service given on existing lines. While, as we shall show, the street railway trackage operated in Duluth and Superior is now in advance of the population as compared with the average in cities throughout the United States, the company will endeavor to keep the service ahead of the population. Whether it will be able to do so or not will depend largely upon the cooperation the company receives from the people of the two cities. It would be disastrous to the company, and we believe detrimental to the interests of the city as well, for us to attempt to meet the views now frequently expressed with regard to extensions.

While any considerable portion of our people continue to entertain such views as we now often hear expressed on this matter, the company realizes that no policy regarding extensions which it would be possible to carry out under present-day conditions could be fully appreciated. It is believed, however, that these views, while entirely sincere, are due to misinformation or a lack of information. The company has sufficient faith in the fairness of the public to believe that the consideration of facts not heretofore presented will result in general approval of its policy regarding extensions.

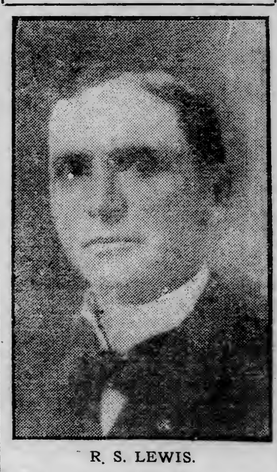
New Rockford, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is rejoicing here over the apparently authentic report that the Great Northern will begin construction work on this end of the Lewiston-New Rockford line to connect up with the construction on the west end of the line in Montana. There is activity on the part of the right-of-way men along the survey, especially on the Fort Berthold reservation, where many tracts have been recently purchased from the Indians. The firm having the construction contract west from here is preparing to begin work in May.

New Road From Huron, S. D.

Hankinson, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new railroad from Huron, S. D., to this place is contemplated as a result of the recent organization of the Huron & Northwestern railway company. It is to run direct to this point through a section of country badly in need of more shipping facilities. At this place it will connect with the Soo.

Deny Sale to Milwaukee.

Jamestown, N. D., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officials here of the Midland Continental railroad deny reports that the line would be sold to the Milwaukee railroad.



The management maintains that there is no movement under way to that end at the present.

The Midland proposes to continue its line from Wimbledon, the present northern terminus, to Grand Forks and Winnipeg.

Bowbells, N. D., Fire.

Bowbells, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Between $10,000 and $14,000 loss was sustained by the destruction of the Burke hotel here, the fire originating from a faulty chimney. Edward Ray, proprietor of a cafe operated in the building, lost heavily, and had but little insurance.

He recently went to Virginia on a visit prior to coming to Fargo. Thirty years ago Mr. Lewis was a resident of Minneapolis.

Young Farmer Living Near Cumberland, Wis., Is Suicide.

Cumberland, Wis., April 19.—The coroner's inquest held into the death of Alexander Hanson, a young farmer whose body was found on the James Nevin farm, southeast of this city, resulted in a verdict of suicide. Powder burns on Hanson's inside coat indicated that he unbuttoned his overcoat and pressed the revolver close to his heart and fired.

Letter to Mother.

A letter addressed to his mother was also found in which he wrote that inasmuch as he and his sweetheart could not live together they would die together, intimating that a suicide pact or a murder and suicide pact had been arranged. His sweetheart disclaims any knowledge of a suicide pact so it is thought he intended shooting her and then himself.

TO INITIATE LAW.

North Dakota Tax Commission to Invoke Direct Legislation.

Bismarck, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is announced that the state tax commission will carry the issue which has existed between it and certain political elements in the state to the people. The tax commission presented comprehensive taxation and revenue reform measures before the last two legislatures and has proceeded thus far in accomplishing little in the way of reform. The opinion of the attorney general that the recently adopted initiative and referendum was constitutional led to this announcement. The measures will be aimed largely at the taxation of foreign corporations together with moneys and credits. A measure will be initiated providing for the abolishment of the state board of equalization and placing the equalization of assessments and the assessment of public service corporations in the hands of the tax commission.

WOULD-BE SLAYER'S CONSCIENCE EASED

Dying North Dakota Suicide Forgiven By Girl He Had Also Shot.

Northwood, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Grace Erickson of Hatton, shot by Elmer Lommen, who fatally shot himself, forgave her assailant before his death.

Lommen, before dying, asked to see the girl. She was brought into his room on a stretcher, and, lying on his deathbed, young Lommen expressed his sorrow for the deed, and craved her forgiveness, which she granted.

Miss Erickson, with a bullet near her heart, still lives, and there has been no great change in her condition since the shooting a week ago. The bullet cannot be removed because of its location.

COMITY OF CHURCHES IS BEARING FRUIT

North Dakotan Churches Not Invading Small Fields Too Strongly.

Fargo, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Presbyterians and the Congregationalists both have church organizations in only four of the larger cities of North Dakota. In every other town of the state in which either is represented, the other is not. That is the result of the comity agreement between the Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Baptists and Methodists of the state. The leaders of the denominations decided that it was better to have one fairly strong organization than two or three or four small, struggling bands taxed to the utmost to retain their identity.

Churches Consolidate.

As a result the churches have consolidated in many towns and two or more are now being served by one pastor, and better organizations are being maintained, with a general breaking down of the old differences that formerly existed. The Presbyterians and the Congregationalists, having less differences than some of the others, have made more rapid progress. It is announced the Christian church and the Baptists of this state are likely to form a closer relationship.

MORTON DIVISION FIGHT ABANDONED

Mandan, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attempts at creating the county of Grant out of Morton county died Saturday afternoon, when attorneys for the division forces failed to appear in court to present arguments.

The action of Judge Nuessle, the day previous, in ordering the entire vote of Old Leipsic thrown out because of irregularities, none of the sixty-nine ballots in that precinct being legal, caused abandonment of the division contest.

FOUR SPEEDERS HURT.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Vivian Birder of Park River, who was at the wheel, was attempting to make his car hit sixty miles, on a bet with one of his companions, the machine plunged into the ditch early Sunday, the four occupants being injured.

Frank Lord of Park River, son of a prominent banker of that city, was hurled to the road and scraped his face so he will be marked for life. Your Baby Should Gain Four to Eight Ounces Each Week

If the baby gets plenty of air and the little body is straight and well-formed—and yet he does not gain that much each week—the food is probably wrong. Perhaps your own milk is not enough. Nurse your baby as long as you can—but when he stops gaining at least four ounces each week—try substituting one or two feedings a day of

Nestlé's Food

Begin with the six o'clock evening feeding—the hour when your own milk is likely to be scant. Give a bottle of Nestlé's then. If he sleeps calmly until his next feeding is due—you'll know that Nestlé's has satisfied the needs of his little bit of body; that it will add muscle and bone and blood—bit by bit to make a big healthy boy or girl.

Don't risk cow's milk. Cow's milk is all right for calves (they have four stomachs to digest it) but it's too heavy for the one delicate stomach of a baby. And cow's milk may carry danger-germs from unclean dairies — consumption — sudden epidemics like the foot and mouth disease of last year.

The best cow's milk is the basis of Nestlé's Food—milk from clean, healthy cows in sanitary dairies, carefully inspected. To it are added the food elements that cow's milk does not contain, and that baby needs.

Packed in air-tight cans, Nestlé's reaches you pure and safe. You add only fresh water to make it ready.

FRESH UPWARD MOVE IN AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS

Wheat Advances Sharply Under Impetus of Heavy Exporters' Inquiry.

Durum Has Sharp Upturn on Buying to Cover Contracts.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 19.—The market was strong up to the close on good buying. A sharp upturn in July durum was the feature. A burst of bidding developed in it.

May wheat closed 2c up; July 2⅜c up, and September 4¼c up.

May durum closed 3½c up, and July 9½c up.

Oats closed ½c off at 55⅜@55⅞c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.10@1.11; and barley unchanged at from 65c to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅛c up at 66⅜c bid, and July ⅝c up at 66⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at up $1.55, and Calls at $1.60.

It was again fair sailing for holders in today's wheat markets, bulges up to 3c a bu materializing during the first three hours trading.

There was a sharp advance at the opening as a result of higher Liverpool cables and the report that foreigners are again coming into the American markets heavily for supplies. It was also reported that the British government proposes to move out a large tonnage of grain from this country during May, that going to confirm the belief that has been entertained all along that supplies of cash wheat will be brought down to a low ebb by the time export contracts already entered into have been carried out.

Another bullish influence today came in a decrease of 4,440,000 bu shown in the American visible supply in the week. Corn supplies decreased 3,352,000 bu and oats 653,000 bu. Decreases are regarded as certain to be heavy from now on in view of small primary receipts and the large clearances. The latter were reported today at 1,592,000 bu of wheat and flour. Arrivals at interior elevators have almost comopletely dried up as a result of the limited stocks remaining in farmers' hands and the fact that they are all busily engaged in seeding operations.

A feature in today's market was the attention given to the new crop future resulting a further sharp advance in its quotation. It was reported that foreigners are now contracting for September after having given the May and July futures their turns.

May wheat opened 1½c up at $1.61, and it advanced ⅝c more up to the noon-hour. July opened 1¼c up at $1.58, and gained 1c more. September opened 1½ up at $1.22½, and made a further advance of 2½c May durum opened 1½c up at $1.73, and eased off 1c. July opened unchanged at $1.60½, and held on that basis.

Flaxseed Is Weaker.

A fair amount of trading was put through in flaxseed, and its quotation turned firm after showing some easing up at the start. The impelling factors continued the prospective small acreage to go under seed in the Northwest and conflicting news from Argentina regarding the tonnage likely to be routed to American ports. The market weakened near the close with an easing up on crushers' buying.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.99 and closed 1c off at $1.98. July opened unchanged at $2.01¾ and closed ¾c off at $2.01 asked. September opened unchanged at $2.03¼ and closed ½c off at $2.02¾ bid.

At Buenos Aires, April flax closed unchanged at $1.16⅞, and at London ⅜d up at $1.94½.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ½c up at $1.80 asked and July ⅜c up at $1.83 asked.

Le Count wired us this morning from Alton, Ill.: "From Kansas City to St. Louis the stand is good. Plant is looking fine, healthy and large generally with moisture still showing in many bare fields."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steady American cables and light American shipments to the United Kingdom caused a firm undertone. Winters and Manitobas were 6d higher and La Plata 3d higher with spot markets firm ½@1d higher than Saturday. La Plata offers were firmly held with France and Italy bidding for cargoes on passage. Speculative buying in America of new crop months is attracting attention. Merchants here are inclined to hold light reserves owing to the premium.

"Corn market was strong with scarcity of La Plata offers and very small shipments to United Kingdom. Spot market was strong. Chicago market was firm, with wheat 3d to 6d higher and corn strong 6d higher."

In France, importers are still buying freely of wheat and oats. Consumption of oats is very heavy and stocks are much under normal. Wheat stocks are decreasing and Paris has advanced sharply.

Inglis wired to Logan & Bryan from Newark, Ohio: "Ness and Pickering counties are suffering from lack of moisture. Weather still clear and cool. Cincinnati to Chillicothe, 100 miles east, general conditions of wheat lowered by prolonged dry weather. General rains are needed soon to give it a start."

"Crops, like wars and tariff revisions, seem to run in cycles," said a flaxseed specialist on the board of trade today. "Three years ago Northwestern farmers produced a large flax crop. As prices declined they took up another favorite, turning to barley. This year wheat is king and flaxseed, if sentiment indicates conditions accurately, will be considerably reduced in acreage.

"Although wheat prices are high and the European war is still in progress, it is my belief that farmers should not pin all of their hopes for a benzine buggy on wheat. It is probable that the farmer who has a small patch of flax may be envied by his neighbors before the present crop year passes into history.

"If the European war is concluded or the Dardanelles opened within the next few months the North American farmer may have to accept extremely low prices for wheat. On the other hand, the price of flaxseed is likely to remain high even though the foregoing factors materialize. If the war continues, flax, I believe, will remain in a strong position because of the decreased acreage in North America and the remarkable demand from Europe for Argentine seed. If the war is concluded flaxseed will violently reflect immediately the cessation of hostilities and probably will advance to levels higher than any attained since the Crimean war. A large part of Europe must be reconstructed and the end of the war will witness the beginning of improvements and new projects in the United States. These will cause a keen demand for the products of flaxseed.

"If I were a farmer I would not overlook what I consider the one best bet today. I would put in a small patch of flax and graduate from the Ford into the eight-cylinder class."

Allan P. Allensworth, formerly market editor of The Herald, and now the Beau Brummell of the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce and the Winnipeg representative of the American Linseed company, visited the trading floor of the Duluth Board of Trade today on his way home from a trip through Kansas and Nebraska.

Mr. Allensworth let loose the information that Charles H. Thornton, formerly of Duluth, has built up a big flaxseed business in Winnipeg, is "making good" with a vengeance and is getting to be one of the prominent figures on the Winnipeg exchange.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Active General Buying Carries Wheat Prices Up With a Rush.

Chicago, April 19.—Active general buying today carried wheat prices up with a rush. On the bulge, free selling took place, but as soon as a break occurred, the demand increased and a sharp rally followed. The market was extremely nervous. Bulls held the advantage of the fact that shipments to Great Britain were reported light and that France and Italy were said to be bidding eagerly for cargoes. After opening 1 to 2¼c higher, the market here reacted to a moderate extent and then promptly advanced again.

A huge decrease in the United States visible supply total resulted later in a further advance. Dry weather complaints continued, especially from Ohio and North Dakota. Some weakness, however, ensued owing to reports that negotiations between Italy and Austria had been broken off. The close was heavy at 1¾@2c above Saturday night.

Trading in corn showed a much larger volume than has recently been the case. Higher cables, improved cash demand and the strength of wheat all helped to lift prices. The opening, which varied from ⅜@½c to 1c up, was succeeded by some additional upturns.

Later the market maintained a strong tone, the greater part of the time despite heavy profit-taking. The close, though, was heavy at ⅛@¼c net advance.

Oats rose with other cereals. Selling pressure was light.

Ascending values for grain and hogs lifted provisions. Demand, though, was only fair

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Rapid Rise Nearly Obliterated By Decline in Final Hour.

General Realizing Causes Recessions of Two to Four Points.

New York, April 19.—Heavy trading in stocks was renewed today, but last week's sensational movements were lacking. United States Steel resumed first place as the most active issue, with initial sales of 7,500 shares at a fraction over last Saturday's high figure. Bethlehem Steel rose 1½. New York Central led the railways with a 2½-point gain. St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, New Haven, Union Pacific and Louisville & Nashville rose 1 to 2 points. Amalgamated Copper, American Locomotive and Rock Island were heavy, but Amalgamated soon made up its loss. Mexican Petroleum was strongest of the specialties, gaining 7½.

Activity abated somewhat towards midday, but sales in the first two hours were estimated at 800,000 shares. Railway investment issues made further headway while industrials were offered with greater freedom. Trading in Steel continued in enormous volume, but the stock failed to hold its rise, which was accepted as proof of persistent selling. Demand for stocks was greatest among brokers with Western connections. A formidable list of declines included some of last week's conspicuous specialties, New York Airbrake yielding 9 points. Mexican Petroleum, however, increased its gain over 10 points. Free absorption of New York Central debenture 6s was the feature of the bond market.

Sales amounted to over one million shares by the middle of the afternoon session with prices still rising. Canadian Pacific and some of the shares in the Gould group were then prominent.

On the largest volume of business recorded for the current movement, investment stocks today rose 3 to 5 points. This advantage was largely obliterated in the final hour, Steel leading the decline on a cautionary trade for statement from the chief executive.

General realizing caused recessions of 2 to 4 points at the end. The close was irregular.

MARKET CLOSED IN BOSTON COPPER

There was a holiday in Boston, it being Patriots' day. A fair volume of trading was, however, reported by Paine, Webber & Co. in the curb list.

The following bid prices were quoted: Atlanta, 41c; Jumbo Extension, $1.75; Goldfield Cons., $1.56; Goldfield Merger, 27c; Braden, $8.25; Hollinger, 24c; Nipissing, $6.12; West End, 73c; United Verde Extension, $3.18; Ohio Copper, 25c; Tonopah Nevada, $6.87, and Tonapah Belmont, $4.12.

At New York, electrolytic copper was quoted at 17⅜@17½ cents, casting at 16¾@17 cents, lake at 19½@19¾ cents. All grades of copper were up ¼ cent a pound.

At St. Louis, spelter closed at 10@11 cents strong, and lead quiet at $4.12½@4.15.

Boston News Bureau says: "Pronounced strength developed in the metal market this morning and some of the leading producers are now quoting 17½ cents for electrolytic. Sentiment was influenced by the advance in London. Some trade authorities have stated that the supply of the metal at 17½c was comparatively small."

AWAIT LINE ON ACREAGE

Crushers Following Hand-to-Mouth Policy in Flax Market.

The flax market is holding its own and that is about all. The crushers are still following a hand-to-mouth policy and are simply playing a waiting game. They are waiting to see what is going to happen in Argentina and also what the American acreage is going to be.

Saskatchewan reports that the acreage there will be 25 per cent less than that of a year ago, but there is as yet no line possible on the domestic condition. Until there is something on which domestic matters can be based, there is unlikely to be much else than Argentina influence in this market.

Reported crop damage, and the consequent increase in Aires prices for seed have boosted the price here during the last week.

The closing prices for the past six trading days, compared with the same period a year ago, were:

FURTHER GAINS IN IRON AND STEEL

Further improvement is reported in the iron and steel trade, and expressions of opinion from the leading manufacturers are generally optimistic. In that connection it is to be noted that H. C. Frick, who has been prominently identified with the trade for many years, is quoted as saying in the course of an interview at Pittsburgh that he never felt more bullish in his life than at the present.

Operations 75 Per Cent.

Taken as a whole, steel plants of the country are estimated to be operating on a basis of 75 per cent of capacity, with wire mills going at about 90 per cent of capacity. While export trade is still the most prominent feature, the volume of domestic orders being placed both from the East and West is said to be increasing. What is regarded as an encouraging feature was the inquiry last week from the Burlington railroad for the largest list of machine tools that has come from any western road in several months.

Orders for fabricated steel booked recently, are said to have been for a large tonnage, affording evidence that new construction by the railroads and in the building trade is becoming more active. Orders placed during the last month are said to have been on a basis of 64 per cent of capacity while during the eight months since last August the average of such work was not more than 35 per cent of capacity.

Review of Situation.

Discussing the general situation in the trade, the Iron Age says: "The expansion in export business has been marked in the past six weeks. March contracts with foreign buyers of iron and steel products were probably in excess of 250,000 tons, not including 100,000 tons of shrapnel bars recently closed for France. No order has yet been placed here for 40,000 tons of rails for France, as reported, and the fantastic story of a large French order for bridges to span the Rhine scarcely needs denial.

"A vast amount of shrapnel business has been and is still being distributed in this country by a Canadian interest which has an $8,000,000 contract with Russia, but with this as with a good deal else in war supply lines there are complications which make negotiations long drawn out. The disposition is growing to proceed very conservatively in regard to war contracts where many intermediaries are at work.

"With half of April gone, there is some light on the situation as to prices of plates, shapes and bars, which were advance to 1.20c., Pittsburgh, by leading manufacturers. Less weakness has appeared than a part of the trade predicted, yet new business in these lines is still limited. Sales of bars and shapes have been made at 1.20c., Pittsburgh, and Pittsburgh mills have taken plate business at 1.15c., while some Ohio plate mills have sold as low as 1.10c., Pittsburgh."

JUDGE RESERVES HIS DECISION IN THAW CASE

New York, April 19.—Supreme Court Justice Hendrick reserved decision today on the application of counsel for Harry K. Thaw for a jury trial to determine Thaw's sanity. He requested counsel to submit briefs and announced that he would return his decision before Thursday.

Notice is hereby given, That on May 19, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1915, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable on June 1 in each year.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority.

Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists giving legal descriptions of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

ACRE TRACTS.

IF YOU ARE A WORKING MAN

You are up against a mighty tough game in the city. Lost time and high prices keep you poor. Solve the question this way: Get an acre or two, put up temporary living quarters while the weather is fine and make a start toward independence. We offer some excellent acre tracts within a mile of school and car line. A smal down payment and less than you are now paying for rent will secure one for you. Then when you are laid off you can work for yourself by improving your own place. WE CHARGE NO INTEREST. See us at once. We'll gladly take you out at any time. Some of your future neighbors are already on the ground.

FILIBUSTER IN HOUSE BRINGS OUT PROSPECT OF AN EXTRA SESSION

Wide Differences Exist Between Houses on Appropriation Bills.

Only Miracle Can Secure Their Passage By Midnight Thursday.

Effort to Pass Per Capita Tax Limit Bill Is Expected.

BOXING BILL TO GOVERNOR.

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 72 to 20 the house today repassed the Moeller-Lennon bill legalizing ten-round, no-decision boxing matches in the Twin Cities and Duluth, after concurring in the two amendments made by the senate yesterday. The measure now goes to the governor, who refused this afternoon to state what his attitude is regarding it.

The senate refused to suspend the rules to take up the bill requiring St. Louis county to build a courthouse at Hibbing. The senate made the bill repealing the Minneapolis civil service law a special order for tomorrow.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thanks to the superabundant success of the filibuster in the house that has been in progress for a week, coupled with the singular slowness of that body, the legislature is drifting toward the shoals of an extra session. With the house consuming so much time on the appropriation bills and with wide differences between the two bodies on these measures, it looked this morning as though only a miracle could make it possible to pass these four bills before midnight tomorrow, when the business of the session ends. During the day conference committees will be appointed, and these committees will make every effort to reach an agreement, so as to avert the calamity of a special session. The house committee is already appointed, and consists of Representatives Spooner, Boyd, Burrows, Steen and Swenson.

General Appropriation Bill.

The house this morning took up the fourth and last appropriation bill, the general bill providing for claims, drainage appropriations, etc., and floundered its leisurely way through it item by item, analyzing the smallest sums with painstaking zeal and fighting over many of them. At noon it looked as though the bill would consume a good share of the afternoon.

WITHSTANDS HARD ATTACK

Item of $50,000 for Bemidji Normal School Is Retained.

Large Increase in Aid to Public Schools Voted By House.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The item in the house educational appropriation bill appropriating $50,000 to start the Bemidji normal school withstood a hard attack yesterday afternoon and, supported by some of the ablest and fairest men in the house, remained in the bill by a vote of 78 to 15 against an amendment offered by Representative L. O. Teigen of Jackson to strike it out.

Two years ago the legislature provided for a sixth normal school in Northern Minnesota and, after looking over the field, a committee selected Bemidji as the proper place for the school. A handsome site has been donated by the city and is now the property of the state.

Senator L. H. Nord of International Falls, who represents that district, and Representatives L. G. Pendergast of Bemidji and J. H. Miner of International Falls introduced bills in both houses appropriating $150,000 to build the school. The finance committee of the senate and the appropriations committee of the house, after carefully considering the matter, cut the appropriation to $50,000, not with the idea that that sum would complete the building, but in order to make a start.

The educational appropriation bill passed the senate without a fight, but when it was taken up in the house yesterday afternoon Representative Teigen proposed to strike the item out of the bill, and he was supported by Representatives Stenvick and Guilford of Minneapolis.

Representative Pendergast of Bemidji made an appeal for the appropriation, and he was supported by Representatives Wefald, Swenson, Bjornson, Gordon, Dwyer, Boyd, Lydiard and Carmichael.

Representative Swenson intimated that if Thief River Falls, in Mr. Stenvick's county, had been selected as the site for the school, Mr. Stenvick would be supporting the item instead of opposing it.

In the temper of the house at that

UNIVERSITY EXONERATED

Charges of Extravagance Without Foundation, Reports House Committee.

Finds Institution Is Being Conducted on Sound Business Basis.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The public accounts and expenditures committee, which investigated the affairs of the state university, submitted its report to the state house of representatives today. The report, which comprised thirty-five typewritten pages, contained a mass of information gathered by the committee, outlining at length the methods under which various departments are operated and explaining many questions which have been brought up since the opening of the present legislative session. Few recommendations of an important nature were made by the committee.

No Extravagance Found.

Regarding alleged extravagance, the report says that no evidence was gathered which would substantiate these charges, that professors are not receiving salaries while spending their time in other parts of the country attending to personal duties instead of their college work, and that professors on half time do not receive salaries on a full time basis.

A statement from Former Governor John Lind is included in the report regarding the Bren defalcation. Mr. Lind emphatically denies and characterizes as falsehoods alleged statements that he and others were instrumental in obtaining a settlement of the case.

The report indicates very clearly it is the sense of the committee that the institution is being conducted on a sound business basis and that there is no room for criticism in this connection. In concluding, the committee

GERMANS WIN IN EAST AFRICA FIGHT

Claim to Have Routed British in Two Days' Battle.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., April 20.—Among the items given out for publication today by the Overseas News agency were the following:

"Special mail reports from East Africa state that in a two days' battle German troops near Pangani routed a strong force landed from British cruisers and transports. The British lost 700 men, among them four companies captured, besides many rifles and large stores of ammunition. The German casualties were 7 officers and 13 men killed; 14 officers and 22 men wounded.

"The National Tidende of Copenhagen again asserts that German officers in Belgium are discouraged with the results of their administration. It is officially stated, however, that the contrary is true. The military government is supplying Belgian farmers with seed potatoes and oats with the understanding that the same quantities shall be returned in the fall after the harvest.

"Eight victims of the last French aeroplane attack of Freiburg were buried at the city's expense, the entire population participating in the services. Berlin school children sent a telegram of condolence to the relatives of the school children killed at Freiburg."

PLAINTIFF OFFERS BUT ONE WITNESS IN SUIT AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Colonel's Private Secretary Testifies He Gave Out Statement.

Lawyer Ivins Outlines Case of Barnes in Opening Address.

Roosevelt's Counsel, W. H. Van Beuschoten Follows New York Attorney.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 20.—Counsel for William Barnes in his suit for alleged libel against Theodore Roosevelt rested their case today, after they had offered evidence calculated to prove publication of the alleged libelous statements uttered against the former chairman of the Republican state committee by the former president of the United States.

Mr. Barnes' counsel placed only one witness on the stand. He was John McGrath, Col. Roosevelt's private secretary. He testified that he gave out the statement complained of to newspaper reporters at Oyster Bay. A partial list of sixty-eight newspapers in which the statement appeared was then read and counsel for the defendant conceded that the statement had appeared in them. They also conceded that a detailed statement of the circulation of each of the newspapers mentioned was correct.

Large Crowd Gathers.

As was the case yesterday a large crowd gathered at the courthouse early in hope of being permitted to enter the room where the trial is in progress before Supreme Court Justice William S. Andrews.

Members of the jury, which was completed yesterday, were permitted to spend the night at their homes. It was rumored today that there was a plan afoot to keep the jury in custody after the taking of testimony had begun. It was authoritatively stated, however, that this rumor was without foundation.

Roosevelt Cheered.

Col. Roosevelt arrived at the courthouse some time before his opponent. The crowd cheered him as he alighted from an automobile and the colonel waved a reply with his hat.

Mr. Ivins began his address by explaining to the jury the subject of

TWO TURK WARSHIPS BLOWN UP BY MINES

Passing Through Russian Mine Belt at Mouth of Bosporous.

Paris, April 20.—Two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers were blown up, says a Saloniki dispatch, while passing through a mine belt which Russian ships had succeeded in laying across the entrance to the Bosporus while the Turkish fleet was cruising in the Black sea. The explosions caused by the destruction of the two Turkish boats gave warning to the remainder of the fleet, which the dispatch says, was obliged to remain in the Black sea because no mine sweepers were available.

MRS. IDA M'NABB.

GETS VERDICT FOR $30,000

Escanaba Woman Successful in Suit for Breach of Promise.

Mrs. Ida McNabb Sued John F. Kinney for $500,000.

Washington, April 20.—Mrs. Ida M. McNabb of Escanaba, Mich., won a $30,000 verdict in the local supreme court here today in a breach of promise suit against John F. Kinney of Milwaukee, a wealthy mine owner. She sued for $500,000.

Kinney created a sensation when he took the witness stand in an attempt to save his money. He lost his temper, glared at judge and jury, shouted at the widow's lawyers that there was no sense in their cross-examining interrogations and had repeatedly to be admonished by Judge Stafford that he was under oath to answer questions truthfully.

At one stage the court called a halt to observe that he was allowing unusual latitude in examination of witnesses in order that the jury might "see for themselves."

PEACE MAY BE RESULT

Solving of Italy's Complications May Bring End to War.

Reports at Present Intangible But Are Reflected in High Quarters.

Rome, April 20.—Within the last twenty-four hours there have arisen in Rome persistent reports that the grave international questions confronting Italy may be solved in the near future by what at first sight seems almost incredible, the conclusion of a general peace in Europe at a not distant day. While these reports are intangible and cannot at present be ascribed to a definite source, they nevertheless are reflected in high quarters and they are given heed by careful observers of international politics.

Among other reasons in support of this the argument is offered that Rome is an excellent field for the conduct of negotiations of this nature; Prince von Buelow, one of the ablest of German diplomats, is in Rome as ambassador to Italy, and the official relations between Italy and Germany as well as between Italy and the powers of the triple entente, are cordial.

In certain quarters in Rome the idea prevails that the advent of spring has not seen such resumption of aggressive hostilities as had been promised, a fact regarded as significant.

SPECIAL OFFICER STOLE $1,000

Charles Jensen of Milwaukee Took That Amount in Gold From Bank.

Racine, Wis., April 20.—Charles Jensen, 23 years of age, employed by the Manufacturers' National bank as a special policeman, is under arrest here, charged with the theft of $1,000 from the institution. According to the police, Jensen has made a full confession. When arrested he had but $200 of the original amount still in his possession.

Six weeks ago the special policeman was sent in back of the tellers' cages on an errand and shortly thereafter a sack containing $1,000 in gold was found to be missing. Suspicion pointed to Jensen, who has been under surveillance by detectives ever since. Recent expenditures for flashy clothes, a motorcycle and various other expensive articles culminated in his arrest.

In his confession Jensen is said to have stated that immediately following the theft he secreted the money in the basement of the bank. He said he had lost $300 in a lump sum while carrying it in his pocket.

MOST REMARKABLE MAN IN TURKISH GOVERNMENT

ENVER PASHA,

War Minister and Generalissimo of Turkish Army at Age of 33 Years.

NEW TURKEY, SAYS PASHA

Ottoman Government of Today No Longer That of the Past.

Leader of Young Turks Grants Interview to Associated Press.

Constantinople, via London, April 20. —"I am glad you asked that question. This is not a war of the Turkish government, but a war of the Turkish people," said Enver Pasha, the most remarkable man in Turkey, who is, at the age of 33 years, war minister and generalissimo of the Ottoman army, to the Associated Press correspondent in the first interview ever given to the American press.

"Undoubtedly the world finds difficulty in understanding that the Turkey of today is no longer the Turkey of the past, but that, nevertheless, is a fact which should be evident to all impartial observers," he continued, showing meanwhile the enthusiasm of youth, although it was almost in a shame-faced manner that he admitted his light burden of years.

The world's youngest commander-in-chief typifies the Young Turks in intellectual attainments and ideals. The conversation with him was carried on in German and besides having a thorough command of the German language, he speaks excellent French. Enver Pasha would be boyish in appearance but for a rather heavy brown mustache. Alert, frank eyes and pleasing manners make him a delightful conversationalist. He has, moreover, a well-deserved reputation for being the handsomest man in the Turkish army.

Cordially Greeted.

When the correspondent entered, Enver Pasha shok hands cordially and said:

"I am sorry to have kept you waiting, but I am very busy all day. You have come to interview me. Well, I will make an exception in your favor. I am averse to talking to men of the press. What do you want?"

"The exact reasons for Turkey participating in the war," was the reply "You refer, no doubt," said Enver Pasha, to the assertions in British, French and Russian newspapers, that Turkey entered the war to help Germany. That is very true at this moment, not when we mobilized. Today Austria-Hungary and Germany help us; we help them. But we mobilized because there was no way out.

"Long before we took this step, Russia had grown ugly on the Black sea and in the Caucasus, invading our

BOTH SIDES AGAIN CLAIM ADVANTAGE

Engagement at Hill 60 Most Important Since Neuve Chapelle.

British Troops Still Dominate Part of the Landfoord Ridge.

News of Any Decisive Action in Eastern Zone Is Lacking.

London, April 20.—Although the German claims on the one hand and the British and French on the other are diametrically opposed in the matter of the outcome of the battle for Hill No. 60, southeast of Ypres and near the northern extremity of the British lines the facts at hand indicate that this engagement was the most important along the British front since the battle of Neuve Chapelle, and that it perhaps presages the expected general British activity in Flanders.

Dominate Part of Ridge.

The British, whether or not they hold all the ground gained, undoubtedly still dominate a part of Zandfoord ridge, a line of hills running southeast of Ypres and commanding the road from Ypres to Menin. The losses in this fighting have not been announced. Judging from dispatches reaching London they have been considerable on both sides. The Germans declare that the British made use of shells containing asphyxiating gases. To this the British reply continues to be that the Germans first resorted to this means of warfare, so if the British are now using it they are following the example of their opponents.

Russians Hold Grip.

The Russians continue to hold their firm grip on the main chain of the Carpathians, but news of any decisive action from this arena of the fighting is lacking.

The British press today is speculating as to the whereabouts of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the German commander on the eastern front. Some newspapers publish the suggestion that he may attempt a diversion in Poland, as well as from Cracow, although the idea is advanced that the soggy nature of the land would seem to prevent any large movement except at a great cost of men and material.

German Statement.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., April 20.—German army headquarters today gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

"German sapping attacks in the Champagne country yesterday made progress, when a French attack in the Argonnes, north of Lefour de Paris, resulted in failure.

ALLEGED GERMAN SPIES ARE INDICTED

True Bills Found Against Three in Old Bailey Court.

London, April 20.—True bills were returned by the grand jury in the Old Bailey police court today against three alleged German spies, Kuepferle, Hahn and Muller, charged with sending military information to Germany. Anton Kuepferle professes to be an American and it is believed he comes from Brooklyn; Muller claims he is a naturalized Englishman, while Hahn admits he is a German.

Strict precautions were taken today to exclude all outsiders. When the judge was addressing the grand jury even the ushers were turned out of the room.

When the case is heard in Camera next week every person connected with it will be sworn to secrecy.

SPRING GARDENING IN EUROPE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The Russian fleet which has been attacking the Bosphorus is reported to have caused the destruction of two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers. A dispatch from Saloniki says the Russians mined the entrance to the Bosporus while the Turkish fleet was cruising the Black sea and that the Turkish vessels on returning ran into the mine field.

Advices have been received in Berlin that a British expeditionary force which attempted to invade German East Africa was defeated and driven away with the loss of seven hundred men. The British force is said to have landed from cruisers and transports. The German losses are given as fifty-six. The only intimation of a British expedition to East Africa was given at the time of the sinking of the British steamer Fwabe by a German submarine. At that time it was said that among the passengers who lost their lives were a number of British officers who were on the way to Africa.

Italy's decision for or against war is believed in Rome to be imminent. The Rome correspondent of a Paris newspaper telegraphs that today marks the expiration of time limit fixed by Italy for presentation of proposals by Austria. It is generally understood that Austria has declined to make territorial concessions satisfactory to Italy, and, according to this report, the German and Austrian ambassadors at Rome are preparing to leave the country.

Greece also is endeavoring to arrive at a fixed policy in regard to the situation brought about by the war. A representative of King Constantine is on his way to Vienna and Berlin, probably on a peaceful mission.

No intimation has been given as to the purpose of the mission, although it is known that King Constantine, who is a brother-in-law of Emperor William, is opposed to war and has set himself against the party which favors intervention on the side of the allies.

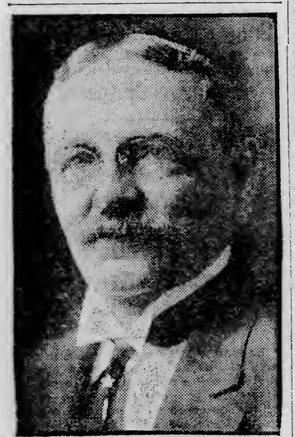
MEETING OF RETAILERS



The Merchants' Association Elects B. P. Neff President and Chooses Officers.

Presents Retiring President With Silver Set—Hears Prof. Van Cleef.

The Duluth Retail Merchants' association held its annual meeting at the Spalding last evening, and besides holding its annual election of officers, had a most interesting program and gave John J. Moe, its retiring president, a surprise.

The meeting followed an excellent dinner, and both the dinner and the meeting were taken part in by almost a complete membership of the association, and the meeting proved most enthusiastic.

Mr. Moe, who has been president of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association since its organization, which was in December, 1911, had positively declined re-election, so his refusal was respected by the nominating committee. But on his surrendering the gavel to the newly elected president, Bentley P. Neff, the latter immediately, following a short and complimentary speech, presented Mr. Moe with a solid silver salad set. For once, Mr. Moe found difficulty in making adequate reply.

Retiring President's Address.

Following dinner, and after the meeting had been called to order, President Moe gave his annual address.

BENTLEY P. NEFF.

Mr. Moe said that since the association was formed in 1911, it has been so successful in welding the several different retail interests together and making them better acquainted, that it is more than he can understand why the organization was not formed twenty years ago. He reviewed the accomplishments of the association since its formation and of the civic work it has participated in, and especially as to what has been done in the past year, which, in brief, consists of: Purchasing of electric festoons for street corners, flags for decorations; getting together on closing hours; conducting a fall opening and spring style show; helping in the "Lark o' the Lake" celebration; assisting in the booster excursions; aiding the Central high school "Zenith" with a liberal appropriation; accomplishing much in better conditions for salespeople and improving salesmanship; giving support to every good move in Duluth; inducing the establishment of a course in salesmanship in the high school; succeeding in abolishing incongruous cloth signs on fronts of stores and across sidewalks; starting a fight for a short term insurance law; and many other matters of interest and development.

Mr. Moe concluded by saying:

"By the time the next annual meeting rolls around, I hope your personal enthusiasm will have radiated on your next door merchant to such an extent that our membership will have more than doubled and that 'co-operation' will forever be our watchword."

Excellent Condition Shown.

Acting Secretary-Treasurer A. C. Pearsons made his annual report in the absence of George M. Peterson, the secretary-treasurer, who is a member of the state senate. This report showed a gratifying and satisfactory financial condition of the association; and the report on the success of the "lark o' the lake" and spring style events was also most acceptable and well received.

Reports of committee were given and the nominating committee reported recommending the election of the following officers, which was unanimously adopted:

President, Bentley P. Neff; vice president, A. C. Pearsons, and secretary-treasurer, George M. Peterson.

Following the election, Mr. Moe resigned the chair to the new president, and then, much to the surprise of Mr. Moe, President Neff made the presentation mentioned. In his address, President Neff extolled the work done and interest shown by Mr. Moe during his incumbency of the office of president, declaring him "the one man who has been every ready, always hopeful, ambitious, energetic, a true leader, a faithful guide and a loyal friend; a man whose very life has been a noble example for every man as well as every merchant to follow, a man whose very presence lends dignity to every occasion, and the one man who was capable of leading this new and inexperienced association past many dangerous pitfalls, out into the broad fields of safe, sane, intelligent and instructive activity."

Presentation Made.

In presenting to Mr. Moe the gift of the organization, Mr. Neff said:

"We cordially thank you for your splendid co-operation, for the many words of wisdom and advice you have extended, and for the grace and dignity your life and presence have given our association."

Mr. Moe, in replying, could do so only briefly, thanking the organization heartily for the feeling of friendship and kindliness shown.

The feature of the evening was an address by Eugene Van Cleef, professor of the department of geography of the Duluth normal school. Mr. Van Cleef spoke on Duluth's location as a trade center and as to its possibility of becoming a great city. Maps were hung across the end of the room, with which the speaker illustrated and explained his remarks.

He also urged that steps should be taken to beautify the harbor and compared this approach to the city with the harbors of the old world, which, he declared, made a profoundly favorable impression on the traveler who is entering. He also indorsed public markets and said that while some merchants are opposed to them, merchants in other cities have found them to be a good thing.

Advocates Sheep Raising.

Mr. Van Cleef also declared that Duluth is in the proper latitude and kind of country for sheep raising. He said that the Falkland islands, which have been prominent recently in war matters, are in precisely the same kind of a climate as Duluth and has much the same kind of soil; and that, there, the population of 3,000 people raises approximately 300 sheep per person. This country, he asserted, could do the same with little trouble and that sheep raising will be found to be a valuable asset to the farmers hereabouts.

Mr. Van Cleef also declared that the Georgian ship canal, proposed from Georgian bay to Montreal, will be of infinite benefit to Duluth, for it will permit the passage of ships directly from this point to the sea, and will save 800 miles between here and Liverpool. He also advocated the permanent establishment of a commercial and industrial exchange for the distribution of information.

City Commissioner Bernard Silberstein, a member of the association, was present, and spoke briefly, asking the co-operation and suggestion of the association in the administration of city affairs.

An amendment to the constitution and by-laws of the association, adopted, provided that each branch of retail business shall hold individual meetings and that the chairmen of each shall become, automatically, members of the board of directors of the association.

BODY OF A MURDERED MAN IN BURNING HOUSE

West Point, Neb., April 20.—The blood-covered body of Herman Wruck was found early this morning in his burning home. Disarranged furniture indicated a struggle, but this evidence was lost when the fire could not be checked and the house was destroyed.

Wruck, who was reputed to be wealthy, had prepared to start alone on a trip to the West today. He is believed to have been murdered by unknown persons who attempted to rob him and later set fire to the house to destroy evidences of the crime.

TORPEDOED SUBMARINE

British Destroy Stranded Boat to Prevent Turks Getting Her.

Expedition to E-15 Subjected to Heavy Fire From Forts.

London, April 20.—The British admiralty announced officially today that the British submarine E-15 was destroyed in the Dardanelles by British picket boats. The text of the admiralty announcement follows:

"The submarine E-15 which grounded on Kephez point last Saturday appears to have been in danger of falling into the enemy's hands in a serviceable condition. Great efforts were made by the Turks to secure her. Attempts to destroy her by long range fire of battleships failed.

"During the night of the 18th two picket boats—that of the Triumph, under Lieut.-Commander Eric Robinson, who commanded the expedition, assisted by Lieut. Arthur Brooke Webb, R. N. R., and Midshipman John Wooley, and that of the Majestic, under Lieut. Claude Godwin, both manned by volunteer crews—attacked the submarine. The boats were subjected to a very heavy fire, estimated at over 200 rounds, from Fort No. 8, which was only a few hundred yards distant, and a number of small guns at short range. Notwithstanding this, the submarine was torpedoed and rendered helpless. The Majestic's picket boat was holed and sunk but the crew were saved by the other boat, and the only casualty was one man, who died of wounds.

"Vice Admiral de Robeck speaks in the highest terms of all concerned in this gallant enterprise. Lieut.-Commander Eric Robinson has been promoted to a commander by the admiralty and a report has been called on the individual services of other officers and men, with a view to their recognition."

OFFICER OF EMDEN GIVEN GOLD MEDAL.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., April 20.—Among the news items given out today by the Overseas News Agency is the following:

"The Hamburg Steam Navigation society has given a gold medal to Lieut.-Commander von Muecke, first officer of the German cruiser Emden, who at the head of a detail of men, escaped from Cocos island when the Emden was destroyed and brought his party safely to Hodeida, Arabia."

Nine New Missionaries.

LOCKER IS OPTIMISTIC

Reports Greatly Improved Conditions in Steel Trade of Country.

Advance in Stocks Proof That Big Interests Foresee Prosperity.

W. H. Locker, vice president of the American Manganese Manufacturing company, expressed himself optimistically today on his return from an Eastern trip, during which he visited Philadelphia, Boston and other points.

"The general industrial situation is much improved," he said. "Confidence is being promoted through the starting up of furnaces and finishing mills affording employment to thousands of men. The recent price advances in finished steel products have placed the trade in a healthier position. Better buying has resulted, as it is felt that further advances in many lines are to be expected. The vast change that has come about in the situation of late is shown in the fact that while up to a few weeks manufacturers were compelled to importune customers for specifications and to take deliveries of products under their contracts, they are now being wired to rush shipments along."

Road to Spend $20,000,000.

The announcement made by the Pennsylvania railroad a few days ago, that it proposes to spend $20,000,000 in rolling stock and improvements along its system, commanded considerable attention in business circles, Mr. Locker averred. It is taken as evidence that officials of that road must see better times ahead or they would not have reached a decision to make such a heavy outlay. It is furthermore recognized that the railroads must make extensive rail replacements in the near future as they have held that work down to a minimum during the last four years.

"The sensational advances in quotations of industrial stocks during the last two weeks is regarded as marking the beginning of prosperity," said Mr. Locker. "It is taken for granted that the big men see unmistakable promise of better times ahead or they would not be getting under the market the way they have been. It is well understood that Bethlehem Steel and other concerns are making enormous profits from sales of munitions and supplies to the countries at war, and that buying has also resulted in quickening domestic trade in several lines. One of our company's furnaces at Dunbar, Pa., has been operating continuously for months, and considering the discouraging conditions in the trade up till now the results are regarded as satisfactory. We have found a good inquiry for our output of spiegel, manganese pig and pig iron."

Regarding iron ore prices, Mr. Locker found that while they have not as yet been definitely fixed for the season now opening, it is generally thought that they will be on the same basis as last year.

TOOK CASH AND STAR BOARDER

Virginia Woman Arrested for Larceny But Man Escapes.

Taking $400 her husband had placed in the bank in her name, $330 in currency and gold which was hidden in the house, and the man of her choice, Emelia Kita, aged 25, fled to Duluth from Virginia several days ago, according to her husband's story.

She was arrested as a fugitive from justice last night at 207 Devonshire street, by Detectives J. L. Bradley, but Waldemar Yantos, the lover, had fled.

Although stealing from one's husband is not considered a crime by the courts of the United States, the fact that $70 of the money belonged to a boarder changes Emelia's escapade to grand larceny.

John Frasunek, a miner working at the Minorca mine near Virginia, is the husband who lost his wife and his fortune at the same time. He swore out a warrant for Emelia and Waldemar several days ago, and police of Duluth were instructed to watch for them, as the woman was known to have lived here previously.

She was traced through her mother, who lives at Sparta. A day or so before she disappeared Emelia visited her mother and, after giving her $10, said she was going to take a trip.

Frasunek and his wife, before her "elopement," kept a boarding house in Virginia, but trouble started when Emelia showed a fondness for Yantos, who ate his meals under her watchful eye. Yantos was employed at the Minorca property until recently.

When Detective Bradley visited the rooms on Devonshire street, where Emelia had lived before, he found her alone. People living in the adjoining house stated that there had been a man with her for several days and it is presumed that Yantos learned of the pursuit in time to make good his escape.

ILLINOIS TOWNS VOTING ON LICENSE.

Chicago, April 20.—Twenty-two towns and villages in Illinois voted today on the question of abolishing saloons. Close to 150 saloons are involved in the issue.

Prohibition leaders were confident that woman voters will prove an important factor in the balloting and that at least four counties will be added to the dry column. When the women exercised the franchise a year ago 1,000 saloons were wiped out and 150 were abolished at the election on April 6.

The principal towns voting today are: Ottawa, Dixon, Bearstown, Cass, Morris, Gardner and Joliet.

A Smooth, Hairless Skin for Every Woman

(The Modern Beauty)

With the aid of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to rid the skin of unsightly hair growths. The paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article.—Advertisement.

CITY WOULD GIVE $2,500 FOR ARMORY

Council Makes Proviso That Citizens Must Subscribe $5,000 Additional.

If Duluth citizens raise $5,000 to beautify the Armory exerior the city council will appropriate $2,500 to go toward this fund.

At the meeting of the new commission yesterday afternoon, Commissioner Silberstein introduced a resolution, which was adopted unanimously, declaring that it was the sentiment of the council to aid this $7,500 fund by donating $2,500, on condition that Duluthians raise the remaining $5,000. The appropriation will have to be made by an ordinance, authorizing the subscription of the money from the public works fund.

In presenting his resolution Commissioner Silberstein declared that the present plans of the Armory would make that structure an eye-sore to the city's landscape, and that an extra subscription by the people of Duluth would be necessary, if a beautiful building is desired. The money, he said, will ge toward improving the exterior.

Francis W. Sullivan, a member of the city planning committee, explained that the $2,500 to be appropriated by the city will be used in improving the first floor construction and that action was necessary yesterday, as the contractor is now ready to go ahead with the work on the supstructure.

Deputy Warden Renoe said he expected to send Donn M. Roberts, the mayor, to the office of the superintendent of construction to become an assistant, because of his engineering experience.

HARRY SHIPPY DIES AFTER AN OPERATION.

Chicago, April 20.—Harry Shippy, 26, son of the late Chief of Police George M. Shippy, who saved his father's life when the latter was attacked by a young anarchist, died today of complications following an operation for appendicitis.

The attempted assassination of the elder Shippy took place March 7, 1908, when Lazarus Averbuch, an anarchist, entered the hallway of the Shippy home. Harry Shippy threw himself on the intruder and was shot in the side. Almost at the same instant father and son, and the former's chauffeur, who rushed in from the street, fired, and Averbuch fell dead.

DRAMA OF REAL LIFE

Stirring Tale of Kettle and Six "Poorly Clad Characters."

"Life in the Jungle and How It Is Lived."

Act I, scene I.—A Michigan street commission house. Enter poorly dressed man.

"Please, mister, can I have a potato?"

Business of reaching for a potato.

Hearty commission clerk—"Sure, bo, take one. There was a feilow in here a little while ago asking for one."

Poorly clad character exits itself.

Enter another poorly clad character. "Please, mister, would you be so kind as to give me an onion?"

Business of reaching into a bushel basket for on onion.

Hearty commission clerk—same part—"Sure, take an onion. Some one was in a little while ago and asked for a potato. Times must be tough, Bo."

Poor clad character off stage.

Enter another more poor clad character.

This is a monotonous drama. The plot should be taken out and given a dry cleaning.

Poorly clad character—"I vant to say, hey mister grocery man"—we are trying to give character to our characters—"hey vould you be so pleases as to give me a carrot or a turnip, hey mister?"

Hearty clerk—"Sure, I don't own the place; go as far as you like—take a couple."

The poor clad character evidently does not understand English very well, as he only takes one carrot and looks timidly in the direction of the door.

Exit.

Act II, scene II.—The rendezvous west of Union station.

Enter six poorly clad characters with bulging pockets.

First poorly clad character—"What did you get, Mike?

Second poorly clad character—"I gette a onion"—while the English is incorrect, we wish thus to preserve the atmosphere and spirit of the play. A onion is written into the part of the second poorly clad character on purpose. "Ya, I gette a onion and a roota begga."

Third poorly clad character—"I gotta two tomates, one potat and two biscuts."

Act III., the strongest in the play. Scene III. The Jungle. This act is written around a kettle. William Dean Howells was of the materialistic school, claiming you could make a story out of a soap box. Our theme is a kettle.

The characters enter in their order, first poor clad character, second one, etc. This makes an effective entrance, and affords a good setting for the pastoral scene.

First poorly clad character empties "a onion" into the kettle. Second character empties several potatoes and part of a turnip. Third character empties a bone and a piece of fried pork. Fourth character contributes another bone, one and a half tomatoes. Fifth character enriches the contents of the kettle with a can of pickles and a rootabago. Mustard, horse radish, beans, bologna, cold veal stew, the remains of a fowl that once strutted proudly about the yard, and a piece of cheese follow.

Poorly clad character No. 1 stirs the kettle. This is a stirring drama. Poorly clad character No. 2 lights a fire under the kettle. To make this a regular pastoral drama, the characters should sing. These characters wouldn't sing unless they were made to. Therefore we will make them—"Sing." They are singing.

smthe 1876',?,&,!-UH?'''''.',
&?thnehte'I,?'(N..?U.'
&8tyeth?, .K&yth''''!-(33'22'22."

As the song seems to be affecting a stray dog, who is being shaken with violent convulsions, they desist. The song was merely put into the drama in order that it might be technically correct.

All of the characters eat. Actors very seldom eat, 'tis true, but this drama is written around a kettle. Each character takes a turn at the can which serves as a ladle. The noise of eating must be imagined at this point. The dog wags his tail, having ears, he understands that men are eating. The canine is very intelligent.

After finishing everything but the kettle, the men retire to logs and other rude rustic seats, and gradually succumb to the lures of Morpheus. As the final curtain descends we see the characters gradually drifting into dream land. It is a beautiful scene. Some one told the characters that there is no work, therefore they don't look for it.

If we wanted to make this into a melodrama, we would have the police rush in just as the meal was in progress, insert clanging patrol, and all that, and have the whole bunch pinched. But we want to have the chief of police job settled before the heroics are put into dramatic form.

ASKS TRANSFER OF HIS LICENSE

Charles Petruschke Sends Request With Recommendations.

A request to transfer his saloon from 414 North Central avenue to Sixty-third avenue west and Grand avenue was made by Charles J. Petruschke of Public Safety Commissioner Bernard Silberstein this morning. The request will in all likelihood be turned down according to statements made by the commissioner.

With the request for the transfer was a letter of recommendation to have the change made, signed by one of the prominent business men of West Duluth.

In commenting on the application Commissioner Silberstein said he did not favor allowing a saloon in that part of the city. He said he was not in favor of spreading them about any more than at present.

The district in the vicinity of Sixty-third avenue has been without a saloon for nearly two years. The "Last Chance" saloon, owned by Erickson Brothers was put out of business by the city commissioners who refused to renew its license when it expired.

HORSESHOE FACTORY DAMAGED BY FIRE

Blaze Soon Put Out; Employes Can Return to Work Shortly.

Fire damaged the roof and machinery of the Diamond Calk Horse Shoe company's factory at Forty-seventh avenue west and Grand avenue to the extent of about $3,500 yesterday afternoon. The fire started from sparks from the furnace.

About one-third of the roof was badly damaged and a number of the pulleys and other machinery near the roof were scorched. Equipment from No. 8 fire hall quickly put out the blaze.

On account of the fire, a large part of the force of employes was unable to resume work this morning. It is expected that temporary repairs will be made so that the men may go back to work tomorrow or Thursday.

The assault on the girl is said to have taken place first. Luzky is alleged to have entered her room, while under the influence of liquor, and attempted the assault. HEIRS TO GET LARGE SUMS

Mrs. Jessie M. Richardson, Minneapolis, and her brother, Samuel V. Palmer, Ranier, Minn., will each receive $46,661.21 from the estate of their father, Roswell H. Palmer, wealthy Californian, who died Aug. 15, 1914, leaving an estate in Minnesota worth upwards of $185,000. The late Mr. Palmer owned a large interest in the Bangor mine at Biwabik and other holdings on the Mesaba iron range.

In probate court today, Judge S. W. Gilpin fixed the amount to be paid by the Palmer heirs in inheritance taxes. The only heirs who will share in the Minnesota estate are four children. Mr. Palmer left a will in which he provided that his property should be divided among his children with the exception of a homestead at Pasadena, Cal., which was bequeathed to the widow. The will stated that the widow had been liberally provided for during his lifetime and that no other bequests were necessary.

Besides the two children in Minnesota, Mr. Palmer is survived by a son, Walter G. Palmer of Pasadena, Cal., and an adopted daughter, Miss Ruby M. Palmer of Santa Barbara, Cal. The Minnesota estate, which was divided equally among the four children, inventoried at $186,644.85 and consisted of personal property in the form of cash to the amount of $10,362.85 and real estate valued at $176,282.

Each of the four children will receive a bequest of $46,661.21 and with the exception of Miss Ruby M. Palmer, the adopted daughter, each has been assessed $608.22 in inheritance taxes. The Minnesota law requires an adopted child to pay an inheritance tax 50 per cent higher than that required from a natural child and as a result, the adopted daughter will be assessed at $911.33.

In all, the Palmer heirs will pay an aggregate tax of $2,736.33. The widow did not come in for any share of the Minnesota property and will pay no tax on her inheritance in this state.

Mr. Palmer was a resident of Pasadena, Cal. His death occurred at Redlands, Cal.

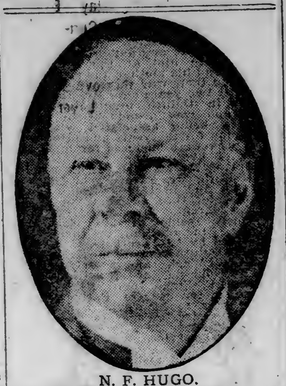
ALIEN TEACHERS EXEMPTED FROM LAW.

Sacramento, Cal., April 20.—The state assembly passed yesterday a bill already passed by the senate exempting alien school teachers from the provisions of a statute which requires public employes to be native-born or naturalized citizens.

The measure validates the present employment of alien school teachers, and clears up a situation which threatened a few weeks ago to involve California in an international complication.



RETURNS FROM NOTABLE TOUR OF SOUTH AMERICA

N. F. Hugo Member of Big Party of American Business Men.

Studied Southern Continent With View of Promoting Trade.

Met Duluthians in Two Cities—Argentina Has Real Navy.

N. F. HUGO.

N. F. Hugo, Duluth mining man, arrived home yesterday from what was perhaps the most remarkable business and pleasure trip ever undertaken by a large body of American business men.

On Jan. 21, 1915, Mr. Hugo with 278 others left New York on the Red Star S. S. Kroonland. She was specially fitted out for this trip and carried more than 20,000 tons of fuel, and provisions and water enough for the entire trip.

These business men who were accompanied by their families, taking advantage of quietness in business in the United States caused by the European war, determined to investigate South America, as a field for commercial expansion, and with this in view circumnavigated the entire South American continent, visited every country, and made stops in all the prominent cities from two days to eight days in duration. A number of stops were made at the West Indies on their way back.

Havana, Cuba, and Kingston, Jamaica, were visited on the way down for two days each. Business conditions in Cuba were bad on account of excessive rains just when the sugar cane and tobacco should be harvested. These as well as other countries, visited, were also suffering from the effects of the European war. Business with Germany which country stood next to England in imports and exports was paralyzed.

"We saw hundreds of German steamers and sailing vessels interned in the various sea ports visited and the volume of business with other countries on account of the shortage of vessels was greatly curtailed," said Mr. Hugo.

Through the Canal.

"After leaving Jamaica it was our privilege to be on the first passenger steamer to pass through the Panama canal. We were delayed a little here because we drew over thirty-one feet of water and Gold hill had been on a rampage lately, several slides occurring a few days before we arrived. All the available dredges, eight in number, were put to work dredging a channel for us and in a couple of days, assisted by two very powerful tugs, we were dragged through the mud past the Culebra cut closely followed by Mr. Hill's new steamship, the Great Northern, which was on her maiden voyage. The Great Northern was a smaller craft and had no trouble following us there.

"The slides are very frequent and troublesome and it will take the balance of the year before ships like the Kroonland drawing fully thirty feet of water can be sure of a passage without delay. The pressure at the back of Gold hill must be relieved before the earth will be in repose.

Stop in Peru.

"After leaving Panama four cities in Peru were visited, Callao, Lima, Mollendo and Arequpa. Lima is a nice up-to-date city with modern improvements, the telephone company being in charge of a former Duluthian, Percy Eurbank, whose family lived on Fifth street and Second avenue west, about thirty years ago and who will be remembered by scores of old timers. General conditions in Peru we found to be poorer than in any other South American country and the Peruvians less anxious for North Americans than any other. They are the least enlightened and most self satisfied of any, thinking they can work out their own salvation without outside help, but outside of a few public utilities, they are where they were thirty years ago and the government is just as unstable, they having recently closed the public schools to maiutain their army.

Visit to Chile.

"Five cities in Chile were next visited, Arica, Autofagoss, Valparaiso, Santiago, and Punta Arenas, Patagonia, now claimed by Chile. While these cities compare most favorably with the Peruvian cities, the greatest surprise was Punta Arenas. This place when, I last visited it was a Chilean penal colony of about 2,000 inhabitants. It is now up-to-date in everything and has over 20,000 people. The convicts' settlement has been moved away and the town is the busiest of any of its size in North or South America, caused by the discovery of coal and the fact that the God-forsaken lands of Terra del Fuego and Patagonia are well adapted to sheep raising, it now being the primary wool market of the world. Punta Arenos' climate is like Duluth in summer, but milder in winter. Lima is noted for its clean streets, beautiful churches, and pretty women. Valparaiso is a fine seaport and when lit up at night puts one in mind of Duluth harbor and really made us homesick. Business corditions were sounder in Chile than Peru, although their monetary system is so bad that their currency like all other South American countries except Uruguay, is depreciated, Uruguay being the only one with a gold standard. Consequently a dollar in all other South American countries is only worth from 16 to 42 cents gold, every country having a different standard of value and all steadily diminishing.

Surprised at Buenos Aires.

"Another surprise came when we docked at Buenos Aires or B. A., as the Americans call it. Here we found a city of nearly 2,000,000 people and a city that rivals Paris and Vienna in beauty, the Aveneda Dee Mayo being unsurpassed anywhere. The Argentinos are developing a national spirit and are very proud of their principal city and their navy which is no joke. The superdreadnaught Rividavia being docked alongside of us it was our privilege to make a thorough examination of her and her 12½-inch guns. She was built last year by the Fore River Shipbuilding company of Quincy, Mass., and would be a credit to the United States navy. Through the courtesy of St. Nicholson, officer of the gunboat Independante, we were entertained on board.

"The street car service is good, the routes being numbered and the number in large figures placed on front of the car so you can tell two blocks away what route the car belongs to, a tip for Mr. Warren. All the newer streets are wide and the monuments and small parks works are of art instead of daubs. Their large parks are beyond comparison on account of the semi tropical growth.

Get Real Thrill.

"The real thrill came when we entered Rio de Janeiro, the most magnificent harbor in the world, perfectly land locked, large and beautiful, surrounded by hills, upon which is built the city of Rio de Janeiro, a city of over 1,000,000 people. It is the capital and principal city of Brazil. We docked at the foot of the Rua de Branco, a new street made from a narrow one and widened to 100 feet a few years ago at a cost of several million dollars. One of the surprises here was the placing of a telephone on board the Kroonland for the accommodation of the passengers, but we were more surprised when the donor came on board in the person of C. M. Mauseau of Duluth, now general manager of the telephone system of Rio and Santos, who until the end of our stay could not do enough for us, getting up a real American baseball game between the Rio team and the Kroonland team. The Kroonlanders lost, although the umpire was very favorable to them. Think of enjoying baseball with the sun straight overhead. Some hot ball game. After leaving Rio we stopped at Santos, Bahia and Parn in Brazil. Santos is where one-half of the world's supply of coffee comes from and is connected by rail with Sao Paulo in the heart of the coffee district. Para is the big rubber shipping port. Bahia is noted for its ascensors, which are hydraulic elevators that take people from one street level to a higher one and could be used to advantage near our point of rocks.

"The trip was organized by C. H. Gates of Toledo, Ohio, and included some of the most keen business men in the United States. Among them were: John Pitcain, chief of board of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company; Hon. W. B. McKinley, M. C., from Illinois, an authority on finance and traction lines; E. A. and H. F. Guggenheim, mining and smeltering; Charles Schuneman of St. Paul, mercantile; Dr. W. G. Corlett of Cleveland, author; R. W. Babson of Boston, statistican; L. G. Richardson, Chicago, general counsel A. T. and T. company; G. B. Rovvars, vice president Swift & Co., Chicago; Ex-Governor Durbin of Indiana, G. E. Lynds, treasurer Cloquet Lumber company."

His Conclusions.

The conclusions drawn by Mr. Hugo on the South American situation are that there is no use of Americans trying to do business there unless one can speak and understand Spanish thoroughly and is prepared to adapt himself and goods to South America standards. "You must sell your goods on long time," he said. "They are used to six months and one year credit, instead of ten to thirty days as with us. They need flour mills and all sorts of factories using wood, flax and wool. No mechanics, clerks or laborers from the states are needed. They cannot compete with the cheap labor from Southern Europe now flooding South America. Everything is wide open, yet the people are temperate, drinking only the native light wines and beer containing less than 3 per cent alcohol, which is brewed under government supervision. They are fight-hearted, good spenders, sport-loving people, playing the races consistently and religiously buying tickets in state-owned sotteries. Not much attention was paid to us while on the west coast of South America, but in Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil the attention by the presidents and governors of the different states visited could not be beaten and would put into the shade any attention ever shown visitors from South America to the United States. They simply spared neither attention or expense. Their courtesy was typical of the Latin races from whom the majority spring.

"I did not see a single drunken man in South America and consider these light alcoholic drinks the cause. They stimulate but do not inebriate. I found the war sentiment to be strong proallies in all the countries visited except Chile, where it is divided. The Chilean army officers, on account of being trained by German officers, are pro-German. The Chilean navy is proallies. Argentina, Chile and Brazil in the order named have good navies constantly improving."

NEED NOT PAY FOR DRINKS ON SUNDAY.

Chicago, April 20.—Two men who were arrested after they refused to pay for drinks which they bought in a saloon Sunday, were discharged by Judge William N. Gemmill in the municipal court here yesterday.

"You do not have to pay for drinks you get in saloons in Chicago on Sunday," declared the judge. "If the saloons are open they are open in violation of the law."

Lake Nebagamon Fire.

Lake Nebagamon, Wis. April 20.—The burning of a lot of refuse collected about the village in the annual clean-up campaign, cost S. P. Redding about $200 yesterday, when about 100 cedar posts belonging to him caught fire and were destroyed. The volunteer fire department and citizens fought the flames, but could not save the posts. The village is well cleaned as a result of the clean-up campaign.

JURY THINKS HIM INNOCENT

Robertson, Indicted for Stealing Copper, Quickly Acquitted.

No Disposition of Cases of Other Two Defendants Decided on.

A district court jury yesterday afternoon exonerated George K. Robertson, Northern Pacific switchman, who stood trial on a charge of complicity in the theft of $3,000 worth of copper annodes from a boxcar in November, 1913. A verdict of "not guilty" was returned at 4:40 o'clock yesterday after the jury had deliberated for one hour.

Robertson showed little emotion when the verdict was received. His wife, however, who was with him in court during the progress of the trial, was moved to tears when she received the news and threw her arms about her husband's neck. Then she turned to the jurymen and shook each by the hand, expressing her thanks. Many of Robertson's friends were in court when the acquittal was announced.

Copper Is Stolen.

In September, 1913, a car containing about $100,000 worth of copper annodes was shipped from Anaconda, Mont., to Pittsburgh, Pa., via Duluth. On Nov. 4, 1913, while in the local yards, the car was switched to the yard of the Duluth Iron & Metal company and about $40,000 worth of the metal was removed and hidden under a pile of scrap and rubbish. It was discovered by a watchman in the employ of the metal company about a year later.

The car from which the copper was taken had been checked at the Garfield avenue yards on Nov. 3. On the following day it disappeared from the Garfield yards and on the next day showed up in the Fifth avenue west yards, where it had been assigned as an empty car. When the car was opened discovery of the theft was made. An investigation followed, but the officials could not ascertain how the car made its way from the Garfield avenue yards to Fifth avenue west and how the copper was stolen, as each plate weighed 525 pounds.

The copper plates lay in the yards of the Duluth Iron & Metal company until last November, when Zigmund Zalk, foreman, started to cut up the plates at night preparatory to selling them, it is supposed. This aroused the suspicions of the night watchman, who reported the occurrence to the officers of the company, who, with the police, traced the theft to Zalk.

Zalk "Peaches."

Zalk and two switchmen, George K. Robertson and Joseph Regalia, were arrested. Zalk confessed, implicating Robertson and Regalia. The three men were indicted by the January grand jury. Robertson was brought to trial at the January term and, at that time, Zalk turned state's evidence and the jury disagreed. Then Zalk refused to testify against Robertson and Regalia, and the case was dismissed.

MUST CARRY SCALES.

Rural Mail Carriers Must Take All Necessary Equipment.

According to a department order received by Postmaster William E. McEwen of the Duluth office, it is the duty of all rural mail carriers to take with them over their routes the parcel post maps, guides and scales provided for their use. Failure to comply with these regulations will result in severe disciplinary action, the order states.

When the carrier is tendered a parcel too heavy to be weighed on the scales provided, he should collect from the sender a sum sufficient to insure full payment of postage. He should then take the parcel to the office, affix the necessary postage and return to the sender any excess amount collected.

Stops Stomach Pains in Two Minutes

The recent discovery by a leading specialist that pure bisurated magnesia will almost instantly relieve pains in the stomach resulting from indigestion, dyspepsia, or acidity is of the greatest importance to thousands of people suffering from various forms of stomach trouble. As is well known, nine-tenths of all stomach disorders are directly traceable to excessive acidity. A teaspoonful taken in a little water after meals not only neutralizes the acid and stops the pain, but quickly overcomes the cause of the trouble, soothes the inflamed lining of the stomach, and in a short time effects permanent relief. BRAINERD OFFICIALLY DRY.

City Council Canvasses Votes and Twenty-One Saloons Quit.

Brainerd, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night the council canvassed the city election vote and officially declared that no license had carried, 986 to 809. For the first time in its forty-five or more years Brainerd is dry. Saloons did a big business the last day disposing of their stocks. Twenty-one saloons quit business last night. All licenses expire July 1, so the city owes liquor men some $5,000, to be refunded for the unused license period. At a special meeting soon to be called this matter will be considered.

NEW COUNCIL IS ORGANIZED

Program Goes Through as Outlined—Silberstein Chosen President.

Borgen Elected City Clerk—Scott Objects to Salary Reduction

NEW CITY ADMINISTRATION.

Commissioners.
James A. Farrell, public works.
Leonidas Merritt, utilities.
Bernard Silberstein, safety, president of the council.
Fred J. Voss, finance.
Mayor Prince, public affairs.

Appointed By the Commission:
Walter Borgen, city clerk.
R. J. Campbell, auditor.
Henry F. Greene, attorney.
J. A. Scott, assessor.

Appointed By Commissioner Silberstein:
Joseph Randall, fire chief.
Dr. E. W. Fahey, director of public health.
Capt. William E. Hoy, harbor master.

Appointed By Commissioner Farrell:
Lyonel Ayres, engineer.
James G. Lawson, superintendent of maintenance.
F. E. Culver, secretary.

Appointed By City Attorney Greene:
William Harrison, first assistant.
Walter Gonska, city prosecutor.

Organization of the city council went through without a hitch yesterday afternoon and the entire program, as outlined in The Herald, was carried out.

The council chamber was packed for the opening session of the new council and an eager crowd was present to see Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell begin their work with the city administration. Large bouquets of flowers were presented to the new commissioners as they entered the council chamber.

After reporting on the validity of the bonds for the two new commissioners, City Clerk Palmer read a resolution introduced by Mayor Prince designating the heads of the various departments. Commissioner Voss nominated Mr. Silberstein for the presidency of the council and he was elected unanimously. Following this the commissioners balloted on a city clerk, Walter Borgen being nominated by Commissioner Merritt and C. S. Palmer by Commissioner Voss. The head of the finance division was the only one to vote for Mr. Palmer and Mr. Borgen was declared elected by a four to one vote.

Henry F. Greene, B. J. Campbell and J. A. Scott were all elected by the unanimous vote of the council. Commissioner Farrell declared, however, that he will insist on a reduction of Mr. Scott's salary from $4,000 to $3,000 a year. After the meeting Mr. Scott declared that he will not work for less than $4,000 and that if a reduction is made, he will resign.

After the organization both Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell announced their appointments and the former then gave out a statement as to the law enforcement policy to be followed by the public safety division during the next four years. He declared that he would watch for all law violations and that vice will not be countenanced. In concluding Mr. Silberstein states that he will give all the citizens a "square deal" and that the "open door" policy at the city hall will be "real and not a figure of speech."

Bonds of $25,000 each for the new commissioners, $10,000 for the city engineer and $3,000 for the municipal court clerk were approved and the contract awarded to C. H. Gordon, low bidder.

NEGRESS ADMITS ASSAULT CHARGE

Mary Traverse Declares She Fired Shot in Self-Defense.

Mary Traverse, negress, appeared before Judge Martin Hughes in district court yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault in the second degree. She was convicted of assault in the first degree at the January term of court, but the jury's verdict was set aside by the court and a new trial granted. Yesterday afternoon, on the eve of her second trial, she decided to plead guilty to the lesser offense, which was consented to by the county attorney, and the plea was received by the court.

The woman admitted firing a revolver two or three times at Pearl Ball, also colored, on Dec. 16 last. Shots were fired, but no one was injured. The Traverse woman denied that she "started" things, and at her trial declared that she was acting in self-defense. She will be brought before Judge Fesler for sentence. Judge Hughes left today for Hibbing.

NEW COUNCIL IN SESSION

Advance Paving Assessment Confirmed; Another Laid Over for Week.

Two Contracts Awarded; One Help Up; Licenses Are Granted.

Two protests against new pavements were read before the newly organized council yesterday afternoon, but only one was heeded, the other being overruled, and the 80 per cent advance assessment was confirmed.

John Jenswold, Jr., appeared for the property owners along First street, between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues west, and asked that the paving of that thoroughfare be postponed for a year or two, because of business conditions, the good conditon of the street at the present time, and the attitude of nearly half the owners in signing a petition protesting against the improvement. As a result the matter was laid over one week, in order to give Commissioner Farrell time to look into it before final action is taken.

When the confirmation of the advance assessment for the East Ninth street pavement came up, Henry Swenson spoke against the improvement and declared that a majority of the owners were not in favor of it. Several other representatives of property owners spoke in favor of the pavement, and on motion of Commissioner Voss, the 80 per cent advance assessment was confirmed. The street, from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues east, will be paved with crushed rock.

Bids Held Up.

A resolution awarding the contract for 200,000 gallons of road oil to the Standard Oil company on its bid of $2.50 per 100 gallons was laid over until next Monday. The Pure Oil company made a bid of $3.42 per 100 gallons and is protesting against the resolution awarding the contract to the Standard Oil company. As a result Commissioner Farrell asked for a postponement in order to have time to look into the matter. Before going out of office, Commissioner Murchison declared that the samples of the Pure Oil company did not come up to the specifications, as a result of which the next lowest bidder had been favored.

Commissioner Silberstein introduced his first ordinance, which provides that $2,000 for a carload of oats for the fire department be appropriated.

The council passed the ordinance introduced by Commissioner Merritt, appropriating $2,000 to be used for hauling pipe from the docks to the localities where improvements are to be made during this summer. The ordinance permitting the installation of gasoline tanks under Superior street was also passed.

Awards Contracts.

Contracts for the paving of Fifth alley, from Fourteenth to Fifteenth avenues east, were awarded to August Bodin on his bid of $1,336.30 and for gas and water main extensions in Howell street, from Lakeview drive to Vermilion, to A. Hedenberg on his bid of $509.50.

Saloon license renewals were awarded to Frank and George Gardner, 113 West First street; R. W. Armstrong, 205 West Michigan street; Peter Eschenbossel, 415 East Fourth street, and A. L. Stevenson, a transfer of Gust Carlson's license at 15 North Fourth avenue west to the same address. Paul Heiman, 416 Fifth avenue east, was granted a plumbing license, and pool hall licenses were awarded to Mane Pupovac, 14 North Sixth avenue west, and Krunish & Sarve, 5516 Raleigh street.

HAS SERVED THE CITY TEN YEARS

City Clerk Charles S. Palmer will go out of office next Thursday.

At the organization of the new council yesterday afternoon the commissioners elected Walter Borgen as city clerk to succeed Mr. Palmer, who has been in the department for the last ten years. Ever since the resignation of H. W. Cheadle three years ago, Mr. Palmer has been at the head of the city clerk's office.

Mr. Palmer has been a resident of Duluth for the last fifteen years, having entered the city's employ five years after coming to this city. Previous to this work he taught school at Proctor.

Just what he will do in the future, Mr. Palmer is unable to say. He plans to leave next Sunday for Chicago, where he will attend the convention of the Royal League of America for several days.

CHARLES S. PALMER.

Fred Ash, deputy clerk, tendered his resignation yesterday to Mr. Palmer, but will work until Mr. Borgen arrives Thursday from St. Paul. The latter called Mr. Ash on long distance telephone yesterday afternoon and offered the deputyship for two more years, but Mr. Ash refused to give an answer. He said that he will think the matter over and decide after Mr. Borgen takes charge of the office.

DECLAIMERS WILL CONTEST MONDAY.

Declaimers will contest at Central high school next Monday in the first round of an elimination for the school's representative in the Wallace cup contest May 14, and on Tuesday the orators will test their ability. Four men will be chosen in each case, and later in the week the finals will be held.

Dr. C. J. Wallace has offered a cup to the school at the Head of the Lakes producing the best orator and the best declaimer. Those entered in the contest are: Superior Central, Superior Nelson-Dewey, and the two Duluth high schools. The trophy will become the permanent property of the school winning it the largest number of times in ten annual contests.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

If you have catarrh don't be misled or gulled into believing you can obtain a cure for your trouble by breathing a simple medicated air.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease and inhalers, sprays and nose douches merely temporize with the disease and seldom if ever bring any lasting benefit. To effect a cure use a remedy that will drive the disease out of your system. Don't employ a remedy that will drive the disease down into your lungs and bronchial tubes. Such methods often lead to consumption and frequently produce catarrhal deafness and head noises.

If you have catarrh in any form go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (double strength), take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the most miserable headache, dullness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal discharges, head noises and other loathsome symptoms that always accompany this disgusting disease.

Loss of smell, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrh and which may be overcome by the use of this simple treatment. Every person who has catarrh should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

FOREST FIRES ARE GROWING SERIOUS.

HE WAS THIN

Weight 135 Pounds, Now Weighs 160
A 25-Pound Increase

"When I started taking Sargol my weight was only 135 pounds," writes H. E. Henninger. "Now my weight is 160 pounds and I am the picture of health and stronger than I ever was before. You may use my letter for I am sure it will help somebody in the same shape I was. Would not take $100 for the good it has done me." "When I commenced taking Sargol I weighed 116 pounds. I have been taking it only 26 days and weigh 130 pounds," writes Miss Lillie Davis. "I gained 7 pounds in 10 days," states W. P. Thackery.

And so it goes. Some folks take little stock in testimonials because they say people are apt to take treatment for some disease and just imagine they feel better. But Sargol is not a treatment for any disease. It simply puts firm, healthy, "stay there" fat and muscular tissue on men and women who are thin, rundown and underweight. There is no guesswork—no imagination about it. These people weigh themselves before they begin. They weigh themselves each week thereafter and the scales tell the story. Hundreds upon hundreds of Sargol users are constantly reporting increases in weight ranging all the way from ten to forty pounds.

Sargol is just a tiny tablet which you eat at meals. It mixes with your food and turns all the fats, sugars, starches and oils of your food into rich, ripe, flesh-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood. If you are underweight it is certain that the greater portion of the fat-producing material in your food is going through your body as waste. You eat and eat but get no benefit. Sargol stops this wasteful, dangerous leakage of fats and the result is quickly noted as the hollows of the body fill out with healthy flesh.

You risk no loss in taking Sargol, as leading druggists everywhere sell it with a positive guarantee of increased weight as contained in every package.

Absolutely harmless. Costs little if it succeeds and nothing if it fails. If you are ten pounds or more underweight you owe it to yourself to try it.

Sold in Duluth and vicinity by Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists.

BANK PAPERS PROVIDE CLEW

Man Who Took Life on Water Front Was Edward Larson.

Bank at Scandinavia, Wis., Says Suicide Has Relatives There.

Bank certificates found on his body provided a means of identifying Edward Larson, a well-to-do young citizen of Scandinavia, Wis., who sought out a deserted place on the water front near Tenth avenue west yesterday morning and committed suicide.

Carbolic acid poisoning was given as the cause of death, following an autopsy at Crawford's undertaking rooms by Coroner C. F. McComb. There was $940 in certificates and currency in Larson's wallet and a message to a bank at Scandinavia brought a reply stating that Larson was well known and had relatives living there. Unusual circumstances surrounding the case have hindered the coroner in his attempt to ascertain some motive for the suicide and nothing will be known until relatives arrive in Duluth from Scandinavia and take charge of the body. They are expected late today.

The body was found shortly after 12 o'clock by George Kelley, checker at the Soo freight dock, who stumbled over it while on a noon-hour fishing expedition along the bay front. He reported it to the police and Patrolman Harry Toewe guarded the body until Coroner McComb arrived.

Larson was about 30 years of age and well dressed. He was described as being of medium height and dark complexioned.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR TWO DAYS

Gust Borgeson Is Found By Police in Lone Apartments.

After remaining unconscious for more than forty-eight hours, Gust Borgeson, clothing merchant at 218 Twenty-third avenue west, is slowly recovering today at St. Mary's hospital. Dr. L. Q. Greeley is in charge of the case.

Borgeson, who is 39 years old, lives alone at 226 Twenty-third avenue west, and he went home Saturday evening apparently in good health, it is said. He was not seen by any of his neighbors Sunday nor Monday. Late yesterday afternoon the neighbors became alarmed, and called in the police to search for Borgeson. The door was broken in, and Borgeson was found unconscious. He was taken at once to St. Mary's hospital where, it is believed that he was in a state of unconsciousness since Saturday evening. Hospital attendants said this morning that the patient had become "slightly conscious" during last night, although little could be learned from him.

libel and the law pertaining thereto. He continued:

"We must consider the occasion out of which the alleged libelous matter arose. The occasion was antecedent to the primary elections in this state last fall. Who were the principals? The defendant while a member of the assembly in the early 80's established a reputation as an author. He at that time had begun to make himself a factor in public affairs. He had more influence than any single newspaper."

Mr. Ivins then outlined Col. Roosevelt's political career and added:

"During all this time he continued to be fluent with his pen and gradually became the greatest factor in American politics."

Educated at Harvard.

After pointing out that Mr. Barnes and Col. Roosevelt were both educated at Harvard, Mr. Ivins discussed at length the manner in which they had entered public life.

"When did the interests of the principals in this action begin to diverge?" Mr. Ivins went on.

"I'll tell you. It was during the gubernatorial campaign of 1910. We do not intend to go into that break just at this time. It is enough to say that a controversy arose over who would control the convention. The result was that Col. Roosevelt was the victor and he obtained control of the Republican party at that time. The Republicans failed at the election, however.

"In 1912 the defendant left the party and the details of the great campaign between Col. Roosevelt, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft are well known to you. Now, to show you how many people had confidence in Col. Roosevelt, more than 4,000,000 voters also left the party with him."

Mr. Ivins then discussed the question of whether Col. Roosevelt harbored any malice toward Mr. Barnes.

"We intend to show that he did hold malice by showing that libelous statements were issued by him during a period covering several years."

Mr. Ivins dwelt upon the legality of the position as chairman of the Republican state committee, which Mr. Barnes occupied. He then went into an explanation of the last gubernatorial campaign and read the statement upon which the suit is based.

"Are the allegations true or are they not?" he asked. "If they are, the plaintiff has no standing in this court. If the allegations are false, then it is the duty of you gentlemen to pass upon the question of damages. In this connection I believe the court will instruct that there is no privilege to defame any man."

Mr. Ivins referred to Col. Roosevelt as "one of the country's greatest historians and authors." Then he said:

Used Rare Experience.

"He used a combination of his magnificent command of the English language and his experience in politcs to make this attack.

"I shall show you that with his control of publication at least 4,000,000 persons and probably more had access to the newspapers of this country in which the statement was printed. Because he was the most powerful political and intellectual factor in the United States, he was able to secure wider publication of his remarks than any other citizens could.

"Now he is here and he will have to prove his own truthfulness to your satisfaction.

"An answer has been filed to the complaint. Yesterday in the motion to dismiss, counsel for Col. Roosevelt said nothing personal was meant to Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy in the allegation, and that those names were what might be termed ingoratory terms. I want you gentlemen to pay particular attention to the evidence offered by the defandant and determine for yourselves whether anything personal was meant."

Mr. Ivins then concluded as follows:

"We come into court under the great principle of liberty, the quality upon which this action rests. We come in not only for ourselves, but for the benefit of all mankind."

Opens for Defense.

William H. Van Benschoten of Col. Roosevelt's legal staff opened the defendant's case. He said in part:

"Mr. Ivins referred to the fact that yesterday, Bunker Hill day, was the anniversary of the 'shot that was heard around the world,' and that shot was fired in the cause of liberty. It was fired as a protest against corrupt government in England.

"Col. Roosevelt, having been a citizen of this state nearly all his life certainly had a right to stand up and demand good honest government."

Coming to 1914, the lawyer read a series of sentences dealing with corruption in the government of New York, such as the prisons, the padding of payrolls, inferences of graft, stealing of public moneys and so on. The sentences he read, counsel said, were copied from Mr. Barnes' newspaper, the Albany Journal.

Counsel then read editorials from the same paper, in which Col. Roosevelt was lauded for efforts to secure clean politics and clean government.

Mentions Platt.

The name of Thomas C. Platt was first brought to the attention of the jury when Mr. Van Benschoten mentioned it in sketching the actions of Col. Roosevelt in Albany. It was there, counsel said, that the colonel and Mr. Barnes first came to know each other well. Mr. Platt, whom counsel described as the "easy boss," was then a political partner of Mr. Barnes.

Mr. Van Benschoten discussed the opposition of Mr. Barnes to Governor Hughes and the activities of Mr. Barnes while Col. Roosevelt was governor. He mentioned several measures opposed by Mr. Barnes. He also discussed the New York state insurance investigation and a statement he accredited to Mr. Barnes that he wanted men "who would be mine" in government offices.

In concluding, counsel said:

Great Responsibility.

"A grave and great responsibility is resting upon the jury in this case. The eyes of the state and nation are upon you to see how citizens of old Onondaga look upon an effort to establish clean and efficient government. How they look upon the performance of a duty by a citizen in trying to maintain for the people a government by and for the people. A money verdict on one side or the other is inconsequential as compared with the vital proposition which comes home to every man, woman and child in this state as to whether good government shall exist."

John McGrath, Col. Roosevelt's private secretary, who gave out the offending statement, was called as the first witness.

Mr. McGrath told of giving the statement to newspaper correspondents at Col. Roosevelt's home at Oyster Bay.

Mr. Ivins then read a list of newspapers published in all sections of the United States in which the statement was presented.

GETS VERDICT FOR $30,000

own testimony he had a remarkable series of experiences in the world of wealth and woe. It was then he met Mrs. Ida McNabb and signed the contract to marry her.

His children, fearful lest he impair their inheritance, hurried Miss Harriet Freeby, who had been the instructor in a Washington school of the old man's daughter, Adelia from the capital to their northern Michigan home and, with her help, compiled a letter which they induced "pop" to copy, sign and send to Mrs. McNabb, breaking off the engagement.

Next the "old man" consented to turn over all his property to his eldest son and his daughter, Adelia, as trustees. And, to crown the exciting events of the year, he was then bustled out of Michigan and has never set foot on Wolverine soil since.

Pert Witness.

All speculation as to the defendant's mental condition was ended by his nimble performances on the witness stand. He was the pertest, pepperiest old party in whose behalf "dotage" and "doddering senility" has ever been urged by a defending attorney.

And he weakened his other line of defense, too. When asked how he came to learn of the stories prejudicial to Mrs. McNabb's character, he said he had gone to Mr. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church, to tell him of his intended marriage.

"Mr. Scott asked the name of the lady. When I told him it was Mrs. McNabb he shook his head and told me she was not a fit woman for me to take into my home."

It was a genuine human interest story the old man told of his rise from hard-grubbing farming to opulence.

Cleaned Land.

Taking up a section of northern Michigan land many years ago he told how he cleared off the timber with his own hands and the help of his sons—and how his wife, long since dead, had tended children and helped in the farm work. How in winter he had trudged on foot through the deep snow four miles to town and back, lugging heavy sacks of provisions.

Then came the discovery of ore, the scramble of mining companies to purchase the mining rights—and at last how he did no more work on the old place except to attend to the flower garden—in which he was trimming rose bushes when Mrs. McNabb came along to be introduced by a mutual friend.

The widow was alleged by Kinney to have done all the courting. He said she was "alfired anxious to get the marriage contract signed," "Almighty eager to get an engagement ring on her finger," "In a perfect stew to get the wedding ceremony performed and over with."

"Scheming Woman."

"She was a scheming woman," he said. "She was a Baptist, but when she got to my house and found my daughter was a Christian Scientist, she turned Christian Scientist."

"Well, Mr. Kinney, isn't it true that you, too, have switched religions?" gently asked Charles Cochems.

"Naw, what are you asking such nonsense questions as that for?" sputtered the rolled old man. "I'll tell how that was—it was different. You see I was Baptist and there wasn't any Baptist church handy. So I went to the Presbyterian and said to the minister: 'I'll join your church with the privilege of changing back again if a Baptist church comes along.'"

When order was restored Kinney, red with rage, queried:

"Hasn't a man the right to change his mind? You bet he has. Didn't Teddy Roosevelt change his? He said he wasn't going to run for the presidency again, but he did, didn't he?"

ACTIVITY OF BRITISH ARMY IN FLANDERS

yesterday witnessed isolated, but spirited, artillery exchanges. A French attack near Flirey broke down. Near Croix-des-Carmes German troops entered the main position of the enemy to the west of Ayrecourt and stormed and reoccupied the village of Embermenil.

"In the Vosges a French attack on Schillecker heights resulted in failure, while the German advance on Hartman Weilerkopf gained about 1,200 yards.

"On the eastern front the situation remains unchanged."

French Statement.

Paris, April 20, via London, 2 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities, which reads:

"There have been particularly spirited artillery exchanges in the region of Soissons and in the sectors of Reims and the Argonnes; otherwise there is no news to give out."

The following official statement was issued by the war office last night:

"At 3:30 o'clock this morning, a German counter-attack at Les Epargos was completely repulsed. In the Montmare wood an infantry action without appreciable result on either side, occurred. In the region of Regnieville there was a somewhat violent artillery duel in which we gained a clear advantage.

"In the Vosges our attacks carried out on both banks of the Fecht river, resulted in a further advance by forcing the enemy to evacuate precipitately Ezlbrucke, above Metzeral, where he abandoned a large amount of material.

"The French aviator, Lieut. Garros, was forced to alight at Ingelmuster, about seven miles north of Courtrai, yesterday evening, and was taken prisoner."

Report By Turks.

Constantinople, April 20, via London.—The attack of a Turkish torpedo boat on the British transport Manitou off the coast of Chios last Saturday, and the subsequent destruction of the torpedo boat, were reported in an official statement issued today at the war office here. The statement follows:

"A Turkish torpedo boat on April 17 successfully attacked the British transport Manitou in the Aegean sea. The torpedo boat was pursued by British cruisers and destroyers to Chios, where the crew blew up the vessel in order that it might not fall into the enemy's hands."

London reports of April 17 and 18 said that the Turkish warship which attacked the Manitou was driven ashore and destroyed by British vessels.

warns against haste in developing the various accessories of the university.

Sororities and Fraternities.

"A statement was made before our committee," the report says, "in reference to sororities and fraternities; that these organizations were open to inspection by the university authorities and that many members of the faculty are honorary members and exert a salutary influence on the present active membership of the same. At some future time we would recommend a more thorough investigation of this phase of college life and, if evils do exist, further and more decisive efforts should be made to eradicate them.

"As a finale to this report, your committee is of the opinion that a further too rapid growth of the university and a further too broad extension of its activities should be guarded against. We believe that bone and sinew should be developed and a hardening process be experienced before further extension is thought of.

Must Work Out Problem.

"The university must work out its own problem, but it must take care that its efforts and energies are devoted to the building of men and women first and directing their energies towards trades and occupations last. That criticisms exist against the university there is no doubt, a statement which can be made against each and every state institution. It is probably true that the greatest efficiency is not exercised in all of its departments, and it is equally true of all public institutions of which we have any knowledge. The committee recommends rigid economy limited only by an injury to efficiency."

Some of the principal items in the bill are as follows: Widening, deepening and strengthening Roseau river, $50,000; Wing river and Wing river ditch, Todd county, $25,000; Minnesota river in Browns Valley, $10,000; San Hill river state ditch, Polk county, $20,000; Nordick state ditch, Wilkin county, $33,868. Most of the items are small claims against the state, almost every one of which was the subject of extended debate, and some of which were stricken out.

Per Capita Limit Bill.

An attempt will be made tonight to pass under suspension of the rules the senate bill limiting the levies of villages and small cities to $25 per capita. The filibuster, which has been aimed mainly against the bill, has been so thorough that unless eighty-seven votes can be secured tonight to suspend the rules there is small prospect that it will be reached, though a check of the house shows that its passage is certain if it can be reached.

The chance to bring the bill up tonight was created this morning, when after a fight the house voted to meet at 8 o'clock to take up motions and resolutions. The filibusters opposed this motion, as they have been opposing for a week any attempt to reach the calendar or motions and resolutions, but many members have bills they wish taken up, and the motion prevailed.

Courthouse at Hibbing.

Just before noon Senator Healy of Hibbig attempted to bring about the passage under suspension of the rules the Scott bill compelling St. Louis county to build a third courthouse at Hibbing. Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth opposed the motion, saying there was plenty of time to reach the bill in regular order. It was on general orders. Mr. Healy said court is now being held in the village hall at Hibbing, and that Hibbing is as important as Virginia and as much entitled to a courthouse.

Mr. Adams said it was true that court is held in the village hall, but it was also true that the Hibbing village hall is finer than most courthouses in the state. Besides the village has already let contracts for a new courthouse of its own, if it has not begun construction. Mr. Healy denied this. Mr. Adams having demanded a roll call on the motion, which required a two-thirds vote, Mr. Healy demanded a call of the house, which was in progress early this afternoon.

Jitney Bill Laid Over.

An attempt to pass the senate bill regulating jitneys in Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis was made in the house last night, but it failed. Vigorous opposition came from Representatives Ribenack and Bernard of Duluth and McGrath of St. Paul. Mr. McGrath offered an amendment exempting St. Paul and Duluth from the operation of the bill, but no action was taken on it. The bill was saved from defeat by being laid over, and with the rest of the Twin City bills was placed at the foot of the calendar.

Veto by the Governor.

Governor Hammond made his first veto this morning, rejecting the Wilkins-Sudheimer bill which would have allowed veterans of the Philippine war to become veterinarians without taking an examination. Governor Hammond characterized this as "clearly legislation in the interests of a few individuals and a complete repudiation of the safeguards which prevent unqualified persons from practicing."

By a vote of 35 to 26, the senate this morning recalled from the committee on cities the house bill repealing the Minneapolis civil service law. An attempt to make a special order for tomorrow on the bill failed, and it went to general orders.

The senate passed the Bjornson bill amending the presidential preference primary law to eliminate payment of expenses of delegates to national conventions, and the Nimocks bill requiring those who contest legislative seats to file bonds to cover expenses, including attorneys fees.

time, the strength of the vote for the appropriation was a surprise.

Educational Appropriations.

The house took up the entire afternoon on the educational appropriation bill, the filibuster continuing. Roll calls were strung out as long as possible, and demanded on every proposition by those interested in killing time. Plenty of time was consumed, however, by those who had utterly no thought of filibustering, but who had very positive ideas on the subjects they were discussing.

In the end, the university budget was left unchanged. Even the $25,000 taken from the maintenance fund in the forenoon was restored in the afternoon.

Representative Malmberg's motion to strike out the item of $20,000 a year for scientific apparatus was lost, as was Representative Bjornson's motion to reduce it to $15,000.

The agricultural college did not fare so well. The farmers in the house, and those representing agricultural communities, attacked it savagely, and made some reductions in its allowances.

The bill allowed $50,000 for extension work in 1916 and $40,000 in 1917, but an amendment offered by Representative Bjornson cut these to $30,000 and $25,000 respectively, though Representative Swenson said that if it were not for the work of the extension bureaus many farmers in the house would not be making a decent living.

No Cut in Experiment Work.

Representative A. F. Teigen wanted to cut in two the appropriation of $50,000 for experiment work, but his amendment was lost. Representative Wefald wanted to amend this item so that no money could be spent for marketing investigations, but Representative Bjornson opposed this, and it was lost.

Representative Fred Bessette of Orr tried to insert an item appropriating $10,000 for a soil survey under the provisions of the forestry amendment adopted last fall, but he got only twenty-four votes for his amendment. However, the house refused to adopt Representative Anderson's amendment reducing the allowance for forestry experiments from $15,500 a year to $10,000 a year.

The appropriations for the Morris agricultural school also were cut. On motion of Representative Frye the maintenance fund was reduced from $34,600 to $25,000, and on motion of Representative Warner one of the proposed new cottages was cut out, leaving but one.

On motion of Representative Davis, a provision authorizing the board of regents to use the maintenance fund for any purpose connected with the university and college of agriculture was stricken out.

Aid to Schools Increased.

The state aid to public schools, on motion of Representative Christianson, was increased from $1,800,000 a year to $2,234,000 for 1916 and $2,468,000 for 1917.

The bill was then passed.

The senate, earlier in the afternoon, had passed the house departmental appropriations bill—that is, it had passed a bill with the number and title of the house bill. However, what was done was that the provisions of the senate bill were attached to the house bill. When it was returned to the house last evening the house refused to concur in the senate amendments, which sent the bill to conference.

The senate yesterday afternoon, on motion of Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth, passed his bill allowing Duluth to condemn lake front shore rights for park purposes. An attempt will be made to pass the bill through the house, though in the congested condition prevailing in that body the chance of doing so seems slight.

The special order for last night in the senate on the bill prohibiting the university from affiliating with the Mayo foundation was continued to this afternoon.

OUSTING OF NINE MEMBERS ADVISED

Albany, N. Y., April 20.—Republican members of the Thompson legislative investigating committee today reported their belief that all of the nine Democratic members of the two New York public service commissions should be ousted.

Nevertheless the report said the committee would make no positve recommendations for the removal of Commissioners McCall, Wood, Williams and Cram of the New York city board. It is the committee's desire, the report continued, to permit the governor to exercise his own judgment in these cases. These are the four commissioners against whom charges were brought a month ago. Prior to today the governor had received no official criticism of the up-state commission.

ENDED LIFE WHILE TEMPORARILY INSANE.

London, April 20.—A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was handed down today after an inquest into the circumstances of the death of Baron Herbert de Reuter, managing director of Reuter's Telegram company, who was found dead April 18 at his home in Surrey.

Baron de Reuter was prostrated by the death of his wife five days ago. A discharged revolver was found near his body.

THIS IS LAST DAY FOR AUSTRIAN PROPOSALS.

Paris, April 20.—Italy some time ago fixed April 20 (today) as the latest date for the consideration of any proposals Austria might wish to make, according to a report current in Rome, says a dispatch from the Figaro's correspondent. Baron de Macchio, the Austrian ambassador, already has given notice to embassy servants who now are paid daily, it is said, and the same is true of the payment of tradesmen's bills for goods supplied the embassy.

The Figaro's dispatch states it is stated in Vatican circles that the visit made to the pope a few days ago by Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, was to bid farewell to the pontiff as the diplomat believes his departure from Rome is imminent.

Make "Benetol" a part of your regular morning toilet. Just a few drops in a glass of water. Rinse the "morning taste" out with it—gargle with it, drink a swallow or two, wash your teeth with it, and use it as a nasal cleanser.

A "Benetol" Gargle Will Take Away that "Morning Taste" and Leave Your Breath, Stomach and Disposition Sweet.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

says, "Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood." This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood would only rely, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs,—to restore the system to a normal healthy condition, it would cause many ills from which they suffer to disappear, so that motherhood might become the joy of their lives.

ACTIVE CONTEST FOR D. A. R. OFFICE

Mrs. Story of New York and Mrs. Guernsey of Kansas Close Competitors for President-General; Wilson Urges Calmness and Self-Possession in Convention Address; Noted Speakers on Program.

Washington, April 20.—With the election of officers only one day removed, the contest between Mrs. William Cumming Story of New York and Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey of Kansas, for president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, took on renewed vigor today.

The need of self-possession, calmness and a judicial temperament on the part of the United States in the present world crisis, was urged yesterday by President Wilson in a speech before the opening session. The president said self-possession was the supreme test of a nation's mettle, and urged the congress to rally to the cause of righteousness, as ministered by those who hold their minds quiet and judge upon principle.

Following the president's speech, Ambassador Jusserand of France told the congress that the United States had behaved in the European crisis in such a way as to command the gratitude and thankfulness of the world. "We in France," he said, "have learned to know what the American heart is made of—the pure American gold that is in it. I am glad that I may affirm the thanks of France for the generosity of America."

The president in his speech said that he could speak only in general terms, and that it was "indiscreet" for him to speak even in that way.

Other Speakers.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, R. C. B. Thurston, president general of the Sons of the Revolution, and John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union, also addressed yesterday's meetings of the congress. The routine organization of the congress was completed and the rival followers of the two candidates for president-general of the society, were busy preparing for the election tomorrow. Mrs. William Cumming Story, who presided at yesterday's session, will be a candidate for re-election, and she will be opposed by Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey of Kansas.

The president's address in part, follows:

"In these times when unusual things are happening and there are many queries as to the future, I suppose that these associations whose business it is to commemorate the past must be asking themselves what part they have in the future. Our business, of course, is not merely one of recollection, of remembering and reverencing the traditions of the country that we love. There is no dignity in a tradition which has lost its practical energy, and our interest in traditions is that they should bear fruit again in the present, and a still richer fruitage in the future.

Supreme Test.

"There are many tests by which a nation makes proof of its greatness, but it seems to me the supreme test is self-possession, the power to resist excitement, to think calmly, to think in moments of difficulty as clearly as it would think in moments of ease—to be absolutely master of itself and of its fortunes.

"I cannot speak, ladies, as you know, in more than general terms. Indeed, it is indiscreet for me to speak at all. But I can ask you to rally to the cause which is dearer in my estimation than any other cause, and that is the cause of righteousness as ministered to by those who hold their minds quiet and judge according to principle. We must preserve the judicial temperament, not because we would sit in judgment upon others, but because we should ultimately wish to be justified by our own conscience, and by the standards of our own national life. Do you wonder that, hoping for such things and expecting such things from bodies of people like this, I should be glad to come and greet you; that I should esteem it an honor to say that I hope I shall have some part in the great things that you are trying to do, and to create in the field of the national spirit."

MRS. WILLIAM CUMMING STORY.

WILL DECIDE ON ORCHESTRA PROGRAMS NEXT SATURDAY

At a meeting to be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. L. Schmied, a final decision on the programs to be played by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at its June concerts here, is likely to be made.

Each member of the program committee has been asked to prepare a list of selections to be submitted to Mrs. Schmied before Saturday, and any suggestions from others not on the committee will also be welcomed. The only requirement is that the numbers be chosen from the list published in The Herald last Saturday. Three symphonies must be chosen; two or three overtures; three symphonic poems, and some miscellaneous numbers.

The symphonies, overtures and symphonic poems offered, are:

Symphonies.

FAMOUS MASSACHUSETTS PAPER ISSUES SUFFRAGE EDITION

Women of That State Had More Privileges During Colonial Days Than They Have Now.

The Springfield Republican, one of the leading newspapers for almost a century—it was established in 1828—and recognized as one of the most conservative of daily publications, issued a suffrage number April 15. It devoted to suffrage two full pages, besides the front page cartoon and an editorial. The editorial said in part:

"The old patriarchal system is long outgrown. Woman is taking her place as an individual, as a social unit, in a society which needs the co-operation, on terms of essential equality, of all its units. It is directly a movement for woman's emancipation; primarily it is a movement for the freeing of both men and women from the outworn conditions of guardianship and of special privilege."

Mary Otis Warren.

"This paper for a half century has held the position which it holds today. The removal of the sex barrier to the franchise is demanded by the high claim of the state to have the participation of all of its citizens in its conduct, and the freeing of men and women alike from a condition under which one sex is required to interpret, or neglect, the needs of the other or to maintain citizenship relations on terms other than those of frank and acknowledged equality. It is a demand for the enrichment of the life of woman for her own and the common good."

Pioneer in Suffrage.

That the Republican party has not only stood for equal suffrage but has made its stand public is shown by an editorial printed in its edition for Feb. 14, 1870, which it quotes in its editorial for April 15, 1915:

"We hear always of woman's wrongs and abuses, never of her immunities and privileges; and yet the latter are equally the badge of inferiority with the former. It is of as much importance that she should discard the one as that she should be relieved of the other.

"This is simply what the new reform seeks—the opening of all these duties, all this work of life to woman equally with man. It is not simply woman's right to do it, it is her duty. It is man's right, too, to have her share in this aggregation of responsibility that civilization with its master strides has forced upon him. Suffrage is but a token; legal equality but an opportunity; these are the real, actual elements of the woman's movement. It means nothing if it does not mean that she shall take up and perform her share of all this work. Some of it, of course, she cannot do as well as men, others she certainly can do better; but it has become too big, too vast, too delicate, for man alone to perform. * * * In a republic the ballot box stands for position, stands for responsibility, stands for power; and so, rather as a sign than as the thing itself, is it desirable, and is it naturally but in the front of the movement. * * * Out of equality cannot well come evil. It is the parent of harmony, not of discord; it is the friend of love, not of hate; it is the ally of virtue, not of vice; it is the friend of right, not the servant of wrong."

Mary Otis Warren.

It is no difficult matter for Massachusetts men, who will vote the equal suffrage referendum in 1916, and for the Massachusetts women, who are working to have their state represented in white on the suffrage map of the United States, to turn back a few pages of history and read that Mary Otis Warren of the Massachusetts colony was the first person to counsel separation from England. It was she who pressed this view upon John Adams before the opening of the first Continental congress and it was her home in Plymouth that was the favorite resort of patriots and the headquarters of the Revolution. She was the first person to base the struggle of the colonists upon inherent rights, a phase that has become the corner stone of the Woman's movement. Letters show that Jefferson, Dickinson Knox, the Adamses sought her counsel on political matters. Knox wrote her, "I shall be happy to receive your counsel from time to time."

Colonial records show that for nearly a century before the Declaration of Independence and the adoption of the new constitution Massachusetts women had voted with property distinctions under the old province charter.

The first convention in Massachusetts to consider the question of women's rights was held in Worcester in October 1850. Nine states were represented. Among those who attended was John Stewart Mill, who soon became the champion of the woman's cause in England.

Philathea Union Holds Rally.

The Dorcas Junior Philathea class won the pennant for the largest attendance at the second quarterly rally of the Duluth Philathea union that was held last evening at the First Presbyterian church.

Frank Crassweller, who was on the program, said: "Women are going to vote. It is necessary for them to take the responsibility of the vote home in order to be prepared for it. Women in public life will mean cleaner, better government.

Dr. C. M. Wilson, who organized the first Philathea class in Minnesota eight years ago, led in prayer. Miss Ruth Osborne and Will Hancock gave vocal numbers, with Louise Murchison as accompanist and Mrs. Judson Clark gave several readings.

The hostesses were members of the Philathea classes of Lakeside Presbyterian church, First Baptist church and First Presbyterian church.

INDIAN PRESBYTERY.

Unique Gathering Just Held on Fort Totten Reservation.

Devils Lake, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A unique Presbyterian gathering has concluded at the Fort Totten Indian reservation, where the Indian presbytery held its annual convocation. Delegates from Montana, Minnesota, South Dakota and North Dakota Indian reservation missions attended.

The Women's Missionary society of the same church presbytery also met in conjunction with the main body, Indian women from the four states being present.

The Presbyterian Indians who attend the annual gathering make a real job it—bringing tents with them and camping during the entire period given over to the meetings.

There are 1,800 Presbyterian Indian communicants. Rev. J. Moffat of New York city, general manager of the Indian work of the church, attended the gathering.

W. U. Rates Not Unreasonable.

Washington, April 20.—The Western Union Telegraph company's standard message rates between New York and San Francisco and its cable rates from New York to points in England were pronounced not unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory today by the interstate commerce commission. The rate to San Francisco was attacked by W. N. White & Co., produce dealers in New York, because of the lower rates for press dispatches.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Clean One Room at a Time.

House-cleaning time has always been bewailed by the spring poet and the cartoonist, but, generally speaking, the custom of turning the whole house topsy-turvy once or twice a year has gone out of fashion and is not countenanced by housewives. The sight of a pretty, peaceful home shorn of its comforts and beauties is too much for the average man, and the contemplation of it, combined with the actual work of cleaning and rearranging it and keeping track of other household duties, quite beyond the endurance of the head of the domestic realm.

Is it not a thousand times easier for the housekeeper to clean one room at a time, and is not cleaning under these rules and regulations as effectual? Carpets can be taken up separately and beaten and cleaned separately with better results, as far as domestic peace and happiness are concerned. You can begin at the top of the house and work down, or at the bottom and work up, or if your home is in an apartment, begin at the front and work toward the rear.

With the help of another strong woman, it should be comparatively easy to thoroughly clean one average-sized room a day and have it in apple-pie order and smelling as sweet and fresh as air and soap and water can make it, before the head of the household returns from his day of toil. In addition there should be a well cooked dinner awaiting those who come from their labors, with no reminders of the difficulties you have been through lying around to suggest the unpleasant topic of spring cleaning. For men do not like to be made aware of it, so what is the use, since it has to be done every now and then, and men can do little to make it less toilsome.

An old lady friend of mine, to whom I was remarking upon the folly of making house-cleaning such a bugaboo, remarked that she did not believe that any woman nowadays lets house-cleaning concern her very much. She, I take it, is of the school that believed in ripping everything to pieces and creating a state of utter desolation. Unless every room in the house was completely upset, she would not consider probably that real house-cleaning was being done.

It is a credit to the women of this generation that so many of them have succeeded in reducing house-cleaning to the least possible disturbance of home and home government. Let the others fall in line.

KEEP WATCH.

Keep watch while you are burning the grass on your lot. There hasn't been any particular danger thus far. The ground has been wet from the melting frost and there has been little tendency for the fires to spread. But now the ground is drying and the grass that is being burned is inflammable clear down to the roots, instead of just in the upper portions.

Brush fires are easy to start, but they are fearful in their possibilities for damage and loss. With the present drying process going on so rapidly it is a very simple matter for a grass fire to ignite brush heaps and other substances. And once such a fire gets a little headway it is almost impossible to save buildings that may be in its path.

Keep watch of these little fires. A trifle of care now may be the means of preventing serious disaster.

THE ISSUE IS CLEAR.

Nothing more calculated to focus the attention of the financial interests of the country has occurred within many years than the action of the Riggs National bank in attacking the acts of the comptroller of the currency.

The Riggs bank officials are seeking to make out a case of martyrdom to the dictates of private pique. But unless reports are wrong, they are carrying their fight far beyond that point, by addressing letters to the national banks throughout the country, in which they solicit support in their fight, and promise, if successful, to establish a precedent and rulings by which the powers of the comptroller shall be decidedly curtailed.

To an outsider it looks as if the Riggs bank officials are going to an unwarranted extreme. They charge personal pique and individual spite in the actions taken regarding their institution by the government officials. If they can prove such motives they will have no trouble in getting the sympathy not only of the bankers of the nation but of the American people. Their case then will appeal to the sense of fair play.

But they have some charges to clear up themselves, and unless they can accomplish that, their contentions as to the character of the acts of treasury department men will only serve to injure the Riggs bank. Is it true that the bank has been in the habit of lending big sums on insufficient security? Is it true that it has been in the habit of lending big sums on "dummy" notes? Those are the charges made by government officials, and unless the Riggs bank can disprove them, the public, and the American bankers, too, will see no reason to criticize the government officials for bringing the bank to time.

It is not at all certain that it would be wise to have the powers of the comptroller and other treasury department officials curtailed. In cases of the handling of stocks or bonds or real estate or even personal property, in the ordinary sense of that term, a day or a week of delay may make little difference in the prevention of fraud, and there is always the property itself to be identified and restored. But in the case of money there is no such leeway possible.

Further, the banking business is peculiarly one of trust and confidence, and it is to the advantage not only of its patrons, but of those who engage in it, that it be surrounded with the strictest and most readily applicable of safeguards. Not that all bankers are frauds, but there have been instances of fraud, and anything that ensures public confidence is to the interest of the thousands of honest bankers.

By that same token, anything that would serve to impair such confidence would operate to the detriment of the banks and their patrons, and for that reason it looks like a very poor policy for an institution already under charges of misconduct to be advocating a reduction of the powers of the government in the supervision of banks.

As to the Riggs bank case, the issue is not as to the powers or rights of the comptroller, but as to the conduct of the bank itself. Until that issue is solved, the Riggs officials should not expect unqualified support from any source in such a campaign as this one to curtail the power of the government in safeguarding commercial and other financial operations.

There is a natural curiosity as to what Roosevelt will say about Barnes if Barnes loses the suit.

A PARABLE.

Once upon a time there was a boy who was severely addicted to procrastination. He lived up to the motto, "Whatsoever your hand finds to do, do it some other time." He was a most persistent lad in this respect. He had unlimited confidence in the abundance of the future.

One day this boy found himself confronted with a pile of wood that had to be sawed, and he was told that it was up to him to saw it. He looked at the wood for a long time and figured out how many sticks he could saw in a day and what the daily average would have to be to finish the pile before it was time to adjourn and go home.

He got so interested in this—and other things—that he didn't even get started on his sawing for four or five days, and by that time his figures were all wrong. But he said that was all right—some day he would sit down and figure it out again.

Meantime he didn't know how many sticks he'd have to saw every day to catch up, so some days he sawed several, and other days he didn't saw any. He didn't mean any harm by it; it was just his way.

One day somebody said to the boy: "In seven days more you must have that wood all sawed."

"What?" the boy exclaimed; "In seven days?"

"In seven days," said somebody.

"In seven days," repeated the boy.

So the boy immediately set to work to figure out how many sticks that would mean every day of the seven, and he spent the first day on that problem. The second day he started to work on the wood, and every time he finished sawing a stick he would stop and pat himself on the back and say, "I did that in fine shape. If I'd done like that all the time since I first saw this woodpile it would be all gone by now." Which was absolutely true, but didn't alter the fact that he hadn't done that way ever since he saw the woodpile.

Just at present the boy still is facing the woodpile, and still is sawing; and he's sawing harder now than he ever did before, trying to make up for what he didn't do earlier in the session. But even at that it is very evident that there will be some sticks in the pile that he'll never even touch.

Isn't he a foolish boy?

Will somebody please recall the earliest date on which the fog horn has been known to blow?

A GOOD BEGINNING.

The newly-organized city commission made a good start by electing Henry F. Greene to be city attorney. There is no one in Duluth better qualified for this important position. The re-election of J. Allyn Scott as assessor means the retention in office of a splendid public official, and it would be unfortunate if a proposed reduction of salary should result in his resignation. Walter Borgen, who was chosen city clerk to succeed C. S. Palmer, is said to be well equipped for the office. B. J. Campbell, who has made good as auditor, has been retained.

The only changes in the departments were made by Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell, and they were already foreshadowed. Mr. Silberstein announced the appointment of Dr. E. W. Fahey as director of public health, and everyone will concede that the choice is an excellent one. He has done well to keep Chief Joseph Randall at the head of the fire department and though no appointment as chief of police was made, Chief Troyer remains in office and no doubt Mr. Silberstein will find it good policy to retain him permanently. Lyonel Ayres, who has an excellent reputation in engineering circles, was appointed by Commissioner Farrell as city engineer, and he also named F. E. Culver as his secretary and James T. Lawson as superintendent of maintenance.

The Basis of Prosperity

Editorial in the Chicago Journal.

Even on the surface, the report of bank examiners on business conditions is most encouraging. But to get the full force of that report, one must consider it in relation to recent history.

A little over eight months ago, half the world suddenly plunged into war. Credit, as an international commodity, ceased to exist; foreign customers quit buying; for weeks merchant shipping almost vanished from the seas. Securities, native and European, were dumped in carloads on the American market in a wild scramble for gold. The whole commercial life of the nation stopped, as a ship might stop on hitting a continent.

And still there was no panic. There was depression, which, according to the bank examiners, has pretty well disappeared; but of panic such as that which Roosevelt and Wall Street conjured out of a clear sky in a time of profound peace in 1907 there was not even a trace. In 1907, every bank in the United States suspended cash payment, and resorted to cashiers' checks. In 1914, every bank stood fast. An onslaught of disaster as crushing in its way as the German attack on Belgium was beaten at the very border, when only seven years before a purely artificial panic swept from coast to coast.

The difference between 1907 and 1914 is due to two things. In the earlier year, the president of the United States was a recklessly valiant shouter, but a timid and feeble doer; and the currency system of the land—which that president never tried to change—was antiquated and absurd. In 1914, the country had a man in the White House whose brain and nerve are unrivaled since the days of Lincoln; and—thanks to that man, Woodrow Wilson—the currency system of this country had been remodeled and made equal to any demands upon it.

There is the big fact that must never be lost to sight. The United States was saved from the most crushing panic in its history eight months ago and is entering on a period of high prosperity now because of the genius, the sanity, the foresight, the patience, the cautious but unshrinking firmness of President Wilson, and the loyalty with which the Democratic party has supported its great leader.

No president since Lincoln has been confronted with such trials; none since Lincoln has rendered such services. Every bank standing firm in the world crash, every factory reopening, every new dinner pail carried to work is a tribute and a testimony to the statesmanship of Woodrow Wilson.

Recurring Fashion

Philadelphia Ledger: The cycle of clothes completes itself with a regularity almost as unvarying as that of the seasons; but it takes years instead of months for the old fashions to recur. When Nature made a rose she looked upon it and pronounced it good. She reproduces it year after year in unvarying fashion, but man is not content with the cut of his coat for two seasons in succession. This is why it takes so long for the old fashions to reappear. They have to be forgotten by the mass before they can come back, even in a form at all suggestive of their first estate.

Let us take the cutaway coat as a type. Twenty-five or thirty years ago every young man owned one. It was usually made of diagonal worsted and the edges were bound with braid. The length of the tails and the number of buttons varied from season to season, but the general style of the coat was unchanged for several years. Then it disappeared, though hot-house specimens were occasionally seen. And the fashion of binding men's coats with braid went with it. But a year or two ago the cutaway coat came back. The early examples were rare as the first flowers of spring that show themselves when the sun begins to warm the sheltered places. But this year we are told that every man who wishes to be well dressed must have one, and they are all braid-bound, after the manner of their predecessors of the last century. The cycle has completed itself. Next season we may expect the skin-tight trousers to appear, for they completed the costume of the man of fashion in that far-off time when the newly recurring styles last prevailed, and when the dandy, once known as a fop and earlier called a beau, was characterized as a "dude."

Railroad Bought for $1.

Kansas City Star: Here's how the Kansas Southwestern railroad, sixty miles long, between Arkansas City and Caldwell, Kan., was sold a few months ago for $1.

The road was owned jointly by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the St. Louis & San Francisco railroads. It was badly involved and in a poor physical condition. The Kansas state public utilities commission had just issued an order that $150,000 should be spent to put it in better condition.

E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, and W. B. Biddle, one of the three receivers for the Frisco, met to talk over what was to be done about the commission's new order.

"How would you like to buy the road?" Mr. Biddle asked.

"I'll name a price, give or take," Mr. Ripley said.

"Go ahead," the Frisco receiver said.

"One dollar," Mr. Ripley responded.

"I'll take it," Mr. Biddle snapped.

And that's the way the Santa Fe acquired full title to the ownership of the branch road. The story came out when a Santa Fe official told it at the John W. Weeks luncheon.

"Honor" in Women.

To the Editor of the New York Evening Post:

Sir—It has long been an accepted truism that women, in the mass, are utterly destitute of a sense of honor, as men understand the term. Your columns Saturday night afford an illuminating example of this lack of an honorable sense, in the letter of "Aunt Kate," in which the late Joseph Fels was ridiculed, tanned and slandered. The quality of "honor" which obtains in women is aptly revealed. This appetizing lady's sense of decency permits her, from the shelter of a pseudonym, to abuse by name a man whose integrity and sincerity were beyond question—and a man now dead, at that!

If any of your readers is in doubt about the nature of the impulses which move our publicity-seeking women, let him turn to your issue of Saturday night and read the letter I have cited.

A Moabitish Liaison

By Sarovard.

Washington, April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a circumstantial narrative it is told in the Washington Star with an abundance of naivete that the G. O. P. is plowing with the Progressive heifer. Correspondence has been had between some of the leaders and the Colonel, and it is agreed that the latter shall be invited to sift and winnow the score or so of candidates for the Republican nomination for president in 1916 and whom he rejects is to be remorselessly thrown into outer political darkness as a miserable "also ran." It is not exactly a political popedom that is to be set up to be occupied and administered by the Colonel, but a sort of Neroism—when he turns up or down a thumb the fate of an ever loyal one is decided. Thus he has already determined, according to the Washington Star, to send William H. Taft to the slaughter. He draws the line on Taft.

The Star continues that the Moabitish political liaison between the Colonel and the magnates has gone far and that Roosevelt has judged Weeks, Hughes, Herrick, Mann, Root, Knox, Borah, Cummins and Fairbanks and that he will not seriously oppose any one of them. That sounds mighty like a cock and bull story to me. According to my estimate of the man, Theodore Roosevelt will oppose and combat the ambition of every man to be president of the United States except Theodore Roosevelt, who is his first choice, and he has no second choice.

The Star is an inveterate standpatter, but it appears to be delighted with the selection of the Colonel to be the Nero to judge the gladiatorial combats in the bloody arena that are to be pulled off on the Republican side of the hedge in 1916. Mention is made of the platform, and the only plank discussed is that relating to armament. The Star says:

"The statement is made by those in the Colonel's confidence that he is as deeply interested in the question of the platform and policy as the candidacy. Col. Roosevelt is declared to be especially and most ardently in favor of a strong and militant policy of national defense, of an effective naval establishment and the upbuilding of the army."

That is to say, our peaceful, and in main bucolic republic is to recruit a great standing army and construct an imperial navy. That is to be the paramount, for all the other problems appear to be too insignificant and too trivial for the Star to mention.

Very well. If militarism is to be the chief issue there are but two men on the carpet fit to lead the affirmative side of it—Col. Roosevelt and Capt. Hobson. But for the good sense of the Baltimore convention and the good genie of the American people Theodore Roosevelt would have been inaugurated president in 1913, which would have meant instant war with Mexico. By August, 1914, the Colonel would have had a large, a veteran and a victorious army under his command, and we are not left to conjecture as to what he would have done with it. He says himself that he would have challenged Germany in behalf of Belgium. It is true that only congress has the authority to declare war, but a reckless president can easily create a lot of circumstances that would make war inevitable.

If Roosevelt is to be the judge of men and the party eliminate all to whom he objects, it follows that he will be a hand-and-a-half when it comes to building the platform. In 1912 the Roosevelt idea was as far from the standpat idea as the East is from the West. There never was an hour of their entire rivalry that Gen. Jackson and Henry Clay were as little in accord as were the standpatters and the Progressives of three years ago. If the G. O. P. is to reannex the Colonel, will it take his belongings? What is to become of the initiative and referendum? How about the recall of judges and popular review of judicial opinions? The Colonel has not surrendered these dogmas, or, if he has, he has kept it a secret. Will the Colonel swallow the G. O. P., or will the G. O. P. swallow the Colonel?

Some three score years agone Esquire David Philpott was the landlord of the best tavern in Kentucky—which is to say the best tavern in the world—down in Pennyrile. Late one afternoon there came a stranger that way traveling on horseback. Squire Philpott was a most genial and hospitable man and sought to make his guest comfortable. Before and after supper he several times attempted to engage the stranger in conversation, but the latter, while not surly, was exceedingly taciturn. Finally, about 9 o'clock, the guest aroused himself and was delivered of this narrative:

"Landlord, as I entered your village just this side of the swamp on the west my eyes were greeted by a phenomenon remarkable and startling. I discovered two snakes, each about as long as my arms, and each had the tail of the other in its mouth. Round and round, round and round they went, and ultimately, after half an hour—landlord, I'm damned if each didn't swallow the other and both entirely vanished."

The stranger sank back in his chair in somewhat moody temper, not inviting to discussion. The 'Squire called for his factotum, a young fellow of 18, and ordered:

"Dick, when the gentleman is ready to retire, light him to his room," and off he trotted to his own couch.

If the Colonel and the G. O. P. will only engage in a swallowing bout, resulting as did that between those snakes down by the Lick Swamp, near the village of La Fayette, Barren county, Ky., in 1855, it would be a blessing to mankind, an infinite mercy for which all true patriots would thank the Giver of all good.

There is a mighty attempt to do some wonderful swallowing. No doubt of that. Let us hope that it will not be incomplete.

A Greek Tradition.

Letter to New York Times: There is a tradition sometimes quoted among the Greeks of today which has an added interest by reason of recent events in the Dardanelles. I heard it twenty years ago in the vicinity of Thermopylae, but it is supposed to have originated centuries ago, or soon after the Turkish power was established in Europe. It is to the effect that "when a Constantine and Sophia shall occupy the throne of Greece then the Turk shall be driven from the imperial city of the Greeks and the cross shall replace the crescent on the dome of the patriarchal church of St. Sophia."

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From diary:

Western people are an accommodating lot. In San Diego one day I stopped a man to inquire a street number. He began to tell me how to get there, but his directions became so complicated that he saw I would never be able to figure it all out. So he said he would just go with me. I don't know how much business he was obliged to shirk in order to steer me aright, but he persisted in walking with me to within half a block of my destination.

The most accommodating person I have met, though, was a traffic policeman in Los Angeles. I paused in crossing the street to ask him what car to take to find a certain street number.

He gazed off into space, thinking intently, and remarked: "Let me see." Then he took a little book out of his pocket and began to thumb the pages. It took him a good while to find the page he was hunting, and traffic began to pile up waiting for his whistle.

"I thought it was right here in the front of the book," said the cop, as he wet his index finger and started through the pages again. Meanwhile automobiles, trucks and wagons seemed to be coming from every direction with all possible haste to join in the blockade. No matter where I looked, I saw nothing but vehicles.

"Maybe you'd better let a few of these automobiles pass," I suggested, for a number of able-bodied chauffeurs were giving me savage looks.

"Oh, I'll find it in just a second," replied the accommodating cop. He did not intend to delay giving information to a stranger within his gates simply because a street or two was getting blockaded.

Feeling that I was the real cause of the traffic tie-up, I could not help surveying what I had done with a sense of pardonable pride. For nearly two blocks in four directions not a wheel was turning. Everybody was waiting on me to finish my talk with the traffic cop. My bosom swelled. 'Twas indeed one of the big moments of my life. After proudly staring at my work for a brief space I decided to let traffic resume, so I patted the policeman soothingly on the shoulder, said to him: "I guess I can find it," and dashed tokard the curb.

As I looked back I saw him putting away his little book with a hurt expression on his face because I had not waited any longer. But a moment later he gave his signal, and soon Los Angeles traffic had once more regained its normal ebb and flow.

To one who has just finished paying a $75 coal bill it was a real adventure to hear this story about the fuel problem that confronted a Los Angeles man who moved there last fall from the East.

"I was assured," he related, "that I would not need more than a ton of coal, if that much. After I had bought my coal for the furnace I began to think about the item of kindling wood. I went to the fuel place where I had bought the coal, but they told me they did not handle kindling. And they could not say offhand who did handle it. I looked about, but for the life of me I was not able to find anybody who sold kindling. As I stood on the corner in front of a grocery wondering what to do, I glanced in a window and saw a display of old-fashioned wooden clothes-pins. That gave me an idea. I went in and asked the man what he would take for a bushel of clothes-pins. He quoted me a price that seemed fairly reasonable and I bought them for my wood box. They proved to be a cheap and satisfactory form of kindling and, supplemented by Sunday supplements, lasted me all winter. I have a few of them yet."

Making the Hen Nervous.

Kennebec Journal: At last! The sitting hen problem has been solved. You may set a hen, if you wish, but the hen that wishes to sit may be made to go about her business without resort to strong arm methods. A writer who wins a prize in a Farm and Fireside contest, has come to the relief of humanity. His (or maybe it is her) letter follows:

"Using incubators to hatch all my chicks, I was confronted every year by the problem of breaking up broody hens, especially since I am keeping the heavy breeds. I had been unable to break them up quickly and satisfactorily until last spring, when I tried the following method with the best of results: As soon as a hen wants to hatch I take an old watch which has a loud tick and put it in the nest under the hen. She will at once become nervous, and will stay on a nest only a few days at the most."

As there are more old watches than good laying hens in most communities, this writer is a public benefactor. So far as our hennery is concerned, we know where Big Ben sleeps tonight—and with all alarm attachments cocked and primed.

Ely Miner: Several goody-goody people are getting all fussed up over the ten-round boxing bill now before the legislature. The bill has for its object allowing scientific boxing matches throughout the state. These same people will chortle with glee over a football struggle where gouging, kicking and everything else is resorted to in the effort to win. Boxing is a manly pastime that tends to up-build character and the art of taking care of yourself in young men. The man who can take care of himself is usually the last man to pick a fight.

In a Hard Way.

Elk River Star-News: Republican learers are trying to find a candidate for president who will be able to harmonize the party, but up to date have not found the man. Most of those who have been mentioned shy at the proposition, while those who are eager to take chances hardly meet the conditions.

All Brain, No Heart.

Luverne Journal: A mild-sized boom has been started for Elihu Root for president. Mr. Root is generally regarded as the biggest-brained man in public life. But he is all brain and not much heart. And what heart he has does not beat in unison with the common people. He has used that wonderful noodle of his to think up arguments to defeat measures designed to promote the common welfare. His famous brain would be an asset to Uncle Sam, with its possessor perched up in the presidential chair. But about 'steen million people, along about election day, would be afraid his head would work from the dictates of a heart that beats too often in time with "Big Business." The United States would like to use this marvelous brain of Elihu Root's, but it won't chance it if some man with a big beart rises to oppose him.

Topsy Turvy.

Redwood Gazette: A public speaker says women are now wearing their gowns upside down. So we presume the decolletteness of the former gown is to be blamed for the present briefness of skirts.

Not Half Bad.

Madison Independent-Press: Roosevelt is credited with having said that he would support any man nominated by the Republicans except Taft. It is more than likely Taft would say "the pleasure is mutual, Theodore." Meantime La Follette says the work ahead is no job for a Bull Moose; that what is needed is a man of honest business and moral integrity. So there you have it. Result: The re-election of Wilson—and that will not be half bad.

Not Unnatural Deduction.

North Branch Review: Some men have such a penchant for butting into other people's business that one is almost led to believe that man sprang from the goat instead of the monkey.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

We scatter seeds with careless hand
And dream we ne'er shall see them more,
But for a thousand years
Their fruit appears,
In weeds that mar the land
Or helpful store.

The deeds we do, the words we say,
Into still air they seem to fleet;
We count them ever past,
But they shall last
To the dread judgment day,
And we shall meet.

I charge thee by the years gone by,
For the love's sake of brethren dear,
Keep thou the one true way,
In work and play.
Lest in that world their cry
Or woe thou hear.

My Father is greater than I.—John xiv, 28.

These words must be understood as referring to the position of the Son at the time when they were spoken. The superior greatness of the Father lies in His relation to the Son as incarnate and not yet glorified.

In the same chapter we read of Philip saying unto Him, "Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us. Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known Me, Philip? He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?" etc. (John xiv, 8-11.)

This saying of the Lord Jesus, it has been well said, 'assumes in Him who uttered it the most vivid consciousness of His participation in the Divine Nature." * * * "So far as it was fit that the Son should be incarnate and suffer, and not the Father, it is possible for us to understand that the Father is greater than the Son as Son, in Person, but not in Essence." (Speaker's Commentary.)

Voting in School Houses.

Chicago News: At yesterday's election the polling places in a number of voting precincts were situated in public school buildings—in most instances in the basements of those buildings. To some extent other city buildings were utilized, such as fire stations and pumping stations.

The use of public structures in this manner is of recent origin in Chicago. It should be continued and extended. Public property should be utilized as extensively as possible for public purposes. Wherever a school building can be made to serve as a polling place it should be so used, instead of cramped quarters being rented in some cigar store, barber shop or real estate office.

Utilization of public buildings for public purposes is one form of the movement for the conservation of the people's resources.

War Teaches Geography.

Topeka Capital: War generally corrects little errors of geography that are more or less prevalent. A glance at the globe, for instance, corrects the notion that France is just about east of England. Nearly half of France lies, in fact, west of Dover. Lisbon is not only west of London, but is west of the entire island of England, and even west of Dublin. Even Madrid is west of London. It was not until the Spanish war and the Oregon's wonderful swing "round the circle" to join Admiral Sampson that this country came to see by the map that the whole continent of South America is east of New York. And not until Col. Goethals got to work did we understand that the Pacific end of the Panama canal is east of the Atlantic end.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FORMER SENATOR ALDRICH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Have just finished reading your editorial on Nelson W. Aldrich, for thirty years United States senator from Rhode Island. It was good. However, to one who has read and enjoyed The Herald for several years, it came as a surprise.

Why hand the man a boquet now instead of during his life-time? While not able to quote some of The Herald's editorials attacking Aldrich and his methods published during the time he was chairman of the senate finance committee, I distinctly remember that Minnesota's best daily newspaper took a prominent part in educating its readers to the belief that Aldrich was an enemy of the common people and that he favored the so-called "interests" first, last and all the time.

Judging from the fine editorial on the man published in the evening edtion of April 16, you misunderstood his motives heretofore, but it is remarkable that you did not discover your mistake until immediately after his death.

At one time, if I am not mistaken, I read something in The Herald to the effect that if we have any flowers to distribute to anyone they should be handed out while the one for whom they are intended is living, not after he has passed to the Great Beyond.

Of course, I understand that it would not be policy for an independent newspaper, leaning towards the Democratic side of the fence, to laud the efforts of any member of a great political party that it is opposed to, but why hand him any compliments after his death? If he did not deserve such praise as you have given him previous to his death, he certainly does not deserve it now.

During the three campaigns of the late John A. Johnson for the governorship, the News Tribune made some very bitter attacks on him. After his death I read in The Herald several pages of editorials reproduced from some of the greatest papers in the country, all of which eulogized Governor Johnson and, in my humble judgment, expressed the true sentiments of the writers. Most of these editorials, of course, were written by Minnesota editors, some of whom had known Johnson since his boyhood days, and the splendid character of the man was painted in beautiful word pictures by writers who had had an opportunity to know him thoroughly.

Yet, of the many splendid editorials that were written in eulogy of Johnson, none, in my opinion, were better than the one written by Editor Mitchell of the News Tribune, a man who had, during Johnson's campaigns, condemned him and his policies in the most scathing terms.

I may be wrong, but it seems to me that were I wielding an editorial pen on a great daily paper and telling the truth in my attacks on some of the great political leaders who manipulate the affairs of the government in the interests of the corporations and care nothing for the welfare of the common people, I certainly would not write one line of a complimentary nature for any of them after their death.

The late Matthew S. Quay, former United States senator from Pennsylvania, was an able man, and one of the senate leaders. If ever a man in political life deserved censure, however, Quay did; and he was censured, too, by some of the better class of newspapers.

Can you recall a single instance wherein one, just one, of the great metropolitan dailies eulogized Quay after his death? He did not deserve any houquets for his political actions, and he did not get them. He was an ideal husband and father if I remember correctly and was given credit for that.

Again the question arises, why hand a bouquet to Aldrich after his death but never previous to that time?

JOHN HALEY.

Bismarck, N. D., April 15.

If Mr. Haley had read the editorial columns of The Herald more carefully, he would have discovered that credit was given to Senator Aldrich for the able work he performed in preparing the currency plan, many features of which were incorporated in the measure subsequently adopted by the Democratic congress. The Herald said at the time the Aldrich plan was formulated that it was unfortunate that public distrust in the Rhode Island senator would prevent it receiving the consideration that it merited. While Senator Aldrich was undoubtedly sincere he was bissed by his political and social environment and The Herald never failed to attack his political course. He himself expressed regret, after his retirement from the senate, that he had not given more attention to the lives and thought of the people. The legislation he generally advocated was in favor of "the interests," because his political and business associations led him to take that side of the question, and while The Herald denounced his views it never questioned his personal sincerity and honesty. Consequently there was nothing in the editorial commenting on his death that differed from the views previously expressed by The Herald.—The Editor.

FIGHT PICTURES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As to the moving pictures of prize fights, would like to know if Jack Johnson-Jeffries pictures are still allowed to be shown in the United States and if the Willard-Johnson pictures are barred from the United States?

E. FREDRICKSON.

Tower, Minn., April 15.

"SQUAWKS" WHEN HE LOSES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Three judges of the district court are now considering the case started by W. L. Windom to compel the city commissioners to declare him elected to the office of municipal judge, although he was clearly defeated by over 1,700 votes. Seventeen hundred more voters cast their ballots for Smallwood than for Windom, and yet the court seems to be gravely considering the question of which man is entitled to the office.

Windom entered the race well knowing the conditions that were to govern at the election. The city printed and distributed sample ballots more than two weeks before the election. Five days before election the regular ballots were ordered. On all these ballots first, second and other choices appeared. Windom made no complaint. He was apparently satisfied with the method of voting, and had he been elected on second and third choice votes, it is a foregone conclusion that no protest would have come from him. He claims that this is a state office, and yet he filed his nomination and acceptance with the city clerk and not with the county auditor, as is required of all men running on a state ticket. How can he claim to be elected to a state office when he was not nominated to a state office?

He is like a man who has been playing a game for years and has been a consistent winner, and, who upon losing, makes the claim that the cards are marked, the dice are loaded or the game is crooked. As long as he wins, he has no complaint to make, but the minute he loses, he "squawks."

Does he consider any one but himself? Has he any consideration for the feelings of Capt. Smallwood? Does the will of the people make no difference to him? Has he no thought of fairness or justice? Is a man with no sense of fairness or justice a fit man for the office of judge? Is a man who will seek a technicality with which to defeat justice a proper man in a judicial position? Does he not simply seek a loophole in the law whereby he may escape the verdict of the voters? How would you like to have your case tried before a man with a perverted sense of justice?

I am not a lawyer and I know nothing of the legal points involved in this case, but I do know justice. Justice should be law, and law should be justice. Any law which does not give justice is a bad law, and the people of Duluth are hoping that the law in this case will be found to be good, and that justice will prevail. In that event the court will declare in favor of the man who was justly elected by over 1,700 votes. Yours truly,

CAPT. J. H. O'MEARA.

JUDGE JAQUES' VIEWS ON MUNICIPAL JUDGESHIP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in last evening's paper a letter from a member of my family in regard to the present suit of Judge Windom as to recent election, and a suit of Bert Farrell of two years ago as to that election. Am writing to say that I knew nothing about this letter until my attention was called to it by a friend last evening on the street, and that I am in no way responsible for it and do not entertain any of the sentiments or ideas expressed in it. Bert Farrell is a close personal friend of mine and I certainly can not sanction anything that would tend to put him in an unjust position. There is no analogy between the case brought by Mr. Farrell and the case brought by Judge Windom. Bert Farrell in his suit sought to compel the counting of a large number of votes for himself which had not been counted for him because of an arbitrary and unjust provision of the charter which provided that these votes could not be counted because the voters had not voted for someone else. This provision was held by most lawyers to be void, as in conflict with the state Constitution. I entertained that view, and encouraged the bringing of the suit, as I considered then and consider now that Bert Farrell was really elected a commissioner two years ago. The people elected him, but he was kept out by the rankest kind of a technicality. Chief Justice Brown, in his dissenting opinion, agreed with the opinion of most lawyers, and held that Mr. Farrell had been elected.

Judge Windom, on the other hand, seeks to be declared elected municipal judge by having thrown out some thousands of votes cast in good faith for Capt. Smallwood, thus disfranchising some thousands of voters. In other words, Bert Farrell sought to hold an office to which the people had elected him in a moral sense at least, and Judge Windom seeks to hold an office to which he was elected in no sense, moral or otherwise, as the ballots were made up. His position is not only unmoral, but is positively immoral because he seeks to hold a position to which it cannot be claimed that he has been legally or justly elected.

There is another distinction between Mr. Farrell and Judge Windom. Mr. Farrell, while a worthy citizen, is not a lawyer. Judge Windom is, or at least claims to be, a lawyer and a judge. I am willing to submit the question to the lawyers of Duluth whether any lawyer ought to be willing to take the position of municipal judge of the city of Duluth upon the grounds upon which Judge Windom claims it. I certainly have no doubt that the unanimous answer would be "NO." I do not think there is a real lawyer in Duluth that would not be ashamed to hold that position upon the grounds upon which he claims it.

If it is impossible for the court to hold under the law that the preferential system of voting applies to municipal judge, then it ought to hold that the preferential ballot used at the election is void as misleading to the voter and that no one has been elected.

I regret very much to have felt compelled to write this letter. I have never before written a letter to a newspaper. No one has a greater contempt for the "Write a Letter to the Newspaper" habit than I have; but not for the world would I have a member of the family of Capt. James Farrell, who was my friend, think for a moment that I was in any way responsible for the letter that appeared in The Herald last evening. The amenities and friendships of this life mean much to me. Very truly, ALFRED JAQUES.

THINKS EVOLUTION MORE GENERALLY ACCEPTED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Father Mullaly is reported in The Herald tonight as having said at the noon meeting at the Lyceum, that the tide is now turning away from the Darwinian theory. The speaker's remarks were addressed to the public and I am sure no offense will be taken if a different view is expressed in the Open Court. It is my opinion that the doctrine of evolution as advanced by Darwin, Spencer, Haeckel and others, is in its main outlines today more generally accepted by scholars than ever before. Some modifications have been made necessary by more recent researches, but they do not discredit the main doctrine. The principal modification is the idea of mutation, advanced by De Vries and others. Darwin believed that new species and sub-species originated very slowly and by infinitesimal variations; at present scientists believe changes occurred rather by sudden, very small jumps, or "mutations." But, as said above, this does not affect the evolution theory in general. Mutation at the most is but one of many elements of the great process. The fact is mutation bridges over the only serious weakness the theory ever had.

Among evolutionists there have always been some who believed in a God and maintained that the belief was necessary in the explanation of the theory. On the other hand many evolutionists, and the majority of them I think, have always rejected and reject today perhaps in greater numbers than ever before, the idea of a God—maintaining that it introduces more difficulties than it solves.

The above is offered in no spirit of unfriendliness to the speaker or to any body of believers. The aim is simply to throw if possible a little additional light on these great questions on which all of us, I am sure, earnestly desire the best possible views. Although I disagree, I greatly enjoyed reading Father Mullaly's sermon.

Respectfully,
C. H. ESHLEMAN.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Enough is Quite Sufficient

THERE are numerous systems of diet prescribed for the relief of obesity. All have their virtues, but no one system will suit every case. The individual must particularly make sure that his heart, arteries and kidneys are not markedly damaged before he adopts any special dietetic regimen.

The Banting System.

Mr. Banting devised a rigid diet which he practiced upon himself and others with considerable success. The patients were allowed only from twenty-one to twenty-seven ounces of food per day, about half of which was lean meat, and practically no sugars or starches were included.

Two ounces of bread was the daily limit. The balance of the diet consisted largely of fresh fruits and the lighter green vegetables—fodder, filler, so to speak. The daily amount of fluid permitted was thirty-five ounces. The diet was based upon the suggestions of Mr. Banting's physician, Dr. W. Harvey, and while successful in certain cases, it was rather too restricted in many others, and caused digestive disturbances which made it unpopular in this country. It has been somewhat modified and used with good results here.

Mr. Banting himself lost forty-six pounds in a single year on his diet.

Go Easy With the Fast.

One objection to such a sudden restriction of diet, and an objection also to a great restriction of fluid, is that renal or gallstone colic may result. For this reason the individual on such a diet must be watched closly by the physician, to guard against worse trouble than the obesity itself.

Questions and Answers.

How to Find the Appendix: Please tell me where the appendix lies, and what causes appendicitis.

REPLY.

Lie with your head upon the North pole, your feet resting upon the Equator and your hands grasping the Tropic of Capricorn. Start at the pit of the stomach and travel due southwest a hand's length, and there you are.

$1,000 a word couldn't make us divulge the cause of appendicitis, because we know it not.

X-Ray Exposures After Cancer Removal: I have epithelioma on the jaw. Am advised to have it removed and then have X-ray treatment of the eschar. What is your opinion of this?

REPLY.

It is what we consider the ideal treatment. We believe the X-ray destroys any stray cancer cells not reached by the knife, and thus prevents recurrence.

Liver Spots Not From the Liver: Would like your advice about the liver spots which are appearing on my face and body. I am 18 years of age, and do not get much exercise, owing to my clerical duties.

REPLY.

They have nothing to do with the liver and the liver reciprocates the relation. If sunlight won't clear them up, perhaps electrolysis by a physician will.

Cannot Recommend It: Do you advise the use of "sargol" as a flesh-builder?

REPLY.

From a consideration of the analysis of the product, we fail to see how it can possibly build flesh.

Scrofula: Four years ago a lump appeared on my neck. It was painless. It was quite hard. After a time it softened and broke on the skin and continued to discharge through a little opening for months—a thin, watery, yellowish matter. Three years ago a second, and a year and a half ago a third lump appeared, both following the same course. Please advise me.

REPLY.

Scrofula, as the old-timers called it. Tuberculosis of the cervical glands, it is called today. We cannot advise you, except that you should pursue the same general course you would if you had early consumption. It is a matter for your personal medical adviser.

DECISION IS IMPORTANT

Railways Want Special Rates to Intermountain Points.

Destiny of Duluth as Wholesale Center Hangs in Balance.

It is feared in many quarters that as a result of the efforts of the railroads that are trying to get the right to make special rates to intermountain points to combat the effect on freight carrying via the Panama canal, the interstate commerce commission may abandon the long and short haul provision. This, in the belief of G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, would be a step backward in the development of railroad freight regulation.

The fight by Spokane, for instance, and other points in intermountain territory to get rates that will make them distributing centers for a large territory, encroaching on other distributing centers in all directions from them, because the Panama canal will make low rates to the coast cities, has reached so bitter a stage that it is believed that the interstate commerce commission is likely to do something drastic and the result may be the abandonment of the theory of water competition and the natural preference given points on navigable water fully recognized in a concrete manner by the establishing of a base of rates with such advantages figured in.

It is claimed that this case, which was heard last week, is one of the most important that has come up in years. When the decision will oe handed down, is, of course, uncertain.

Duluth is greatly interested in it, for should Spokane win, Duluth, it is claimed, would be practically wiped out as a wholesale or manufacturing center. Nobody seems satisfied with conditions or proposals.

Mileage Basis.

It is predicted that a congressional declaration will be in favor of a straight mileage basis of freight charges throughout the country. Under conditions as they now exist it is said that Seattle alone of the cities of the Northwest, is satisfied. Spokane is asking concessions as are all other intermountain territory shipping points.

Representatives of these points openly state that a change is necessary if interior points are to compete with coast cities. The coast points reply that they are entitled to the benefit which their natural advantages give them and that the interstate commerce commission has no moral right to discriminate against one place in favor of another. This latter phase of the question is indorsed by Duluth traffic men.

The inevitable result, many shippers' representatives say, will be legislation putting a mandatory long and short haul clause in the interstate commerce act as well as the enforcement of straight mileage rates.

They asserted that in congress it will be argued that it is humanly impossible to avoid discrimination under the present theory.

SMOKING AROUND BARN CAUSES LOSS OF STOCK.

Fargo, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eighteen horses and eighty cows were cremated when a barn on Simon Warner's farm, ten miles west of Fargo, was burned at an early hour today. The fire originated from employes smoking around the building.

Saloon Keepers Heavily Fined.

Fairmont, Minn., April 20.—Three saloon keepers of the village of Welcome pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor to minors. Oltman & Son were fined $200; Klem & Son, $300, and F. Miller, $300. The four young fellows to whom they sold beer were from Fairmont. The fines were paid and the saloon keepers released from custody Monday.

SAYS CHRIST WAS DIVINE

Father Mullaly Declares Scripture Fully Proves This Belief.

Any Other Interpretation of Bible Would Be Inconsistent, He Says.

"The Divinity of Christ" was the subject of the sermon preached by Father Edward J. Mullaly of Chicago in his noon-day address at the Lyceum theater today. There were about 800 present, and the speaker was listened to with keen interest.

The sermon was preceded by a short musical program. Father Mullaly's sermon tomorrow will be on "The Catholic Church." The addresses will close each day at 12:50 sharp.

Father Mullaly said in part:

"In the previous lecture we saw that religion is the recognition by the soul of its absolute dependence upon God. It must adore Him, serve Him, admire Him, petition Him, fear Him, love Him. But in what manner? it asks. What is God's law to the obedience of which I am bound? We saw that man needs more than his mere reason can teach him about the things of God. Natural religions may appear very beautiful in form, ceremony and philosophy, but the historical fact is that none of them ever have been satisfactory even to their formulators. Plato and Aristotle of old, Emerson, Hegel, Spencer, Kant, Nietzsche and Bergson of our own day, all elaborated very high forms of natural religion, but all alike unsatisfactory to the average man and to the authors themselves. Plato died prophesying that some day God would reveal His will to man directly and unmistakably. Emerson died dissatisfied with his own view of life—an agnostic. If God has spoken and given His law and His religion to men then that religion is supernatural, and as the name implies superior to any and all natural religions.

Cannot Fathom Infinite.

"Even the natural sciences are as yet very imperfectly developed. How then can the mind of man be expected to work out perfectly the soul's relations to its Creator as He would have it. It is impossible to conceive the finite fathoming the mind of the Infinite. And my reason will not permit the thought that God wishes me to remain in ignorance of His will and law. But has God ever revealed His will to man, has He ever spoken? This is the tremendous question. The Christian says he has. The Christian believes that when man's despair was the deepest, when his longing for God's word was the greatest possible, then the Creator sent to man His Word, to be a Saviour and Teacher, the sublimely beautiful character, whom we call our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. But the question is, is Jesus Christ God? The Catholic church says He was really and truly man, with the same human nature, senses, emotions, mind as we have, but that also He is really and truly very God of God, co-equal with His Father in all things, that he combines both a human and a divine nature in one Divine Person. Very few if any people today reject the existence of Christ. The great error of our time is a revival of the early denial of His divinity. Even Christian clergymen today are doubting the real divinity of Christ. They assert that it matters not whether or not we accept His divinity so long as we try to emulate His sublime virtue and accept Him as a moral standard. The Catholic church comes out with the old, old gospel, that Jesus Christ is really man but also really and truly God of true God, the Son of God in the sense that he is really equal to His Father in all things.

Divinity of Christ.

"But the average man asks, what difference does it make? It makes an infinite difference for every man. If Christ was man only, then His teaching, law and authority were only human and may be cast aside safely at anyone's caprice. If Christ is God, then His teaching is the law of the Eternal Legislator and damnation must be the consequence of disobedience. I believe that Christ is God first of all because He repeatedly claimed to be God co-equal with His Father. He was put to death because he persisted in this claim. In the New Testament we have a perfectly reputable document of His life and teachings. For sake of argument we need not accept their inspiration. Accept only their human testimony as true history. All modern biblical critcism has not undermined in one iota the historical value of the Scriptures, but rather has pushed back and back even to the time of the apostles the origin of the Scriptures, substantiating the testimony of the church as to who were the authors of them. Now what do they say as to Christ's claims regarding himself. We read, 'I and the Father are one.' 'What things soever the Father does these the Son also doth in like manner.' At such expressions the Jews, who were intolerantly jealous of their one God and abhorrent of blasphemy, tried to stone Him on repeated occasions. If Christ did not mean what He said, then it was His duty of justice and charity to explain what He meant, but He did not retract or disparage His own words. When He worked a miracle on the Sabbath, they rebuked Him. He said to them: 'Whatsoever the Father doeth on the Sabbath, the Son doeth also.' When they asked Him if He made Himself greater than their Father Abraham, He said to them: 'Abraham, your father, rejoiced that he might see My day. He saw it and was glad. Amen, I say to you, before Abraham was made I am.' Then again they tried to stone Him because of his supposed blasphemy. When he asked them for which of His good works they stoned Him, they answered: 'We stone Thee for blasphemy because Thou, being a man, maketh Thyself God.'

Claimed to Be God.

"Nor did He claim only a human Sonship with God such as any holy Jew might claim. He claimed to be the very true God of true God expressed in the Jewish word which means 'I am who am.' The Jews did not understand Him to claim a position similar to Elias, Moses and the prophets. At the crucial moment of His life when He might have saved Himself from crucifixion by retracting His claims, he answered to Caiphas' question regarding his divinity: 'Thou hast said it,' that is, 'I am in very truth.' Therefore the Jews clamored for His crucifixion as a punishment for His blasphemy.

"Secondly, I believe in His divinity because He performed all His miracles by His own power, first to draw the people to a belief in His divinity, and later to confirm his own claims as to His divinity. Besides performing miracles of the same nature which had been performed by the prophets, Christ foretold of His death and His resurrection. He said 'Destroy this tempie (of my body) and in three days I shall rebuild it.' Biblical critcism has utterly failed to argue away the fact of the resurrection. All it has done is to deny it.

"I believe in the divinity of Christ because the Old Testament prophecies foretold accurately when He would come and even minute details of His life. Now the single free acts of a man cannot be known centuries before he is born except such information comes from the Omniscient mind of God. Therefore I believe that these prophecies are the testimony of God, the Father, to the divinity of Jesus Christ.

Christianity a Miracle.

"The very existence of christianity is a miracle. Its establishment among human civilization was a miracle. Were it not divine, all the storms which broke against it during the ages, persecution from without, heresy, schism and scandal from within would have shattered it as every other human institution has been disrupted through the ages.

Reason for Belief.

"I believe that Christ is God, because of the universally admitted fact that He was a good, virtuous, noble character, and upon the further fact that He cannot be considered such a character except on the supposition that He is God as well as man. All admit His virtue and nobility of character, but if He were not God then his charity, His mercy, His meekness, His humility were all the more arrogant hypocrisy intended to deceive men and to magnify Himself for His own personal vanity. He said, 'Learn of Me that I am meek and humble of heart,' 'I am the way, the truth and the life,' 'Which of you shall convince Me of sin,' 'Be ye holy as I also am holy.' If Christ be not God, then these and all similar claims which He made were the very antitheis of the virtues He claimed and men recognize Him to possess. If He be not God He is Beelzebub as the Jews charged against Him, but which no man will admit.

"The foregoing is only a brief outline of the proofs for the divinity of Christ. The question now is, since Christ is God and came into this world to redeem and to teach men, the way to eternal salvation where is His message and His teaching to be found in the world today? Here we have the question to be considered in the following lecture on "The Catholic Church and the Bible."

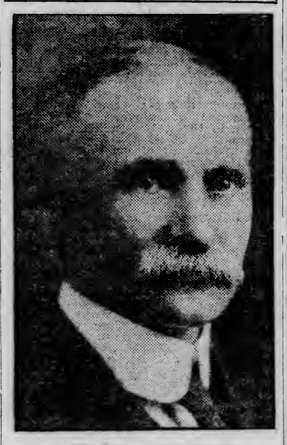
DULUTH WITNESSES IN GRAIN CASE



Chicago, April 20.—G. Roy Hall, representing the Duluth Commercial club's traffic commission, testified last night before W. M. Daniels, interstate commerce commissioner, before whom testimony is being given in the Western freight rate case, that the present grain freight rates discriminated against Duluth, and that the proposed advance of 1 per cent per 10 pounds would work an added hardship to the grain handlers of Duluth.

Similar testimony was given by C. F. Macdonald, secretary of the Duluth board of trade, who testified there was an active grain movement between Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior, which would be disadvantageously affected by the proposed advance.

THREE STEAMERS GET IN TROUBLE

Paliki, Carrying Steel Rails, Ashore—Leopold and Renown Delayed.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., April 20.—The steamer Leopold locked up yesterday afternoon, having been delayed one day in Lake Michigan by defective steering gear. She reported seeing the steamer Paliki, down bound, in Lake Michigan, making heavy progress in the ice off Lansing shoal. Later, reports received indicate the Paliki went ashore on Simmons reef. The Paliki left here Saturday morning, after the arrival of the up-bound steamer McKee, with a cargo of rails for Chicago. The Great Lakes Towing company sent a tug and a lighter to her assistance from the Sault.

The Leopold also reported passing the Standard Oil steamer Renown with a tow barge having considerable trouble with the ice in Lake Michigan. The Renown has not yet reached this port. Yesterday was a busy day at the locks, but steamers were passed through with little delay.

TEN GRAIN SHIPS STILL IN HARBOR

Twenty-Two Have Started Down Lakes—One Ore Vessel Left.

Up to noon today twenty-two vessels, grain-laden, had left this port for Buffalo, N. Y., which leaves ten more that are to leave with grain cargoes within the next few days. Thirty-two vessels were under grain charter when the season opened.

There were only thirty-six interlake vessels in port for the winter, and the remaining four are ore carriers. Two of them have already started on the down trip with ore cargoes, and one has gone to Two Harbors to load ore, which leaves just one steamer in the harbor that is not chartered to grain.

The only arrival in this harbor, so far, is the Lakeport, which arrived last Saturday morning. She is unloading cement.

CROOKSTON HONORS LATE HENRY TURNER

Many Pay Tribute to Young Mining Man Killed in Utah.

Crookston, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Congregational church was thronged yesterday afternoon for the funeral of Henry Milton Turner, the brilliant young mining man, graduate of the Michigan College of Mines, who was killed at Tooele, Utah, Rev. Paul B. Albert, the pastor, paying eloquent tribute to the dead. Congressman Halvor Steenerson, J. W. Wheeler, S. O. Greer, H. C. Capser, A. N. Sorenson and L. G. Walstrom, the latter four from Ogden, Merrill, and Greer of St. Paul, F. X. Gravel of Duluth, and scores of prominent people from surrounding towns were present. The floral tributes were magnificent, including set pieces from the Commercial Travelers, Mr. Merrill and Greer, the Crookston High School Alumni association and many others, including a great cross of white roses from the father of the fiancee of the departed, who resides in California.

Body Lies in State.

Sunday afternoon the remains lay in state at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Turner, Houston avenue, where they were viewed by Crookston Council U. C. T. in a body, and the members of the Crookston High School Alumni association and scores of friends of the bereaved family.

The love and attention bestowed by Harry Turner upon little children and the aged were marked at the services by a great attendance of the young and many tottering with old age. The dead man was but 27 years of age, and death cut short a brilliant young mining engineer, who had made a remarkable record in his profession in three short years and whose death called forth a remarkable tribute to real character.

The pall bearers were four former classmates: E. W. Vance, J. E. Page, N. W. McKenzie, H. F. Rosenthal, R. A. Brown and J. H. Wallace.

HUGE TRESTLE IS TO BE FILLED IN

Valley City, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—What will be the largest fill ever attempted in North Dakota and one that will require millions of cubic feet of earth will soon be started by the Northern Pacific under the high bridge over the Sheyenne river here which is 180 feet above the normal water level. It is the highest bridge in the state and is also of great length. Recently the officials learned the piers on either bank were beginning to slip toward the bed of the river. It is thought the only way to permanently preserve the structure is to fill in underneath the bridge. Because of the height and the length of the bridge this will be an enormous task, and decidedly expensive. Much concrete work will be required on each side of the river to hold the earth from forcing itself into the stream.

The lands along the river are expensive as they are used for truck farming and as the base of the fill will be so wide many acres will be necessary.

The company will be fortunate in one respect as giant hills of clay, gravel and sand abound within a mile of the bridge and are in easily procurable shape. It is anticipated the work will not be started and will be completed in 1916.

There is no immediate danger to the bridge but the company wants to take the necessary action before the piers slip sufficiently to menace the high structure.

Resume Track Ballasting.

Fargo, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven work trains are to resume the ballasting on the main line of the Northern Pacific on this division. This will give employment to a lot of railroad men who have not been working regularly for some time and the news of the resumption is warmly welcomed by the employes of the road. It is anticipated they will be engaged on the job until the grain begins to move this fall, when the equipment will be needed for that purpose.

LIVE BEAVER TAKEN.

Animal Is Captured While Going Through Amidon, N. D.

Amidon, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beaver are rarely seen in this part of the state and W. H. Beechler's recent capture of one near the courthouse here attracted a great deal of attention. The animal was seen at an early hour and Beehler was able to get it into a gunny sack. It was held captive during the day and in the evening it was turned loose and quickly disappeared. The animal was an exceptionally large specimen, and is supposed to have been migrating overland from one stream to another. There are no streams near here containing beaver colonies and this animal is thought to have come from a long distance.

Bowman, N. After a stream of water and pled on Schel for some time he was overpowered and manacles placed on him, when he was taken to the state asylum at Jamestown.

Mapleton, N. D., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—When a game warden suddenly appeared here and arrested W. W. Flagg was fined.

LUCK HELPED TO MAKE TOM JONES A FAMOUS PERSON

Was a Bartender in Spring Valley and Became Manager of Billy Papke, a Raw Coal Miner—Wolgast and Jess Willard Followed, and Behold the Spring Valley Man Is Known Far and Wide.

BY BRUCE.

TOM JONES was a bartender in the little town of Spring Valley, Ill. Some job—some guy, listening eagerly for news from the outside world and reading the Police Gazette for recipes for new drinks, and dreaming that some day he would be able to get his picture into the glowing sporting world.

Bill Papke was a coal miner in the same town. Bill had the fight bug, and Jones, as the village sport eventually became his manager. Then Tom climbed from Papke to Wolgast and from Wolgast to Willard.

If it hadn't been for Bill Papke, who ate with his knife before and after taking, Tom Jones might have been hanging around Spring Valley till this very day, dolling up on his off evenings with a boiled shirt and a pair of yellow low shoes, and lounging around to meet the through train.

Philosophers say life is just what you make of it, but sometimes life turns the things around and has it that you are just what she makes of you.

Yes, and there was Ad Wolgast. This is a kind of a serial story. Adolph was a little cigar maker in Milwaukee, who wasn't very particular whether he made cigars or not. Ad likes his schnapps and most of the time wore clothes that would have been ideally fitted for Nat Wills' tramps act.

Finally Wolgast got to the Pacific coast and there began his series of sensational battles. Jimmy Coffroth called Lew Powell the coming champion of the world. So did the majority of newspapers on the Pacific coast. He was the baby who was going to invade the king row and rob Bat Nelson of his crown. Wolgast fought and licked this Lew Powell person. Old Billy Jordon, the famous announcer, was a taciturn old man who rarely commented on a fight. But after watching Wolgast trim Lew Powell, the old fellow came around to the dressing room of the Dutchman and said:

"Ad, you are a fighting demon. There's only one man in the world that can keep you from being champion of the world, and he's the champion, Battling Nelson."

It is said Wolgast sat right up straight on the rubbing table and shouted out aloud, like the giant in the story of the beanstalk, "Say, I ken lick that Swede the very best day he ever saw."

Afterwards Wolgast did lick Nelson and became champion of the world.

The little Dutchman was sort of broke in Los Angeles and without a manager. Jones had had a fight with Papke. Wolgast and Jones got together and the former bartender of Spring Valley hooked onto another man who was destined to become a future champion of the world.

Jess Willard was walking the streets of Fort Smith, Ark., begging for dimes. Jess didn't want to take these dimes home and stick them in a bank that screws down after you insert the dime; he was asking for the dimes because he was without the wherewithall to buy eats.

During his rambles around the country Charley Cutler ran across Willard when white hoping was one of the most popular pastimes of the country. The famous heavyweight wrestler brought the raw giant to Chicago and started him at work.

Tilt Lewis made a trip to Chicago several years ago and while there saw Willard in several of his workouts. Col Lewis wrote this column that Willard was really a wonder for a man who had received so little training.

Cutler spent some money on the giant and just at the time when he was beginning to attract some attention, the former bartender of Spring Valley, an individual whom fate decorated with a lagel rose bouquet, came along and stole Willard away.

Willard went along and attracted little attention. Then came the long course of secret training and the match with Johnson and the rest of the story is too well known to need repetition.

Tom Jones is today one of the best known figures in the sporting world. Not so long ago he was reading recipes for fancy drinks out of the Police Gazette and gazing in admiring wonderment at the pictures of the shiny haired bartenders and barbers in that sheet.

Papke was a case of propinquity—a case where a strong young miner wanted to get into the sporting game and selected the village sport as his mentor. In the case of Wolgast, the Dutchman was wished on Jones; in the case of Willard, Tom grabbed off a fellow who looked like a boob and then developed into the champion of the world.

READY TO TALK PEACE

JIM GILMORE. CHARLES WEEGHMAN.

There is a definite rumor going the rounds of baseball that Jim Gilmore, president of the Federal league, and Charles Weeghman, one of the powers among the magnates, are willing to talk peace with the powers of organized baseball. The immense salaries of baseball players and the huge rakeoff being taken by the lawyers, are said to be two of the considerations prompting the outlaw men to take action looking to the ending of the war.

CLUB CREWS TO THE COAST

New York Athletic Club Getting Crack College Oarsmen.

Here's the text of a telegram received yesterday by James E. Ten Eyck of the Duluth Boat club:

"The promoters of the San Diego exposition will pay the expenses to California of the winning crews in the national championship races at Springfield, Mass."

That news caused the classical countenance of James to glow. It looks now as if a trip to the Pacific coast for some of the Duluth oarsmen is assured—ahem—provided that the locals are among the winners at Springfield.

Titular rowing events that were originally scheduled for the San Francisco fair, have been transferred to San Diego because of the fact that there is a better course and more ideal rowing conditions at the southern California city. With the transfer of the big events comes joyously the announcement that winning crews at Springfield will be toted across the country for a try at the national free for all.

Duluth Has Real Opportunity.

This means a real opportunity for Duluth. If the plans of the San Diego officials materialize, the crack athletic club and rowinb club crews of the United States will compete against the best college crews of the country. The oft mooted question regarding the relative supremacy of the college and rowing club crew will be settled.

News in the shape of a statement that a lot of college oarsmen were being crowded into the New York Athletic club's eight, also made its local appearance yesterday.

There are three of Cornell's last year eight trying for places in the eight of the N. Y. A. C. and in addition Moffitt, a member of last year's Pennsylvania crew, is out for a place in the boat. Gillman, commodore of the Cornell navy and one of the varsity eight, Spransy, stroke of the varsity eight, and Hiscox, are the Cornell men out for the eight.

It is something like seven years since the N. Y. A. C. has won an eight oared race in the national regatta. This season the New York club coach is making the effort of his career to get together one of the fastest rowing club crews in the country. This is one of the eights the Duluth boys will face at Springfield.

GRADE SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE STARTS SEASON

Fast Ball Mark Opening Games of Schedule—Youngsters Display Enthusiasm and Youthful Fans Root the Regulars—Players Must Show Registration Cards.

They're off in the Duluth Grade School Baseball league!

Yesterday the twelve kid teams of the kid league auspiciously opened the season. If enthusiasm and clever playing for youngsters is an augury, the season is going to prove a hummer. Large crowds of kids watched all of the games, cheering the good plays and rooting like regular thirty-third degree fans for their favorites.

Director Lawrence Duby was all smiles today.

"You couldn't ask for a finer opening," said he. "The weather was ideal, the kids were filled with the real kind of enthusiasm, and say! they played some regular baseball. If you want to have an afternoon of real sport, come out and watch the school league teams play baseball."

Players Must Register.

All the players of the league must flash their registration cards tomorrow. These cards are to show the eligibility of the players and are signed by the principals of their respective schools. The school league is a regular league.

Here are the results of the opening game:

Eastern Division.

Salter, 11; Endion, 8.
Jefferson, 7; Lakeside, 5.
Washington, 16; Washburn, 5.

Western Division.

Lincolns, 15; Adams, 9.
Emerson, 16; Bryant, 13.
Jackson, 9; Munro, 8.

One of the features of the play of yesterday was the umpiring of Lyle Miller, the colored boy who was formerly mascot of the Pittsburgh Nationals.

The kid is there, showing excellent judgment on balls and strikes and going through all the big league motions. He was one of the hits of an afternoon that was filled with hits.

If you want to have an afternoon of real sport, come out and watch the school league teams play baseball."

MISSOURI ENTERS BIG RELAY RACE

Western Champions Will Compete at Philadelphia This Week.

Philadelphia, April 20.—Missouri's champion Western one-mile relay team today was entered for the one-mile relay championship at the relay carnival to be held on Friday and Saturday of this week. Missouri's team was the big surprise at the relay games held at Des Moines last Saturday. They defeated the other Western colleges in the mile and turned the distance in 3 minutes, 23 1-5 seconds, which is 1 second under the present college record time. Murphy, Easton, Wyatt and Niedorp, the same men that showed such good form last Saturday, will represent Missouri here.

The entrance of the Western champions lends additional interest to a race that already promises to be one of the most sensational of the year. Missouri will not only have to beat Chicago and Northwestern again, but they will find Pennsylvania and Harvard even faster quartets.

Missouri also will bring east their star pole-vaulter, Floyd, who has cleared more than 12 feet, and Simpson for the hurdles. The latter has sticks.

Franklin field today was a scene of great activity. Everything is being done to have the grounds in shape for the coming monster set of games. The track will be in good condition, while the jumping pits are now in better shape than at any time this year.

THREE RING EVENTS

Memphis, Tenn., April 20.—Joe Mandot, lightweight, of New Orleans, was awarded a decision over Patsy Drouillard of Windsor, Ont., in an eight-round bout here last night.

Montreal, Can., April 20.—What was to have been a ten-round bout here last night between Sam Langford and Porky Fylnn was stopped in the eighth round by the referee because it was stated the spectators were not satisfied with the exhibition.

New York, April 20.—Jack Corns of Cleveland defeated Terry Kellar of California in a ten-round bout here yesterday afternoon. Corns weighed 177 pounds and Kellar 172½. The Cleveland man took the honors in five rounds and Kellar in three. Two were even.

Lavender Out of Game.

Chicago, April 20.—Jimmy Lavender, one of the pitchers of the Chicago National League Baseball club, sent word to the ball park where he was to pitch against Pittsburgh yesterday that he had fallen against the bath tub in his home and broken two ribs. Manager Roger Bresnahan received word that Lavender became ill in the night and went to the medicine chest in the bath room. While groping around in the darkness he stumbled and fell against the tub. It was said the injuries would keep Lavender out of the game for some time.

WAINO KETONEN TO WRESTLE MICHAELSON.

Waino Ketonen and Martin Michaelson, the village blacksmith who wrestled a preliminary in Duluth two years ago, are to meet in a finish match in Superior some time in May. The contest is advertised for a side bet, the Milltown, Wis., grappler having offered to wager $300 on his chances against the little Finn.

Joe Carr having refused to make ringside weight for Ketonen, it looks as if the season on this side of the bay was closed.

BOXING BILL IS AMENDED

Senate Makes Changes and Passes It By Close Vote.

Goes Back to House for Agreement on the Amendments.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 35 ayes to 32 nays—the full membership of the body—the senate yesterday afternoon passed the boxing bill, legalizing ten-round, no-decision bouts in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. The final roll call on the passage of the bill was as follows:

Those voting aye were: Adams, Andrews, Badwin, Bonniwell, Buckler, Callahan, A. S. Campbell, W. A. Campbell, Carley, Denegre, R. C. Dunn, W. W. Dunn, Gardner, Glotzbach, Griggs, Grose, Handlan, Healy, Hilbert, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, Knopp, McGarry, Millett, Nord, O'Neill, Pauly, G. M. Peterson, Rice, Steffen, Turnham, Van Hoven, Vibert and Westlake. Total 35.

Those voting nay were: Alley, Benson, Blomgren, Collester, Duxbury, Dwinnell, Gandrud, Gillam, Gjerset, Hanson, Hegnes, Holmberg, Lende, Lobeck, Nelson, Orr, Palmer, E. P. Peterson, F. H. Peterson, Potter, Putnam, Rockne, Rustad, Rystrom, Sageng, G. H. Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Swenson, Vermilya, Wallace, Ward and Weis. Total 32.

The adoption of amendments by the senate necessitates returning the bill to the house for repassage.

Moved to Kill Bill.

When the senate reconvened yesterday afternoon, Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota, chairman of the senate finance committee, to which the boxing bill was referred Saturday when Senator O. O. Sageng forced re-reference, reported that the committee recommended the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Senator Rockne moved adoption of the committee's report.

Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia urged the friends of the bill to vote against adoption of the committee report.

Senators R. C. Dunn of Princeton and J. D. Sullivan of St. Cloud took exceptions to the attitude of the finance committee, which had assumed to pass upon the legislative policy of the bill when the measure was referred to the finance committee solely on technical grounds, and after the public health committee and the committee on cities of the first class had recommended the bill for passage. Senator Dunn urged the senate to place the bill on the order of its passage so that a roll call could be registered and the bill be passed or killed squarely on this basis.

Senator Sullivan and Senator Frank E. Putnam of Blue Earth joined Senator Dunn and declared they did not like to see the bill killed in this roundabout manner. They said that while they would vote against passage of the bill, they wanted to see fair play and a registration, squarely, of the vote for and against the measure when it was on the order of its passage.

Senator Rockne renewed his motion for the adoption of the finance committee report and on this motion, which was lost, the roll call was as follows:

Those voting nay were: Adams, Baldwin, Bonniwell, Buckler, Callahan, A. S. Campbell, W. A. Campbell, Carley, Collester, Denegre, R. C. Dunn, W. W. Dunn, Gardner, Gjerset, Griggs, Grose, Handlan, Healy, Hegnes, Hilbert, Holmberg, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, Knopp, McGarry, Millett, Nelson, Nord, O'Neill, Pauly, G. M. Peterson, Putnam, Rice, Rustad, Steffen, G. H. Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Swenson, Turnham, Van Hoven, Vibert, Wallace, Weis and Westlake. Total—45.

Those voting yea were: Alley, Andrews, Benson, Blomgren, Duxbury, Dwinnell, Gandrud, Gillam, Hanson, Lende, Lobeck, Orr, Palmer, E. P. Peterson, F. H. Peterson, Potter, Rockne, Rystrom, Sageng, Vermilya and Ward. Total—21.

Salary Cut Out.

Senator Griggs then offered an amendmend, which was adopted, cutting out the appropriation for the salary of the secretary of the commission, which would be created by the bill.

Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter then offered an amendment, providing for elimination of that clause of the bill which provides for the payment of 10 per cent of the gross receipts of all matches to aid in the fight against tuberculosis.

This proposed amendment was advocated by Senators Benson, Sageng and Lobeck, who declared the contribution of a portion of the receipts from boxing matches to the anti-tuberculosis cause was a bribe offered the legislature and the people of Minnesota to permit something that was not right. But the Benson amendment was lost.

Senator Lobeck, in speaking against passage of the bill, read a number of newspaper sporting page accounts for various prizefights, beginning with that account which described the killing of Luther McCarty at Calgary, Alberta, by Arthur Pelkey, May 24, 1913, and going on through the accounts down to the description of the death of "Bull" Young, in California; in a bout with Jesse Willard, who recently won the world's championship from Jack Johnson at Havana.

Denied Rumors of Trades.

Senator J. W. Andrews of Mankato, explaining his vote, took occasion formally to deny rumors that he had traded or offered in trade votes for the boxing bill for vote in favor of the anti-Mayo foundation bill, which he has been supporting actively. He declared that he had been subjected to abuse without cause as a result of unfounded rumors.

Senator Albert L. Ward of Fairmont, renewing attacks made on the bill Saturday and attacks made on Senator Andrews for his position on the bill, declared "the senator from Mankato had been bribed."

This brought Senator Andrews to his feet with a heated denial of the charge hurled across the chamber by Senator Ward.

Senator Ward, explaining his charge, said there were many forms of bribery, but that "it was all bribery just the same."

Senator Frank L. Palmer of Minneapolis arose to explain that the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. and the state board of the Y. M. C. A. were opposed to the bill. He also said that the boards and members of twenty-one Minneapolis churches had appealed to him to oppose the bill.

Senator Griggs, answering Senator Palmer, pointed out that the Y. M. C. A. institutions taught boxing and held boxing bouts as part of athletic meets and exhibitions. Senator Palmer admitted this. Senator Griggs then read the present law to make his point that the Y. M. C. A. organizations of various cities were breaking the laws of the state in this regard.

More Brutality in Football.

Senator William A. Campbell of Minneapolis, speaking for the bill, declared that more brutality could be seen on the University of Minnesota football campus than would be seen at any time in the boxing arena. He also related incidents which he said he had witnessed in the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A., when boxing matches were staged.

Senator Olai A. Lende of Canby attacked the bill, citing Hudson, Wis., as a "horrible example," where the lower elements of society gathered to witness boxing bouts. He declared that if these matches were a good thing in the big cities, they should be a good thing in small villages and in rural communities.

"But, no," said Senator Lende, "they must be confined to cities, where the police protection is ample. That's the reason. The crowds which follow the fighters are of a character that need constant police surveillance."

Senator C. W. Gillam of Windom, declared that while he favored all sports, he could not vote for the bill in view of the history of prize fighting everywhere. He recalled the incidents of the last big fight held with police permission in Minneapolis, when, he declared, principals, officials and spectators became involved in a free-for-all row and that twenty-five police officers with drawn revolvers were required to clear the hall and re-establish order.

Opposition From Fanaticism.

Senator R. C. Dunn said that while he had never attended a prize fight in his life, he favored the bill, and intimated that opposition to the bill was due to fanaticism. He cited Col. Roosevelt and other prominent men in the country who boxed and favored boxing. He said he could see nothing wrong, immoral or degrading in the bill or what it would permit.

Senator William S. Dwinnell of Minneapolis said that the bill was commercializing a brutal sport. He said he believed the enactment of the law would mark the return of conditions to those that obtained in the "old prize fighting days." He said Minneapolis, which would be one of the beneficiaries under the bill, did not want the act.

Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter, taking up the matter of Col. Roosevelt's interest in the sport, read from a recent number of the Outlook to show that while Col. Roosevelt had favored the sport for the sport's sake alone, he was opposed to the disorderly gatherings which marked many public boxing contests. He urged the senate to vote down the bill.

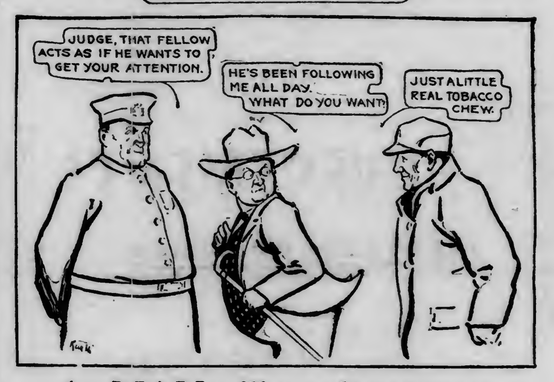
PEDAGOGS TO MEET SENIORS

Central Students Expect Exciting Contest on Indoor Diamond.



Fourth-Year Men Plan to "Get Even" for All Past Punishment.

After several postponments the annual indoor baseball game between the seniors and the faculty of the Central high school will be played tomorrow afternoon in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. The game has caused considerable interest among the students and teachers of the school, and it is expected that there will be a full gallery when the contest begins.

The pedagogues have been practicing hard for several days with the intention of most ingloriously mauling their juniors and thus add much more to the misery of the fourth-year students. From a list of at least forty candidates, the manager of the faculty aggregation has had a hard job in picking a team. Several men will be used at one position, thus giving each man a chance. The faculty warriors will have Schilling, who, although not a "regular" teacher, has been allowed to play because he is connected with the school. There will be many other players on the "old men's" team who will be just as proficient, and the team should be able to give the younger players a better showing than has been customary in the past.

Not intending that the faculty team shall "get away with anything," the senior boys have put in a couple of strenuous afternoons at practice. They have loosened up the stiff joints, and

THE OFFICER UNDERSTOOD THE REASON.

A MAN will go a long way to get the Real Tobacco Chew. Once he learns its satisfying quality he just can't be contented with the old kind.

The longer he knows it the better he likes it and the more he talks about it to his friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your feeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

FABRE WINS RACE; FIFTH ATTEMPT

Boston Marathon Has Thrilling and Close Finish; Veterans Lead.

Boston, Mass., April 20.—Edouard Fabre of the Richmond Athletic club, Montreal, achieved success yesterday in his fifth attempt to win the annual marathon run of the Boston Athletic association. His time, which was slow because of the excessive heat, was 2 hours, 31 minutes, 41 1-5 seconds. The record for the course is 2:21:18 1-5, made by M. J. Ryan of New York in 1912 when Fabre finished in eighth place.

Last year Fabre lost the race to James Duffy, another Canadian runner, by sixty yards. In 1913 he was fifth, when Fritz Carlson of Minneapolis won the race, and in 1911 he finished third, Clarence de Mar of Dorchester winning.

Fabre lost the race last year at Coolidge Corner within sight of the finish and won it at the same place this year through the collapse of High Honohan of New York. For twenty-two and one-half miles Honohan virtually set the pace, eliminating first Zuna of New York, then Morchant of Everett and at last Pores of New York, which gave him a lead of nearly ten minutes, with five easy miles to go. But Fabre and C. J. Horne of Dorchester, another veteran, were running strong behind him, and when stomach trouble overtook Honohan at Coolidge Corner they were soon in the lead and fighting for supremacy.

Horne was the first to dash by the exhausted Honohan, but Fabre was right at his heels, and the two raced down the long incline of Beacon street with the clubhouse in sight. As they mounted the slight rise in the last mile, Fabre's better condition enabled him to push by Horne and from there to the finish he reaped the prize which Duffy had snatched from him the year before.

Honohan struggled to his feet as Horne and Fabre passed him, but he was not strong enough to stop Hatch of Chicago from taking third place and at the finish he had only thirteen seconds to spare as fourth man over Byrne of New York. The race was run in summer weather with scarcely any breeze to refresh the contestants, who were badly baked, as they struggled up the southern slopes of the two big Newton hills. From the spectators' standpoint, the weather was ideal. It is estimated that nearly 250,000 persons lined the twenty-five miles, while many followed the runners in motor cars.

Documents containing details of the vessel's cargo and the ports for which she is bound are called the ship's "manifest."

WHITE SOX RECRUITS ARE ASSEMBLING IN DULUTH

Darby O'Brien Due Back From Cleveland to Start His Rookies.

Ralph Bell, Star Southpaw Twirler, May Join the Dooks.

Harry Blume did not leave for Winnipeg the day before yesterday, as his associates stated, but instead went fishing. The genial magnate was back on the job today, getting an early shave and wishing on a spring smile for receiving the new recruits.

Darby O'Brien is expected back from Cleveland some time today. Late this afternoon the recruits are scheduled to gather at Athletic park for the first tryout of the season. The gathering of today, however, will be more in the nature of an introduction and general get-together fest than a real workout.

Jimmy Collins may return with O'Brien. In case the favorite of the fair sex does come back to the Sox, he will become one of the garden chasers.

Listen to This News.

Magnate Blume is authority for the statement that there is some chance that Ralph Bell, the great southpaw pitcher of last year's Winona team, may be with the Sox this season.

Blume stated that O'Brien has been offered an option on the services of Bell, and that there is a chance that the deal will be closed today. Bell is a sweet twirler, there is not the least doubt in the world of that fact.

Not only are the candidates for the Duluth team assembling today, but this is also the date for the gathering of all of the teams of the Northern league. Fred Curtis has his men ready for the call in Superior, and on the home lots of all of the other towns of the circuit the ball players are starting to get the kinks out of their systems in preparation for the season that starts on May 6.

Following are the Northern league managers, who today are looking over the recruits:

Darby O'Brien, Duluth White Sox.
Fred Curtis, Superior Red Sox.
Roy Patterson, Winnipeg Franchise Grabbers.
Billy Fox, Grand Forks Flickertails.
Col. Bob Unglaub, Fargo Uhlans.
Charley Moll, St. Boniface Frog-Eaters.
Denny Sullvan, Fort William Fort Bills.
J. Sundheim, Virginia Rangers.

Loads of Green Material.

Because of the reduction of salaries in the Northern league, due to the determination of the league officials to enforce the $1,400 club salary rule, which includes the salary of the manager, there will be a lot of young players trying out for positions on the various teams, the youngsters being glad of the opportunity to work for lower wages than was paid to the average ball player last year.

On the other hand it is claimed by John Burmeister and managers of the league that this is an off year in so far as the demand for baseball players is concerned and that players are a drug on the market, thus causing a condition that will enable the managers of the various teams of the circuit to secure able and experienced ball players for comparatively low salaries.

If a stipulated salary rule is rigidly enforced all through the impending season, the fact will serve as a record in this league. In former years the larger cities of the league boosted the salary figures shortly after the opening of the season, and as a result the teams of the smaller towns were generally out of the race after the first month or two.

President Burmeister—A. H. Pulford, to the contrary notwithstanding—has promised that the salary limit rule will be strictly observed by all of the managers and owners of the league, and that the first offender will be punished with a heavy fine.

How About Duluth?

One of the penalties attached to the winning of a pennant in the bushes, is that all of the star performers of the winning team are generally grabbed off. This rule was horribly exemplified in the case of Duluth. Blancke, Cunningham and Brackett, three of the stars of the team, were plucked. Then in addition, Bond, the sweetest hitter in the league; Edmunds, Withers and Ezell will not be back.

It will require some real tinkering to fill the gaping hole. O'Brien says he can do it. Blume dittos into the argument. The fans are on the fence and waiting for the Missouri once over.

Practice games between teams made up of the recruits will start on April 25. Later games with some of the other teams of the league will be held.

O'BRIEN BRINGS BALL PLAYERS TO THE CITY.

Darby O'Brien arrived here shortly before noon today with "Sticks" Bryant, Murray, Cardinal, Croake, Wolfe, Brammell, Boley, McLain and Alvin in his band. All of these players will start work today. Dad Ford is here and will also join the squad. Word was brought back by Darby that Jimmy Collins would not join the squad until a week later at least.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Philosopher and Statesman, signer of the Declaration of Independence. Founder of American Philosophical Society, 1743. Ambassador to France, 1776-85.

Benj. Franklin Nourished With Beer

AUTHOR OF "POOR RICHARD" UNDERSTOOD REAL TEMPERANCE

Benjamin Franklin says, "Be sober and temperate and you will be healthy."

It is Franklin who, in the story of his early struggles, tells how, with a room-mate in London, he subsisted upon "only half an anchovy each, on a very little strip of bread, and half a pint of ale between us."

This well-loved American, whose wineglass is still treasured by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, lived to the good age of 84. At 81 he received a visit from the Rev. Manasseh Cutler who records in his journal that he "was delighted with the vivacity of his mental faculties notwithstanding his age."

The barley brews and light wines used by Franklin have their modern equivalent in natural beer.

DULUTH GIVES THE WORLD A "DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES"

A draught beer in bottles has come at last. Kieselguhr filtration, the simple process of filtering the natural beer through Kieselguhr filters, gives to the world that supposed paradox, "a draught beer in bottles."

Who has not noted the difference between the rich, creamy beers drawn from wood in a Rathskeller and the flat, tastelessness of pasteurized beer in bottles?

Fitger Natural Beer in bottles is Natural, like the creamy brews of a Rathskeller. It has all the fragrance, rich character and indescribable taste of pungent hops and wholesome barley malt that characterizes the richest brews as drawn fresh from the wood. It has, besides, *a crystal purity and sparkling brilliancy that unfiltered beer cannot possess.

ON THE IRON RANGES

DEFECTS FOUND IN WHITE WAY POSTS

Leaks of Electricity Possible in Standards of Hibbing's System.

Hibbing, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—As soon as the new water and light board is organized some action may be taken on the report and survey of the power plant here, recently made by the consulting engineers.

It is certain, members of the board say, that some changes will be made in the present plant. Several leaks in the white way system will be stopped. Among one of the dangers exposed by the engineers was the fact that the standards were not sealed at the bottom. This, they declared, will result in moisture getting in the conduits and effecting a short circuit.

In overhauling the new plant and installing new machinery to make it possible to generate all electricity used by the village, the engineers submitted three plans, all of which will nearly double the present efficiency, cost of production and distribution of current. It also submitted several plans for a new building and entirely new plant.

Only Recently Built.

The water and light board members look with disfavor on changing the location of the plant because the new heating system, costing more than $15,000 was installed last year. Were the location of the plant changed, this would be almost a total waste.

Three types of high efficiency engines have been recommended by the engineers who also reported favorably of the Deisel oil engines, which they were asked to report on following the urging of a representative of an oil engine firm that the merits of these engines be investigated before any decision is reached. One new engine will be purchased, although because of the heating system it is probable that a steam machine will be bought.

The boiler at the power house has been condemned. A big belt, connecting a dynamo, and a high-powered engine also has been declared unsafe. The switchboard, the engineers said, is absolutely inadequate.

LETS SCHOOL CONTRACT.

Our Lady of Lourdes Church Closes Deal With St. Paul Concern.

Virginia, Minn., April 20.—Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church society has given the General Contracting company of St. Paul the contract to build the parochial school to be built by the society for $47,000. The work will begin within a short time. The building will be constructed on lots adjoining the church on Poplar street, excavation for the basement of the same having been made some time ago.

The building will be constructed of stone and brick and will be as nearly fireproof as it will be possible to build it. The building will contain ten classrooms, an auditorium and gymnasium, bathrooms, toilet rooms, etc. The contract price does not include, however, the heating, plumbing, ventilating, wiring, etc., or the furnishing thereof.

When the new building is completed it is expected that between 300 and 400 pupils will attend, thus reducing the number of scholars now attending the public schools that amount. Eight grades will be established and all studies now in vogue at the public schools will be taught at the parochial school, preparing the pupils to enter the high school upon the completion of their work in the eighth grade.

IS GRANTED DIVORCE.

Virginia Woman, Legally Separated From Husband, Now Doing Time.

Virginia, Minn., April 20.—On the grounds of desertion Mrs. Edna Toutloff was granted a divorce from her husband Elmer J. Toutloff, by Judge Fesler in district court. She can resume her maiden name of Miss Edna Strolberg.

The couple were married in Virginia on April 6, 1912. On September 24, 1914, Toutloff was sentenced by the district court of Crow Wing county to imprisonment in the state reformatory and is still confined there. MAKE ELY LAKE SUMMER RESORT

Eveleth Commercial Club Starts Movement at Meeting.

Eveleth, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club last night launched a movement for a summer resort and park at the eastern end of Ely lake, or Cedar Island lake as it is more properly called. This action was taken at the suggestion of Councilman Joseph S. Wilson, commissioner of parks, and the club will have his co-operation in bringing about that result.

The first step to be taken will be to induce the Mesaba Railway company to build a track to the lake and run electric cars there. If a track is secured the success of the park will be assured. The city controls 160 acres of ground which makes an ideal park fronting on the lake and private owners of property on the lake at the eastern end would improve it as a resort if transportation to the lake is provided.

Might Haul Pupils Too.

In putting the proposition up to the trolley people the Commercial club committee will call attention to the fact that in addition to the lake traffic there are the school children to transport to Eveleth. This is done by team at present. It might also be arranged so that the railway company could deliver coal at the city pumping station, hauling that is now being done by team from Davis siding.

The club also went on record as in favor of a larger appropriation from the legislature than the state board of health. The board will be seriously handicapped if the present appropriation stands. Assistance cannot be given to towns of the state in handling epidemics, and other important duties must be passed up for lack of funds. Night letters were dispatched to the representative from this district, the speaker of the house and to the chairman of the finance committee.

DISTRESSING CONDITIONS.

Russian Poland Harried By Invaders, Writes Virginian's Brother.

Virginia, Minn., April 20.—In a letter received by Stanley Andzcjozyk of this city from his brother, Paul Andzcjozyk of Myszyinec, in the province of Lonlza, Russian Poland, the horrible conditions caused by the world war are told. The brother of the local man had not been called to join the army yet, but he reports that nearly every able-bodied man is now fighting in the ranks.

For many miles about their city it is said that the Germans have devastated property and taken all of the food and produce they could use. All of the horses, cattle, grain, potatoes, straw, hay and even some of the more valuable furniture was taken, so the letter reads.

Thousands of the residents of this district were forced to leave the cities and go into the woods in order to secure enough food to prevent starvation. It is expected that the conditions will be greatly improved with the advent of spring.

Cooler; yes. Delightful; also yes. In fact, you bet! So perfect does the weather continue and so long has it been this way that it is the subject of wonder and conversation throughout the city. Lots of people, banking on the unusual warmth for this time of the year, are predicting an unusually hot summer. Nobody, as yet, has suggested that it is due to the 100,000-mile spot on the sun, which some people have been viewing through smoked glasses of late. At any rate it is fine, so who cares about the cause; results are what count.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 5:11 and will set this evening at 7:03, giving thirteen hours and fifty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Rather high temperature prevailed Monday over the lake region and Central Valley states, but cooler weather has developed over the Red River valley and Lakes Superior and Michigan. During the last twenty-four hours rain fell over Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, Northeastern North Dakota, Northwestern Wyoming and Quebec."

BODY TO ISHPEMING.

Interment of Late Hibbing Woman Is Made There.

Ishpeming, Mich., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Mrs. Edward Locher, who died last Saturday at Hibbing, Minn., aged 38, arrived here yesterday and burial was made here.

The announcement of the death of Mrs. Locher was a surprise to relatives and friends in Ishpeming, as they had not been informed that she was ill. She was very well known in Marquette county as her family had lived in Marquette and Negaunee, as well as in Ishpeming. She was married here about fourteen years ago. For some time prior to her marriage Mrs. Locher worked as a waitress for the late Charles Conway. She was a daughter of John Sullivan, who has been living at Hibbing for several years past. She is survived by her husband and five children.

Rapids Birthday Party.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Aura McMahon entertained a number of the little friends of her 2-year-old daughter, Lorayne, in honor of her second birthday. Those present were Bernice and Jennie Longhurst, Jeanette Becker, Luella McDonald, Grace and Eunice Maddy, Josephine, Ina and Minnie Underwood, Erma and Myrtle De Shaw and Vera Le Febvre. Lorayne received numerous pretty presents.

Sobered in Night.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Louis, the Joker," a character around town, who was arrested Sunday on a drunk and disorderly charge and asked to be sentenced to ninety days in the county jail, but after spending a night in the village lockup and getting sober he was released.

Itasca Land Sale.

NEW TURKEY, SAYS PASHA

territory there, while England already had operated against Mesopotamia and had concentrated a fleet before the Dardanelles. We were unwilling to start the ball rolling, and even after the Russians attacked our fleet in the Black sea, we still waited one week before war was declared.

Took Only Course.

"We knew that Turkey would again be led to the slaughter block. Being unwilling that this should happen, we took the only course open. We Turks feel that we have a right to exist, especially when the best of us are straining every effort and are catching up with other countries in intellectual and material development. I believe that there is much good in the Turkish people, contrary to what our traducers say. At any rate we are about to prove it.

"There was a time when Turkey was merely a government clique, which was not trusted by the people, but gradually the people are beginning to feel that they themselves are Turkey. I think that this is the healthiest sign here today, and there also is the promise that the progress of all civil life will be repaid.

"We are taking care of our troops today. Hence their loyalty. Formerly a man was given a rifle and had to shift for himself; today we see that his land is cultivated in his absence. Each village has this system—while a man is at the front, his neighbors till his soil."

To the question as to what was responsible for the better quality of troops, which had been so very apparent, Enver Pasha replied:

Discharged Old Officers.

"When I reached the head of the army, I discharged on my second day in office about 3,000 old officers who formerly had been merely a burden on the Ottoman military establishment. Next I made every effort to have the common soldier feel that he was part of the service instead of the subject of it. It can hardly be believed the difference this made. The men now have an esprit de corps."

Replying to questions as to the present status of the campaign, the generalissimo said:

"Conditions in the Caucasus are more satisfactory. Regarding the situation in the Dardanelles, I will say we are fully confident that it has been demonstrated that fighting down the forts there will be a huge task for the allies. But even should that happen, we would still be masters of the situation there by means of howitzers, mines and a fleet, which is not so inconsiderable as some think. The allies coming up the strait would be obliged to move in single file, and the effectiveness of our protective measures should be apparent."

In view of the fact that some excitement has been observed in Turkey because of the export of arms and ammunition from the United States to the powers of the Triple Entente, particularly Russia, Enver Pasha was asked for his views on this subject and replied:

"The matter has occupied us for some time—even the populace—but you may have noticed that there has been no anti-American outbreak on that account.

Not Savages.

"We are not savages who hold the innocent responsible for something not their fault. There are still living in this city under the nominal protection of your embassy plenty of English and French. They have not been molested despite the fact that our own people have not been treated kindly by France and England. Young Turkey is ready to demonstrate that no particular group holds a monopoly on gentlemanliness, and so we shall continue taking the best care of everybody, no matter what the provocation."

Speaking of Turkey after the war, Enver Pasha said:

"Turkey will emerge from this war truly united and stronger than ever. The war is popular with the people now because it has given the government an opportunity to demonstrate that it takes an interest in the people and is for the people.

Called Everybody to Arms.

"Not wishing to show favors, we called everybody able to serve, to arms, with the result that we got more than we needed. Many of the surplus men are now building roads everywhere, even railroads. During the last month we completed fifteen kilometers in Anatolia, and during the last three months, forty kilometers, so constructed, were given over to traffic. In Syria also we have built a line toward the Suez canal.

"In addition, the war has brought together under a superior class of officers 2,000,000 men, and the schooling given them is bound to result in good. We are fostering the spirit here that one must work for others also and that the old era of 'Devil take the hindmost' is over."

The war minister, commenting on the work of the Associated Press correspondent in Turkey, said that it had been straightforward, conditions having been described as they were, and added that he had given orders that the correspondent be permitted to go anywhere.

Hold Memorial Service.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 20.—About 2,000 striking miners assembled today at Dillonvale, Ohio, where a memorial service for the men killed in the Colorado strike last year was held. From Dillonvale they planned to march to Maynard and Bellaire, Ohio, for other meetings, with a night meeting at Wheeling Creek. They were addressed by a number of their leaders.

WHY HAIR SEEMS STICKY AND STRINGY

The reason may be surpfising because it is so simple—both are the result of improper cleansing. Often the materials used for cleansing remain upon the hair instead of being rinsed out, as should be the case. This is especially true of egg shampoos and a number of preparations recommended for a hundred uses, from polishing metal to beautifying the skin. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo, by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

Silberstein Is Investigating Two Cases Passed on By Hicken.

Will Not Change Decision If Hicken Had Correct Information.

Charles Carlson will be denied permission to reopen his saloon at 513 West Superior street, which was closed by Former Commissioner Hicken several months ago, while William Carlson may be refused a renewal of his license at 324 Central avenue, according to Commissioner Silberstein.

The head of the public safety division said this morning that he is now investigating the applications of the two Carlson brothers and that in all probability they will both be prohibited from operating saloons in Duluth. The two brothers also conduct a liquor store on West First street.

Before leaving office yesterday noon, Mr. Hicken explained to Commissioner Silberstein the facts connected with the two brothers and recommended that the council refuse to permit the reopening of the Stockholm saloon at 513 West Superior street and the renewal of the Central avenue saloon license. Both applications are now being investigated and a report is expected before they come up for final action on May 3.

ELOPE FROM BARRON AND WED IN DULUTH

Friends Inquire About Whereabouts of Young People.

When Clark Wesley Brown and Miss Merlyn Davy Grover, both of Barron county, Wis., decided to get married, they did not advise their friends or relatives but quietly slipped away and had the knot tied.

They selected Duluth as their Gretna Green and yesterday while the "folks" and friends were becoming concerned over their disappearance, they were negotiating for a marriage license in Duluth.

Friends of the principals of the runaway match learned of their whereabouts through the police department which investigated the matter for the anxious ones at home.

After securing a license, they were married and returned to their home in Barron county.

LOG DRIVES STILL HELD UP

Mills Down Mississippi May Feel Shortage of Timber.

The continuation of the drouth in the north woods is threatening to delay the big log drives indefinitely. If heavy rains do not come soon, logging men say the drives may be delayed until next year, which would seriously handicap the sawmills in and about the Twin Cities. As the logs sent to Duluth are shipped by rail, no such result would be possible at the Head of the Lakes.

"The drives should have started before this," said a logging man today, "but there has been no high water this spring. The snow literally evaporated and there has been no appreciable rise in the streams up north. The Weyerhaeusers and other large lumber firms of the Twin Cities, Little Falls, and other cities along the Mississippi depend upon the drives to supply them with timber.

"The conditions are all the more serious in view of the fact that lumbermen look for a big boom in lumber as soon as the war situation becomes settled, and improvements are begun again throughout the country. Already the situation is looking brighter for lumbermen, and inquiries are coming in faster than for many months. With the stock market and all kinds of grain making sensational advances, lumber should at least feel the stimulus and in time show marked changes for the better.

"There is a good supply of logs at the Head of the Lakes, however, and the mills will be kept in operation throughout the season. Should there be any scarcity of logs for the mills down the Mississippi, it would in a measure create greater demand for Duluth lumber."

RECEPTION DAY AT THE CITY HALL

Today is reception day at the city hall.

Both Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell and their appointees were the recipients of many congratulations during the morning, while hundreds of Duluthians dropped in "just to shake hands."

Dr. E. W. Fahey, the new director of public health, occupied his offices for the first time today, as did Henry F. Greene, who was elected city attorney yesterday. His assistants, William Harrison and Walter Gonska, were both on the job this morning.

Dr. Fahey said that there will be no radical changes in his department, but that he is now going over the entire division and getting acquainted with the work. He was health director under Mayor McCuen, so that the work is not new to him at all. He announced that he will appoint Dr. Harry Klein as health surgeon to succeed Dr. J. J. Murphy and that the former will take office at once.

F. E. Culver, secretary to Commissioner Farrell, was on the job this morning, while Lyonel Ayres, who was appointed city engineer, will take office in a day or two. John Wilson, the present engineer, will continue until May 1 and will show Mr. Ayres the work of the department and acquaint the latter with its features.

City Clerk Palmer will continue until Thursday, when Walter Borgen will return from St. Paul to take charge of the office. Mr. Borgen is a clerk in the state legislature and he plans to remain at the capitol until the legislature adjourns at noon Thursday.

"BLIND PURCHASES" AT AUCTION SALE

Western Express Company Will Sell Uncalled for Parcels Thursday.

"Blind purchases" will be the rule at the annual auction sale of the Western Express company to be held Thursday at 114 West First street.

All uncalled-for articles that have collected during the last year, will be placed on sale at the public auction, which will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning, continuing until the goods are sold.

No one, not even the auctioneer, knows what is in the packages and the purchaser "buys blind." Sometimes a large package contains a bunch of cotton, while a small two-by-four parcel is the home of a set of pearl cuff links or a diamond tiara—sometimes.

According to the management, everything collected during the year will be placed on sale and some of the packages include a self-starter, lightning rods, baby shoes and almost anything else that might be sent through the express.

TRAFFIC TROUBLES ARE NOT ABATING

One Arrest for Speeding and Delivery Car Turns Turtle.

FLAUNTING a "safety first" sign, and going at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour along Superior street, Raymond E. Ward, age 22, was arrested last night, charged with exceeding the speed limit.

It was the second case of traffic trouble called to police attention during the day, the first being an accident at Ninth avenue east and Superior street, when Harry Brusell, age 21, narrowly escaped serious injury as the delivery car he was driving turned turtle.

Patrolman Duff timed Ward as he raced along the block between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west and Superior street and decided that he was going altogether too fast. He was released on $10 bail and will be given a hearing in municipal court April 23.

The delivery car driven by Young Brusell became unruly and ran into the curb, tipping clear over and pinning the driver to the pavement. He crawled out without a scratch. A companion also was unhurt. The car, owned by Axel Anderson, butcher, 527 East Fourth street, was damaged badly.

JUST A SOCIAL CALL.

But Father Is Fined for Visiting Daughter Late in Evening.

It is natural for a father to want to see his daughter once in awhile, at least, but when Frank Kmiecick, age 55, tried to pay his child a call last night, he was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

The daughter is employed as a domestic with a family living in the Chatham flats, 10 East Second street.

Shortly before 10 o'clock last night Kmiecick went to the apartments, and not knowing which door was the right one, aroused several families in his search.

A telephone call for police brought Patrolman A. Callahan, who took Kmiecick to headquarters. In municipal court this morning the erring father paid a $7 fine.

THOUGHT IT WAS "BLUFF."

Signer Johnson Didn't See Star; Arrested Second Time.

"I didn't see any policeman's star, and I thought somebody was trying to get away with a bluff," explained Signar Johnson, age 21, who failed to appear in municipal court Saturday and who was arrested and brought in yesterday.

Johnson was driving on the wrong side of the street Friday afternoon, and was arrested. He was released upon his promise to be in court the next morning, and failed to show up. Officer George Wood arrested him a second time Monday, and Johnson paid a $7 fine.

It was the first arrest for driving on the wrong side of the street made this year, according to police.

WHEN POLICE KILL TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE

After Joe McDonnell, age 21, was arrested yesterday for disorderly conduct, police discovered that they had a warrant for his arrest on a more serious charge and killed two birds with one stone.

McDonnell is alleged to have made out a check for $20 on the City National bank of Blackduck, Minn., a mythical institution, and cashed it. Charles G. Engstrom, 520 West Superior street, swore out a warrant charging attempt to defraud, on April 5, and the authorities have been waiting for McDonnell to return to Duluth since that time.

In municipal court this morning a hearing on the case was continued until tomorrow afternoon.

LIVING MODELS AT GRAND.

Artistic Posing of Four Milos Features Excellent New Show.

The Four Milos in an expostion of living statuary proved an attractive headliner at the popular New Grand theater yesterday. Both the vaudeville and pictures comprising the new bill were of a high class for a popular-priced show house, and the large crowds were well pleased. The whole show was full of snap and go and there was good variety and plenty of comedy.

The Four Milos, consisting of two men and two women, did some clever work in a variety of poses. The grouping and artistic posing of the four brought forth much applause, and the shapeliness of the figures and the elimination of anything that might be considered offensive added greatly to the popularity of the act.

Miss Hazel Morris, popular singing comedienne, with her fresh and breezy air and excellent voice, proved one of the favorites of the new show. She wears several handsome gowns which adds to her attractiveness.

Stone and Kink "pull" some clever nonsense and also sing some very good songs in a pleasing manner.

Fred and May Waddell offers a variety of pleasing entertainment. Fred's monologues are particularly witty and Miss Waddell's songs are of the popular sort.

In the photoplay program Sidney Drew stars in an interesting film-story called "Between the Two of Them." Broncho Billy Anderson, a particular favorite with the youngsters, appeared at his best in "The Face on the Curtain." A couple of clever and comedy films helped round out the excellent program.

Theater Gossip.

This is a "big week" at the Lyceum theater. "The Lure," which is this week's bill of the Baldwin Players, is proving a good drawing card. It will continue until Thursday night, with the usual matinee Wednesday and a special matinee for women only on Thursday.

Friday the Ziegfeld Follies will open a two days' engagement, giving a matinee Saturday, and on Sunday the Baldwin Players will return for a matinee and evening performance of "Charley's Aunt." The stock company will take a one day's rest Monday, while Maude Adams appears in "Quality Street" and on Tuesday will return for the remainder of the week.

The advance sale for both the Follies and Maude Adams has been heavy.

In the Ziegfeld organization there are more than one hundred and fifty celebrated musical comedy entertainers. The piece is in two acts and eighteen elaborate scenes. Bert Williams, Leon Errol, Vera Michelena, Louise Meyers, Ed Wynn, Anna Pennington, Arthur Deagon, Stella Chatelaine, Herbert Clifton, J. Bernard Dyllyn, C. Morton Horne, Johnny Dove, Kay Laurell, May Carmen, Gladys Feldman, Jean Barrett, Lottie Vernon, Dorothy Newell, Addison Young, Arthur Rose, and Dorothy Godfrey are among the important entertainers.

Marie Nordstrom, who in private life is Mrs. Henry E. Dixey, crowds her distinguished husband at the Orpheum closely for theatrical laurels. Miss Nordstrom is an exceedingly attractive and most capable actress. Her most recent hit was scored as Fanny, in "Bought and Paid For."

MARIE NORDSTROM AT ORPHEUM

For vaudeville purposes, Frances Nordstrom, her sister, has arranged a divertisement called "Bits of Acting." This is the assembling of a number of choice theatrical morsels into a whole. The work of putting them together has been accomplished with considerable care and gives Miss Nordstrom an opportunity of showing her remarkable versatility as the bits range from farce to tragedy, thereby affording Miss Nordstrom the chance of sounding practically every human note.

"The Cowboy and the Lady," in which B. A. Rolfe is starring S. Miller Kent, formerly the star of "Raffles," is being presented at the Rex today and Tuesday.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" was staged in the exact locale of the play, as written by Clyde Fitch, and when seen here will be embellished over the stage production by the addition of a few big additional scenes and numberless climaxes.

Mr. Kent, one of the stage's matinee idols, fits admirably into the part of Young Worth and plays the role with as much vim and enthusiasm as characterized his stage performance.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" is in five parts, contains two hundred scenes and required a cast of two hundred players.

KITCHENER GRATIFIED BY RESPONSE OF RECRUITS

London, April 20.—"War Secretary Kitchener is very gratified at the response of the nation to the recruiting appeals," Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George told the house of commons this afternoon. The speaker added that the government did not believe the war could be more successfully prosecuted by means of conscription.

NINE RUNS FOR FIREMEN

Nine alarms, with as many blazes, entailing a loss of about $2,000, kept firemen busy from noon Monday until this afternoon. Six of the alarms responded to were on account of fires set by citizens to burn grass.

Aside from a blaze at the factory of the Diamond Calk Horse Shoe company, Forty-seventh avenue west and Grand, starting about 4 p. m. yesterday, the loss in each case was nominal. At this factory, hot iron set oil drippings and caused a loss of $1,500, covered by insurance.

Early yesterday afternoon there was a grass fire at 727 East Superior street.

At 6:58 p. m. there was a grass fire at Central avenue and Cody street.

At 8:52 a grass fire at Forty-sixth avenue east and Gladstone caused some trouble.

At 5:57 a. m. grass fires caught on a woodshed in the rear of 120 East Eighth street and caused a small loss.

At 9:12 a. m. there was a chimney fire at Twentieth avenue west and Second street.

At 10:15 a. m. apparatus from engine house No. 6 responded to a grass fire at Fifty-fourth avenue east and Glenwood.

At 12:25 p. m. there was a sawdust fire at the Duluth Ice company's plant, Twenty-first avenue west and Water street. Damage was nominal.

ASSEMBLY KILLS WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Wisconsin House Rejects Resolution Submitting Vote to People.

Madison, Wis., April 20.—The death knell of woman suffrage in this legislature was sounded today when the lower house rejected the Bradley resolution to submit the question to a vote of the people. The vote was 49 to 41. A similar measure is pending in the senate, but its enactment is considered improbable.

The assembly adopted the Waldron resolution amending the Constitution enabling a sheriff to succeed himself in office.

Socialistic proposals, designed to permit the state to engage in farming and various industrial and mercantile enterprises, were turned down by the senate.

The same body passed several antivice bills, including one directed against pandering with heavy penalties.

Bills were advanced appropriating $1,200,000 to finish the capitol building and $10,000 for a site for a proposed home for crippled children.

The senate discrimination bill, aimed to prohibit non-equal under-selling of commodities and purporting to adopt certain terms of the Federal anti-trust act on the subject, was among the bills killed.

The senate passed the Bennett bill, limiting the facilities of the medical school at the university of students, physicians and dentists.

The senate adjourned until tomorrow and the assembly until tonight.

MARKET HAS SHARP BREAK

Wheat Sells Off Under Impetus of Liquidation Through Day.

Flaxseed Strong With Good Support From Crushers—Offerings Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 20.—The market was steady around the close, without any special feature.

May wheat closed 2¼c off; July 2⅞c off and September 1¾c off. May durum closed 2c off and July 4c off.

Oats closed ⅛c off at 55¼@55¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.11@1.12 and barley unchanged at from 65c to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅜c off at 66c bid and July ½c off at 66⅛c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.49⅝ bid and calls at $1.54¾ bid.

The wheat market showed a reversal of form this morning. As a result of a flood of selling the Chicago May future broke to the extent of 7c at the outset, and the other American markets ran off in sympathy. As Duluth operators viewed it, with an advance of over 8c showing in a week, the market had been heavily overbought and some reaction was thought to be due. No further export or sales of lower grades of wheat to Eastern millers were reported locally today, and in that connection it is contended that there is practically no contract grade wheat remaining in the elevators here for foreign shipment. "The shipment in old wheat is getting so tight that it may go to any price before new wheat is marketed. I would not be surprised to see it sell up as high as $2, even if there should be no further export business worked," said a trader this morning.

This morning's slump was precipitated through reports of rains in Illinois and intimations that Argentina is underselling the American markets to the extent of 10 or 12c a bu. The advance, furthermore, was inaugurated a week ago through reports of dry conditions in sections of the Southwest, and since then rains have been reported at points. From now on the market will be susceptible to influence through weather reports and sharp movements are predicted from time to time on that score.

As a rule grain men are bullish, and higher prices are predicted, especially in the July future, owing to the interest being shown by exporters in it.

A decrease of 7,000,000 bu in the week was estimated in the world's visible wheat supply report, and clearances from American ports continue heavy, wheat and flour shipments today being placed at 925,000 bu.

May wheat opened ½c off at $1.61 and steadily weakened till a break of 2¼c was recorded at the noon hour. July opened ¼c off at $1.59 and declined 2½c more. September opened ¾c off at $1.24½ and declined 1c more.

Trading in durum was quiet. May declined 1c to $1.74, and July 4c to $1.66.

Flaxseed Turns Strong.

Flaxseed was strong on better inquiry from crushers after yesterday's weakness. This led to a recovery and the recording of moderate advances. It is noted that the trade is continuing to mark time in their operations pending a clearing up of the Argentine and seeding situations.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.98 and closed ¾c up at $1.98¾ asked. July opened unchanged at $2.01 and closed ½c up at $2.01½ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.02¾ and closed ¾c up at $2.03½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1c up at $1.81 asked, and July ⅞c up at $1.83⅞.

At Buenos Aires, April flax closed ⅛c up at $1.17⅝, and London 2⅝c off at $1.91⅞.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Advices received by the Duluth Vessel company today averred that navigation conditions are now satisfactory at lower lake ports. A wire received from Buffalo this morning said: "Weather is very warm, with easterly winds. It looks as if boats will have very little trouble getting in and out of Buffalo now unless we get strong westerly winds immediately. Steamers Harvester and Calcite arrived at Buffalo last night. The Moll, Wickwire and Stadacona cleared today."

C. M. Harrington of the Van Dusen-Harrington company, Minneapolis, was a visitor on the board of trade this morning. He said that his house is receiving encouraging reports regarding soil conditions and the progress of seeding over the Northwest. In some sections, where seeding is well under way, rain is desired, however.

CHICAGO MARKET.

May Wheat Drops Suddenly at Opening, But Soon Recovers Itself.

Chicago, April 20.—An unusual accumulation of small-sized selling orders in the May delivery brought about a lightning-like overthrow of prices today for that option of wheat. As soon, however, as the little rush of selling had spent itself, the market for May quickly recovered and swung into line with other more active speculative deliveries which meanwhile had been only moderately influenced by the weakness of the old crop month, May. In a general way, the chief bearish influence came from vague peace talk and from improved reports regarding the crop outlook in Southern Illinois. After opening unchanged to 7¼c lower, prices steadied at a range ¼ to 2¼c under last night's level.

Selling by cash houses on account of purchases to arrive here from the country tended later to make the market recede. The close was unsettled at ⅝c to 3c net decline.

Corn declined with wheat. The volume of trade, though, was rather light. Opening prices, which varied from ¼@⅜c lower to a shade advance, were followed by a moderate setback all around.

Later some inquiry from the seaboard helped to cause a rally. The close was firm, ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, compared with last night.

The sag in other grain affected oats but not to any radical extent. Buyers were scarce.

Provisions gave way on account of the break in cereals. Nevertheless, selling by longs did not assume more than a scattering character.

Wheat: No. 2 red, nominal; No. 2 hard, $1.61@1.62; corn, No. 2 yellow, 77¾@78c; No. 4 yellow, 75½@76¼c; oats, No. 3 white, 56¾@57¼c; standard, 57½@57¾c; rye, No. 2, $1.16; barley, 75@81c; timothy, $4.50@6.25; clover, $8.00@13.00; pork, $17.47; lard, $10.02; ribs, $9.25@9.75.

STOCKS ARE STRONG LATE

Market Swayed By Conflicting Conditions in Early Trading.

Heavy Buying Sends Up Prices in the Final Hour.

New York, April 20.—Irregular tendencies were again operative at the opening of today's stock market, a natural result of yesterday's confusing close. Rock Island was the feature, with an initial sale of 4,000 shares at 32 to 31, against yesterday's close of 34. Lehigh Valley was the strongest of the railway issues, rising 3 points, with advances of 1 to 3 points in Coppers and some of the specialties, notably Mexican Petroleum. Later the entire list moved forward, a contributing factor being the announcement of a further advance in metal prices.

Uncertainty prevailed throughout the morning session, the market making two distinct recoveries from early declines. Chairman Gary's statement to United States Steel's stockholders were regarded as the keynote to existing speculative conditions. Rock Island rivaled Steel in activity, declining seven points on receivership proceedings. Much of the early selling was traceable to the short interest. Declines in important stocks ran from 1 to 3 points, some specialties suffering more severely. By midday another recovery was in progress. A loss of 1½ to 2 points in Rock Island issues was the feature of the bond list.

Features of the mid-session, during which trading slackened materially, was a rise of 10 points in Bethlehem and further acute weakness in Rock Island issues, the stock declining a total of 13 points.

Today's stock market was swayed by conflicting conditions in the early trading, but became strong later. Substantial gains were made by New Haven, coppers and specialties.

Heavy buying was resumed in the last hour, Amalgamated going to its record price and New Haven making a total gain of 7 points. The closing was strong.

New York, April 20.—Heavy buying was resumed in the last hour, Amalgamated going to its record price and New Haven making a total gain of 7 points. The closing was strong.

BIG ORDERS FOR SHOES.

Russians Arrange to Secure 3,000,000 Pairs in America.

The allied European belligerents are reported to be again coming into the markets in this country in a big way for army shoes.

In addition to the contract for approximately 1,500,000 pairs, understood to have been taken recently by Rice & Hutchins of Boston from the Russian government, it is reliably stated that the entire Russian order called for about 3,000,000 pairs, this being split up among several manufacturers.

It is also stated that an order for about 1,500,000 pairs is expected to be placed any time by the French government, negotiations recently having been in progress. There is also talk of an impending order for 3,000,000 pairs from the Italian government.

BIG BULGES IN MARKETS

Sharp Advances in Grain Prices Through Heavy Foreign Buying.

Increased Acreage Sown in Durum—Flaxseed Scarcity Feared.

Operators on the long side in the grain markets had it all their own way during the past week. The tendency was steadily upward during the six trading days, and wheat quotations were advanced to the highest levels since the Leiter corner of July, 1898.

At yesterday's close of $1.62½, May wheat scored an advance of 8⅝c in the week. The July future did still better with an advance of 12⅝c to $1.59⅛. Interest developed in the September future and it advanced 10⅞c to $1.25¼. The strength in it is attributed to buying by exporters and investment operations on the assumption that higher prices will be fully warranted for the new crop in view of the practical certainty that the next harvest in Europe will show a large reduction owing to the war. The bulge in September wheat at the present, just when seeding is on, is regarded as opportune in that it should offer a further inducement to farmers in the Northwest to get as large an acreage as possible under crop. From all accounts, good progress is being made in seeding through the Northwestern states. The seed is going into the ground under the best conditions, taking into consideration soil preparation and initial moisture. It is thought that with the favorable weather now prevailing over the West and normal rains, a record yield should be garnered.

An excuse for the present strength in the old crop market is thought to be furnished in expectations that an extremely tight situation will develop as soon as the grain bought for foreign account has been shipped out of the country. On that score, traders are keeping close tab on the visible supply figures, and some anxiety is being shown by the flour trade. A revival of buying on the latter account has been a subject of comment during the last few days, business in the lower grades of wheat being reported by Duluth operators.

Fireworks in Durum.

A sensational bull movement materialized in durum, new high levels being recorded in it. It had been long understood that the market in durum had been oversold and that sooner or later some scrambling was to be expected. The flurry came last Wednesday, when May durum was run up 14½c from $1.63½ to $1.78. From that the market receded, but at its figure of $1.75, set yesterday, an advance of 16⅞c was recorded in the week. July moved up 9½c yesterday to $1.70, narrowing the spread between the futures to reasonable proportions. In view of the present high price basis for durum and the likelihood of a strong demand for it again next fall and winter, farmers in the drier areas of North and South Dakota are reported to be seeding a larger acreage to it. Selling at anywhere near the same basis as spring wheat, durum is regarded as the more profitable crop, in view of the fact that its yield to the acre is estimated to average about 20 per cent larger.

Flaxseed Remains Strong.

Flaxseed has been a strong market proposition of late, its figure as at the close yesterday showing an advance of 4c at $1.98. July sold up 3¼c to $2.01, and September 3½c to $2.02¾. Traders are almost universally bullish on the flax market, higher prices being predicted. The basis for that sentiment is the probability of a largely decreased acreage sown in the seed through the Northwest this spring. The last Argentine crop is also said to have fallen below expectations in quality, owing to heavy rains having interfered with harvesting. American linseed oil manufacturers are known to have bought a large tonnage down there, but up to the present difficulty has been experienced in obtaining delivery through the scarcity of shipping facilities. The views of the Duluth trade were voiced by an operator yesterday, who said, "I would hate to be short on September flax. It looks as if we are going to run into a bull market this season."

While oats have been strong at Chicago and Winnipeg, they have been inactive on the Duluth market. Yesterday they sold here at 55⅝c, or off a fraction from a week ago. The export call for oats is in enormous proportions, and that is taken to warrant a stronger market in them.

ROCK ISLAND RECEIVERSHIP

H. U. Mudge and J. M. Dickinson Appointed With Consent of Road.

Chicago, April 20.—A petition for a receiver for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company was filed in the United States district court here today by the American Steel Foundries company.

The defendant company is the operating corporation, which, according to information gained at the general offices, has never before been named in such a suit.

Ralph M. Shaw, of counsel for the American Steel Foundries company, stated to Judge Carpenter that the Rock Island has admitted its inability to meet obligations and that the stockholders, bondholders and other creditors including his client moved to ask for a receiver.

Not Yet Defaulted.

Judge Carpenter asked why the bondholders had not made the application instead of the Foundries company and the lawyer explained that thus far the company has not defaulted on its interest on bonds.

An exhibit presented at the wage arbitration proceedings of the western railroads gave the ownership of the property involved in the suit as follows:

"The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad is controlled by the Rock Island company through ownership of the entire capital stock. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway is controlled by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad through ownership of 95.29 per cent of the capital stock."

Consents to Action.

The railway company filed an answer consenting to the action requested by the Foundries company. H. U. Mudge, president of the railway company, and J. M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, were appointed receivers.

A. C. Ridgeway, vice president of the railway company, and W. F. Dickinson, its general attorney, were in court. Both admitted that the company is insolvent. Short term notes aggregating $6,000,000 are due May 1, and it is said that there are other obligations including a claim of $15,818 made by the Foundries company.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, owner of nearly all of the stock of the railway company, has been in the hands of a receiver appointed in New York for some time. That the railway company also faced a receivership was strongly intimated at the meeting of stockholders held here April 12 last.

LIKELY TO RESUME DIVIDENDS SOON

During the month of January the North Butte mine was operated at 50 per cent of the normal capacity, during the months of February and March at 60 per cent and at the present time is being operated at 75 per cent, according to a statement issued by the company today.

The installation of the new equipment at the Granite Mountain shaft will be finished and ready for the trial test of the machinery within a few days. Development work has been carried on vigorously during the last quarter and the results have been most satisfactory, for notable tonnages of high-grade ore have been developed in the lower levels of the mine. The policy of extensive development work will be continued.

In consideration of the expenditures necessary to complete the new Granite Mountain shaft and its equipment, also the expenditures made in the prosecution of the extensive development work, the board deemed it for the best interests of the company to pass the dividend for the last quarter in order to build up and strengthen the financial resources of the company.

With the continuation of the present improved conditions in the copper metal market during the next quarter, it is probable that the company will be in position to resume dividend disbursements.

WHIR OF LAWNMOWER ABROAD IN THE LAND

Citizens Awakened By First Spring Barbering of Grass Plots.

They are here.

No longer does the somnolent citizen have to depend on the ordinary alarm clock or the matutinal chanticleer to wake him in the morning, for the lawnmowers are here again and the grass is growing and already needs cutting.

Beginning somewhat earlier than usual, lawnmowers made their first appearance this week and many a T. B. M. (stage expression for tired business man) was awakened hours before the ordinary rising time, only to be compelled to lie in bed and listen to the raucous sounds emitted from a ceaseless mower.

The greensward got the once over in many sections of the city this morning and indications are that the morning pest will be heard regularly from now on.

"Lawn mowers," said an irate East ender this morning, "should be equipped with a Maxim silencer or be fitted with some sort of musical attachment. Maybe they could obtain records and give a recital that would sound more pleasing to the ear and probably sooth the listener back to slumberland."

CANNOT EXPLAIN BROTHER'S SUICIDE

Carl C. Larson of Waupaca, Wis., a brother of Edward Larson, whose body was found near the waterfront yesterday, arrived in Duluth this afternoon and will return to Scandinavia with the body this evening.

"I cannot imagine any reason for Edward's act," he said. "He was not inclined to worry, and as far as we know, had no troubles of any kind. Financial difficulties could not have been responsible."

The Larson family is well known in Scandinavia.

Edward, who had been living there with his parents, came to Duluth Thursday. Authorities have been unable to find out where he stayed up to the time of his death, or what happened to him.

The theory is that late Sunday or early Monday morning he went down to the waterfront, intent upon finding a good place to take his life. His body, when found, was a considerable distance from any road or path, and probably would not have been found for several days except by accident.

DROP FIRE CHARGE AGAINST SWOBODA

Still Faces Charge of Espionage in French Courts.

Paris, April 20.—French military authorities have decided to drop the charge of setting fire to the steamer La Touraine which was preferred against the man known as Raymond Swoboda, says the Petit Parisien. Capt. Bouchardon, the officer appointed to investigate the case, is credited with having expressed the opinion that there is not sufficient evidence against the prisoner to obtain a conviction on this charge. He still faces an accusation of espionage, however.

GREAT BRITAIN'S CHINESE POLICY

London, April 20.—The preservation of the common interests of all the powers in China by the insurance of the independence and the integrity of the Chinese republic and the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations in China was declared by Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary, to be the policy of the British government in China.

PASSAGE OF INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM NOW REGARDED AS CERTAIN

Unexpected Agreement of Conference Committee Makes It Probable.

Jay Cooke State Park Assured of Appropriation of $30,000.

State Aid for Poultry Societies Restored By Conference Committee.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final passage of the initiative and referendum constitutional amendment was assured this morning by the somewhat unexpected agreement of the conference committee that had been appointed to adjust the differences between the two bodies. The senate committee at last receded from the senate position that initiated constitutional amendments must have a majority of all the votes cast at the election, and agreed to a provision that they may be ratified by four-sevenths of those voting on the proposition, providing this number equals three-sevenths of the vote cast at the election. The house committee agreed to the senate provision requiring at least a third of all the votes cast to ratify a statute initiated or referred to the people after action by the legislature.

Another Agreement.

Danger of an extra session vanished this morning when the conference committee on the departmental appropriation bill agreed. At noon the committee was working on the differences in the educational appropriation bill, chiefly on the increase of more than a million made by the house in the appropriation for rural schools.

The Jay Cooke state park in Carlton county near Duluth is taken care of by the agreement of the conference committee. It was in the senate bill, and was to have been offered on the floor in the house. Because it was feared that the house in the temper it exhibited at that time would reject the amendment, it was not offered, but instead was left to the conference committee. The committee this morning agreed to the appropriation of

ELDER STATESMEN IN CONSULTATION

Controversy Between Japan and China Is Nearing a Crisis.

Tokio, April 21.—The crisis which has come in the negotiations with China as to the acceptance of the demands of the Tokio government has been followed by a protracted conference of the cabinet. The members of the "genero" or the elder statesmen of Japan, have been communicated with on the subject.

The semi-official press expresses the belief that Japan has brought the unsettled clauses of her demands down to the irreducible minimum, and that in the event of further procrastination on the part of China, she probably will press for a reply within a given period of time.

The members of the cabinet this afternoon conferred with the elder statesmen concerning the Chinese negotiations.

Interest in the situation in Peking is increasing.

MEMBERS OF CLUB ESCAPE IN NIGHTIES

Two Hotels and Other Buildings Burned at Decatur, Ill.

Decatur, Ill., April 21.—Fire which for a time threatened the entire business section early today destroyed the Decatur and Arcade hotels. A stiff breeze from the south and east threw burning brands and sparks over roofs for blocks around. The loss is estimated at $225,000.

Members of the Decatur Three I baseball team, who were in the Decatur hotel, had a narrow escape. Manager Elmer Duggan and nine players escaped in their trousers and night shirts. The origin of the fire is unknown. The block will be rebuilt.

The losses:

Waite estate, owners of Arcade and Decatur hotels, $80,000 on buildings, partly covered by insurance; on hotel equipment, $30,000; insurance, $16,000.

Bachman Brothers & Martin Furniture company, loss on building and stock $10,000, insured.

Young Men's Christian association, loss $1,600, insured.

First Presbyterian church $1,000; insured.

RUSSIAN TROOPS EVACUATE TARNOW.

Berlin, April 21, by wireless to Sayville.—Various dispatches published in Berlin today announced the complete evacuation by the Russians some days ago of their positions at Tarnow, in Galicia, 136 miles west of Lemberg. This was done to avoid the effects of the fire of the heavy Austrian artillery. Russian soldiers come in to Tarnow to make their personal purchases only at night.

APPLAUDED BY DOCTORS

Senate Gives Surprise By Passing Anti-Mayo Foundation Bill.

House Strikes Three Drainage Items Out of Claims Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Amid the tumultuous applause of four doctors in the gallery, the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 36 to 21 passed the Holmberg-Sageng bill "providing that the University of Minnesota shall not affiliate with or delegate its teaching functions to any person, firm or corporation not under the exclusive supervision and control of the board of regents"—otherwise known as the anti-Mayo foundation bill.

This, despite the fact that Senator Ole O. Sageng, one of the authors of the bill, early in the debate announced his opposition to the measure, and the fact that most of the argument was against the bill.

It was a surprising result to everybody, as when the debate started the impression was that the bill could not get a dozen votes.

There seemed virtually no chance that the bill will be reached in the house, though the general agreement here is that the house is likely to do almost anything.

In opening the debate on the bill yesterday afternoon Senator N. J. Holmberg of Reville said that the measure was neither a reflection on the Mayos nor a slap at the board of regents. He denied that it had been used as a trading proposition, so far as he was concerned.

Sageng Explains Change.

Senator Sageng said that conditions had changed since the bill was introduced with himself as one of its authors.

"I refer," he said, "to the resolution by the executive committee of the

ELEVEN TOWNS IN ILLINOIS GO "DRY"

Prohibitionists Claim Victory in Local Elections Held in Illinois.

Chicago, April 21.—Results of local option elections in twenty-six towns and villages in Illinois yesterday were heralded as a victory by Prohibition leaders today.

Eleven towns were swept into the dry column, abolishing about eighty saloons, and all previously dry territory was retained, with the exception of Flanagan, Livingston county which changed from dry to wet. The wets retained twelve towns and villages. Votes of women proved to be the controlling factor at several places. In Litchfield fifteen saloons were wiped out by women. In Ottowa, however, where the issue was bitterly contested, the women furnished 171 votes towards the wet majority of 1,210. Forty-eight saloons were retained.

Figures provided by F. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, showed that there are now fifty-five entirely dry counties in the state, forty-six partially dry and one, Monroe, entirely wet. Seventy county seats are dry, while thirty-two remain wet.

One of the suprises of the elections occurred at West Chicago wet territory which voted dry. According to Mr. McBride, this result was not expected.

"It was a pleasant surprise," he said, "Beardstown which we expected would vote dry, however, remained wet."

LAND AND SEA ATTACK ON THE DARDANELLES

One Imminent By Allies If Not Already Begun.

Twenty Thousand Troops Have Been Landed in European Turkey.

Attack Will Be on Larger Scale Than Before Attempted.

A land and sea attack on the Dardanelles, on a larger scale than at any time since the allies began their effort to win Constantinople, apparently is imminent. Berlin reports that 20,000 British and French troops have been landed on the north shore of the Gulf of Saros, European Turkey, indicating that land operations are actually under way. This force presumably will be employed for an attack from the rear of the Turkish fortifications along the European side of the straits at the same time that a bombardment from the sea is undertaken by the allied fleet. Additional British troops are arriving daily from Egypt on transports at the island of Lemnos, west of the entrance to the Dardanelles.

NO HEAVY FIGHTING FOR MONTH.

No heavy fighting has taken place since the attempts to force the straits a month ago, in which two British and two French battleships were lost. An official statement from Constantinople says that six torpedo boats attempted to penetrate the straits on Monday night, and yesterday there was an engagement between warships and Turkish fortifications, presumably in connection with the landing of troops.

At a patriotic demonstration in Rome a member of the Italian senate addressed a manifesto to the people, to

TO CONSIDER STATE OFFER OF MEDIATION

Six Hundred Contractors in Chicago to Act on Matter.

Chicago, April 21.—Six hundred contractors, employers of 16,000 union carpenters who went on a strike when denied a wage increase, were to pass judgment today on the offer of the state board of arbitration to act as mediators in the strike.

The carpenters have agreed to submit to mediation, but the contractors, it was reported, would decline the offer of the state board, preferring to settle the differences directly with the carpenters.

The strikers demanded an increase from 65 to 70 cents an hour; the employers offered an increase of 2½ cents per hour for the last eighteen months of a proposed three-year agreement.

ROOSEVELT BARES HIS DEALINGS IN N. Y. POLITICS WITH BARNES

WOULD PROVE JUSTIFICATION OF STATEMENT

Only Evidence on Things Specified in Pleadings to Be Heard.

Colonel Tells of Barnes' Domination of Republican Party.

Long Letter By Barnes Opposing Direct Nominations Read.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 21.—Theodore Roosevelt resumed the witness stand in the supreme court today and continued to tell the story of his dealings with William Barnes in an effort to prove he was justified in making the statement upon which Mr. Barnes is suing him to recover $50,000 for alleged libel.

Before Col. Roosevelt took the stand, counsel representing both sides and the court discussed in chambers legal questions in regard to what should or should not be admitted in evidence.

At the end of the conference it was announced that the court had decided not to admit evidence regarding certain things not specified in the pleadings. This barred the door to the admission of a great mass of evidence dealing with politics, political methods and Mr. Barnes' alleged conversations with Col. Roosevelt on the ethics of bossism.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany hall for the last twenty years, arrived at the courthouse today in answer to a subpoena served upon him by a representative of Col. Roosevelt's counsel. The subpoena calls for Mr. Smith's attendance on three days. This was taken as an indication that his examination would be very thorough.

Examination Resumed.

When the examination of Col. Roosevelt was resumed Mr. Bowers questioned the witness, who said:

"I had conversations with Mr. Barnes regarding the gubernatorial election in 1908. These took place in Washington and possibly in Oyster Bay, too."

Col. Roosevelt was shown two letters, the contents of which he said he

TRUE NEUTRALITY IN PRESENT WAR STATED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Clear Statement of the Policy Guiding His Administration.

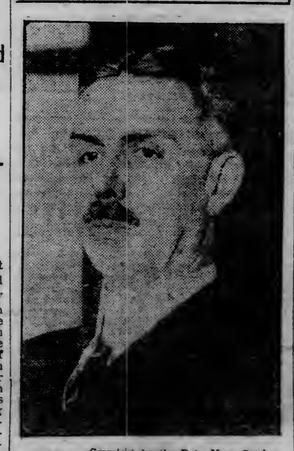
Whole Duty Now Summed Up in the Motto, "America First."

Test of Friendship Is Getting Ready to Help Both Sides.

New York, April 21.—President Wilson yesterday gave a definite and clear statement of the neutrality which is guiding his administration during the war in Europe. He chose the occasion of the annual luncheon of the Associated Press for what he said he regarded as a statement of gravest importance to the American people. The influence of the newspaper in moulding public opinion, Mr. Wilson said, prompted him to make clear his ideas of true neutrality, and in doing so to impress upon his hearers the importance of adhering strictly to truthfulness and honesty in the dissemination of the news.

Mr. Wilson seemed to weigh each word he uttered. The importance he attached to his statement was reflected in a request that no attempt be made to paragraph his speech or to give it publicity until the official White House stenographer had transcribed it in full.

Future More Difficult.



As the only great nation not engaged in the war or suffering under the immediate influence of the war zone, Mr. Wilson declared that a great distinction awaited the United States when the hour of readjustment should come, provided this nation should prove to the world its self-control and self-mastery. The past had been difficult, he pointed out, but the future would be more difficult.

America, the president said, never would attempt to sit in judgment upon another nation. No nation was fit to do that, he added. But America, free from hampering ambitions as a world power, must be appealed to to assist in the reconstructing processes of peace.

The neutrality of the United States,

VICTORY WILL BE HARD WON

British Colonel Says Allies Have It in Their Power to Win.

Declares Hardest Fighting and Heaviest Losses Yet to Come.

London, April 21.—Arthur Hamilton Lee, M. P., who was British military attache with the United States army during the Spanish-American war and who married Miss Ruth Moore of New York, is at present serving as colonel on the continent. He has written a letter home from the British headquarters in France in which he says:

"The allies have it in their power to win, but this does not mean that victory is close at hand or that the hardest fighting and the heaviest losses are not yet to come. The vast German armies occupying and devastating a great part of France and most of Belgium are held in check, it is true, but in no sense are they defeated. Our men at the front are keen, skilled and determined, and our victory at Neuve Chapelle has filled them with enthusiasm and confidence. Their one desire now is to advance, but this they cannot do without better support from their mates and rulers at home. They fully realize that the casualties already incurred must be doubled and trebled before the victory finally is won. They cannot understand why the greatest manufacturing country in the world should not supply them with sufficient shells eight months after the outbreak of the war and they express themselves freely on this subject.

"In the meanwhile we all must make up lost time, not counting the cost. Men and shells in an increasing stream is the need of the hour."

Col. Lee retired from the army in 1900 but rejoined in 1914 and was appointed special service officer with the expeditionary force to the continent. He was British military attache at Washington in 1899-1900.

TWO CHARGED WITH PURCHASING VOTES

Man and Woman Arrested at Paris, Ill., Charged With Corrupting Election.

Paris, Ill., April 21.—The arrest of H. Clay Moss, Democratic politician, and Miss Hattie O'Neil here last night on the charge of buying votes during yesterday's city election on the commission form of government was expected to be followed by others today. Warrants for other prominent citizens, among them several women, have been issued and Sheriff McAllister said they would be served today. It is estimated that 300 votes were bought for from $3 to $12 each.

GERMANS GAIN AN ADVANTAGE OVER ALLIES

No Permanent Results Yet Won By Either of Combatants.

French Army Makes Slight Advance in Vicinity of Flirey.

Berlin Claims Recapture of Small Village in Lorraine.

London, April 21.—Dispatches reaching London from the French front show considerable military activity, with the artillery taking a prominent part in the attacks made by one side or the other. There is still little evidence, however, that either side has gained, but whatever small advantage has been reaped seems to rest with the Germans between the Meuse and the Lorraine frontier. The French have made a slight advance at Flirey, but their report suggests that the gain was not proportionate to the effort put forth. Berlin claims several minor successes, one being the recapture of a small village in Lorraine, the loss of which had not previously been admitted by the general staff. Another attack in the Pont-a-Mousson district appears to have made an advance.

Praise Asquith Speech.

The English newspapers today are devoting columns to comment on the optimistic speech delivered at Newcastle last night by Premier Asquith. The utterances of the prime minister are in substance the putting into effect of a sort of industrial conscription by which employers shall forego some of their profits, the trade unions agree to suspend some of their rules necessary in times of peace, and the taxpayer shall contribute an indemnity to factories in cases where the loss and injury has been caused by commandeering for the government.

Sofia is responsible for a report that bombardment violent enough to shake buildings at Dedeagatch has been going on in the Dardanelles and on the Gulf of Saros.

French Statement.

Paris, April 21, via London, 1:40 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"A cannonade of some violence took place in the region of Arras yesterday.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne, between the Meuse and the Moselle, and in the wood of Montmartre, close to the Flirey-Essey high road, not only did our attacks make some slight progress but two German counter-attacks on the line of trenches we had succeeded in winning April 20, were successfully repulsed.

POWERFUL FOREIGN CRUISERS OFF N. Y.

Three Warships Observed Outside Harbor Exchanging Signals.

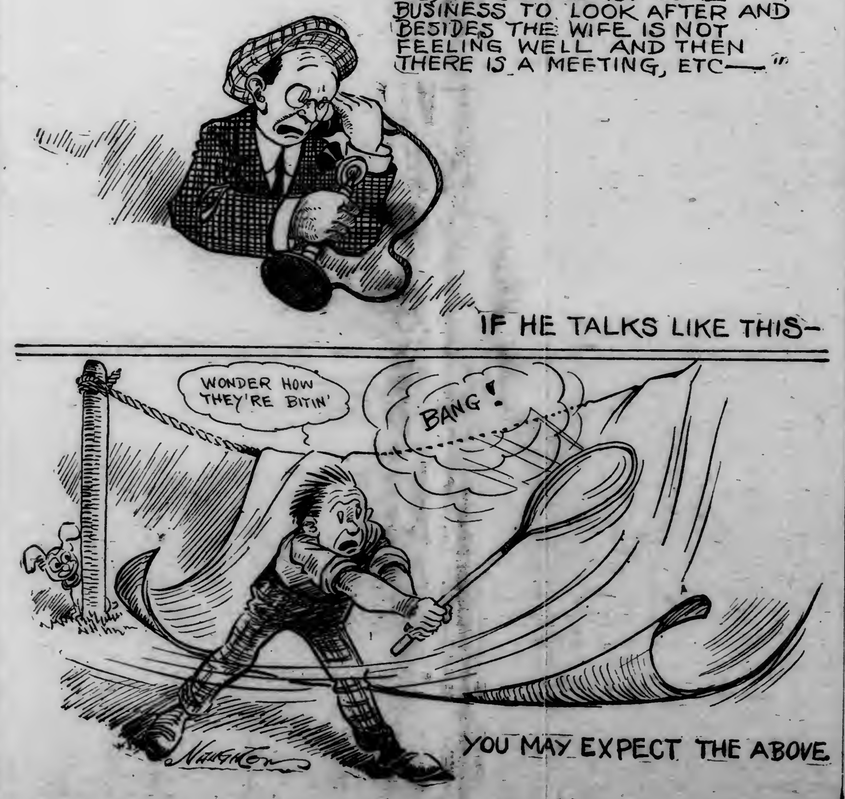
New York, April 21.—A squadron of three foreign cruisers, the most powerful gathered here since the war began, lay off the entrance to New York harbor today.

Closest to the shore lay a four-funnel British cruiser, seven miles east of Ambrose channel lightship. Her name and the names of her companions could not be made out, even through glasses. Ten miles east of the Highlands rode the second ship, an auxiliary cruiser, big and with lines that spelled speed. This cruiser, observers thought, was a stranger here, the Caronia having departed, presumably for supplies.

The largest ship of the squadron, a four-funnel cruiser, lay fifteen miles southeast of the Highlands. This vessel, too, had not been seen previously by shore observers.

Exchange Messages.

For more than an hour messages were exchanged between the two warships. Apparently the four-funnel cruiser, in command of the squadron, was issuing orders. Later a small boat put out from the auxiliary cruiser and the officers went aboard.



Meantime the cruiser off the Ambrose lightship sighted the incoming motor ship Falstria, flying the flag of Denmark. The Dane answered the warship's signal by steaming slowly close by, as if for inspection. After running up answering signals, the Falstria headed for port.

HOUSE IS DYNAMITED; MAN KILLED; WIFE HURT

Erie, Pa., April 21.—Samuel Leonoff was killed and his wife, Mrs. Katherine Leonoff, was seriously injured here early today when their house was wrecked by an explosion. Police after an investigation expressed the belief that a quantity of dynamite had been exploded under one corner of the building. There were a dozen other persons in the house and many of them were more or less hurt.

Leonoff until recently was secretary of the Longshoremen's union, and because he had refused to give up the books of the organization when he was succeeded by another member had been made the defendant in a suit in court.

REFUSES TO GIVE UP JOB

Health Inspector Metcalfe Would Take Legal Steps to Hold Position.

Will Ask for Hearing; Dr. Fahey Gives No Explanation.

R. N. Metcalfe, health inspector, who was discharged yesterday afternoon by Health Director Fahey, refuses to give up his duties, although M. J. Segal, a former inspector, has been appointed his successor.

Mr. Metcalfe threatens to bring the matter before the civil service commission, claiming that he is entitled to the position and that he cannot be discharged without complaints being made against him. He has been connected with the department for the last two years, taking office at the time that Mr. Segal left the department. Mr. Metcalfe said this morning that he has taken the matter up with W. B. Getchell, member of the civil service commission, and that he will ask for a hearing immediately.

"Dr. Fahey gives me no excuse for discharging me and as far as I know, I have been doing satisfactory work," said Mr. Metcalfe this morning. "I passed the regular civil service tests and am entitled to a fair deal."

Dr. Fahey offers no explanations for discharging Mr. Metcalfe, but said this morning that Mr. Segal was discharged from the department without cause two years ago and that he is now being put back in his old position, given over at the time to Mr. Metcalfe.

"Mr. Segal was senior man in the department," said Commissioner Silberstein this morning in explaining the action taken by Dr. Fahey, "and he was dropped out without cause, even though the civil service laws were in operation at the time. He is now being put back in his old office held during the last two years by Mr. Metcalfe."

TWO CHILDREN ARE ACCIDENT VICTIMS

One Injured in Fall—Other Is Knocked Down By Man.

Two children were the victims of accidents in West Duluth yesterday. One, a boy 13 years old, fractured his left arm just above the wrist in a fall from a window ledge at the Longfellow school and the other, a lad 5 years old, was knocked down on Central avenue by a man running to a fire and sustained a scalp wound several inches long.

Charles Gibson, the 13-year-old son of Samuel E. Gibson, 417 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, was the first victim. While playing with other boys before school yesterday near the building, a baseball with which they were playing became lodged in the window ledge. The boy climbed with the aid of companions to the ledge, and as he was about to get the ball his companions allowed him to slip. He fell on his face and arm, receiving several severe scratches about the head as well as fracturing the arm. He was taken into the school and Dr. W. E. Judson called. The boy was later taken to his home by the physician.

The fire department was called out shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday to a fire at 6103 Pizzaro street, but through some defect in the alarm system the firemen were led to believe that the alarm was from South Central avenue. Several men ran down the street in the wake of the department and one of these men knocked Theodore, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Oliver, 225 North Central avenue, over. The boy's head hit the curbing with considerable force and he was rendered unconscious. He was taken to Dr. Judson's office, where it was found necessary to take eight stitches in his forehead. The wound was about three inches long just over the right eye. The man who knocked the boy over kept on going and the parents of the boy were unable to learn who he was.

Mrs. Beta Nelson Dies.

Mrs. Beta Nelson, age 45 years, wife of Gust Nelson, 5518 West Eighth street, died at 7 o'clock last evening following an illness of about a week. She leaves besides her husband, two small children.

AUTO IS INVOLVED.

In Judge Dancer's division of district court this afternoon, trial of an action in which Edward Paul is seeking to have a bill for $228.50 adjudged a lien against an automobile owned by Louis Cohen, will be started. The Interstate Auto company, which also has a claim against Cohen, has been made a party to the suit.

Paul claims that between July 27 and Aug. 12, 1914, he performed services and furnished material for the repair of the car reasonably worth the amount of his bill. He asks that the court determine the validity of the claim of the Interstate Auto company and to order the car sold to satisfy the claims.

WEARIED OF HIS CHORES

Peter Lind Leaves Work Farm But May Go to Prison.

Finds His Little Knowledge of Law Very Dangerous Thing.

Doing chores at the county and city work farm suited not the fancy of one Peter Lind, 44, alleged box car burglar and gentleman of leisure, and rather than occupy himself in such a menial pursuit, he decided to take French leave and while away his time in Wisconsin, where the majesty of the Minnesota law could not reach him because of a state line.

But Peter was careless in his calculations. He also showed poor judgment. And now the local authorities are holding him for trial on a charge of escaping from the county penal farm and are marking arrangements to locate a job for him in a twine factory at Stillwater, where he will have ample opportunity to meditate over his mistakes.

Peter's history, so far as the local police are concerned, began last August, when he and one Albert Jensen, 34, were arrested on a charge of having broken into a railway box car and having carried away a quantity of clothing and other merchandise which included a carton of spices and a bottle of Hostetter's bitters.

Lind and Jensen were indicted on a charge of burglary by the September grand jury and were brought to trial at the September term of court. Charles La Motte, jointly indicted for the same offense, turned state's evidence and testified against Lind and Jensen and was allowed to plead guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property. The two men were found guilty of the burglary and on Nov. 14, both were sentenced to the state penitentiary for a term of not more than five years.

Discovers Flaw.

Then, their attorney, Walter F. Dacey discovered a flaw in the indictment and had the court set aside the conviction. They were convicted of having broken into a Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway car while the evidence showed that the car belonged to the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company. This, Judge Dancer held, made a difference in the eyes of the law and the verdict of guilty was set aside.

Rather than have the men held to the next grand jury on a similar charge, the county attorney's office consented to having the pair plead guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property. Judge Dancer received their plea and on Dec. 15, 1914, they were each sentenced to five months at hard labor at the county and city work farm.

Stayed for Dinner.

Peter stayed at the farm just long enough to get a Christmas dinner. On Dec. 26, when the first opportunity presented itself, he made a hasty escape. He walked into Duluth and took a car for Superior, where he imagined that he would be safe from the St. Louis county authorities.

But Peter had not posted himself on the law in the case. He was firmly convinced in his own mind that a prisoner escaping from the work farm could not be extradited from another state. And when he was arrested there on April 15 last, he told Deputy Sheriff McDonald that it would be useless to try to extradite him. It simply couldn't be done.

When Lind refused to accompany the officer to Duluth, he was held a prisoner in Superior until the deputy sheriff made a trip to St. Paul and to Madison and secured the necessary papers. Lind was not convinced until he saw them.

Under the Minnesota law, escaping from a county jail or a county work farm is a felony in cases where the prisoner who escapes is serving time for a felony.

Receiving stolen property is classed as felony in Minnesota and is punishable by imprisonment in the state's prison for not more than five years or with a jail or work farm sentence. Lind got off with a light sentence, but when he escaped he committed another crime for which he may be punished by a penitentiary sentence of not more than seven years.

When brought before Judge Cutting in municipal court this morning Lind tried to justify his action.

"They told me they wouldn't care if I escaped," he said, "so long as I left the state."

Lind evidentally took his informant's words at par. In the municipal court this morning he waived examination and was bound over to the next grand jury under $300 bail.

MILLION DOLLARS STRICKEN OUT

Additional State Aid to Public Schools Is Eliminated.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The conference committee considering the omnibus appropriations bill this afternoon decided to eliminate from the educational bill an amendment carrying more than a million dollars of additional state aid to high, graded and rural schools. The amendment was attached to the bill when it passed the house by Representative Theodore Christianson.

There was some dissension because the senate members declined to allow the appropriation of $60,000 for a dining hall at the Crookston Agricultural school. Representative John Boyd offered to reduce the appropriation, which the house agreed upon, to $40,000.

After considerable discussion the appropriation of $25,000 for an engineering building at Morris Agricultural school, which the house agreed upon, was permitted to stand.

At 1 o'clock the committee adjourned until 2 p. m. when it expected to complete the educational bill and return it to the two houses for action.

"ZONES OF SAFETY" ACT AS "SILENT POLICEMEN" IN SOLVING THE TRAFFIC PROBLEMS OF BIG CITY

ONE OF THE MINNEAPCLIS "ZONES OF SAFETY."

"Silent policemen" have been installed in Minneapolis' downtown streets to protect pedestrians from traffic, and Duluthians who have grown tired of dodging jitney buses when they attempt to board a street car are advocating similar "officers" for Superior street.

Known as Mayor Nye's "silent policemen," these traffic aids are merely safety markers at street car stops connected by a rope which parallels the street car track.

Prospective passengers may stand between the ropes and the car track with no fear of being hit by a speeding automobile or a wagon driven by a careless teamster.

Because of Duluth's geographical construction, traffic on Superior street between Lake avenue and Fifth avenue west is said to be heavier in rush hours than on Minneapolis streets.

Flying leaps for the curb, with jitneys just grazing your coat tails, no longer will be necessary, if the "silent policemen" go on the job, and a movement has been started to have their installation considered by the city council.

In some cities these "zones of safety" are merely spaces outlined by painted marks on the pavement. Teamsters and drivers are forbidden by ordinance to cross the safety zones when they are occupied.

Blue-Penciled Serbian Paper Puzzles Utility Head.

"His Excellency, Leonidas Merritt, Duluth, Minn."

That's the way a newspaper—The Serbian Daily—was addressed to Mr. Merritt.

The newspaper came this morning, blue-penciled in several places, but the head of utilities division is unable to read the publication nor is there a man in the entire department who can make out "head or tail of the thing."

This afternoon the commissioner took the paper down to Michigan street, where he hoped to find some Serbian who will be able to read the paper and translate the meaning to him.

BIBLE NEEDS INTERPRETER

Preaching Best Method of Spreading Gospel, Says Mullaly.

Church, Not Individual, Should Teach Message, He Declares.

That the church is the proper interpreter of the Bible rather than the individual, was the keynote of the sermon preached this noon by Father Edward J. Mullaly at the Lyceum theater. A big audience heard the third address of the week's series and a short musical program preceded the lecture. Father Mullaly will preach tomorrow noon on "The Catholic Church," and further explain his arguments made today.

Father Mullaly said in part:

"In the last lecture we reviewed briefly the reasons for a belief in, and proofs of Christ's divinity. Since Christ came to redeem and teach all men the truths necessary to their eternal salvation, and since He no longer walks and speaks with men in a physical way, the question arises, what represents Him to the world today? Where is Christ's message to be found in the world today? There are two answers—the answer of orthodox Protestantism and that of the Catholic church—the one says the Bible privately interpreted, and the other says it is the teaching power of the church. The present lecture is to explain what the Catholic church does and does not believe concerning the Holy Bible. Because of several requests and a combination of other circumstances, this lecture will replace that on 'Religious Intolerance,' the substance of which will be incorporated in the final lecture.

No Conscious Revelation.

"Christ has given to none of us in this age a personal conscious revelation and yet He came to teach us. Certainly no one will admit that He so failed as a teacher, so failed in a duty of justice to future generations after His time, as to have left no representative of His law and teaching. Therefore, I believe such a representative does exist and history confirms my belief. What then is the custodian of His truth and His law?

"In seeking for this representative there are certain characteristics which I would expect and even demand of it.

"First of all, the teacher of His law must teach unity, for unity of teaching is an essential mark of truth. Where unity of true facts is absent, falsehood lurks somewhere. What would you think of a teacher who would teach one set of facts to one class, a contradictory set to another class, a third set of conflicting facts to a third, and so on. Or of a teacher who taught one day that 2 plus 2 are 3, the next day that 2 plus 2 equal 4 the third day that 2 plus 2 are 5 and so on? You would say that teacher is a dangerous and untrue teacher for he teaches contradictions and not unity.

"If God would vouchsafe me a conscious personal revelation today, He would satisfy me on these facts among others: Either Jesus Christ is God or He is not, either He is truly present in the holy eucharist or He is not, either baptism is necessary to salvation or it is not, either there is in His church a priesthood or there is not, either marriage is divinely ordained union, a sacrament, or it is not, and so on. In short He would teach me unity of faith.

Would Teach Infallibly.

"Secondly, I would expect of Christ's representative and were God teaching me personally today, He would teach me infallibly. For unless I am assured beyond the shadow of a doubt that what I am to believe is true, how can I stake my eternal reward or reject it upon the acceptance of or belief in anything.

"Thirdly, I would expect to be taught, and God would teach me with absolute authority. Truth has an authority all its own. It is the most enslaving thing in this world. Once my mind discerns the truth of a fact, it is a slave to that fact. But it is the slavery of freedom, for at once my mind is liberated from all doubts regarding the truth or falsehood of all other affairs concerning that fact. Our modern liberalism in religious truth is nonsense. We can be tolerant and charitable of the opinions of others, but we cannot be liberal about the truth, for it is absolute.

"Whatever represents Christ to my soul then, must teach unity of truth, teach that unity infallibly and with authority. What is the teacher having these three characteristics? The Catholic church says it is she. Orthodox Protestantism, while claiming neither unity, authority, nor infallibility, regards the Bible privately interpreted as the sufficient guide and rule of a man's life.

Editions of the Bible.

"Leaving the consideration of these opposite positions for tomorrow's lecture on the 'Catholic Church,' let us consider the Catholic church's attitude toward the sacred scriptures. She says the Bible is divine, holy, the inspired word of God, and that what it says is true. She does not say that it merely contains the word of God, but that it really is the word of God, that human hands, indeed did write it, but that the mind and inspiration which prompted and guided the writing was God's own. There is only one Catholic Bible, used the world over, translated into every tongue, but there are scores of Protestant Bibles, differing very essentially from one another. The Catholic Bible contains all they contain and much more, for since Protestantism was born, the different editors of Protestant Bibles have omitted sometimes more, sometimes less in their editions.

"The Catholic church maintains that the principle of private interpretation is not a true principle for four distinct reasons:

"Christ never intended that the Bible and the Bible only should be the rule of faith. He never said in a single instance, 'Write My gospel.' He Himself never wrote a word for record except upon the sands, so far as we have evidence of. He did say, 'Preach My gospel to every creature.'

"Secondly, as a matter of historical fact, the application of the principle of private interpretation has not been the means of converting the world to Christianity. The historical fact is that the preaching of the apostles, disciples and their successors in the early Christian centuries is what converted the world from paganism, and all of them adhered to the center of infallible teaching authority in the church.

"Until 397 A. D. nobody knew what made up the New Testament. A great many gospels and epistles had been written and were used in the different Christian churches equally with those which a council of Roman Catholic bishops and the pope selected as the canon of the Bible in 397 A. D., and declared to be the inspired word of God. Therefore the authenticity not only for the inspiration of but also for the authenticity of the Bible is the Catholic church. Until 1462 A. D. there were no printing presses. There were manuscript Bibles, few compared to the numbers of people, and yet the whole of Europe, most of Africa and large parts of Asia were Christian. Where did the billions of people living in those fourteen centuries get their Christianity? From hearing, not reading, the word of God. We are confronted with this dilemma: Either Christ did not intend the world to get His teaching from a book, or He failed to give the world a teaching authority.

"Thirdly, this principle cannot be true, because it is not and has not been lived up to practically during Protestant history. It is true that until, say the nineteenth century, there were perhaps a majority of Bible-reading Protestants. But for fully a century this practice of Bible reading has become almost absolete so far as the average man is concerned, and how few even stop to think to derive their own interpretation after they have read the Bible.

Cannot Teach as Christ.

"Fourth, this principle is impossible to be true, because it does not teach as Christ would have us taught. The Bible of itself cannot give Christ's teachings to men, nor can men of themselves get His teachings out of the Bible alone. Take for instance the one text spoken by Christ at the last supper, 'This is my body.' As a result of private interpretation, outside the Catholic church, there are 107 contradictory interpretations of these words, and yet the statement is a most simple, plain statement of fact. According to the English Protestant historian, Lord McCauley, there arose eighty different Protestant sects between the years 1523 and 1600. Today there are in the world in the neighborhood of 1,750 different Protestant sects, differing from one another in very minor and some very essential beliefs and practices. The sad result is that a great many Protestants don't care what they believe or whether or not they believe anything, in other words, plain religious indifference. This is a fact which Catholics lament as much as Protestants themselves do, for the ultimate result is the weakening of all faith among men. Protestants and Catholics have so much in common as Christians in combatting irreligion among men that it is lamentable that there should be a breach in the unity of faith.

Court of Interpretation.

"It is universally admitted that parts of the Bible are most difficult to understand. Even St. Peter lamented that many wrested the epistles of St. Paul to their own destruction. Therefore the Bible, like the Constitution of the United States, needs a court of last resort to interpret it. And what this interpreter is will be considered in Thursday's lecture on 'The Catholic Church.'"

SCOTT WILL HOLD POSITION

Majority of Commission Favors His Continuing Work at $4,000 a Year.

City Assessor Scott will remain as head of his department for the next two years, with a salary of $4,000 a year.

A majority of the commissioners is in favor of continuing his present salary of $4,000 a year, although Commissioner Farrell has objected to the amount, declaring at the council meeting last Monday that he would favor a reduction to $3,000 a year. Mayor Prince said this morning that the matter was discussed informally between the commissioners and that the question has practically been settled.

When the appointment of Mr. Scott came up at the council meeting Monday, he was elected unanimously, but Mr. Farrell declared that he would like to see the salary reduced. It was announced then that the matter could be taken up after the meeting and some salary agreed upon by the entire commission.

Immediately after the meeting, Mr. Scott declared that he would not work under $4,000 a year, and yesterday afternoon the commissioners discussed the matter, and it was decided not to make any change in the salary. There will be nothing further done, says Mayor Prince, unless it is brought up at the next council meeting.

Yesterday afternoon the city clerk received a letter from the Duluth branch of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, urging the commission to continue Mr. Scott at his present salary. The communication stated that he is a very valuable official and that it would be a great loss to the city, should he resign because of a salary reduction.

MIND A BLANK FOR TWO DAYS

Merchant Recovers Consciousness But Can't Recall Past Events.

Two days—last Sunday and Monday—were lost by August Borgeson, 39, clothing merchant living at 218 Twenty-third avenue west, and all efforts to find them have been in vain.

Found in his home unconscious by police Monday evening, Borgeson did not recover fully until last night, and although he now is normal, his mind is a complete blank about everything which happened to him between Saturday afternoon and Monday evening.

"I have a faint recollection of going to church Sunday evening, but I don't seem to remember how I got there or what the minister talked about," said the merchant to hospital attendants. No one in church saw him, and his usual place was empty.

Mr. Borgeson lives alone at his home and neighbors, becoming alarmed when they did not see him for two days, called the police. Officers discovered the missing man in bed, unconscious. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where doctors worked for forty-eight hours before restoring him.

IDLE MEN IN WINNIPEG ENLIST

William Johnson, a former Duluth attorney, who is now making his home in Winnipeg, stated at the Spalding today that the problem of the unemployed in Winnipeg is being solved by the men out of work entering the army. According to the statement of Mr. Johnson, there are about 6,000 soldiers now in Winnipeg, the ranks of the companies being filled in many instances of men who would be idle were it not for the opportunity of enlistment.

"Times are not as hard in Winnipeg as they have been pictured," said Mr. Johnson. "Army contracts have helped the manufacturing establishments of Winnipeg. In Winnipeg shells, shrapnel and a variety of the accouterments of warfare are being manufactured. Several large army contracts have been secured by Winnipeg concerns and this has given employment to a large number of men."

MONEY FOR NEW ARMORY

Silberstein Will Introduce Ordinance for $2,500 City Appropriation.

Campaign to Secure $5,000 By Subscription Already Under Way.

Next Monday afternoon Commissioner Silberstein will introduce an ordinance appropriating $2,500 to go toward the $7,500 fund that will pay for beautifying the exterior of the new Armory now under construction.

After a conference held by Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein with Francis W. Sullivan, of the city planning committee of the Commercial club, and George H. Lounsberry, contractor for the Armory, in the mayor's office this noon, Mr. Silberstein announced that the ordinance will be introduced next Monday.

Mr. Lounsberry announced that he will advance the money for the purchase of the material used in making a more beautiful exterior than called for in the original specifications, while Mr. Sullivan reported that the $5,000 fund to be raised by public subscription has already been started, and indications are that it will be forthcoming within a very short time.

At the council meeting last Monday a resolution was passed declaring that the council favored appropriating $2,500, provided that the remaining $5,000 needed is raised by public subscription.

The original plans of the Armory call for a plain exterior and the contention raised by Mr. Sullivan, chairman of the city planning committee, was that the structure would look more like a factory and that in reality it would be an eyesore to Duluth. It was learned that about $7,500 would be needed to beautify the exterior and that the money would have to come from elsewhere than from the state funds. As a result the movement was started to have the city pay $2,500 out of the $7,500 fund.

EXTRA CLERK ENGAGED BY SPALDING HOTEL.

Andrew Doran, who was chief clerk at the Hotel Superior, has been engaged as room clerk of the Spalding. Mr. Doran will begin his duties tomorrow. Proprietor Reynolds has already received a reservation for nearly 100 of the prominent business men of Buffalo and other Eastern cities. These men are going to the Panama fair in a special train and will stop over in Duluth on the way home. This will be some time in June.

Boyle, which opened navigation at the Canadian Head of the Lakes this season is aground at Blake's Point, Isle Royale, and leaking badly as a result of a big hole in her hull.

The Taylor cleared last night with a cargo of wheat for Port Colborne.

A wrecker has gone to the scene.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

A harmless cure for sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all such misery comes from a torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

A tablespoonful to-night means all constipation poison, waste matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning without griping. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative can not cause injury. Even the most delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine, so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups." so watch out.

SERVICE MADE MORE ATTRACTIVE

Naval Reserve Requirements Cut Down; Better Pay Assured.

Service in the naval reserve will be made more attractive to recruits by a decision just rendered by the comptroller of the treasury of the United States regarding the computing of time for past service of such men. This will insure a higher rate of pay, according to Peter Coyle, local naval recruiting officer.

"All previous marine corps service of honorably discharged navy men shall be computed and counted as naval service for the purpose of permitting such men to receive the higher rate of pay authorized for members of class 1, of the reserves, according to total length of actual service performed," he says.

"For the purpose of fixing the rate of pay, members of the naval reserve shall receive under class 1, a minority of enlistment shall be counted as a full four-year term of enlistment. Where a man is discharged within three months of the expiration of his four-year term of enlistment, such shall count as a four-year term."

COMPANY ARRIVES ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Duluth Will Entertain Ninety-Four Thespians for Four Days.

Duluth hotels are filled with actors, actresses and chorus women today. The Follies company, ninety-four strong, is here, and the registers of the leading hotels of the city are dotted with names that have New York as a stopping place. There is a reflex flavor of Broadway in the lobbies.

The members of the big company came in today on a special train from Seattle. There is a layover here, the members of the company working neither today nor tomorrow.

Bert Williams, one of the most famous comedians on the stage, and Leon Errol, who staged the big production, are two of the most prominent people with the company. E. Rosenbaum is the manager.

IS YOUR STOMACH ONLY A SIEVE?

Is it performing its functions along with the kidneys, liver and bowels, so that all are in perfect harmony? Is it doing this, or is it allowing your food to remain partly undigested, sending poisons through the body, causing distress after eating, indigestion, headache, whirring noises in the head, loss of flesh and sallow complexion?

Does the fact that your kidneys are not working properly, cause you intense pain in answering the more frequent calls of nature? Is your urine highly colored? If so, you must do something immediately. Over in Holland the sturdy natives keep GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules in the house at all times and take one before every meal and one at bed time at the first sign of an ache or pain. They have been doing it for more than 200 years. So generally is this medicine known there, that it is called THE NATIONAL REMEDY OF HOLLAND.

It is made at the ancient laboratories in Haarlem, Holland, by the Genuine Haarlem Oil Mfg. Co., where it has been manufactured since 1696. Her Majesty, Wilhelmina, Queen of the Netherlands, granted a charter to the company as successors to G De Koning Tilly, recognizing it as the original company. For sale by all reliable druggists in 25c, 50c and $1.00 sealed packages. Money back if they don't help you. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL, imported fresh every month, through the American office of the Genuine Haarlem Oil Mfg. Co., 194 Water street, New York.

"There is just one Custance, and a I hope you fellows appreciate it."

Variety in Collar Styles

High collars, low collars and no collars at all are equally fashionable just now. Three types of high collars are shown here, one in the severe style, popular for tailored suits. The collar that is high at the back and cut away from the throat is very pretty on some of the new blouses.

The bertha is worn with some of the most picturesque gowns and goes well with the full, short skirts, small hats and other fashions revived from grandmother's day. All that remains is for some enterprising photographer to introduce Civil war poses and have each full-skirted subject pose holding a straight chair with a death-like grip.

Theater Gossip.

"Take me to Maude Adams and you can go to the Follies' is the ultimatum in many a Duluth household MAUDE ADAMS this week. It probably will. It probably explains the heavy advance sale for both attractions.

"Quality Street," in which Maude Adams will be seen Monday, is one of Barrie's earliest successes, and one of his most delightful comedies. "The Little Minister" was the first Barrie play Miss Adams used in America, and it was followed by "Quality Street." When it had been given in only two or three of the biggest cities, Miss Adams was compelled to lay it aside because of arrangements made for other productions. She has long been eager to revive it, but the revival has been postponed from year to year, until this season. The comedy deals with life in a small English town, and the love affair of one of two sisters, but theatergoers know what to expect when Barrie and Miss Adams combine on such a theme.

There is scarcely less uncertainty about what to expect from the Ziegfeld Follies than there is ZIEGFELD FOLLIES from Maude Adams. The Follies are a kind of glorified vaudeville show with girls, songs, dances, comedy, specialties, gorgeous settings and more girls. At least two old Orpheum favorites will be seen in the cast, Ed. Wynn, who will be remembered as the man with the funny hats, and Louise Meyers, a very clever young miss who was at the Duluth Orpheum about the second week it was open, and has since "made good" in New York musical attractions.

The Baldwin Players will have their first vacation in nearly four months on Friday and Saturday. They will "lay off" for the two days, and open on Sunday in "Charley's Aunt." On Monday they will visit Cloquet, and return for the remainder of the week. THEIR FIRST VACATION

This is the last week for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Stephani. They will be seen in Duluth for the last time Thursday night, and on Sunday A. Romaine Callender will return to the company. Next week will be the farewell week for Homer Barton and Miss Doris Olsson, as the new leading man and the new leading woman will make their first appearance on Sunday, May 2, opening in "Fine Feathers."

The breezy central figure of Bruce Ascot from "Cheric" in which Clayton White and his company are "appearing at the Orpheum theater this week, is to be lifted from that sketch and made the principal character of a four-act farce, Mr. White having done the work of dramatization. SKETCH HAS GROWN INTO PLAY.

"I have been working on this piece for two years," said Mr. White, "and having completed it have decided that I shall arrange for a production at one of the stock companies in Los Angeles while playing there. I am impatient to see the work on the stage, now that I have gone this far. No one can tell anything about how a play is going to go until it is before him on the stage. I could keep on changing and writing new lines in this piece for the next year, but I want to see it produced before I make any more changes."

Another laugh festival will be on hand tomorrow at the popular New Grand, when Charlie Chaplin, world's famous screen artist, will be seen in his latest and, it is said, greatest success, "The Jitney Elopement." It starts with a chuckle and ends with a roar and shows the favorite comedian in his famous eccentricities as well as some altogether new tricks which he performs with his automobile. The funny business leading up to the elopement is an excellent preparation for the flight of the couple in their jitney auto. CHARLIE CHAPLIN FILM AT GRAND.

Tomorrow at the New Grand the new bill opening for the week-end will be headed by the Kimiwa troupe of Japanese wonder workers. Harvey Wolf, acrobatic dancing comedian; the famous Tip Top Four, a mixed quartet of singers, dancers and comedians; and Kimball and Kenneth, a versatile duo introducing a novelty in banjo playing, are other acts on the bill.

The Hearst Selig News of events in the world's history completes the bill.

The bill closing today has proven one of the most popular of the season. The Four Milos in an exposition of living statuary; Fred and May Waddell in a true variety specialty; Hazel Morris, eccentric singing comedienne; and Stone and King, versatile entertainers, help to make up this popular program. Among the photoplays is the three-reel special, "Between the Two of Them;" "The Face on the Curtain" with Broncho Billy Anderson; "Joey and His Trombone," a comedy, and "Sentimental Sophie," a comedy drama.

As "The Little Devil" of grand opera, Fritzi Scheff makes her first appearance upon the Rex screen stage today and Thursday. Miss Scheff has surely had a varied career. She was born in Alsace Lorraine. She inherited her voice from her mother, and gave early evidence of remarkable talent—singing in a church choir at 5 years of age. Her first appearance in America was on 1900, when she sang Margelline in "Fidelio" with the Metropolitan Opera company, New York city. Her "Zerline" in Don Giovanne created a furore at the Metropolitan. Now that she has entered the motion picture field, she is still distinct, for she is the only grand opera diva in the world to take up such work, and her many admirers are anxiously awaiting "Pretty Mrs. Smith," in which she is starred at the Rex Wednesday and Thursday. FRITZI SCHEFF IN MOVIES.

Cecil Spooner is being featured today at the Zelda theater in her popular success, "The Dancer and the King." This is a five-act production that has a strong appeal for both old and young. It shows the poor little dancing girl of the streets, who attracts with her great art, the passersby, and by chance attracts the king. It will be shown at the Zelda today only. Commencing tomorrow a great problem play entitled "Should a Woman Divorce," will be shown. In order that every one will get a chance to see this production, the management of the Zelda will inaugurate a midnight performance on Saturday. It will be started after the last evening performance is over on Saturday night at 10:45 o'clock, and this will give all the clerks and late Saturday night shoppers a chance to see the full show. MIDNIGHT MOVIES.

DEPORTED FROM GERMANY.

Former North Dakotan, Representing Canadian Concern, Made to Leave.

Valley City, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. J. Earley, formerly of this place, a brother of J. J. Earley of this city, recently found himself an unwelcome business visitor in Berlin, Germany. He was arrested by the military authorities, and finally deported to Denmark.

Mr. Earley represents a Canadian machine company, and his connection with that corporation was largely responsible for the drastic steps taken by the German authorities against him. Earley is an American citizen, which probably saved him from a detention camp.

HALT TWINE SALES.

Too Much Wisconsin Prison Product Not Yet Paid for.

Madison, Wis., April 21.—As a result of an investigation by the experts secured by Governor Phillipp, the sale of binding twine by the Wisconsin state prison has been stopped by the governor until further notice.

The investigation shows upward of $60,000 on the books of the twine plant of which about 50 per cent is considered uncollectable. The governor's position is that no more twine should be sold until a credit system is established.

CONVICT HURLS SELF INTO TWINE MACHINE.

GAME LAWBREAKERS BROUGHT TO BROOK.

Munising, Mich., April 21.—Game Wardens Mosher of Marquette and Vizena of Munising uncovered one of the most open violations of the game laws that have been brought to light in the upper peninsula in years. Four men, all of Alger county, were taken into custody, and each is now serving a thirty-day term in the Alger county jail. In addition, each was fined $25 and the costs of court. The sentences were passed by a Munising justice of the peace. All of the quartet entered pleas of guilty. The men are Waldao Saari, Ivan Hill, Yrja Kalisto and Matt Johnson.

G. A. Tomlinson, president of the Tomlinson company, has just announced the appointments of masters and engineers of the vessels of the fleet. The appointments are tentative in nature owing to the fact that the prospects for the season of navigation are, as yet, not fully developed, and many vessel owners, Mr. Tomlinson among them, expect to have to lay up some of their vessels after the grain rush is over. Paliki Is Released.

Mackinaw City, Mich., April 21.—The steamer Paliki which grounded on Simmons reef, Lake Michigan, Monday, was released late yesterday by a tug sent from Sault Ste. Marie. The Paliki, which is bound from the Canadian Sault to Chicago with a cargo of steel rails, was undamaged.

FIRST BOAT FROM BELOW

Steamer Leopold Arrives From Lower Lakes, Officially Opening Season.

Despite the fact that vessels left Duluth for lower lake ports last Saturday morning, and the further fact that the steamer Lakeport came up from the Sault, arriving here on Saturday, navigation at the Head of the Lakes was not officially opened until 6:30 last night.

The opening of navigation is marked by the arrival of the first steamer from lower lake ports, and the first one arrived at the time mentioned. It was the N. F. Leopold of the Hutchinson line, and she arrived light for ore. Two other vessels arrived later in the night and two more got in this morning.

Last season navigation was opened by the arrival of The Harvester on April 25; and on the preceding season the first date was also April 25, the Selwyn Eddy being the first boat to arrive.

There are now seven grain-chartered boats in the harbor. There were ten yesterday—all of them having wintered here—but five pulled out with their cargoes and two more arrived.

GETTING READY FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Chairman Christy of American Shipbuilding Company Predicts Good Times.

According to word from Chicago, Chairman Christy of the American Shipbuilding company predicts great activity in shipbuilding and commerce on the Great Lakes.

"All of the company's shipyards are busy with repair work," he said recently, "and earnings are holding up satisfactorily. We went through the worst of the depression since last July with monthly earnings at no time falling more than $18,000 behind last year. Now earnings are showing an increase.

"Preparations are being made for a big volume of business in the future. We are spending $350,000 for a new concrete drydock at South Chicago, and $150,000 for a new office building, foundry and machine shops in Cleveland, where five departments are to be consolidated. The company is paying cash for everything, and has more than $2,000,000 working capital in money and marketable securities on hand. The company is therefore in an easy financial position, and a few months of the right kind of business and prospects will place our stocks in the ranks of dividend payers again."

LAST YEAR'S LOSSES ON THE GREAT LAKES

Twenty-Two Vessels and Fifty-Four Lives Pay Debt to Fate.

According to Beeson's Winter Moorings News, in which the marine season of 1914 is reviewed, last year was mercifully free from marine disasters on the Great Lakes. Compared to the previous year, it could hardly count, for 1913 registered a loss of life all told—most of it coming in the famous hurricane of Nov. 9—that was nothing short of appalling. Last year the total amount of loss of life on the Great Lakes from shipwreck was, as nearly as can be ascertained, fifty-four, and twenty-two vessels were destroyed.

The losses of life on record were as follows: Steamer Benjamin Noble, 20, when the steamer foundered somewhere near Duluth in the heavy storm of April 27, 1914; 6 on the Canadian schooner William Jamieson, which sank in midlake, Lake Ontario, on April 27, 1914, with her entire crew, and 28 on the steamer Curtis and the barges Marvin and Peterson, which were wrecked on Nov. 19, 1914, about seven miles from Grand Marais, Mich. The latter was the greatest loss of life of the season. Some members of the crews got to the shore alive, but, owing to the severe weather and lack of knowledge of their surroundings, perished in the cold.

The season's loss in ships was fifteen steamers, two tugs, five barges and one dredge. Of the steamers all were old wooden ones, except the W. H. Gilbert, which sunk in collision with the steamer Caldera on May 22, fifteen miles off Thunder bay, Lake Huron; and the Noble, lost near Duluth.

In addition to the lake losses last year, there was the sinking of the ocean liner Empress of Ireland, when she was rammed by the collier Storstad before dawn on May 29, 1914, in the St. Lawrence river. The steamer sank quickly and 956 lives were lost, the largest number in marine history with the exception of the loss of the Titanic.

The lake vessels lost during the season were as follows:

American—Steamers City of Rome, C. F. Curtis, Robert F. Fryer, W. H. Gilbert, Manistee (passenger), Isabella J. Boyce, Montana, Benjamin Noble, Oscoda, Tacoma, Emma E. Thompson and George H. Van Vleck; schooner Mary N. Bourke; barges S. E. Marvin, Dorcas Pendell and Annie M. Peterson, and tugs Don Mar and Superior, both fish tugs, the former a gasoline craft.

Canadian—Steamers Berthier and Colonial and schooner William Jamieson.

LOOKS FOR BIG TRAVEL SEASON

Manager of Northern Navigation Company Expects Many Tourists

An evidence of the interest which is being taken in travel on the Great Lakes this year is shown by the announcement that the steamship Huronic of the Northern Navigation company will leave Sarnia, Ont., for its first trip to Port Arthur today instead of on next Saturday, as originally scheduled. The Huronic is one of the steamers which makes up the Lake Superior fleet of the Northern Navigation company and comes to Duluth weekly during the summer.

So many inquiries have been received at the general offices of the company at Sarnia as to when the sailings will begin that H. H. Gildersleeve, general manager, believes this season will see the greatest passenger travel ever known on the Great Lakes. With the disturbance abroad, the thousands of Americans who normally go to the old world for the summer season, will spend the time in enjoying the beautiful spots of America.

"This is evidenced," says Mr. Gildersleeve, "by the prominence which the southern resorts have gained during the winter season, now coming to a close. Never before have Americans gone to them so generally. When the warm weather comes, these people will seek the cooler climes and that means that a great many of them will spend their time about the Great Lakes, for there is no country which is more delightful during the months of summer. Every steamship company operating boats on the lakes, I believe will see an increased passenger traffic this year."

The steamship Hamonic, a sister ship of the Huronic, will go into commission shortly. The Noronic, flagship of the Lake Superior fleet, will run several chartered trips on the lakes before entering upon her regular schedule.

VESSEL MASTER STRICKEN AT SAULT

Capt. W. W. Eger of W. L. Brown Taken From Boat.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stricken with rheumatism after leaving Milwaukee, Capt. W. W. Eger, of the steamer W. L. Brown, was taken from his vessel here on his arrival. He was removed to the marine hospital for treatment.

Capt. J. W. Duddleson took charge of his steamer to continue the trip to Duluth.

Capt. Duddleson, who was in the Waldo when she was lost, and supplied on the E. Y. Townsend last season for a time, resides at the Sault.

COAST GUARD STATION OPENS FOR SEASON.

The coast guard service at Duluth has been resumed, and the station on Park Point is now open for calls when water front help is needed. Capt. M. A. McLennan has the usual number of men on duty and has, in addition to the equipment of last year, a new high-powered launch for harbor work, which, it is claimed, will do twenty miles an hour without much trouble.

The service opens this year under a new name. Up to this year it has been, ever since 1873, known as the "life-saving service." During the past winter that service and the cutter service have been combined under the name of "coast-guard service," so Duluth now has a coast-guard station, not a life-saving station.

ERRORS IN POSTING FOREIGN MATTER

Insufficient Postage Cause of Delays and Unnecessary Expense.

Lack of information regarding the amount of postage required on mail posted in the United States for foreign delivery has led to innumerable errors, according to word just received from Washington by Postmaster William E. McEwen. The department urges the widest publicity that as little trouble as possible may be caused the postoffice authorities. Part of the difficulty is thought to be due to the belief of many that the domestic and foreign rates are the same.

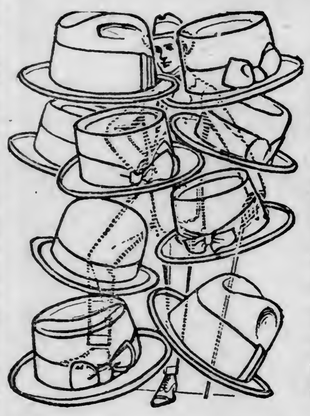
It is to the advantage of senders of foreign mail to place sufficient postage on matter as double the amount of deficient postage is charged upon the delivery of the article. Postmasters are urged, if possible to collect postage on such articles before deliveries are made.

The only foreign points to which the 2-cent letter rate applies are: Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Republic of Panama, the canal zone, the Bahamas, Barbados, Leeward Islands, Newfoundland, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, city of Shanghai, China. Letter postage for all other foreign places is 5 cents for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce and 3 cents for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce.

BOY LEAVES FOR "PARTS UNKNOWN"

Superior Lad "Fixin' to Run Away," Says His Aunt.

Thomas B. Wilson, aged 15, who lives with his aunt, Mrs. Carrie B. Hudson, 1303 Third street, Superior, left "for parts unknown" after school Monday afternoon, and has not been heard from since.



He was seen in front of the Orpheum theater, Duluth, Monday night, and his aunt believes that he "is fixin' to run away." Thomas is a mulatto, 15 years old, with dark, brown straight hair. He has a small scar on the right cheek. When last seen he wore light-colored short trousers and striped blue coat. He wears glasses part of the time, but doesn't like to have them on, according to his aunt. Duluth and Superior police are searching for him.

German Statement.

Berlin, April 21, via London, 3:12 p. m.—Headquarters of the German army today gave out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"In the western arena a battery of the enemy observed not far from the cathedral of Reims was taken under our fire.

"In the Argonne the French employed a bomb, the effect of which was to cause men to vomit.

"An attack of the enemy to the north of Four de Paris resulted in failure.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle an attack extending over a large front was repulsed at Flirey yesterday with heavy losses to the French. In the wood of Le Pretre we gained further ground.

"In the Vosges the enemy unsuccessfully attacked our positions to the northwest and southwest of Matneral and at Sondernach. Here the French suffered serious losses.

"Early yesterday morning an aviator of the enemy dropped bombs on the town of Loerrach, in Baden, damaging a silk factory belonging to a Swiss as well as two other houses and injuring several civilians.

"In the eastern arena there has been no change in the situation.

"In reply to the dropping of bombs by Russians on Insterburg and Gumbinnen, both open towns situated outside the zone of operations, we dropped 150 bombs yesterday on the railway junction at Bialystok."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, April 21, via London, 4:37 p. m.—The Russian war office today gave out an official announcement reading as follows:

"In Western Galicia we repulsed an Austrian attack near Gortitz on Tuesday night. The previous day the enemy had attacked, but without success our positions in the region of Verkhniia, Yablonka, Polen and North Oroszpatak.

"The offensive movement of the enemy against the heights of Polen, previously captured by us, was particularly fierce and his losses were very great. The first batch of prisoners captured at this point to the number of 500 has been brought in.

"Other sections of the front remain as a whole unchanged.

"A German aeroplane squadron on Tuesday dropped in the neighborhood of 100 bombs at Bialystok, killing and wounding civilians. No material damage was done.

"Tuesday night the town of Ciechanow was bombarded with bombs by a Zeppelin airship. No damage was done. Our aircraft successfully bombarded the railroad station at Soldau, on the Polish frontier in East Prussia."

ROOSEVELT BARES HIS DEALINGS WITH BARNES

had discussed with Mr. Barnes.

"Now what were the conservations?" asked Mr. Bowers.

Mr. Ivins, counsel for Mr. Barnes, objected to this question, but was overruled and the witness continued:

"The conversations I had were in regard to Mr. Barnes' domination of the party. Now, judge, they were continued conversations. I talked over a letter I wrote in 1900 to Senator Platt. I repeatedly referred to the domination of the party by Senator Platt and Mr. Barnes. I discussed the righteousness of boss rule. (Laughter by spectators).

"I told Mr. Barnes that prior to my becoming governor Mr. Platt had asked me to come to see him in New York. It was between the time I was elected and the time I assumed office.

Admin Overruled.

Mr. Ivins interrupted with an objection, which was overruled. Col. Roosevelt continued:

"I told Mr. Barnes that I told Mr. Platt—rather I expressed surprise—that committees were being appointed when the speaker of the assembly had not been chosen. I also told Mr. Barnes Mr. Platt told me no speaker would be chosen until a man who was satisfactory to the organization was found. Mr. Barnes replied that Mr. Platt was right even after I said such government was bound to lead to rottenness.

"I told Mr. Barnes Senator Platt had told me he had decided upon a superintendent of public works who was satisfactory and that Senator Platt had congratulated me upon getting such a good man."

Mr. Ivins objected because no name was being given for the superintendent of public works. Mr. Bowers said:

"I don't want Mr. Ivins to act this way. He is trying to interrupt the continuity of this testimony."

"I can't stop this witness' continuity," replied Mr. Ivins, while the crowd laughed.

No Dictation.

"Well," Col. Roosevelt went on, "the man was Francis Hendricks of Syracuse. I told Mr. Barnes I didn't intend any man should say whom I should appoint."

As the colonel said this his jaw squared and he pounded upon the judge's bench. He continued:

"Mr. Barnes said in reply that Senator Platt was right and that the leader of an organization must have complete control of it.

"It was in 1908 that I told Mr. Barnes my views of matters were the same as they always were. I told Mr. Barnes he had my sympathy, but that Governor Hughes must be independent. I referred to my talks and letters to Senator Platt. Mr. Barnes said the organization had to be dominant and that Governor Hughes had tried to break down the organization and that he would oppose Governor Hughes' renomination."

Upon the motion of Mr. Ivins that part of Col. Roosevelt's testimony referring to Mr. Hughes was stricken from the record.

Discussed Legislation.

"In 1908 did you discuss legislation at Albany with Mr. Barnes?" asked Mr. Bowers.

"Yes," replied the witness. "Mr. Barnes spoke with me generally on the subject of legislation. He said Governor Hughes was favoring legislation against the interests of the organization and that the Democratic organization was backing legislation fostered by Governor Hughes.

"Mr. Barnes said he and his friends had control of the party. He didn't say he, himself, was personally in control. He did say that Mr. Hughes could not take the control away from those in whom it was invested.

"After my return from Africa I had correspondence with Mr. Barnes over rule by the bosses. It (the correspondence) was also on the subject of legislation."

A letter from Mr. Barnes to Mr. Roosevelt was offered in evidence. It was dated from the Albany Journal office and in part read:

Barnes' Letter.

"Ever since he has been governor, Mr. Hughes has endeavored through his speeches and his attitude to arouse resentment in every locality against the men who have been doing the political work of the Republican party. Some of those men are the best and most unselfish of men. Some of them are the meanest and most selfish of men.

"It was a gage of battle thrown down which it was my duty to resist, because if I am to remain in the leadership of this county that leadership must be satisfactory to the Republican people of the county. I cannot be exploited as a machine-made politician or a patronage broker without resisting the charge to the best of my strength.

"I never could subscribe to the doctrine advanced by the governor, which was this: Disagreement with him meant that a man was a rascal.

"What I am most deeply interested in is this subject of direct nominations, which, if ever adopted by this state will lead to untold evils in public life and place therein the cheapest kind of citizens.

Will Contest It.

"Of course the newspapers will urge you to make an effort to have the state convention adopt a direct nomination plank. Of course you realize that those who oppose that proposal in principle will be compelled to contest it.

"The men with whom I have been co-operating will never relinquish their right against the principle of direct nominations, but will favor every possible reform to our primary system so that people will be encouraged to go to primaries for a fair shake there.

"The so-called sentiment for direct primaries does not exist. It is purely pro-Hughes sentiment and has nothing to do with the merits of the proposal. Governor Hughes advocated the plan he did purely to make an issue, not believing that we had the courage nor the political strength to back up our opinions.

To Party Discord.

"Direct nominations are an invitation to party discord but their evil can be minimized by the holding of unofficial primaries and unofficial conventions which would unquestionably be done.

"The idea of getting rid of bosses is absurd, so long as you have party government.

"I sincerely hope and trust that you will not become committed in such a way that it will force an issue at the Saratoga convention on the question. We should have a primary plank of the strongest possible kind to protect voters and give them every opportunity to express themselves in conventions.

"When nominations are made they should be final. If the people do not like them they can beat them at the polls, but the members of a party should have a chance prior to the primaries and conventions to exercise their judgment and express their will."

Tells of Conversations.

Despite the early ruling of the court, Justice Andrews allowed Col. Roosevelt to tell of conversations with some senators, Hinman, Davenport, Newcomb and others, about race track and other legislation. Some of these men told him that Mr. Barnes at first had no opposition to race track legislation, but later opposition developed.

"It was at that time I learned that Senator Grattan had expressed his opposition to the legislation, but that he changed his mind after talking with Mr. Barnes. Mr. Grattan pleaded with Mr. Barnes to allow him to vote as he wanted, but I was told he said Mr. Barnes ordered him to vote opositely and he was forced to do so. Senator Grattan's one vote defeated the bill. Senator Grattan represented Mr. Barnes district."

Col. Roosevelt told the story of his conversation with Senators Hinman and Davenport.

"I was told that on one occasion when the question of direct primaries came up in the state senate the Republican leader asked for an adjournment. He asked the Republican senators to go into a nearby room for a conference. The Democratic leader then told the Democratic senators to meet in an adjoining room. Senator Davenport said he looked in the room occupied by the Republicans and saw Mr. Barnes there in conference with the senators, although he was not a member of the legislature. Later the Democrats and Republicans came out and went into the senate chamber. Fourteen Democrats and fourteen Republicans stood for the measure and it went through. The measure had been opposed by Governor Hughes."

"Were all the Republican senators in that room?" asked Mr. Ivins.

Only Saw Barnes Men.

"Oh, no," replied the witness. "Mr. Davenport only saw the Barnes Republicans senators, as he termed them."

Col. Roosevelt said:

"The Murphy Democrats who were in the next room to the Barnes Republicans were under the leadership of Senator Grady."

"Did you talk to Senator Davenport about Senator Jotham P. Allds?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

Allds resigned from the senate after he had been charged with accepting bribes.

"Mr. Newcomb or Mr. Davenport," said Col. Roosevelt, "told me that Senator Allds had been selected for president pro tem of the senate by the machine Republicans. There was opposition against Allds by other Republicans, so the machine Republicans were unable to control a sufficient vote to elect Allds. Then Senator Newcomb told me the machine Democrats co-operated with the machine Republicans in order to elect Allds.

"And in the position Allds was elected to, by Tammny Democrats he was the official leader of the Republican party in this state."

While Col. Roosevelt gave his testimony he slapped one hand upon the other every second or so and leaned far forward in his chair toward the jury box. The spectators, jury and lawyers, roared with laughter when Col. Roosevelt said Tammany men had helped elect the official Republican leader. After order was restored a recess was taken.

Col. Roosevelt was ready to continue his testimony at the afternoon session of court.

Asked Not to Antagonize.

While on the stand yesterday, Col. Roosevelt testified that Mr. Barnes, as former chairman of the Republican state committee, had urged him not to antagonize men of large business who contributed to both the Democratic and Republican parties so that they would be protected.

Mr. Barnes told him, Col. Roosevelt swore, that it was essential to protect big business interests because unless they were protected they would not make contributions to the party failing to protect them, and that without such contributions it would be impossible to carry on the campaign. Without organization leaders and bosses, the former president quoted Mr. Barnes as saying, party government would be impossible.

Col. Roosevelt also quoted Mr. Barnes as telling him "the people are not fit to govern themselves. They have got to be governed by the party organization, and you cannot run an organization if you cannot have leaders, unless you have money."

Col. Roosevelt was called to the stand as a witness for the plaintiff after a technical question of proper identification of the plaintiff and defendant had been brought up by the lawyers. He was asked just one question. That was whether he was the defendant in the action. He replied in the affirmative and was then made a witness in his own behalf.

LAND AND SEA ATTACK ON THE DARDANELLES

the effect that "consolation is approaching for the Italians who have waited and suffered," referring evidently to the nation's desire to absorb "unredeemed Italy," or the Austrian provinces to the north.

Austria is reported to be concentrating troops hastily along the border in fear of an invasion by Italian troops, but Prince von Buelow, German ambassador at Rome, denies that a rupture between Italy and Austria is imminent.

A Berlin dispatch says that Tarnow, Galicia, has been evacuated by the Russians, on account of the attacks of the Austrian artillery. Tarnow lies 175 miles west of Lemberg.

Official information was received in Berlin confirming previous reports of a German victory over a British force in German East Africa. The British losses were given as about 700 and those of the Germans at 56.

Heavy Cannonading.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., April 21.—The Tages Zeitung publishes a special dispatch, the origin of which, however, is not given, saying that 20,000 British and French troops have been landed near Enos, in European Turkey, on the north side of the Gulf of Saros. A heavy cannonading took place between the Turkish batteries around Enos and the warships of the allies.

A dispatch received in Berlin from Athens says great activity has been noted among the British forces on the island of Lemnos, which lies to the west of the entrance to the Dardanelles. Troop transports are arriving daily at Lemnos from Alexandria, Egypt; the censorship is more rigid and all indications point to strong action against the Dardanelles at an early date.

A dispatch received in London yesterday from Dedeagatch, Bulgaria, a short distance to the west of Enos, said a violent cannonading occurred in Gulf of Saros Sunday evening. The firing was so heavy that buildings at Dedeagatch were shaken.

Try to Penetrate Straits.

Constantinople, April 20, via wireless to Berlin and London, April 21.—An official statement issued today by the war office says:

"It is now definitely known that six torpedo boats attempted to penetrate the Dardanelles Monday night."

There has been no previous announcement of a concerted effort Monday night by vessels of the allied fleet to run the straits and the above dispatch fails to disclose what was the result of the operation.

PASSAGE OF INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM NOW REGARDED AS CERTAIN

$15,000 a year for two years. The house receded from its stand on the forestry allowance, which is left at the senate's figure of $40,000 a year instead of the figure of $75,000, which was fixed by the house and which is the present allowance.

Poultry Societies Cared For.

The poultry associations, threatened with loss of state support by the failure of a bill providing for it, are cared for in the conference results. The appropriation of $40,000 yearly for the state humane society was knocked out in conference, but an attempt will be made to reinstate it on the floor. The house receded from its stand against allowing the state fair $15,000 a year for repairing buildings and $10,000 was allowed.

The house, 68 to 30, passed the Knutson bill imposing a tax of 1 cent per $100 on grain future deals and 2 cents per $100 on all stock transactions. Cash sales of grain were exempted from the tax by an amendment offered by Representative Wefald. Representative L. A. Lydiard of Minneapolis made a fight against the bill, with the result that it passed.

Supreme Court Increase.

The Gjersdt senate bill resubmitting the constitutional amendment increasing the number of supreme court justices from five to seven, and providing that the clerk of the supreme court shall be appointed by the court instead of elected, passed the house without opposition. A provision in the amendment voted on last fall, forbidding the supreme court to declare any law unconstitutional except by the vote of five out of the seven justices, is omitted from the bill.

* * *

The Novak house bill providing for the use of schoolhouses for public meetings was killed in the senate this morning by the adoption of an adverse committee report.

* * *

Magnus Johnson's house bill forbidding discrimination between localities in the purchase of grain was recommended for passage by the senate committee on railroads, grain and warehouse.

The Guilford house bill repealing the 1913 law for the retirement of incapacitated judges on pay for the remainder of their terms was killed by the senate judiciary committee.

The house was grinding away this morning on the list of special orders under the Wefald resolution, which has been used for a week to keep the house away from the calendar and general orders. A motion to take up house bills first was adopted, though there is only a slight chance that these bills can be reached in the senate, though that body is well abreast of its work.

Chiropractic Bill Killed.

During the fight shortly before noon on the Southwick bill providing for the examinations of licensing of chiropractors, Representative Paul Marwin of Minneapolis attacked the methods that have been used in this and previous sessions by the supporters of the bill. He exhibited a telegram which he claimed to have received, urging him to support the chiropractic bill, purporting to be signed by a friend of his who had been dead two weeks when the telegram was sent. He characterized the bill as an infamous measure. Other members testified to good results from chiropractics, in their own cases or in those of others. The bill failed of passage by four votes.

The senate, after voting down amendments to exempt country druggists, passed the Nimocks anti-heroin bill, prohibiting the use and sale of narcotics except under strict regulation.

The bill repealing the Minneapolis civil service law is a special order in the senate for this afternoon.

AMERICAN FIRMS MAKING DYESTUFFS

Demands of Textile Industries for War Prohibited Goods to Be Met.

Washington, April 21.—More than a score of American firms are establishing new color works or enlarging the output of existing plants to meet the demands of the textile industries and other allied branches for the manufacture of dyestuffs, the supply of which formerly came almost exclusively from Germany and which has been cut off since Great Britain's embargo against German commerce. The department of commerce announced yesterday it was devoting much attention to the progress in American dyestuffs manufacture and had found a noteworthy advance.

One company has provided for additional by-product ovens at an outlay of $1,000,000. Plants at Johnstown, Pa.; Gary, Ind.; Youngstown, Ohio; Inland Harbor, Ind.; Buffalo, Woodward, Ala., and others in the South are all increasing or establishing facilities for benzol production. A plant at Marcus Hook, Pa., is nearly completed for the manufacture of intermediates on a large scale.

It is hoped, a report from Commercial Agent Thomas H. Norton says, that these works will produce most of the aniline oil and salts required by American color works.

American coal tar dye factories are making every effort to increase their output. Extensions also are being made by manufacturers of vegetable dyestuffs.

COMMISSIONER IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

James A. Farrell, new commissioner of public works, narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon in an automobile smashup, while on his first inspection trip over downtown streets.

As the city car was passing the Mutual Auto company's garage on West First street, between Third and Fourth avenues, a car, driven by E. Willoughby, coming out of the garage, struck it broadside.

Charles Rigdon, city chauffeur, averted a more serious accident by quick work with his wheel. The commissioner was thrown from his seat and the fender of the city car was torn off. The axle of the other machine was twisted.

COMMENT MADE BY BERLIN PAPER

Talks About "American Troubles" in the Japanese Incident.

Berlin, via London, April 21.—The Post in an editorial article entitled "The American Troubles" cast doubt upon the genuineness of the accident which caused the grounding of the Japanese cruiser Asama in Turtle bay, Lower California.

The paper says there are two possible explanations of this incident. One is an effort to put pressure upon Washington to relieve the situation at Peking, while the other is an attempt to secure a naval base in Mexico. This would touch America's secret point, the paper says, namely, the Monroe doctrine. America must either give Japan a free hand in China, or demand that Japan leave Mexico. This would mean war.

Continuing the paper says:

"Germany would view such a war with mixed feelings. While we do not desire a victory of the yellow race over the white, nevertheless America has no claim to the love or respect of the Germans. We would be satisfied to know that this country, which first became a state at an expenditure of German blood and German energy, should, from its present condition of unsympathetic contentment, come to know the bitter necessities of war."

JITNEY JUMPS CURB.

Driver Loses Control of Car and It Tries to Enter Store.

By way of adding to the rapidly-piling-up jitney accidents and the excitement of living in Duluth, the driver of a car yesterday afternoon tried to enter Richardson's store, on the upper side of Superior street between Third and Fourth avenues east, without getting out of the machine. The net result was a broken tire and windshield, a damaged crossbar on the machine, and a good deal of shattered woodwork on the store. The store windows, however, escaped.

The machine narrowly missed a team of horses tied in front of the store, and it is considered miraculous that a great deal more damage was not done. The driver claimed to Mr. Richardson that his machine skidded and he lost control. The machine climbed a four-inch curb to take its sidewalk trip.

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

Here are a few of the things a woman must have to be in fashion:

1—At least one wide skirt, and not infrequently two of them.

2—A coat with a belt—it may be beneath the arms or about the hips, but it must be somewhere.

3—Buttons in every imaginable place and in some that are unimaginable.

4—Hats that are either small and flat or saucy and sailorish.

5—Shoes showing at least two colors and two materials.

Dozens of buttons are used on suits this year. Instead of two at the wrist six or more extend up the arm nearly to the elbow. They are used on the skirts of coats from the shoulder down the back and front. The coat that buttoned from the throat to below the waist last winter has been succeeded by the one that exposes the throat, regardless of throwing away the opportunity to use many buttons.

The military note is still in evidence in suits. This is produced by the popular buttons, by epaulets and by belts, for practically every coat has a belt on it. It may be just under the arms, the coat falling in box pleats below it, it may be tied over the hips like a sash or it may be at the normal waist line, but it is some place. Sometimes it is of the same material as the suit but not a few are of patent leather, either black or of a color that contrasts with the suit.

Study Club Hears of Progress in Italy

Talks on Italy by Attilio Castigliano, Italian consul, and Rev. John Zarilli, pastor of St. Peter's Italian church, and musical numbers were given at the meeting of the West Duluth study class of the Twentieth Century club held yesterday afternoon in the clubroom of the West Duluth library.

Mr. Castigliano, who spoke of the progress Italy has made in the last thirty years, particularly in industry, finance and along social lines, called attention to the government ownership of railways, telephone and telegraph systems and life insurance companies. "The last time I was in Italy," he said, "I failed to note any lack of freedom and could not see that I was hampered any more in Italy than I had been in the United States." Books he recommended for the study of Italy are "The Dawn of Italian Independence" and "Italica" by Thayer, "United Italy" by Underwood, and "The Union of Italy" by Stillman.

Father Zarilli, who sketched the history of the country from Roman days to the present time, said in part:

"Italy has been held back in many ways by having been the battlefield of the nations. She has suffered what Belgium is suffering now, but she has progressed remarkably in spite of it. All Italy should not be judged by some of the immigrants who come to this country," he said. "But poor as the immigrants are, they are anxious to become assimilated with American life—a little too anxious, I sometimes think."

Miss Bertha Buell sang "Summer Rain" by Willoughby. Miss Mary Berini played the Italian royal march and was the accompanist for Mrs. C. J. Rosso, who sang "Carissima" and "The Rosary." Mrs. I. P. Swangie was the leader of the afternoon and Mrs. C. R. Keyes presided at the meeting.

Declares Man King of the Earth

Desire for Wealth Basis of All Progress, Says Father Dunne; Average Man Is Mystery to His Neighbor; Scores Those Who Marry for Mercenary Motives; Infidel Worst Absurdity.

"Man has explored the earth from pole to pole, has scaled mountains, studied the depths and harnessed forces, such as electricity, but I want to say to you that it all doesn't amount to a row of pins if he has overlooked the king—man," said Rev. Arthur B. C. Dunne of Eau Claire, Wis., in his lecture on "The Average Man," given last night before a large audience at the cathedral auditorium under the auspices of the guild of St. James for the benefit of St. James' orphanage.

Real Neighbor a Mystery.

"Do you know your neighbor? You say you know his homely face, the clothes he wears, the tone of his voice and the dog that follows at his heels. Yet below the exterior characteristics that you see in the average man is a vast mysterious world, wherein he lives alone with his thoughts and his beliefs, his hopes and his fears, his defeats and his victories. The real man consists of the basic characteristics and impulses with which he lives.

"The first characteristic of man I am going to reveal is that he wants to be a millionaire. It is the desire for wealth that is responsible for progress, and it is only when money is in the hands of the other fellow that it seems so horribly evil.

"Millionaires are your slaves. When you want to go from one end of your one-streeted town to the other all you have to do is to get into the carriage of the street railway magnate and when you have had your ride you give him a tip, a nickel. If you gave a Pullman porter such a tip he would steal your shoes. Get that idea, and you will be happy ever afterward. Let the average man remember God has not substituted a million dollars as the price for happiness.

Average Man Wants Home.

"The average man wants a home, except the old bachelor. What is a home? God made the first one, and it was so like Heaven, it was called Paradise. In marriage God enters into partnership with the man and the woman, but many persons who would not plunge into the sea without lifesavers or the knowledge of how to swim, will plunge into matrimony as if it were a cheap week-end party for two. When a man gets tired going from one hotel or boarding house to another and finds that his laundry costs him a good deal, he marries a housekeeper and a laundress. He takes his wife for better or for worse and she takes her husband for richer or for poorer. When he finds out she is a great deal worse than better and she finds out he is a great deal poorer than richer, in both character and pocketbook, then the link that binds them is no stronger than the link that binds two sausages.

Race Suicide Worst Evil.

"Race suicide is the most damnable and contemptible practice of the day. Large families are not considered fashionable. Well, murderesses are fashionable only in a certain social circle and in hell.

"Man is instinctively religious. The one great, monstrous absurdity in the world today is the infidel. When the little child begins to walk he is so proud he can take five steps alone that he is impatient if his mother stands over him to catch him if he falls, but when he does fall, his mother can't come quick enough to pick him up and heal the hurt with kisses. The infidel tells God he doesn't need him, but when he hurts his heart on the rough edges of the world he would cry out, if he had the brain of the little child, for God to come to him.

Man God's Masterpiece.

"Man is the masterpiece of God. He loves his country and his neighbor and doesn't forget his God. The only grand realities are the simple virtues of faith, hope and charity that characterize the average man."

Father Dunne was presented by Rev. Hugh A. Floyd, who said the speaker needed no introduction in a city where he had lectured before.

The lecture was preceded by a musical program. Mrs. D. Tracy Brenan, pianist; Joseph Brandeer, cellist, and Dolore J. Michaud, violinist, gave two Haydn numbers; Mrs. A. A. Deslauriers sang the prelude to Ronald's "Cycle of Life" and Spross' "Will o' the Wisp" and Mrs. J. Frederick Finkelson gave two violin selections. Miss Theresa Lynn was the accompanist.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Conduct Your Own Courtship.

There should be a school, declares a professor in a Western university, where youths and maidens can be instructed in the arts of courtship with their ultimate goal that of matrimony and parenthood. Now while there is something distasteful to the average mind in the idea of teaching men and women how to court, there is no disputing the truth that the youths of today are in grievous need of instruction that will aid them in the performance of their duties after the courtship is over.

Courtship should be, and is, most successfully conducted by instinct. There is no set of rules that could possibly cover the various modes of courtship. I do not suppose that any two men, or any two women, ever went about or entered into a courtship in precisely the same manner. A fairly satisfactory method of courtship might be decided upon, but almost invariably it would fall short of working the desired result, though never in the same particular or suite of particulars. Consequently courtship rules would have to be constantly revised.

Though actual courtship may not be tampered with, there is such a thing as educating and developing the mind of both youthful aspirants to matrimonial honors so that courtships which are not advisable and not desirable may not arrive at a stage where even a nipping in the bud is necessary. A courtship once started is, by the way, a very hard thing to nip successfully. Sometimes the very success of nipping only results in a stronger and deeper-rooted affection that would, if left alone, sooner or later produce the halter that would strangle its make-believe or false emotions. As it is, it survives the marriage ceremony and then dies the death, well-meaning relatives and friends were ineffectual in preventing at a time when it might have been of benefit.

The feeling that marriage is necessary at any cost is quite as big a factor in the unhappy marriage as the attempt at separating two young hearts that they believe they beat as one and only become more deeply convinced in their belief as they are thwarted and denied. A school for courtship under these circumstances does not seem to be the thing needed.

A school in which the sacredness of marriage could be impressed upon men and women is the one that is necessary. If you could teach a woman before marriage that it is absolutely essential that she have her husband's dinner on the table every night at a regular hour, and a husband that he ought to come home nights to eat that dinner oftener than once or twice a week, the need of a courtship school would never be raised.

Duluth Shrine Girls Promoted to Imperial Honors By Smith

It was an unusual and enviable honor that was paid the Duluth Shrine girls at the spring ceremonial of Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, last night, when Imperial Potenate Frederick B. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., named them "the Imperial Shrine Girls of North America."

This event is unprecedented in the history of Shrinedom, according to officials of Aad temple, and places the local organization of girls in a class by themselves. When the announcement was made by Dr. Smith, the entire assembly of Shriners arose and applauded for several minutes.

The giving of the title to the Shrine girls was made by Dr. Smith in an address he delivered just after being presented with a basket of lilies and roses by one of the Shrine girls. Walking toward the stage, where the girls were presenting their entertainment under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance, Dr. Smith declared that the program given by the young women was most original and that Shrinedom is proud of such an organization. He added:

"I now dub you 'the Imperial Shrine Girls of North America,' always to bear that official title."

The Shrine girls were organized about five years ago by Prof. Custance, who has been in charge of their entertainments ever since. The girls have made a hit at every ceremonial and so popular have they become that invitations are constantly received by Aad temple officials asking the girls to make trips to other Shrines. Two years ago the girls visited Osman temple at St. Paul, where they gave an entertainment for the Shriners. When the Imperial council holds its conclave at Minneapolis two years hence, it is understood that the girls will attend and take part in the official proceedings.

There are about forty girls in the organization, most of them being wives sisters or daughters of Shriners.

Prof. Custance, who organized the Shrine girls, not only drills them and directs their performances, but is creator of their "hits," writes their "libbrettos" and adapts the language to popular music, or, in a pinch, composes the music. Little things like composing a song or adapting one to local conditions are nothing to him. There is a lot of hard work attached to his efforts as those who are acquainted with them realize, but to hear the results one might think that, to him, they are "just as easy." The officers and members of Aad temple realized that they owe a great deal to Mr. Custance.

AMERICA FIRST.

I am not speaking in a selfish spirit when I say that our whole duty, for the present at any rate, is summed up in this motto: "AMERICA FIRST." Let us think of America before we think of Europe, in order that America may be fit to be Europe's friend, when the day of tested friendship comes.

The test of frienship is not now sympathy with the one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over.

Those are sentences from President Wilson's talk at the Associated Press luncheon in New York yesterday, and they are sentences that carry a message and an interpretation to every American citizen. They should remind him of what some of us have been inclined to forget—that while our country has been called "the melting-pot of the nations," the result of that melting process is a separate and individual people, the American people, and that whatever our previous personal alliances and sympathies, it is now our duty to consider each question first of all in the light of its effect on or relation to this country of ours.

Such a course now, as the president pointed out, is not selfish. When this war is over, our own strength is going to be largely determinative as to the value of our friendship to the nations concerned in the framing of peace terms. But our strength at that time will be itself determined by just that extent to which we have been able to keep ourselves free of the broil, free of the spirit of hostility that exists naturally and perforce between those peoples engaged in the war.

"America first" is a policy that means not only development of our own opportunities, but ultimate ability to apply the fruit of that development to the welfare of all mankind.

Soon it will be time to organize another Brotherhood of Wall Street Victims.

INDICATIONS OF PEACE?

There is likely to be little credence generally in the report from Italy that indications point to a possible early end to the war. There has been too much already spent in the struggle to make it seem likely that either of the powers engaged should be willing to drop the fighting without some decisive result, and there has been so much bitterness that cessation of fighting under conditions short of definite victory or defeat hardly seems reasonable.

And yet there is always the factor of the existence of conditions not known outside the official inner circles of the powers engaged. We know little or nothing about conditions in Germany, for example, and neither we, nor even the British people themselves, know more than bare smatterings of what conditions the allies are facing at the front or in their financial or other affairs.

Then there is the temper of the soldiers. In no other war in the history of the world have the rank and file of the several armies been composed of men so capable of thinking for themselves as are those now face to face in Europe. Are there matters transpiring at the very fronts that may make mutual peace overtures desirable? That may not seem probable, but at least it is not to be scouted as impossible.

In the early days of the war it was asserted in many quarters that now that the clash had come, it would be better that it should go to a finish and so settle for all time the question of European supremacy. Nearly nine months of war have passed since then, with losses of life and treasure and with fearfulness of conditions probably never surpassed in any war. Is it possible that by terminating the struggle now the nations would be in a mood to agree on some international policy of material reduction of military establishments? Perhaps that could be accomplished with with such effectiveness as to minimize, if not eliminate, the likelihood of another conflict. If that should be the case, peace now would be decidedly preferable to a continued war, with continued waste of money on militarism and armaments to follow it.

Perhaps this report from Italy is not entirely absurd. At least it seems to be commanding a degree of attention and respect over there, and the very existence of definite rumors of impending peace is encouraging.

"Long about knee-deep in June."

THE STATE UNIVERSITY CLEARED

One thing of unmistakable value that the legislature has done has been the clearing up of the charges against the state university. There is always a lot of misunderstanding about an institution like this, it seems, and such charges as were made this year, of extravagance and inefficiency, are forever being hatched.

After all this may be natural in view of the fact that so much of the work done is of an intangible sort. You can knock a man down and leave him with a black eye that is unavoidable evidence to all of your accomplishment; but when you build up his brain and send him out to use it in the daily tasks of life, there is little likelihood that everybody who meets him will realize what has been done to him.

Summarized, the legislative committee's report gives these conclusions:

That there is nothing entitled to be called "extravagance" in the institution as a whole or in its several departments.

That professors are not being overpaid, or being paid at all when they are going about their private business instead of about university business.

That the Bren defalcation was not hushed up by means of private settlement and individual pull.

That the university is being conducted on sound business principles instead of carelessly or recklessly.

That the fraternities and sororities, while they present a problem that is worthy of study and consideration, are not an unqualified menace and disgrace to the institution and the state, as some would have us believe.

These are the conclusions of the investigators, to which they append the suggestion that the university go slowly in the matter of extensions and the development of accessories, whatever they may mean by that. Probably the caution was born, at least in part, of the condition in Wisconsin, where it is being charged that the state university is doing so much outside work that the work within the institution itself is suffering from lack of attention.

It is worth a good deal more than many will realize to have the state university given such a clean bill of health as this. It means that the attacks of natural prejudice will have to have something more substantial than hearsay or fears to secure public attention. It means that the university will be left free to spend in the development of our young men and women the energy that otherwise might have to be spent in defensive measures. And it means further that Minnesota's university will move still another notch toward the top in the list of recognized state institutions of learning.

When politicians get to suing each other for libel it looks as if simple citizens might get their dues.

MILES POINDEXTER, PROPHET.

Somebody—Sam Blythe, for choice—should write a book called "From Senator to Seer, or the Measuring of Miles."

If ever anybody needed exploitation in a compass no less than that of a full sized book, that person is Miles Poindexter, sole Bull Moose member of the United States senate. Miles hails from the state of Washington, and is supposed to be as broad in his views as the distance from the national capital to the home town.

In 1911 Miles jumped on the Bull Moose band wagon and asked for the senatorship on that basis. He argued that the old G. O. P. was rotten to the core; that it was dying a deserved death; that the Bull Moose party was hereafter to be THE party, and that the Democrats couldn't elect anybody to office anyway Miles argued this way in public, and the people took him at his word And Miles believed all he said.

But a lot of things have happened since 1911, and among others there were the election of several Democrats, and the demise of the party that was to become THE party. So now it is necessary for Miles to be something else. It is bad enough to be the only Bull Mooser in the senate; to be the only one in the nation could be intolerable, or so Miles thinks.

So Miles is preparing to jump back into the G. O. P., and he begins by saying suavely that he is going to seek re-election to the senate as a Republican. Then he goes on to prophesy the coalition of the G. O. P. and the Bull Moose party, and even opines that "there will be a concerted and vigorous movement by Republicans throughout the country to nominate a Progressive on the Republican ticket for president of the United States."

In other words, if any Bull Mooser can be found who didn't mean what he said three years ago to the effect that the G. O. P. was rotten to the core, and will own up that he didn't mean it, but only said it for political purposes and to get an office that he couldn't have got otherwise—that is, if any Bull Mooser of national prominence will own himself to be a political liar, an unscrupulous office seeker willing to throw principle to the winds for the sake of a public job—if there is any such person, the Republicans will be willing—nay, glad ("will make a concerted and vigorous movement" is the way Miles puts it) to nominate him for president as a Republican.

Miles has already announced himself as a candidate for senator, so of course he is eliminated as a possibility. Then who is to be the nominee? The mind turns naturally to THE Colonel, but is that justified? Not long ago a reporter asked him if he was a candidate for the Republican nomination and Roosevelt replied "That's a fool question!" Then he wondered if that was the right thing to say, and said it over again with an addition, thus: "That's a fool question at this time."

If Miles is a good prophet, what did T. R. mean? And if he isn't a good prophet, does that have any effect on T. R.'s meaning?

"Rose Stahl Tuesday, John Drew Wednesday and 'The Devil' the next three days," reads a headline in a Butte, Mont., paper. Old Nick must have curtailed his steady engagement in that locality.

Art Must Have Life

Auguste Laugel: The beautiful cannot have its origin in tumult, in the simultaneous reverberation of a crowd of sounds in which the ear can distinguish no measure of harmony, nor can the plastic arts discover it in the mere wanton medley of colors and of lines. The ideas which these arts endeavor to express can only be made clear when they are translated into an intelligible language, of which monuments and forms and figures, lights, shades and masses are, as it were, the characters.

If the eye is offended, if it is asked to regard spectacles violating the laws of its sensibility, if the intelligence can find no common measure for the masses, if the contacts are not skillfully managed, if the minute and the vast, shadow and color, simplicity and richness jostle against each other and are mingled without judgment or rule, then the mind finds no longer its pleasure in the sensation, it no longer apprehends an idea and a design under the material envelope. The bronze is then only a metal, the marble but a piece of stone, the color only a more or less brilliant dash of pigment.

Works of art must have a rule of life, and he who speaks of life understands by it harmony, order, the correlation of all the parts into a single whole.

Sea Gulls of Manhattan.

Children of the elemental mother,
Born upon some lonely island shore
Where the wrinkled ripples run and whisper,
Where the crested billows plunge and roar;
Long-winged, tireless roamers and adventurers,
Fearless breasters of the wind and sea,
In the far-off solitary places
I have seen you floating wild and free!

Here the high-built cities rise around you;
Here the cliffs that tower east and west,
Honeycombed with human habitations,
Have no hiding for the sea-bird's nest;
Here the river flows begrimed and troubled;
Here the hurrying, panting vessels fume,
Restless, up and down the watery highway,
While a thousand chimneys vomit gloom.

Toil and tumult, conflict and confusion,
Clank and clamor of the vast machine
Human hands have built for human bondage—
Yet amid it all you float serene;
Circling, soaring, sailing, swooping lightly
Down to glean your harvest from the wave;
In your heritage of air and water,
You have kept the freedom nature gave.

Even so the wild woods of Manhattan
Saw your wheeling flocks of white and gray;
Even so you fluttered, followed, floated,
Round the Half-Moon creeping up the bay;
Even so your voices croaked and chattered,
Laughing shrilly o'er the tidal rips,
While your black and beady eyes were glistening
Round the sullen British prison ships.

Children of the elemental mother,
Fearless floaters 'mid the double blue,
From the crowded boats that cross the ferries
Many a longing heart goes out to you.
Though the cities climb and close around us,
Something tells us that our souls are free,
While the sea gulls fly above the harbor,
While the river flows to meet the sea.

Keen Sleuths of Europe

From the New York World.

Tales of European detective work requiring greater ingenuity than that possessed by the framed sleuths of popular magazine fiction were told to inspectors, lieutenants and captains in police headquarters by Raymond B. Fosdick, former commissioner of accounts.

Fosdick, who has made an exhaustive study of the police systems of various nations, referred especially to the remarkable work done in the "criminal laboratories" of Berlin. One case in point astonished the New York policemen listening.

A man had been shot down in the streets of Berlin, Fosdick said, and the only clew found was a coat left by the murderer. This coat bore no label or other mark, but the German criminal experts placed it in a brown paper bag, and pounded it with sticks until all the dust from the garment had settled in the bottom of the paper container. The dust then was analyzed and found to contain numerous small particles of sawdust and glue. Arguing that the murderer was a carpenter, the detectives sought among the dead man's acquaintances and easily found the guilty man.

Another case cited by Fosdick was that in which a cigar holder figured as the only clew in a murder mystery. The holder was photographed and irregular teeth marks were found upon it. The detectives then photographed the mouth of a nephew of the murdered man, and found his teeth so set as to fit exactly the marks on the cigar holder.

Fosdick amused his audience considerably when he described the "garlic pickpockets" of Budapest, men who make the odor of garlic so prominent on their persons that their intended victims turn their heads away and so make easy the thief's work.

The former commissioner of accounts also spoke of the elaborate system of police espionage practiced in Germany, which required a citizen entering a city to give his name, residence and other information to the police. There are 40,000,000 names and records collected by the police on file in Berlin, he said, the letter S alone taking up fifteen rooms.

In speaking of the comparative merits of the Bertillon system and the thumb-print system of criminal identification, Fosdick said that the latter was infinitely superior, as the former required technical skill in taking the measurements.

The case of the theft of the "Mona Lisa" from the Louvre, he said, had been cited as an example of the breakdown of the thumb print system, but as a matter of fact it was not, for while the Parisian police had the thumbprints of the criminal on file for a previous crime, they could not identify them with the prints of the picture, as the thumbprints were not indexed under the thumbprint index system, but followed the Bertillon measurements and could not be readily found.

In speaking of the thumbprint system as applied in Europe, the lecturer said this country was at a disadvantage, owing to the fact that New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities have their separate collections of thumbprints, whereas in England, Scotland Yard is the clearing house for every criminal thumbprint taken in the country.

In speaking of the relative merit of various European police forces he had studied, the lecturer said Italy had the finest police force in Europe, but added: "We are in a position to teach Europe a great deal when it comes to a question of physical bravery among the police."

Bathing the Pig

Chicago News: One thing, as has been observed by the philosophers, follows another. Or it may be that one thing precedes another. This point has never been definitely determined; the test case of the chicken and the egg is still pending. Upon the issue of that cause hangs or may hang the decision as to whether bathing the pig by railroad corporations is responsible for the high cost of pork, or whether the high cost of pork makes it necessary for the railroad coroparations to bathe the pig.

Anyway, the modern, the sanitary, the tired business pig must have its shower bath in transit from hither to yon, according to the testimony of G. R. Vilas, general superintendent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, before the interstate commerce commission. The expense of providing shower baths and other luxurious appointments for the pig and its attendants, according to Mr. Vilas, is one reason why the railroad companies respectfully and with tears in their corporate eyes beg to be permitted to increase freight rates.

It is necessary to bathe the pig, Mr. Vilas says, in order that the pig may not lose weight. Yet to a mere layman it would seem cheaper to carry a light pig than a heavy one, especially as the freight is most likely to be paid on the basis of the pig's weight at the beginning of its tour. One must assume, therefore, that the philanthropic railroad wants the producer of the pig to get its full value and so conserves its weight. The consumer, of course, pays for what he gets, though he does not always get what he pays for.

However, we are not considering the consumer. It is not being done this year. We are considering the pig.

In order that its ablutions may be properly given the pig must have caretakers. The pig valets, too, must be comfortably fed and bedded down. All this costs money. So the petitioners humbly pray to be permitted to charge more for the transportation of the pig.

Very likely the railroads are entitled to charge higher rates; still, a thoughtless consumer of pork chops or sausage might wonder why the pig is not bathed at home and slaughtered and shipped as pork, thus requiring neither valet nor bath. The sufficient answer is, of course, that all pigs of true culture, wherever found, take as their guiding principle the beautiful saying, "See Chicago and die."

The President a Real Commander-in-Chief

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

It required some solid effrontery for Congressman Gardner to refer in a public speech to a strictly private scene in the White House of which he was not a witness and then challenge the president to "permit a public investigation" of the accuracy of his statement.

As for the merits of the president's alleged conduct in turning down the army and navy board, one cannot too highly commend the president's wisdom, and perhaps, on that account, the congressman may be cordially thanked for making public reference to the episode. People will remember that the diplomatic incident figuring in Mr. Gardner's story concerned our delicate relations with Japan:

About a year ago, in the minds of many people, there was serious danger of international trouble in the Pacific ocean. At that time a joint board composed of the highest army officers and the highest navy officers was in existence. It met together to consider what ought to be done in an emergency. The members of the board went before the president with a recommendation that certain precautions should immediately be taken. The president gasped with anger at the effrontery of these distinguished officers and peremptorily forbade the board to meet again. If this statement of mine is denied, I challenge the president to permit a public investigation.

What a blessing that the country had a president capable of putting an instant quietus on the plans of the "joint board" to move the fleet and alarm Japan by warlike preparations. We know what "mobilization" did in Europe last July; these officers evidently wished to follow the policy of getting the jump on the Japanese in case there should be trouble, ignoring utterly the fact that getting the jump might itself precipitate the trouble.

The president was speedily vindicated—a fact our Massachusetts congressman ignores—by the passing of the crisis without the slightest rupture in our Japanese relations. Mr. Gardner can only increase public respect for the president by such revelations. There need be no "public investigation." The congressman's word for it may be accepted. It was a fine, reassuring incident in the commander-in-chief's record.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

We are the clay, and Thou our potter.—Isa. lxiv, 8.

O mighty Potter, to whose steadfast eyes
A thousand years lie open as one day.
Thy patient hand set firm on life's great wheel
This heavy, shapeless clay.
Rough and imperfect, yet it owns Thy touch;
Spare not, nor stay the pressure of Thine hand;
Make known Thy power; and soon or late, let love
Perfect what love hath planned!
—L. H. Hammond.

We cannot save up our strength, but, if we use it, we shall receive more and shall often be surprised at unexpected aid to meet special emergencies. —The Renewal of Strength.

We thank Thee, our Father, for Thy dealings with us to our good, and save us, for Christ's sake. Amen.

I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.—1 Thess. v, 23.

This verse puts before us the three parts of man's constitution. The Spirit—that which alone can hold communion with God. The Soul—the seat of the rational faculties. The Body—the organ of our senses. He who preserves or keeps us, is God. But, before He keeps us, He takes us into His possession. In other word, before He keep us in holiness, He brings us into holiness. To sanctify is to make holy by consecrating to a holy use, or bringing into the one center of all holiness—that is, God. We sanctify ourselves when we present ourselves to the Holy One. God sanctifies us when He takes us unto Himself—appropriates and fills us. Then comes the keeping. This is the prayer, to be kept "blameless"—not "faultless;" that shall be our state hereafter (Jude 24). Kept blameless continually right on to "the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

"Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy," etc. (Jude 24.)—S. H. Hopkins.

Getting Used to a Dress Suit.

Indianapolis News: The first dress suit is viewed with much the same feeling as a boy's first pair of long trousers. It is the turning point. It takes a lot of courage for the average man to realize that he has grown so undemocratic (so he calls it) that he must have a dress suit. For truly, it is no plebeian outfit. After having the suit sent home from the tailor's the owner pulls it out of the box and, donning it upstairs, walks sheepishly down so that his wife may pass an opinion. A dress suit wouldn't be so bad were it not for the fact that the coat is all cut away in front. It makes a neophyte feel as though he were not completely dressed. Then those long tails hanging down behind where once was the short business coat make the wearer feel that his suit doesn't fit.

Dress suits have all sorts of effects on the appearance of a man. His self-consciousness is expressed in his every action. If a man be elongated the dress suit adds to the elongation, giving him the appearance of a long pen-wiper, all done in black. If he be fat the appearance suggests lines of a big, fat, juicy, contented 'possum. It is the medium-sized man who takes on immediately the appearance of a well-fed—perhaps corn-fed—old crow.

It is some task for a man to get into a stiff-bosomed shirt after he has been used to the soft one; he hates the stand-up collar when he has been used to the turndown. But, after all, wearing clothes is a matter of custom, and after a man has worn a dress suit about forty times he begins to feel a little bit at home.

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Watch Public Sentiment.

St. Paul Review: As the date of dissolution of the legislature approaches we see the time of the members largely employed in killing measures that should never be presented to their consideration. Some of the incessant plaints of the various boards for appropriations are too weak to be heard, and some pretty strenuous courage required to restrain extravagance in the state government. Of course if officeholders are not able to get what they want now, they will not forget to attend the legislative session two years hence with a stronger lobby than the one in evidence at the present time. It would actually seem as if there was a determination to limit the growing expenses of government. True enough, population increases and expense likewise, but not in the same proportion, though recent experience would indicate the contrary. Yet when we give deep thought to the matter the state is no more to be called to task for extravagance than every municipality in the state. The subject is one for the education of the voter. The approach must be made by the ballot and, when these are counted, we see the direction of public sentiment.

Befriends the North.

Warroad Pioneer: Bob Dunn did not vote for the repeal of the Elwell law, as the senate journal will show. Bob Dunn has consistently fought and voted for every measure that was for the interest of Northern Minnesota, and he who asserts to the contrary does not know the facts.

Ingenious, to Say the Least.

Wadena Pioneer-Journal: Speaking of fewer legislative sessions, with no desire to be either captious or facetious, the Pioneer Journal would suggest an arrangement whereby sessions be held as at present, save that each alternate session be devoted exclusively to repeal of legislation previously enacted. In other words, let the boys meet one year to enact laws, and two years later to repeal them. What say?

For Reform, If——

Breckenridge Gazette: It appears that the economy and efficiency bill, on which the commission appointed by Governor Eberhart spent so much labor, is a dead issue, so far as this session of the legislature is concerned. The failure of this bill to become a law illustrates the attitude of pretty nearly every reformer. He is perfectly willing to reform his neighbor, but he doesn't propose to allow his neighbor to reform him. In this case every man who was supposed to be favorable to reforms in the state government found that the proposed law would knock him out of some petty graft or else separate some of his friends or henchmen from a soft job. Accordingly, when the bill came up for final consideration it didn't have friends enough to hold a wake.

About the Average.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: There is a general complaint all over the country of the inefficiency and haphazard work of the state legislatures. That is, however, a general complaint during the legislative years—and probably the solons of this year average as good as those of the past. The wonder is that we get as safe and sane legislation as we do, when we send to the legislature a lot of men with little general information on some of the important problems of the day. There are in the Minnesota house and senate several very able men, and men who have had legislative experience, but they are often turned down by some fellow who can arouse the prejudice of his fellow members, because they lack information.

Night School for Legislators.

Pine River Sentinel-Blaze: An exchange pertinently remarks that an appropriation of $10,000 to establish a night school in St. Paul to partially educate the bulk of the members of the state legislature would meet with little opposition.

Due to Ignorance.

Bear River Journal: The determined effort of the members of the legislature from the southern part of the state to nullify the forestry amendment adopted by the voters last year amply demonstrates the ignorance of the average member of that body of matters concerning the state outside of his own locality. Most of them still imagine Northeastern Minnesota a howling wilderness with unlimited swamps and jack pine, for which conservation is not desired, and, therefore, they are "agin" timber conservation.

May Be Blessing.

Morris Sun: With less than two weeks left of the present session of the legislature, that body will soon pass into history. It has been unique in a way. Outside of the passage of the county option bill, nothing of any importance has been accomplished, and but few measures of any kind have been passed. The peculiar state of affairs is laid by many to the non-partisan makeup of the membership which has destroyed the organization upon which so much depended in other legislatures. Even at that the change may prove to be a good one, for a small number of well-considered laws are much more useful than the hundreds of half-baked measures usually turned out.

On Fame's Eternal Beadroll.

New York Tribune: The name of William King is not listed among the great ones of the earth. No monuments will ever be erected to his memory, for he was only a cook. Yet what a cook! In him blazed the fire of genius, which, at the white heat of inspiration, drove him one day in the old Bellevue in Philadelphia to combine bits of chicken, mushrooms, truffles, red and green peppers and cream in that delightsome mixture which ever after has been known as "chicken a la King."

That was many a year ago. Since that toothsome morsel has pleased palates all round the world. King, the man, went the way of many another genius, to his grave, and some of his old acquaintances have undertaken to look after his widow and children. Nevertheless his work lives after him. To adopt the sentiments of a purveyor of good things, who is also a philosopher, "for happiness of man he doeth more by far who maketh a new dish than he who finds a star!"

His Plan.

Washington Star: "You said a little while ago that you favored government ownership because you had a lot of stuff you'd just as soon sell the government."

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "What would you do with the cash you would receive?"

"Hold on to it and buy the stuff back when the government got tired of trying to run it."

DENIES HE CALLED THE "ANTI-TROYER MEETING."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to most emphatically deny that I called the so-called Anti-Troyer meeting of Sunday afternoon as stated in last evening's paper. The facts are: Two other members of the French club and myself were appointed by said club to confer with Mr. Silberstein, and that if he was going to make a change in the office of chief, this club wished to recommend one of the detectives. This committee did not intend to meet Mr. Silberstein until some time this week. Some of the Anti-Troyer voters up town found out about this committee's appointment, and asked two of this committee to make an appointment for Sunday afternoon with Mr. Silberstein, so that they could arrange to have committees there from the different Silberstein clubs throughout the city to talk this matter over. We made the appointment with Mr. Silberstein and attended the same as the others did, and I cannot see why some people are trying to shoulder on my back the arrangement of this meeting when they know it is not true. The different gentlemen present from all kinds of citizens representing Mr. Silberstein's support shows there was no faction about this meeting.

DEEP DIVING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the deepest down a diver has been in water? Our preacher said they have been down four miles, but I do not think it, as I thought when the F-4 went down the diver went down 233 feet. I thought that was the record.

F. J. J.

Duluth, April 20.

As far as known the depth of 233 feet to which the expert navy divers descended in their search for the submarine F-4 establishes a new record for submarine divers. Only men of remarkable constitutions and strong lungs can stand the enormous pressure to which they are subjected at this depth. As the air which is forced into their copper helmets through rubber hose, from the powerful pumps on the surface, is exhausted through the valve of the helmet against the heavy weight of water above them, the pressure on the lungs and other organs is something terrific and is increased with every foot of depth. Many divers even at a depth of 100 feet are frequently overcome and drawn to the surface bleeding at the nose and ears.—The Editor.

MEXICANS FIRE ON U. S. BIPLANE ON THE BORDER

Brownsville, Tex., April 21.—A United States army biplane, flying over Fort Brown, near here, was fired upon yesterday afternoon by Carranza soldiers at Matamoros. About twenty rifle shots and fifty shots from a machine gun on the Mexican side, it is believed in army circles here, were fired at the air craft. The machine landed safely.

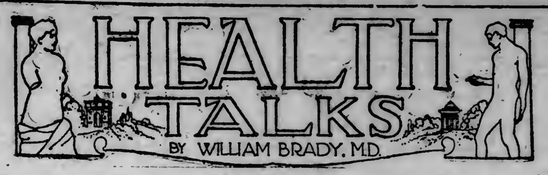
The biplane was piloted by Lieut. B. Q. Jones, with Lieut. L. D. Milling as observer. Both were undware of the incident until they landed about 5:30 o'clock. The biplane was not struck, but one bullet hit the army wireless station at Fort Brown and another was picked up north of the city hall in this city.

The air craft, which was sent here recently for border patrol duty, had made a circle near the Rio Grande when fired on. Upon making a second circle, and when within about 200 feet of the river, the rattle of the machine gun was heard. All the shots were fired over American territory.

Col. A. P. Blockson, commandant at Fort Brown, has reported the matter by wireless to Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the lower border patrol at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

BRITAIN PROTESTS ON GERMAN RETALIATION.

London, April 21.—Through Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, the British foreign office yesterday sent a protest to Washington to be forwarded to Berlin, denouncing the retaliatory steps Germany has taken against thirty-nine British officers as a result of the special treatment accorded thirty-nine submarine prisoners in England.



The note explains that the Germans are being humanely treated and protests against the close confinement of the British officers.

Virtually the only difference between the treatment of the German submarine prisoners and other German prisoners, the note says, is that the former are in the naval barracks instead of in the detention camp.

The foreign office is still without information as to the names of the British officers being specially punished in Germany, the United States not yet having obtained the names from Germany.

Rapid City Now Dry.

Rapid City, S. D., April 21.—For the first time in its history this city voted "dry" Tuesday with a majority of forty-three against license.

Keeping Our Place in the Sun

No known remedy so quickly increases the number of red blood corpuscles in a case of anemia, whatever the cause, as sunlight. At Leysin, Switzerland, 3,800 feet above sea level, where all forms of tuberculosis are cured by sun baths, the exposure of the body to sunlight is very gradually increased, only the legs are exposed for five minutes three times the first day, on the second day the legs are bathed for ten minutes and the knees five minutes three times, on the third day the exposures are increased five minutes each time, and so on, until the patient can stand a full sun bath for three to five hours a day. Yet in the first three days of this exposure, with only the legs and knees uncovered, the stimulating influence of the sunlight is such that the average increase of red corpuscles has been found to be about 500,000 per cubic millimeter of blood, or practically a 10 per cent gain.

At Leysin the sunlight is so strong that, even when the ground is covered with snow, the temperature of the air may be as high as 110 or 120 degrees Fahrenheit, and children enjoy capering about with shoes and little or no other clothing on them.

Sunlight Is a Cell Stimulant.

Besides being powerfully germicidal, much more so than any chemical that may be safely used, sunlight is powerfully stimulating to the natural recuperative functions. It will heal a tubercular sinus from a diseased bone, for instance, when nothing else will heal it without mutilation.

How about your house? What careful precautions do you take to exclude sunlight? Do you value your rugs and your household decorations above the health of your family? What are the shades on the windows for? Why are the windows so few and so far between? If you ever build a home of your own build with a view of admitting all the sunlight the law allows. Where there is sunlight disease has a pretty hard time gaining a foothold.

Compound Licorice Powder and Piles: I have had piles for many years. I have much trouble with constipation. Can I be cured of the latter? Is compound licorice powder bad to take as a physic?

REPLY.

We doubt you can be cured of your constipation unless you have the piles operated on. Compound licorice powder, consisting as it does of licorice, senna, sulphur and oil of fennel, is not bad—in fact as good as any laxative for such a condition.

Goiter, But What Kind?: Frances R. wishes to know whether there is a cure for goiter other than operation.

REPLY.

Yes. No specific remedy, but suitable treatment for the individual case. Only a minority of cases are operated on. It depends largely on the kind of goiter and its severity.

REPLY.

Buttermilk gargle and spray in nose. Use it frequently for a day or two, then have another culture.

ITS PASSAGE IS DOUBTFUL

Slight Chance for Bill Limiting Tax Levies of Villages.

Attempt to Suspend Rules of the House Is Failure.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only the slender chance that the fillbuster will be broken to enable the house to reach the calendar, neglected for weeks, before adjournment tonight, remains to save the Westlake-Wright bill to limit the levies of villages and cities of the third and fourth classes to $25 per capita.

Last night the friends of the bill made the desperate attempt to suspend the rules to put the bill on its final passage, but though the measure got a majority of the votes cast, it lacked considerably of the necessary two-thirds, or 87. The vote was 63 for the motion to suspend the rules and 60 against.

Representative John B. Sanborn of St. Paul, who made the motion, said that the bill was directed against the reckless expenditures of public money in some of the range communities.

"This bill is of sufficient importance to be acted upon, and every fair-minded man should be willing to put it on its final passage and vote it up or down, whether he is for it or against it.

"There has been a deliberate attempt to keep from reaching this bill, and to let it die on the calendar. That is not fair tactics, and that is why I make this motion."

No Argument Against Bill.

There was no argument against the bill. Representative Scott of Hibbing demanded a roll call on the motion, and Mr. Sanborn demanded a call of the house.

Mr. Scott protested that it would take up too much time to try to dispose of the bill that evening. "We might stay here till morning," he said.

J. M. Harrison of Minneapolis, author of the house bill, said: "I hope you will give this bill the same consideration that you have given other bills tonight."

Representative T. H. Girling of Minneapolis, who with L. A. Lydiard of Minneapolis and C. H. Warner of Aitkin have been the engineers of the fillbuster against this bill and other pending temperance, suffrage and similar measures, said that it would not be fair to other bills to suspend the rules on this one.

"On the ground of fairness," said Representative Larimore of Minneapolis, "I hope you will suspend the rules. Simply because there is a difference of opinion is no reason why we should be unfair."

On the roll call many who favor the bill and will vote for it if it is reached voted against suspending the rules for fear the fight on it would consume too much time.

The evening had been set apart for moving bills, and virtually all the other bills except this one were unopposed.

Bills Passed.

Among the bills passed was one by Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth providing for the registration under the Torrens act of submerged land between the dock line and the shore line.

The senate bill to promote suburban trolley development by requiring city lines to give rural trolleys use of their tracks passed the house on motion of Representative Carmichael. Provision is made that if the parties are unable to agree on compensation, the railroad and warehouse commission shall decide.

Representative Seebach offered a resolution directing the public examiner to investigate the office of the adjutant general last night, but it was put over by a notice of debate.

Not Likely to Pass.

The senate bill by Senator Adams allowing the city of Duluth to condemn shore rights for park purposes is in the house, but it seems likely to die there because of the opposition of Representative Ribenack of Duluth and others.

* * *

Midnight tonight is the last chance for passing bills. If when the hour of midnight arrives the legislature is in the mood for more work, it can put the clock back, as it often has in the past, and work as long as it likes. It is not probable, however, that this will be done. Final adjournment comes at noon tomorrow.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

GENERALLY FAIR FOR THE COMING WEEK.

Washington, April 21.—Generally fair weather over every section of the country during the coming week was the prediction of the weather bureau yesterday in its weekly forecast. The detailed forecast includes:

Great Lakes Region—Fair and moderately cool the first half of the week; warm with some probability of unsettled weather and showers latter half.

Plains states and Upper Mississippi valley—Generally fair with temperatures considerably above normal during practically the entire week.

board of regents, adopted yesterday, stating that it would not enter into any permanent affiliation unless the board of regents had full control of the foundation. This is in entire accord with the spirit of the bill. Therefore I am not now in favor of this measure. I believe the board of regents will act for the best interests of the university. We should not miss this chance to get an endowed graduate school of medicine."

Senator Sageng then moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed.

He was seconded by Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, who said that in view of all the circumstances, consideration of the bill would be taken as exhibiting a lack of confidence in the board of regents.

"It has seemed to me," said Senator F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia, "that it would be unwise and imprudent for the legislature to attempt in its closing hours to settle this important question. This seems to be a most appropriate ending, and I hope the grave of the bill will be strewn with roses."

Attempt to Hog-Tie Regents.

"Not a single layman in my district," declared Senator F. E. Putnam of Blue Earth City, "has approached me on this bill, one way or another. I take it that there is no demand for this measure outside of professional medical circles. This is an attempt to hog-tie the board of regents on an educational proposition, and a direct blow at the educational independence of the university. Such a law would be the opening wedge for political dictation by the legislature."

Senator J. W. Andrews of Mankato, a physician, made the principal talk against the bill. He resented inferences that the doctors are opposed to the proposed affiliation as doctors. "Their interest is only as citizens of the state, not as doctors."

Dr. Andrews declared that while there is no better place than Rochester to learn surgery or pathology, it is not so good a place to learn medicine, and there is no provision whatever for obstretrics, eye and ear, nose and throat, and other branches which the general physician must understand. "When the Mayos are gone," he added, "the institution will go, too, unless it has the university to bolster it up."

Another Doctor for Bill.

Dr. Pierre A. Hilbert of Melrose also supported the bill.

"This seems to be a fickle-minded affair," he remarked. "Yesterday this was a good bill, and today it is only fit for indefinite postponement. A private firm at Rochester asks that part of the university be moved there for its own purposes. This is not an endowment, but a fund for the self-perpetuation of a private corporation."

Senator Holmberg, while he admitted that Senator Sageng had a right to withdraw his name from the bill if he wished, thought that he ought not to move its indefinite postponement, but should let it go to a direct vote.

Senator Sageng thought it made no difference whether the vote was on the bill or on postponement, but out of consideration for Mr. Holmberg he withdrew his motion.

Senator George H. Sullivan made the speech that really put the bill over. He said that the doctors are alarmed at the proposal because they are in the best position to know what it means.

"The vice of the proposal," he said, "if it has a vice, is that it is a copartnership between a private institution and a state institution. Is that wise, no matter what the inducements offered? These inducements, the size of the endowment and the world-wide fame of the Mayos, doubtless have swept the board of regents off their feet. The bill is not so drastic as it has been represented to be. It simply forbids the board of regents to enter into any arrangement that will deprive them of their lawful powers over university affairs."

Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter said the passage of the bill would be a direct expression of doubt about that ability of the board of regents to handle their duties wisely.

How They Voted.

The vote was as follows:

For the bill—Adams, Alley, Andrews, Baldwin, Blomgren, Bonniwell, Callahan, W. A. Campbell, Carley, W. W. Dunn, Gardner, Gillam, Gjerset, Glotzbach, Griggs, Grose, Handlan, Hanson, Hilbert, Holmberg, Jackson, Knopp, Lobeck, Millett, Nord, Pauly, G. M. Peterson, Ries, Rustad, Rystrom, G. H. Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Swenson, Turnham, Van Hoven, Weis—36.

Against the bill—Benson, Buckler, A. S. Campbell, Collester, Denegre, R. C. Dunn, Duxbury, Dwinnell, Gandrud, Healy, Hegnes, Johnston, Jones, Lende, McCarry, Nelson, O'Neill, Orr, Palmer, E. P. Peterson, F. H. Peterson, Potter, Putnam, Rockne, Sageng, Steffen, Verndlya, Vibert, Wallace, Ward, Westlake—31.

Cut Down Claims Bill.

The house spent all of yesterday and up to 6 o'clock last night on the claims bill, and as a result cut $80,090 out of the bill.

There was a particularly strong fight on the drainage items, and three of them were stricken out, as follows: For the Nordick state ditch in Wilkin county, $23,868; for the Sand Hill river ditch in Polk county, $20,000; for the Wing river in Todd county, $25,000.

Representative Paul Marschalk of Warroad made a strong resistance to a motion to strike out the appropriation of $50,000 for the widening, deepening and straightening of Roseau river, to facilitate drainage of state lands in that section, and succeeded in keeping the item in the bill. The appropriation of $10,000 for the widening of the Minnesota river in Browns Valley was also retained despite a fight.

This was the fourth and last of the appropriation bills to be acted upon by the house. The senate has passed them all with amendments, and conference committees are working to reach an agreement between the two bodies. The senate conference committee consists of Senators Rockne, J. D. Sullivan, R. C. Dunn, Orr and Swenson.

Village Dissolution Bill Beaten.

The house bill by Adolph Larson of Sandstone, which proposed to provide fore the dissolution of village having less than fifty inhabitants by petition of property owners, was defeated in the senate yesterday afternoon by the close margin of 32 yeas to 33 nays, after Senator J. D. Sullivan of St. Cloud had made a vigorous speech against passage of the bill.

The bill, which passed the house some time ago, was fathered in the senate by Senator J. A. Rystrom of North Branch, who insisted upon a call of the senate and a call of the absentees on the passage of the measure. The proposed law originated as result of a peculiar situation which obtains in the village of Banning near the town of Sandstone in Pine county. Sandstone is dry, and Banning, which has but eight legal voters, is able to keep open a single saloon. Residents of Sandstone, a mile and a half distant, desired abolishment of this saloon, and sought in the Larson bill a method to end the saloon by ending the village through petition of non-resident property owners.

Senator Sullivan characterized this feature of the bill as "a dangerous bit of the cheapest kind of carpet baggery" and declared the bill was mischevious in its intent and might work widespread harm throughout the state. He insisted that the proper way, now that county option is law, was for the residents of Pine county to abolish alleged vicious conditions at Banning by voting the county dry. He intimated that such action was homeopathic by comparison with what could be done under the Larson bill.

Resolution on University.

Senator Leonard H. Nord of International Falls, yesterday afternon introduced in the senate the following resolution, which was laid over for one day when Senator O. O. Sageng of Dalton, gave notice of debate:

"Whereas, it has come to the notice of the author of this resolution that there exists in the state some little distrust of the manner in which affairs of the University of Minnesota are handled, and

"Whereas, the author of this resolution has every confidence in the manner in which the board of regents expends public moneys and manages the state's great educational institutions, and is desirous only of promoting the welfare of the University of Minnesota and not desirous of in any way attempting to dictate the policy of that board; but it is the opinion of the author of this resolution and of others that this institution would gain an even firmer hold in the public estimation were all or nearly all university business transacted in public meetings,

"Now, Therefore, be it resolved, by the senate, That the board of regents be requested to give serious consideration to the advisability of transacting all possible university business, especially that involving the expenditure of money or investment thereof, in public meeting."

The Larson bill providing for the use of the Australian ballot in villages, in which many range communities are much interested, finally passed yesterday afternoon with amendments by which it is extended to townships as well as villages, and is subject to the ratification of the governing bodies. Under the bill as it stands, any town or village can adopt the Australian ballot system by the vote of its governing body.

BANQUET FOR CLERGYMEN

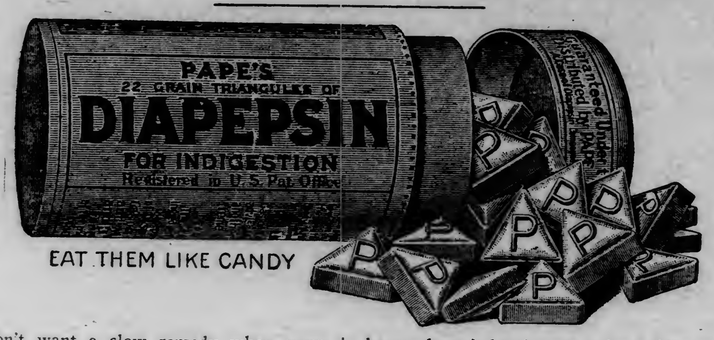
Catholics and Non-Catholics Laud Fathers Mullaly and Dunne.

Honor Guests Praise Spirit of Tolerance Existing in Christian World.

Prominent Catholic and non-Catholic laymen attended a banquet in the Elks' clubroom last night, given as a tribute to Rev. A. B. C. Dunne of Eau Claire, Wis., and Rev. E. J. Mullaly, C. S. P., of Chicago. Catholic clergymen from various Duluth parishes and from range towns were included in the list of those present. F. W. Sullivan was toastmaster.

Fathers Dunne and Mullaly have been active throughout the Northwest recently, explaining to non-Catholics in many cities and towns the true position of their Catholic fellow citizens in question of faith and citizenship. The dinner was an expression of appreciation of the progress of their campaign of education.

Both honor guests, in short addresses, dwelt on the broad Christian charity and tolerance which should bind Catholic and non-Catholic neighbors as free and equal citizens of the "greatest of nations."



Rev. Hugh A. Floyd, rector of the Sacred Heart cathedral, predicted a speedy decline of what prejudice may exist today and firmer understanding between Catholics and non-Catholics. He referred to the tribute paid him by members of the Ereleth Masonic order, when he went there and when he left. Several banquets were given in his honor, Masons being identified with many of them.

R. A. Hughes, speaking for the laymen, paid a splendid tribute to the Elks' order and its attitude. At the conclusion of his remarks a rising vote of thanks was given the hosts.

Among the clergymen present were: Rev. Philip Kiley, Rev. Michael Boland, Rev. M. O'Brien, Rev. John Zarrilli, all of Duluth; Rev. J. A. Lymmer and Rev. La Mier of Cloquet; Rev. W. J. Powers of Virginia and Rev. Edmund J. Walsh of Proctor.

SWAMP LANDS ARE TO BE RELISTED

Step Necessitated By Fight Over Grant of 1860.

St. Paul, Minn., April 21.—A record of all swamp lands in Minnesota is to be prepared because of the controversy between the state and the United States department of the interior regarding recent grants under the act of 1860, said J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, who returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he has been conferring with the United States land commissioners and the interior department.

The record will be prepared to form a basis for any further negotiations regarding swamp land, and will contain more than 30,000 acres, as each forty acres will be listed and described separately. When the record is completed, it will be checked with the government surveys.

Mr. Wilson said, had a higher basis than a petty desire to keep out of trouble.

"There is something so much greater to do than fight," he said. "Let us think of America before we think of Europe, in order that America may be fit to be Europe's friend when the day of tested friendship comes. The test of friendship is not sympathy with one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over."

Greeted With Cheers.

The president, greeted with cheers when he appeared at the luncheon, constantly was interrupted by applause and expressions of approval.

"I am deeply gratified by the generous reception you have accorded me," he said. "It makes me look back with a touch of regret to former occasions when I have stood in this place and enjoyed a greater liberty than is granted me today. There have been times when I stood in this spot and said what I really thought, and I pray God that those days of indulgence may be accorded me again. But I have come here today, of course, somewhat restrained by a sense of responsibility that I cannot escape. For I take the Associated Press very seriously. I know the enormous part that you play in the affairs not only of this country, but of the world. You deal in the raw material of opinion, and, if my convictions have any validity, opinion ultimately governs the world.

Serious Things to Consider.

"It is, therefore, of very serious things that I think as I face this body of men. I do not think of you as men of different parties or of different racial derivations, or of different religious denominations. I want to talk to you as to my fellow-citizens of the United States. For there are serious things which, as fellow-citizens, we ought to consider.

"The times behind us, gentlemen, have been difficult enough; the times before us are likely to be more difficult, because whatever may be said about the present condition of the world's affairs, it is clear that they are drawing rapidly to a climax, and at the climax the test will come, not only of the nations engaged in the present colossal struggle—it will come for them, of course; but the test will come to us particularly.

"Do you realize that, roughly speaking, we are the only great nation at present disengaged. I am not speaking, of course, with disparagement of these great nations in Europe, which are not parties to the present war, but I am thinking of their close neighborhood to it. I am thinking, however, their lives much more than ours, touch the very heart and stuff of the business; whereas, we have rolling between us and those bitter days across the water 3,000 miles of cool and silent ocean. Our atmosphere is not yet charged with those disturbing elements which must be felt, and must permeate every nation of Europe. Therefore, is it not likely that the world will some day turn to us for the cooler assessment of the elements engaged?

Must Assist in Peace.

"I am not now thinking so preposterous a thought as that we should sit in judgment upon them—no nation is fit to sit in judgment upon any other nation—but that we shall some day have to assist in reconstructing the processes of peace. Our resources are untouched; we are more and more becoming, by the force of circumstances, the mediating nation of the world in respect of its finance.

"We must make up our minds what are the best things to do and what are the best ways to do them. We must put our money, our energy, our enthusiasm, our sympathy into these things; and we must have our judgments prepared and our spirits chastened against the coming of that day. So that I am not speaking in a selfish spirit when I say that our whole duty for the present, at any rate, is summed up in this motto, 'America first.' Let us think of America before we think of Europe, in order that America may be fit to be Europe's friend, when the day of tested friendship comes.

"The test of friendship is not now sympathy with the one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over."

"The basis of neutrality, gentlemen, is not indifference; it is not self-interest. The basis of neutrality is sympathy for mankind. It is fairness. It is good will at bottom. It is impartiality of spirit and of judgment. I wish that all our fellow citizens could realize that. There is in some quarters a disposition to create distempers in this body politic. Men are even uttering slanders against the United States, as if to excite her. Men are saying that if we should go to war upon either side there will be a divided America—an abominable libel of ignorance.

"America is not all of it vocal just now. It is vocal in spots. But I for one have a complete and abiding faith in that great silent body of Americans who are not standing up and shouting and expressing their opinions just now, but are waiting to find out and support the duty of America.

"I am just as sure of their solidity and of their loyalty and of their unanimity, if we act justly, as I am that the history of this country has at every crisis and turning point illustrated this great lesson. We are the mediating nation of the world. I do not mean that we undertake not to mind our own business and to mediate where other people are quarreling. I mean the word in a broader sense. We are compounded of the nations of the world. We mediate their blood, we mediate their traditions, we mediate their sentiments, their tastes, their passions; we are ourselves compounded of those things. We are, therefore, able to understand all nations; we are able to understand them in the compound, not separately as partisans, but unitedly as knowing and comprehending and embodying them all. It is in that sense that I mean that America is a mediating nation. The opinion of America, the action of America, is ready to turn and free to turn in any direction.

No Racial Momentum.

"Did you ever reflect upon how almost every other nation has, through long centuries, been headed in one direction? That is not true of the United States. The United States has no racial momentum. It has no history back of it which makes it run all its ambitions in one particular direction; and America is particularly free in this, that she has no hampering ambitions as a world power. If we have been obliged by circumstances or have considered ourselves to be obliged by circumstances in the past to take territory which we otherwise would not have thought of taking, I believe I am right in saying that we have considered it our duty to administer that territory, not for ourselves, but for the people living in it, and to put this burden upon our consciences, not to think that this thing is ours for our use, but to regard ourselves as trustees of the great business for those to whom it does really belong—trustees ready to hand over the trust at any time when the business seems to make that possible and feasible. That is what I mean by saying we have no hampering ambitions. We do not want what does not belong to us. Isn't a nation in that position free to serve other nations, and isn't a nation like that ready to form some part of the assessing opinion of the world?

Something Greater Than Fighting.

"My interest in the neutrality of the United States is not the petty desire to keep out of trouble. I have never looked for it, but I have always found it. I do not want to walk around trouble. If any man wants a scrap that is an interesting scrap, and worth while, I am his man. I warn him that he not going to draw me into the scrap for his advertisement, but if he is looking for trouble, that is the trouble of men in general, and I can help a little, why then, I am in for it.

"But I am interested in neutrality because there is something so much greater to do than fight, because there is something, there is a distinction waiting for this nation that no nation has ever yet got. That is the discinction of absolute self-control and self-mastery.

"Whom do you admire most among your friends? The irritable man? The man out of whom you can get a 'rise' without trying? The man who will fight at the drop of the hat, whether he knows what the hat is dropped for or not?

The Man You Respect.

"Don't you admire and don't you fear, if you have to contest with him, the self-mastered man who watches you with calm eyes and comes in only when you have carried the thing so far that you must be disposed of? That is the man you respect. That is the man who you know has at bottom a much more fundamental and terrible courage than the irritable, fighting man.

"Now, I covet for America this splendid courage of reserve moral force and I wanted to point out to you gentlemen simply this: There is news and news. There is what is called news from Turtle bay, that turns out to be falsehood, at any rate in what it is said to signify, and which, if you could get the nation to believe it true, might disturb our equilibrium and our self-possession. We ought not to deal in stuff of that kind. We ought not to permit things of that sort to use up the electrical energy of the wires, because its energy is malign, its energy is not of the truth, its energy is of mischief. It is possible to sift truth.

"I have known some things to go out on the wires as true when there was only one man or one group of men who could have told the originators of the report whether it was true or not, and they were not asked whether it was true or not, for fear it might not be true. That sort of report ought not to go out over the wires.

World Shall Know Truth.

"There is generally, if not always, somebody who knows whether that thing is so or not, and in these days above all other days we ought to take particular pains to resort to the one small group of men or to the one man, if there be but one, who knows whether those things are true or not.

"The world ought to know the truth, but the world ought not at this period of unstable equilibrium to be disturbed by rumor, ought not to be disturbed by imaginative combinations of circumstances, or rather, by circumstances stated in combinations which do not belong in combination.

"For we are holding, not I, but you and gentlemen engaged like you, the balances in your hand. This unstable equilibrium rests upon scales that are in your hands. For the food of opinion, as I began by saying, is the news of the day. I have known many a man go off at a tangant on information that was not reliable. Indeed, that describes the majority of men. The world is held stable by the man who waits for the next day to find out whether the report was true or not.

"We cannot afford, therefore, to let the rumors of irresponsible persons and origins get into the atmosphere of the United States. We are trustees for what, I venture to say, is the greatest heritage that any nation ever had, the love of justice and righteousness and liberty. For, fundamentally, those are the things to which America is addicted and to which she is devoted.

"There are groups of selfish men in the United States, there are coteries where sinister things are purposed, but the great heart of the American people is just as sound and true as it ever was. And it is a single heart; it is the heart of America. It is not a heart made up of sections selected out of other countries.

America First.

"So that what I try to remind myself of every day when I am almost overcome by perplexities, what I try to remember, is what the people at home are thinking about. I try out myself in the place of the man who does not know all the things that I know, and ask myself what he would like the policy of this country to be. Not the talkative man, not the partisan, not the man that remembers first that he is a Republican or Democrat, or that his parents were Germans or English, but who remembers first that the whole destiny of modern affairs centers largely upon his being an American, first of all. If I permitted myself to be a partisan in this present struggle, I would be unworthy to represent you. If I permitted myself to forget the people who are not partisans, I would be unworthy to represent you. I am not saying that I am worthy to represent you, but I do claim this degree of worthiness, that before everything else I love America."

Mr. Noyes' Introduction.

Mr. Wilson was introduced by President Frank B. Noyes of the Associated Press and was the only speaker at the luncheon.

"We are gathered here today," said Mr. Noyes, "the membership of what is, I believe, in scope and importance of activities, the greatest co-operative non-profit-making organization in the world.

"The function of the Associated Press is to furnish its members a service of world news that shall be untainted and without bias of any sort.

"To insure this we have formed an organization that is owned and controlled by its members and by them alone, one that is our servant and not our master.

"So we are here today, Democrats and Republicans, Protestants, Catholics and Jews, conservatives and radicals, wets and drys; differing on every subject on which men differ, but all at one in demanding that, so far as is humanly possible, no trace of partisanship and no hint of propaganda shall be found in our news report.

"Furnished with the news, we are quite able and more than willing individually to supply the necessary views.

"Thus, by easy steps, I have come to the fact that because of its traditions and its code, and perhaps also because of the never-ceasing watchfulness of 900 members, it has come to pass that few people on earth are capable of giving the management of the Associated Press any points on maintaining a strict, though benevolent, neutrality on all questions on which we can be neutral and still be what we are—loyal Americans.

Record of Past Years.

"We point with pride to the years and the occasions through which we have balanced on every discoverable fence.

"We know, too—none better—that the genuine neutral, the honest neutral, is always the target of every partisan, and we find some solace that this fact is now being demonstrated to the world at large.

"Today, however, we willingly lower our crest to one who has demonstrated in these agonizing times his mastership of the principles of true neutrality, and who, fully realizing the dreadful consequences of any departure from these principles, has nobly borne his terrible burden of responsibility in guarding the peace, the welfare and the dignity of our common country.

"Our distinguished guest who so honors us today may surely know that in the perplexities and trials of these days so black for humanity he has our thorough, loyal and affectionate support.

"God grant him continuing success in his high aims for the peaceful progress of the people of the United States.

"At these annual gatherings it is our custom to offer but one toast.

"I ask you to drink to the health of Woodrow Wilson, the president of the United States."

The toast was drunk standing.

FROM MOTOR TO THE PULPIT

Rev. W. W. Swanson Resigns Job as Motorman to Preach Gospel.

Throat Trouble Caused Him to Seek Employment With Company.

After spending two and a half years in Duluth as a motorman of street cars for the Duluth Street Railway company, Rev. Walter William Swanson has resigned to again preach the gospel, and will leave with his family tomorrow for Ludington, Mich., where he has accepted a call to be pastor of a large Swedish Mission church. A farewell reception will be given him and Mrs. Swanson this evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Came Here in 1912.

Rev. Mr. Swanson came to Duluth in the summer of 1912. He was then suffering from throat trouble and had just given up a good pastorate at Faulu, Wis. He was compelled to quit preaching on advice of physicians, who told him that the only way to cure his trouble would be to give his throat a rest.

REV. WALTER W. SWANSON.

Being in good health in other ways, he was loath to stop work. A living had to be earned for his family; he had a wife and three little ones. He sought work shortly after arriving here from the Duluth Street railway and was made motorman.

Going to work on a street car did not prevent him from keeping in practice as a preacher. As his throat began to get better under the treatment of local physicians, he offered his services to supply pulpits in and around Duluth. This service was readily accepted because such a supply minister was sorely needed, and, as a result, he has conducted the religious meetings in many of the nearby towns and villages, as well as in the Swedish Mission church of the West end, the Swedish Mission of West Duluth and in some of Duluth's Methodist churches.

Became Minister at 18.

Rev. Mr. Swanson's career as a minister began when he was only 18 years old.

He then assisted in missionary work in the Northern district of Minnesota. Two years later he entered college and in 1907 was graduated from the Chicago Theological seminary and was ordained that summer. Shortly after being graduated, he was given charge of the Mission church at Sumner, Neb., where he spent two years. Then he was called to Faulu, Wis., where he was situated until his throat compelled him to stop temporarily.

"I have been bothered more or less with throat trouble for nine years," said Mr. Swanson today. "I believe that I am now cured. It has not troubled me for several months. While I have been here I have had a number of calls to churches, but have not felt that I could accept as long as I had difficulty in speaking."

Preached on the Side.

Rev. Mr. Swanson and family have resided at 2529 West First street. They have two small children. Another child, their eldest, died a year ago.

As an employe of the street railway company, Rev. Mr. Swanson made many friends, but few were aware that he was a minister. During his employment on the line his run often called for Sunday work, but in many instances he was able to lay off and on those days assisted in conducting services at some of the local churches.

The reception this evening is planned by the congregation of the Swedish Mission church. It is expected that a large number of his friends will attend the affair. An informal program has been arranged.

OFFICE MEN HEAR TALKS

Congressman Miller and Mayor Prince Speak on Public Matters.

Association Asked to Organize Superior Office Men.

Members of the Duluth Association of Office Men, at their monthly meeting and dinner at the Commercial club last evening, listened to addresses by Congressman C. B. Miller and Mayor Prince.

Congressman Miller talked on affairs of the national congress at Washington and told of some of the doings at the capital. His address was both interesting and instructive.

Mayor Prince spoke on "The Housing Code in Duluth," giving a review of the history of building ordinances enacted from the early days of Duluth up to the present time. He advocated an ordinance which would make it compulsory, when a building was under course of construction, to have the work approved on the start and inspected thoroughly as it progresses.

"The present housing code," he said, "is meant to benefit the householder in his home and to beautify his surroundings, so that when the project as a whole is completed, Duluth will be a city of beautiful and sanitary homes."

J. H. Trux, president of the association, introduced both speakers and acted as toastmaster.

Association's Aid Sought.

The association will hold a dinner in the near future at which ways and means of enlarging its membership will be discussed.

Last evening, an invitation was received from Superior asking that a committee be sent from the Duluth association to Superior to help organize a similar organization across the bay. The association has also been asked by other organizations of Duluth to appoint a member to act with others on a committee representing the civic organizations of the city. The purpose of this committee will be to confer with the city council on important civic matters.

This Colonial Red Cedar Chest

With Copper Trimmings - - - - $13.50

Size: 43 in. long, 19 in. deep, 18 in. wide

TERMS: $2.50 CASH; $2.00 MONTHLY

Moths Can't Live in These Cedar Chests

Moth time is coming. Are you beginning to worry about a place to store your furs, winter clothes, and blankets to keep them from being moth eaten? Let us solve the problem for you.

We have just received a large shipment of handsome, roomy cedar chests. Strongly made of pungent, aromatic Tennessee cedar. The biggest, healthiest moth that ever lived wouldn't last long enough to take a single bite out of your furs if he was closed up in one of these chests. And the faint aromatic odor of cedar that clings to your garments when you take them out is like a delicate perfume.

Beauty and Usefulness Are Perfectly Combined

Not only is this Cedar Chest a moth proof safe, but it's a handsome piece of furniture as well.

As a window seat a cedar chest is ideal. The wavy, colorful grain of Tennessee cedar, finished in its natural color, is wonderfully beautiful.

The heavy, rivet-studded copper bands that serve the double purpose of adding strength and beauty give that "last forever" touch that is so desirable in furniture.

You don't need to roll your clothes up in a ball to put them away. Just fold them in smoothly. There's room enough for all the winter clothes of the entire family in one of these chests.

Our Credit Terms vs. Storage Vault Rental

Our credit terms of $2.50 down and $2.00 monthly is very little more than you'd pay as rental for a storage vault.

In a vault your clothes would be protected, no doubt; but next fall you'd have nothing to show for your money.

Whereas, if you secure one of our Cedar Chests your clothes and furs will be absolutely safe and you'll have the use of a handsome piece of furniture besides. Then, when it is paid for you'll be done paying for all time. That means a saving of several dollars every year—money that you can well use for some other purpose.

LARGE CLASS WALKS SANDS

Dr. F. B. Smith, Imperial Potentate, Present at Masonic Initiation.

Forty-Two Are Taken Into Order; Reception for Order's Chieftain.

More than 600 Shriners from Duluth, the Twin Cities, range towns and the Northwest attended the spring ceremonial of Aad temple last night, when the local body entertained Dr. Frederick B. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., imperial potentate of the order.

No ceremonial in the history of Aad temple exceeded the splendor of last evening's entertainment, according to the members and guests, all of whom paid the officials in charge many compliments for the manner in which the program was carried out. Forty-two novitiates walked the "hot sands" during the evening.

Dr. Smith arrived yesterday afternoon from Minneapolis, accompanied by Charles Ovenshire, imperial chief rabban, and Thomas Voegeli, past potentate of Zuhrah temple, both of Minneapolis, and Lyonel Ayres, potentate of Aad temple, who went to the Mill City to escort the imperial potentate to Duluth. On the way to Duluth nearly 100 Shriners from cities throughout the state boarded the train and arrived here with the official party. Range members arrived early in the evening.

After reaching Duluth, a reception was held for Dr. Smith at the Holland hotel, where he was guest at a dinner given in his honor by officials and members of Aad temple.

At 7 o'clock the Temple band, led by Charles T. McKenney, drum major, started from the Masonic temple toward the Holland hotel. The patrol, led by Capt. A. H. Paul, followed, and the auxiliary patrol with Col. Fred E. Resche in command, came up in the rear. The line of march extended down to Superior street and then west to the hotel, the parade being witnessed by hundreds of Duluthians, who lined both sides of the streets.

On the way to the hotel the patrol executed a number of fancy drills and marches, which have been learned in preparation for the Seattle conclave next July.

The line of march halted in front of the hotel, where Dr. Smith and the officials of Aad temple were waiting. They boarded automobiles and the parade continued back to the Masonic temple.

Immediately after the parade the ceremonial program began, with the Shrine girls presenting the first entertainment in the form of a musical show. Of course, there were many jokes on local members, officers and Dr. Smith. It was during the entertainment that Dr. Smith named the body the Imperial Shrine Girls of North America. Addresses were made by Dr. Smith, Mr. Ovenshire and Mr. Vogell. Potentate Ayres presided during the evening.

Following the entertainment by the girls, the initiation proper began, and the forty-two candidates were walked over the hot sands and taken through a series of stunts they will never forget. There was something doing all the time, and it was not until 12:30 o'clock that the ceremonial came to a close.

FIFTEEN TOWNS ON THE WATER WAGON

Anti-Saloon Advocates Win Largely in South Dakota.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 21.—Anti-saloon advocates were jubilant today over the result of yesterday's municipal elections in South Dakota, when fifteen cities and towns deserted the wet ranks for the dry. Salem was the single instance reported of a change from dry to wet.

Among the cities which ousted saloons were Mitchell, Madison, Rapid City, Milbank, Custer, Platte, Farmer and Leola.

Towns Staying Wet.

These towns stayed wet: Sioux Falls, Yankton, Watertown, Webster, Castlewood, Pierre, Fort Pierre, Selby, Lemmon, Bowdle, Mobridge, Waubay, Roscoe, Huron, Wessington and Wolsey.

Sisseton, Faulkton, Wilmot, Gettysburg and Howard continued dry.

The situation in Aberdeen still is in doubt, awaiting the official count, unofficial returns showing a tie.

ADDITIONAL HOMESTEADS.

North Dakotans Interested in Recent Congressional Act.

Dickinson, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Homesteaders in this section are deeply interested in the congressional act by which homesteaders who have proved up on one homestead of 160 acres may file on an additional 160 acres, providing such added tract adjoins their original claim.

During the past two weeks the local land office has received over fifty filings of this nature, but none has been accepted because the local office has not yet been appraised of the exact provisions under which such filings may be made.

PROMINENT MILL CITY BUILDER GETS RELIEF AFTER 40 YEARS

Anton Olson Says That Akoz Checked Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism.

For 40 years Anton Olson, a well-known carpenter and builder at 1700 Tyler street northeast, Minneapolis, suffered with rheumatism and stomach trouble. He finally found relief by using Akoz, the new California mineral rival of radium. He had about come to the conclusion that his case was hopeless when he learned of Akoz.

"I have taken treatment in a sanitarium and with many physicians and I have also tried almost every known remedy without any permanent relief," said Mr. Olson. "I suffered with rheumatism and rheumatic fever, which brought on other complications. I was also seriously affected with gas on the stomach, which caused indigestion.

"After taking the Akoz treatment for 30 days there was quite a perceptible improvement. I believe a continuance of the Akoz treatment will result in permanent relief. I now feel much better and I also sleep well and eat well."

Akoz is not a patent medicine. It is a natural mineral harmless to take and is not mixed with drugs. Mr. Olson is but one of a great number in this vicinity who have found Akoz very effective in the treatment of their ailments such as rheumatism, stomach, kidney, bladder and liver trouble, diabetes, Bright's, catarrh, eczema and congestions.

ANTON OLSON.

Akoz is now being introduced in Duluth at the Lyceum Pharmacy at Fifth avenue west and Superior street. Visit, phone or write the Akoz man at this store for further information regarding this advertisement.

Wrestling Boxing

WRESTLING IN DULUTH MAY GIVE WAY TO BOXING GAME

Most Famous Grapplers in the World Have Appeared in Duluth—Tilt Lewis Has Promoted Clean Contests—The Present Public Demands Action for Its Money.

BY BRUCE.

BIDS were opened the other day for a finish wrestling contest between Charley Cutler and Yussif Hussane. The highest bid received was $6,000. This contest is supposed to be for the world's championship. Contrast this with the $21,000 Gotch received for his end of the contest with Hackenschmidt.

Duluth was one of the last strongholds of the wrestling game. Careful promotion and honest matches in this city kept the game living long after it has languished and died in other cities of the country. Frank Gotch made the wrestling game the greatest in its history. The retirement of the wonderful athlete of Humboldt took the greater part of the interest from a sport that is, when rightly conducted, one of the greatest of all sports.

When you go back over the method of boosting interest in the big contests, it is not difficult to figure why the retirement of Gotch practically sealed the doom of wrestling—unless the promoters can dig up another phenomenon. Every winner was to meet Gotch.

Emil Klank told us that he had such a man in the person of Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb. If Stecher comes to the front, there may be a revival of the mat game, but with the legalizing of boxing in this state and Wisconsin, the wrestlers will have hard sledding.

This city has seen the greatest in the game. For the last two years Tilton E. Lewis, a chap who is known among a wide circle of friends for his squareness and honesty, has done the promoting, and he has brought all of the stars here. If some matches have gone bad, it should be remembered that the wrestlers, and in many instances the fighters and not the promoters, are the ones that usually kill the game.

During the period the writer has covered sports on this paper Gotch, Mahmout, Zbyszko, Cutler, Beell, Westergaard, Americus, Yokel, Miller, Ketonen, Carr, Ordemann, Pederson, Suter and others of less prominence have appeared here. Hackenschmidt, then in the height of his fame, is also numbered among the famous mat stars. There was no great star in the world that thrived during the past seven years that the fans of Duluth have not seen in action.

Now that the boxing bill has only one more step to go before becoming a law and Minnesota at last, after an effort that has continued through the last six years, is about to legalize the sport, it is probable that Duluth will take to boxing with even more avid pleasure and greater financial appreciation than the fans of the city accorded wrestling.

While it is particularly and in some instances pathetically true that ten rounds is an awful short distance to determine the respective abilities of two given opponents, the ten-round law is infinitely better than no law at all. Duluth should witness some good bouts in the future.

The legalizing of the sport in Minnesota probably will mean the passing of Hudson, Wis., as a boxing center. Mike Collins has been the promoter there, and no fairer, squarer, or more decent chap has ever been mixed in the game. It is with regret that we for one witness the passing of Mike Collins as a promoter, if he does decide that it would prove quite futile and financial foolishness to attempt to oppose boxing clubs in the Twin Cities.

Also the legalizing of the sport of boxing on this side of the bay probably means the passing of Superior as the chief center of the fistic game at the Head of the Lakes.

It is a well known fact that the greater part of the patronage of boxing came from the Duluth side of the ferry path. In other and perhaps more explicit words, Duluth made profitable boxing in Superior possible.

Some persons are idly talking on our streets of the thousands of dollars to be made in the sport. The ignorance of these persons is only measured by their inexperience. With the sovereign state of Minnesota grabbing off 10 per cent of the gross and the fighters grabbing off a lot more, the promoters rushing headlong into the game will speedily have a change of heart.

With the throwing down of the legal bars to the boxers a rich field will be opened in this state to the men who make their living by means of the weapons nature and some boxing instructor gave them.

Minneapolis should prove one of the great boxing centers of the West. At first St. Paul should prove a rich field, though the followers of sports in the Apostle City lack the enthusiasm of those residing in Minneapolis.

In the case of wrestling, the game ran out of new faces. In the heavyweight division Gotch retired and Ordemann, Westergaard and some of the others went back. The boxing game will run on the same shoals, if the handlers of boxers do not search diligently for more material. Should a fighter of the impetuous stamp of Terry McGovern arise at the present time, he would make a fortune.

Were another Stanley Ketchel to climb into the rings of today, he, too, would construct a five-figure bank account in a comparatively short time.

This is an age demanding action. Intelligent fight managers—the intelligent ones, mind—recognize this fact and endeavor to corral the kind of fighters who give action.

Terry McGovern was all action, from beginning to end. The same could be said of Ad Wolgast when the little Dutchman was at his best. Stanley Ketchel was perpetual motion personified. And if you don't believe our statement regarding the American public liking action, look up the amount of money collected by these fighters.

Jack Britton is perhaps the greatest living lightweight. We qualify that statement by inserting the "perhaps." All right, there won't be very serious disputing that assertion. His record is there, should the argument become warm. But—and the but is ominous—this same Jack Britton can't get matches and is seldom heard of any more.

Stick an inquisitive "why" in there for Bill. He wants to know. We'll tell you. Britton isn't the kind of a fighter the public likes to look at—and therefore it won't, meaning the public.

Action, action and more action is the watchword of the present age. People are nervous, restless, intolerant of tameness or tediousness. The boxing game is a show business in a sort of way—and the best showman wins.

Eugene Sandow was not the strongest man in the world by any means, if you are willing to take the statement of a long line of professional weight lifters and strong men. But Sandow sure did get the money, and he got it in scads—because he was the best showman of them all and looked the part.

In other words, Doc, he had a great "front."

CLOSE RACE IN THE MAJOR

Big Duluth and Park Hotel Bowlers Tied for Lead.

Firestone Goes Into Lead in the Individual Averages.

With but one more series of games before the close of the major league bowling season, the Park Hotel and Big Duluth teams are tied in the fight for leadership. The race is a daisy and is standing the followers of the league on their toes.

The two teams will clash next Tuesday in the final game of the season and some great bowling is naturally looked for from the followers of the chief pennant contenders. To make the race more complicated, the Sharkcrafts and Columbias are tied for third place.

In the games of last evening the Big Duluths won three straight from the Peoples' Brewing company five, while the Park Hotels accomplished the same feat to the Three Winners. The Sharkcrafts won two out of three games from the Columbias.

Stiegler had a total of 630 for three games, and Firestone had 619, and Foster and Murphy 600 each. The high score of last evening was hung up by Ferguson with 266.

Foster of the Sharkcrafts had a great game started. He had seven straight strikes up and in the eighth frame put in a perfect hit and left one pin standing, getting a score of 245.

Firestone went into the lead in the individual averages last evening.

GRADE SCHOOL GAMES SCHEDULE

Today's Games.

EASTERN DIVISION.

Washington vs. Lakeside, Forty-seventh avenue east and Superior street.

Franklin vs. Salter, Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street.

Jefferson vs. Washburn, Hunter's Park.

WESTERN DIVISION.

Adams vs. Jacksons, Tenth avenue west and Third street.

Irving vs. Emerson, Fifty-second avenue west.

Monroe vs. Lincoln, Thirty-second avenue west and Superior street.

In the Jackson-Monroe game of Monday the Jacksons played a pitcher who was not a member of the school, the game being forfeited to the Monroes.

Director Lawrence Duby declared today that the league stood for fair play and honor among the boys, and unless there was fairness and honesty, there would be no games.

DULUTH PITCHERS TO TRY OUT WITH FARGO.

Delburn and Method, two pitchers from the corner lot teams of Duluth, will leave tonight to join the Fargo team of the Northern league. Both of the boys are pitchers and both have made enviable records on local teams. Method was with the Canadian Northern team and Delburn played with the Fitwells, Col. Unglaub is going to give the Duluth kids a trial, as all of the managers of the league teams are giving a large number of corner lotters a trial this spring.

RICHARD BUSH HERE: REAL WORK FOR SQUAD

Richard Bush, a brother of the famous Leslie Bush of the Philadelphia Athletics, hit Duluth early today and will be out in a uniform later in the day for practice with the candidates for the Dooks.

Herr Blume stated today that practice twice a day will be the order from this time on. First practice will be held at 10 in the morning and the second practice at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Johnson Sails for Spain.

Havana, April 21.—Jack Johnson, the former champion heavyweight pugilist, and his wife sailed yesterday for Spain on the steamer Maria Cristina. From Spain, Johnson intends to proceed to England. Although he has no passport, Johnson says he expects to experience no trouble. He says he will return to Havana in June and open a gymnasium.

WHITE SOX CANDIDATES HAVE THEIR INITIAL WORKOUT

Youngsters and Veterans Start Season's Work By Running Bases, Fungo Hitting and Spearing Grounders—Only a Few Veterans in the Big Squad—Practice Games Begin.

Yesterday's initial day of practice failed to reveal much to the dozen or so fans who hiked or jitneyed out to Athletic park. With about half of his big squad on the ground, it is difficult to say right at this early period of inspection as to whether the Dook has a ball team.

The players who cavorted around the lot yesterday were kids for the most part. "Sticks" Bryant, last year in the W.-I. league, Bud Croake, Dad Ford, Harry Brammell, Darby O'Brien, faster than ever this year, Boley, last year with Winnipeg, and Harry Wolfe represented the men who have had experience in league baseball. The rest of the players are for the most part kids.

Berger, Collins and some other veterans are due here the present week and their presence is expected to make the squad look more like a real baseball aggregation. Loads of material on hand now may never get to see the opening game in the Northern league.

Little Work Done.

With weather as raw as that of yesterday and with the infield rough and as soft as a feather pillow, it was quite impossible to get a line on the ability of any of the players. The men simply went out, got acquainted and did some running around the bases, some fungo hitting, a little pitching and a little fly chasing.

Jack Quiding, who played third for the Fitwells last season, was stopping 'em at third yesterday. The former Duluth corner lotter showed up about as good as any of the rest of those present.

A lad named Cardinal, who hails from down Ohio way, was rather lively in spearing grounders and at bat stepped into the ball like a real hitter.

Harry Brammell was behind the bat during the batting practice. The former Virginia player is expected to make good in the receiving department for the Dook. The newcomer will have some task in the attempt to fill the shoes of Jerry Edmunds.

Vic Travis, a brother of a Duluth newspaper man, is trying for a place in the sun as a member of the pitching staff. The kid was in there yesterday cutting loose with some real speed, and it looked as if his ball had a nice hop. The first day's showing of Young Travis was an impressive one.

Renauld of Proctor, trying for an outfielder berth, was among those present. The kid is small, but has lots of speed. Neidercorn, a kid who came all the way from Canada to have a try for the job of first basing, and this too with Bud Croake on the job, was pulling them down in easy fashion around the initial sack.

Practice Game Today.

Today the first series of practice games between teams chosen from members of the big squad, starts. More players are expected in every day this week, so that new faces will continually appear in the lineup. While the weather is somewhat raw for real baseball, the Dook says that he might as well start now to get a line on his material.

Doubtless there will be some sore arms in the squad, but the rigid regime of economy imposes training at home and all of the managers of the league can but make the best of it.

PULFORD TO STATE CASE

Northern League Injunction Hearing Comes Up at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, April 21.—Hearing on the injunction suit brought by A. H. Pulford against the Northern league, seeking to restrain the playing of baseball in Winnipeg this summer and set for hearing in the king's court Saturday, was postponed. According to present arrangements, the hearing will be held today. Inability of several of those interested to be present was given as the cause for postponement.

The following comment on the suit was taken from the Sporting News:

"We presume it is the inevitable result, but it does come as a shock—this decision of the national commission in the Pulford-Northern league case, in which the commission declines to consider the merits of the controversy and instead relegates the parties to the civil courts for redress.

"In the school where we learned our baseball principles and politics, one of the precepts taught was that baseball disputes must be kept out of the courts, that it was a high crime to go outside the tribunals presided over by John Farrell and Garry Herrman, and that even a threat to do so would cost the recalcitrant party all his standing before organized baseball.

"And now comes the national commission itself advising two disputants over claims to a baseball franchise to take their troubles to the civil courts of Canada and mighty poor chance of the Northern league ever starting its season.

"It seems the natonal commission in its great wisdom, might have done better than this."

WORK STARTS AT THE FORKS

Billy Fox Has Big Squad o Flickertails on the Diamond.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 21.—Billy Fox, playing manager of the Flickertail baseball team, led forth his bunch of 1915 baseball material yesterday for the opening of spring practice and the bugs of the city had a chance to examine the candidates. Only a small part of the squad has reported thus far and it is expected that the majority of the players who have signed up will arrive in the city later.

Those who have reported are Pitchers Bremner, Ursella, Bartroff, Christianson, Anderson and Kerkin; Catchers Wightman and Bue; Shortstop Benson, Infielder Anderson and First Basemen Lennahan and Burns. Fox states that he will hold practice twice daily, beginning in the morning at 10 o'clock and continuing until 12, and in the afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock.

Big Pitchers.

Thus far his battery of pitchers looks formidable enough. They are all big, husky fellows who ought to have speed to burn and lots of endurance. Fox thinks he has a great man in Lenahan and expects him to be one of the best first basemen in the league. He hails from Providence, R. I., and it is understood that he was offered a chance to play there, but as it was his home town he turned it down. Christianson is a big fellow from Pekin, N. D., and tried out here two years ago, but the day after he worked he packed his grip and left town, not waiting for further orders. He is bigger than ever and has more speed than Walter Johnson, according to reports. Bue is another Pekin recruit and has worked with Christianson.

The manager states that he will take some few days to get things lined up so that he knows just what he has, but he will play a game with the university crowd the latter part of the week and on Sunday he will stage a game between two teams of the material on hand for the league.

WIN FIRST ROUND.

Panama-Pacific Exposition Amateur Golf Championship Being Played.

San Francisco, Cal., April 21.—Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., Western amateur golf champion; H. Chandler Egan, former amateur national champion; Jack Neville, Northwestern champion; Harry K. B. Davis, California champion; and E. B. Packard of Chicago were winners in the first round of the Panama-Pacific exposition amateur golf championship yesterday.

Evans easily defeated C. E. Lamontague of San Francisco 11 up and 10 to go.

WOMEN ARE SUCH BRUTES; ONE SLAPS PUG

Packey McFarland Rapped on Face By Joliet Newspaper Man's Wife.

Joliet, Ill., April 21.—Packey McFarland, welterweight pugilist of Chicago and Joliet, was slapped across the face by Mrs. Robert M. Wilson, wife of the city editor, in the office of the Daily News last night when he protested against the alleged posting of a bulletin asserting that the change to the commission form of government had caused him to lose $5,000 in the brewery business in which he was interested.
Mrs. Wilson told him that no such bulletin had been posted and ordered him from the office. When McFarland protested further, Mrs. Wilson struck him across the face with a folded newspaper and the pugilist backed out the door.

WELSH TOO AGILE FOR RED WATSON

Champion Outpoints Coast Slugger and Ducks Latter's Haymakers.

Hudson, Wis., April 21.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, won a newspaper decision over Red Watson, the Los Angeles, Cal., lightweight, in a ten-round bout here last night. Watson tried continually for a knockout, but the superior cleverness of the English fighter kept him out of danger throughout.
There were times when driving swings of the California fighter seemed to imperil the world's champion, but adroitly the latter would duck out of reach just when it seemed the knockout blow would land.
Three times the Los Angeles man, eagerly aggressive, swung himself off his feet when Welsh ducked his haymakers. Each time Watson hit the floor, Welsh laughed at his opponent's chagrin.

STRUGGLES FOR PLACE AT FARGO

Big String of Players on Roster of North Dakota Team.

Fargo, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unglaub on first, Schuler on second, Hooper at short, Dries at third, Pedone, Fremmer and Doyle in the outfield, and Smith catcher, seems to be the most probable line-up of the Fargo-Moorhead aggregation when the team starts this season. More than twenty-five players are now on the roster and there is expected to be some strong competition for a few places.
Smith, with the Tri-State league last year, appears to have the job of first string catcher tucked away. Kliebert and Winfield will fight it out for second place, and there is a possibility of securing Gharrity of Minneapolis.
The second string catcher will be a substitute first baseman. Fremmer, in the outfield, will be sub-infielder, he being especially strong at second or short. Stanley will endeavor to beat Dries out of the third corner job and there are two candidates for short and two for second in addition to the possible regulars. Alexander, Cook and others will also compete for outfield jobs.
For the flinging corps, Unglaub has about a dozen men lined up. Maupin and Belsser of last year's team are standbys. Bell, with Winona in 1913 and St. Joe last year, is practically certain of a place. Falt with Fargo last year and recently of Minneapolis, is looked to make good. Unglaub also has Wahlstrom and the Brown brothers from Minneapolis, Klievert, Wolfe and several others, with the possibility of getting Dumont, last year's star, back from Minneapolis.

Sale of the Kansas City Star is directed not later than two years from the death of Mr. Nelson's wife and daughter.
Mrs. Ida H. Nelson, the widow, is given a life interest estate in the family home, Oak Hill, and at her death the property is to pass to Mrs. Kirkwood.

Pal! Listen to this:

Prince Albert is the one pipe tobacco that gets right under the epidermis of the most veteran pipe smoker. Men who have become case-hardened to tongue tortures are falling in line along with young fellows who are just getting pipe broke. Men everywhere love the ripping good flavor and fragrance of

CHINESE TO VISIT HERE

Thirty Celestial Commissioners Will Study Conditions in America.

Itinerary Includes Duluth; Will Work for Closer Trade Relations.

According to a dispatch from Washington, D. C., Duluth will be visited June 26 by a party of thirty Chinese commissioners, who are coming to the United States early in May, for a two-months' tour of this country. The itinerary, which has just been made public, shows that the Chinese captains of industry will arrive in San Francisco, May 3. They will travel to New York by way of St. Louis, stopping in Cleveland, on their return trip. They will leave Buffalo, June 17, arriving in Cleveland the following morning. Their visit there will last until June 20.
The trip to this country is being made for the purpose of promoting closer trade relations between the United States and China. A thorough study of commercial conditions in this country is to be made. The Chinese government has appropriated funds to take the large party on a seventy-day itinerary, but it is expected that while the commissioners are in the United States, they will be guests of commercial business organizations throughout the country. Five years ago a party of American business men from the Pacific coast visited China, and this trip is in the nature of a return visit.

Red Wing, Minn., April 21.—Twice within a week death entered the home of C. O. Odman, residing near Cannon Falls. A week ago his adopted daughter, Matilda, passed away and Monday Mrs. Odman died, both victims of typhoid fever. A month ago a hired man employed on the Odman farm succumbed to the disease.

TURK TROOPS RESTORE ORDER IN URUMIAH.

Washington, April 21.—Turkish regular troops apparently have succeeded in restoring order at Urumiah, Persia, where Kurd bandit raids on native Christians recently led to reports that American and other foreign missionaries had been attacked.
Since the arrival of the force sent to Urumiah at the urgent representations of Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, it was learned that there has been no renewal of disorders so far as state department advices show.
The majority of the rumors of attacks on foreigners originated at Tabriz and are said to have been founded largely upon rough usage accorded one or two American missionaries who intervened in behalf of natives.
No details of these disturbances, which have been common occurrences for years, have been received from consular officers in the vicinity.

All Former Employes of City With One Exception Reappointed.

City Council Chamber Is Packed With People During Initial Session.

Ely, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new city council members held their first meeting last evening. The council chamber was packed to capacity. Long before the meeting started there was standing room only for the public. All the councilmen and Mayor Harri were present excepting James H. White, who is confined to his home with a broken hip.

Iver Wisted and Henry Baribeau were the applicants for the city clerk's office, Mr. Wisted being reappointed at a salary of $75 a month, but he also will probably be appointed by the mayor as clerk of court, with a salary of $65 a month.

Charles Miller was the only applicant for city engineer and was reappointed at a salary of $160 a month.

Nick Aijala and John Seliskar were applicants for the street commissionership, Nick Aijala being reappointed at a salary of $80 per month.

Henry J. Merdink, A. W. Nelson and A. J. Thomas applied for the job of city attorney, Mr. Thomas being reappointed.

Four applied for position as timekeeper and supply clerk, but the council decided to do away with that position, as it was deemed unnecessary. The work of that office will all go through the city clerk's office. The street commissioner, superintendent of light and water department and all officials were instructed to take the time of those men working for them and turn it into the city clerk. All supplies will be given out and accounted for by the city clerk. The four applicants were as follows: Alfred Skoglund, Oscar G. Hanson, Byron C. Carlson and William Vusti.

William Mitchell and a man from Ohio applied for the position of superintendent of the water and light plant. Mr. Mitchell was reappointed at a salary of $125 per month. The council did not appoint the linemen, engineers and firemen at the water and light plant, the appointments being left to Mr. Mitchell.

Bill Western was the only applicant for the job of assistant city clerk, and was reappointed at a salary of $75 per month.

Dr. Owen W. Parker was appointed health officer at $150.

La Beau Police Chief.

The policemen were all reappointed as follows: Elias La Beau, chief of police, at a salary of $100 per month; John Kulko, Matt L. Kapsch, John Somrock, patrolmen, at salaries of $80 a month. No other applications were received for positions on the police force.

The council instructed the city clerk to advertise for bids for sprinkling the streets, hauling coal to the water and light plant, city printing, team labor, meals to prisoners, as etc.

Paul Buckovich acted as chairman of the committee of the whole while the councilmen were deciding on the appointments to be made, in executive session.

The council also fixed the bonds of those appointed. With but one exception all offices are filled by the same parties as were appointed last year.

TWO TELEPHONES TO BE DISCUSSED

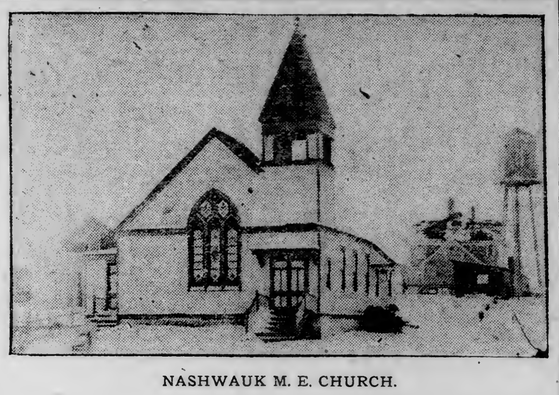
Hibbing Commercial Club Expects Lively Session Over Matter.

Hibbing, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected there will be verbal pyrrotechnics tonight at the Hibbing Commercial club meeting. The advantages of having two telephone systems in the village will be up for discussion and representatives of the Range and Mesabe telephone companies will uphold their respective contentions.

Although the club has not yet obtained a secretary, President Stratton said that the meeting will be held and that some excitement is expected. A club committee will report on the new telephone automatic system and what its installation will mean to business men here. Following the report the matter will be included in a "free-for-all" verbal battle.

BURN UP THE WIRES.

Hibbing and Chisholm Implore Lawmakers to Defeat Harrison Bill.



Hibbing, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several hundred personal telegrams were sent to legislators from Hibbing and Chisholm yesterday, urging the defeat of the Harrison $25 per capita bill. The telegrams poured into the Western Union office until finally it was necessary to put on a special operator to work to handle them.

Most of the telegrams were short, just asking that the measure be defeated, but some told of objections to the act. Speaker Flower must have received nearly 100 telegrams from this section asking him to use his efforts to kill the bill.

The Real Cause of Most Bad Complexions

It is a stern fact that no truly beautiful complexion ever came out of jars or bottles; the longer one uses cosmetics the worse the complexion becomes. Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's effete material. Creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics, they would have natural, healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The fresher, younger underskin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. An exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggists and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream, for a week or so, washing it off mornings. To eradicate wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel and use as a wash lotion. —Advertisement.

WHERE REVIVAL IS NOW BEING HELD AT NASHWAUK

NASHWAUK M. E. CHURCH.

FOUR ALDERMEN OPPOSE HERITAGE

Fails to Be Confirmed as Member of Virginia Commission.

Virginia, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opposition to the confirmation of the appointment of Alderman A. D. Heritage by Mayor Boylan as a member of the water and light commission to succeed W. J. Murphy, as forecasted in Tuesday's Herald, materialized last night when four aldermen voted against confirmation and the appointment is held up. The negative vote was cast by McGhee, Coffee, Mattson and Harvey. It required a vote of 6 to 9 to confirm. The mayor considered the action a personal rebuff and did not mince words in expressing his opinion of what he styled the insult of the council in refusing to confirm a mayor's appointment, the first time it was done in the city's history.

R. C. PICKERING.

McGhee Explains Vote.

Alderman McGhee said he had nothing against the appointee personally, but objected to appointing on the commission a man connected with the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company with which the city has a contract.

Mayor Boylan said that the contract would not expire for three years and was for $15,000 a year. On the other hand he maintained the Virginia & Rainy Lake company is furnishing to the city without cost, electric current worth $10,000 a year. This current the mayor contended could be cut off at any time if the company saw fit.

The mayor pointed out the alderman's connection with the company would not influence his action.

Alderman Heritage said he always worked for the city's interests and would continue to do so.

The discussion became animated, three aldermen and the mayor trying to make themselves heard and no little feeling being displayed.

The mayor reappointed three members of the library board whose terms will expire May 1: R. C. Pickering, Mrs. Delbert Trotter and Mrs. R. C. Whiting. The council confirmed the nominations.

The council stopped all assignments of wages by city employes. In an effort to assist men who are in the habit of assigning their wages the council adopted a bi-weekly pay day for all city employes including firemen and policemen and excepting the mayor and members of the council.

GETTING NEW SETTLERS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. E. Keenan, superintendent of the schools of District No. 6, who resigned some time ago to take the management of the office of the Minnesota Land company at Deer River, is very optimistic over the future of his section, and he says that his company is getting many settlers. Much of the company's lands are up along the line of the Minneapolis & Rainy River railway, and he says that much interest is being manifested in that section.

Duluthian's Camp Burned.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 21.—The lumber camp of Murphy & Kileen, at Warba, was destroyed by fire yesterday. It is said the loss was about $5,000. The damage was increased by the burning of a pile of logs that had been cut and piled near the camp ready for shipment.

J. J. Murphy, one of the owners of the camp, is a resident of Duluth.

TWENTY HIBBING EMPLOYES OUT

Water and Light Board Lops Off Some Department Heads.

Hibbing, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.) — Twenty department heads were "laid off" by the water and light board last night in an effort to reorganize these departments more efficiently and to counteract the Harrison bill, being given by board members as the cause of this action.

Supt. Charles Waymire of the power plant was the first to be discharged. His position will be filled temporarily by J. J. Rowen, his assistant. Others dismissed are Head Linesman Layman, Head Engineer I. J. Quackenbush, Boiler Inspectors Beasy and Garbordia; J. Tranbarth, charge of water main construction and his crew; J. O. Conner and M. Henry, helpers.

The board also changed the system of buying supplies for the plant. Hereafter orders for material will be sent to the water and light board, which will in turn make the requisition. This, it was declared, will give the village a double checking of all expenditures for the water and light board.

CHISHOLM PEOPLE HELP BALL TEAM

Are Responding Liberally to Call for Financial Aid.

Chisholm, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The financial committee of the local baseball team Saturday and Monday succeeded in raising over $450 in less than four hours. Donations as large as $60 and $50 were received.

The committee will keep on until a sum sufficient to put the club on a sound financial basis is collected. Chisholm is lining up a first-class team this year, the players consisting of men who are not only good baseball players, but men who desire to make the town their permanent residence.

The finance committee consists of George Trask, Gust Anderson, Alger Syme and Clyde Blough.

Chisholm Pirates to Play.

Eighteen members of the Pirate Athletic association turned out for baseball practice at the ball park. Much enthusiasm was shown and with such a number of promising players to pick from, the Pirates will, no doubt, make a name for themselves in amateur baseball circles during the coming season. The Pirates expect to open the season with a game with the Monroe Juniors on Sunday, May 2. Elaborate plans are being made by the Pirate Athletic association for a dance to be given at the opera house on Friday evening, April 30.

IS LOOKING AFTER FINE BADGER FARM.

Chisholm, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George B. Lea Quee of the Neally hotel is in Washburn, Wis., visiting with Mrs. Lea Quee and daughter, Arlie, and superintending spring work on his farm known as Bay View farm, which is on a plateau, overlooking Chequamegon bay, and when a number of improvements which are being planned are made, will be one of the best of the many fine farms in that vicinity. Mr. Lea Quee expects to return about the first of the month.

Reject Architect's Bill.

Mountain Iron, Minn., April 21.—The village council refused to authorize the payment of the bill of C. K. Shand, Virginia architect, who drew the plans and specifications for the new village hall, for $702.60, on the ground that it exceeds the amount provided for in the contract.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

CHISHOLM NOTES.

Chisholm, Minn., April 21.—The Knights of Pythias held a social and initiation at the lodge rooms Monday evening, many candidates being initiated.

While attempting to stop a runaway team, Fred Axt, a tinsmith, was thrown beneath the animals' legs and sustained several bruises which placed him on crutches.

The members of the Rebekah lodge were hostesses at a social at Karl hall Monday evening. Cards were played during which lunch was served and later dancing was indulged in.

LOWE VISITS RANGE.

New Boiler Inspector Looking Over His Territory.

Virginia, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. W. Lowe of Duluth, recently appointed state boiler inspector for this district by Governor Hammond, is making his first trip to the Mesaba range and is getting a warm welcome from many Virginia friends today. Mr. Lowe was formerly machinist employed on the Virginia & Rainy Lake line and has worked as a mechanic in many of the mines on the range. He succeeds Inspector Cox of Hibbing, who was Governor Eberhart's appointee.

HILARIOUS OVER WEATHER.

Hibbing Man Celebrates Too Strenuously and Is Fined $8.

Hibbing, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A hilarious time Monday night at the Stevenson location, in municipal court yesterday afternoon cost John Seddo $8 and costs when arraigned before Judge Brady. "I am not a habitual street hollerer," he said. "It is seldom if ever that I am the least boisterous. Yesterday, however, was a lovely day and for the first time in my life I gave way to an irresistible desire to scream. I of course failed to consider that the hour was late, but that was because the screams were so spontaneous."

EXHIBITED IN LOUISIANA.

Buhl Penmanship Displayed in the Creole State.

Buhl, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Lillian Noonan, supervisor of penmanship in the local schools, is advised that the Buhl penmanship exhibit which took first prize at the recent teachers' convention in Duluth and was chosen for the educational display at the San Francisco fair, was shown in Louisiana before it was sent to the coast city. It was first sent to the national superintendents' convention held in Cincinnati, Ohio. While there, the superintendent of schools of Louisiana asked if he might have a few days to exhibit in his state, where they were contemplating adopting Palmer penmanship. He was allowed to take it to Louisiana and from there it went to San Francisco.

Sells Grand Rapids Business.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jerome H. Meyers has acquired the confectionery stand and business heretofore conducted by S. S. McMahon.

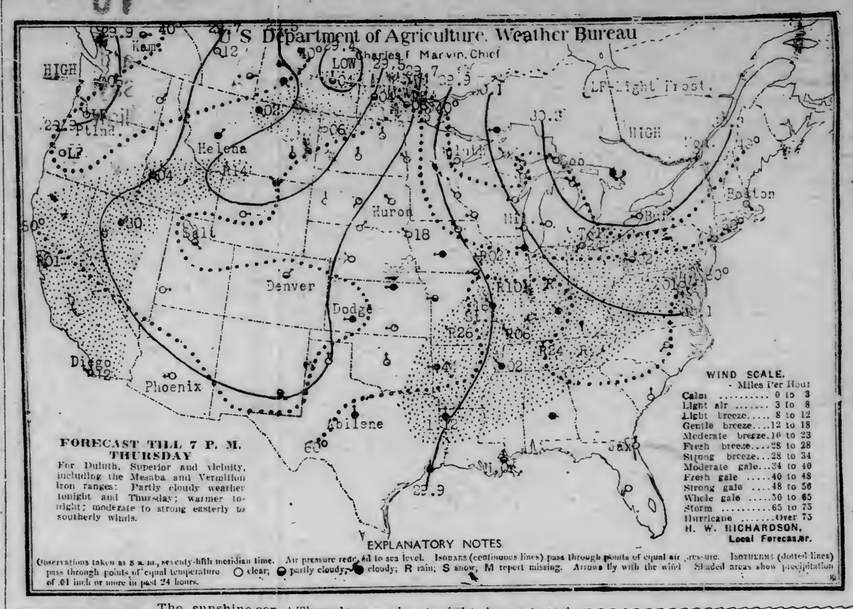
Mr. Meyers is contemplating some extensive remodeling and changes.

Mr. McMahon will go into the office of his brother, County Treasurer J. E. McMahon, where he will be employed in the future.

PLAYGROUND IS NEEDED IN ELY

Numerous Cars Endanger Lives of Tots Playing on Street.

Ely, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lack of a playground for children combined with the fact that there are more automobiles here than ever this year—many having acquired cars as a result of the great automobile show held at Duluth, brings local people face to face with a new problem. Auto owners object to the reckless manner in which children congregate on the streets.



The children congregate in groups, and besides filling the roads with stones, glass and sticks of wood, pay no attention to the warning signals of the vehicles but remain in the way until the last second.

Children Defy Motorists.

Some children will stand with their arms folded in front of a car and force the drivers to almost bring their cars to a standstill in order to let the children get away. Very narrow escapes are witnessed by pedestrians.

Stealing rides on teams is also much indulged in. The children will hang to the back of the wagon until they attract the attention of the drivers then run to the sidewalk. With the heavy traffic during the summer months this is very dangerous as they very often run in the way of an auto or wagon coming from the opposite direction.

A HAPPY BALD HEADED MAN

Well-Known Politician Nearly Bald Now Has New Growth of Hair.

Tells How He Did It.

A western politician, well known on account of his baldness and ready wit, surprised his friends by appearing with a new growth of hair. Many of his old friends did not know him and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it, he made the following statement: "I attribute the remarkable growth of my hair to the use of the following simple recipe which any lady or gentleman can mix at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home."

MILLER GOES TO HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Congressman May Also Make Trip to Philippines Before Returning.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller leaves today for a trip to Hawaii, and possibly to the Philippines. In case he goes only to Hawaii, he expects to be back in eight weeks, but if he goes to the Philippines his absence will be indefinite.

The trip to the Hawaiian islands will be in company with a group of United States senators and congressmen who have been invited by the residents of the islands, who are paying all expenses. There will be eighteen senators and twenty-two representatives in the party. The honor is rather unusual, for the Hawaiian residents picked and invited the specific members of congress whom they wanted to entertain, and did not send an indiscriminate invitation.

Congressman Miller says that nothing has been said by the hosts-to-be as to the reason for the invitation, but as there are a number of matters in the way of legislation in which the residents of the islands are deeply interested, it is supposed that they are concerned.

"The duty on sugar comes off in July," said Congressman Miller today, "and the residents of the islands are vitally interested in this. Unless something is done by congress, they believe that they will suffer greatly because of the removal of the duty. Then the matter of fortifying Pearl Harbor greatly interests them. Doubtless we will hear much of both matters and most likely of other things. Unquestionably the invitation is extended in order to have the senators and congressmen see their needs."

As to the prospective visit of Congressman Miller to the Philippines, there is nothing definite about it yet. Most of the members of the house committee on insular affairs are going to visit the islands, and Mr. Miller has been urged to go with them because of the fact that he made the islands an extended visit recently, and is considered better acquainted with conditions and localities there than any other member of either congressional body.

His defense was that the death was caused by accident.

Stagnant Blood Given A Quick Impulse

Wonderful Activity Imparted by a Famous Remedy.

The appearance of pimples, boils, skin eruptions and all evidence of impure blood, calls for S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Cathartics, purges, bowel movers and laxatives won't do.

No amount of bile will destroy certain germs which cause blood and skin eruptions. They are away down deep in the tissues, perhaps in the very marrow of the bones. And such a condition calls for the searching influence of S. S. S. It is indeed a remarkable remedy, since it is taken up by the blood stream and never loses its medicinal influence. On and on it goes, through and through the entire system and always with the same definite action to dislodge germs, destroy their activity and stimulate the liver, lungs, kidneys, bowels and skin to throw them out completely.

It stimulates stagnant blood, provides a rational exhilaration to the nerve centers and thereby the natural functions of the body are aroused to cast out intruders, no matter how strongly intrenched they may be. It refutes the ancient theory that to destroy within us the germs that eat into our vitals calls for drugs that destroy our very existence. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist and for special advice on severe blood disorders write at once to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 103 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not accept a substitute. Insist upon what you ask for.

MINNEAPOLIS MUST WAIT

Duluth Will Be First Minnesota City to Hear "Billy" Sunday.

"Sent Me Finest Call I Ever Have Had," Says Evangelist.

Minneapolis wants "Billy" Sunday to make a campaign there, but the fighting baseball evangelist says "No—there is another important Minnesota invitation out—Duluth."

He may come to Duluth in 1916—but Minneapolis will have to wait, according to Mrs. "Billy."

"Duluth," said the evangelist to a Washington newspaper correspondent, "sent me the finest call I ever have had. Twenty men came all the way to Philadelphia to extend it. They represented everybody—not a soul out."

Thousands now are "hitting the sawdust trail" under "Billy's" guidance in a wooden tabernacle at Paterson, N. J., and when he finishes his campaign in that city he is going to Oregon for a long rest.

The schedule is this:

Omaha, September and October, 1915.

Syracuse, N. Y., November and December, 1915.

Trenton, N. J., January and February, 1916.

Baltimore, March and April, 1916.

Duluth may come after Baltimore and before Rev. Mr. Sunday's summer vacation begins. At any rate, the noted evangelist will be heard here before he is in Minneapolis or any other Minnesota city. The Minneapolis invitation didn't please Mrs. Sunday because it wasn't unanimous, as "she remembered." There were a few preachers opposed, Congregationalists, she thought, according to the correspondent.

"Billy" is well acquainted with Minnesota. Years ago, when he was making the one-night stands of the evangelist circuit, he conducted meetings in Rochester, Marshall, Austin, Brown's Valley, Moorhead, Redwood Falls and Worthington. He likes the small towns better than the large cities.

"When I first began this work eighteen years ago I went to the small places," said the former baseball star, "I gradually took on towns of from 50,000 to 200,000. I preferred them, and still prefer them, because you can get unity in them. When you get up to Pittsburgh's size you meet divisions in the clergy, and the higher you go the more noticeable this becomes."

In the meantime, many Duluthians are waiting to hear his decision, and hoping that he will decide to come during the spring of 1916.

Nineteen Descriptions Disposed of at Varying Prices Per Acre.

Few bidders appeared this morning at the April sale of school and other state lands which was conducted in the county board room at the courthouse by Theodore Nelson of St. Paul, manager of the state land department. Approximately 704 acres, which were included in nineteen descriptions, were disposed of, the price per acre paid ranging from $5 to $35.

One 40-acre tract about two miles west of Hibbing was sold to Eli S. Woolfan, clothier of that village, for $35 an acre.

According to Mr. Nelson, the department is planning to appraise several new tracts of land in St. Louis county this summer preparatory to placing it on the list for sale next year.

POLICE STOP AUCTION SALE

License Must Be Secured Before It May Continue.

On orders from Chief Troyer the Henricksen Jewelry company, 332 West Superior street, was this morning compelled to discontinue its auction sale, until the trustees obtain a license from the city council.

Charges were made that the auction is being conducted in an improper manner. A request was made of Commissioner Silberstein that the auction license be taken away.

Chief Troyer, who was sent down to stop the auction, learned that no license had been obtained, but that the old council had granted the trustees of the bankrupt concern to hold an auction sale without a license. However, on further investigation, the chief learned from City Attorney Greene that a license was needed and as a result he ordered the sale stopped until a permit is granted by the council.

The store will continue to remain open, the chief said, but an auction sale will not be permitted.

CAFES MUST OBEY THE LAW

Licenses Will Be Revoked If "Lid Is Tilted," Says Silberstein.

Cafes in the large hotels will have to obey the law, or their saloon licenses will be revoked.

This is an ultimatum given out this morning by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division, in answer to rumors circulated in the city that special privileges are to be granted the larger hotels of the city.

"There is absolutely no truth to these rumors," said Mr. Silberstein this morning. "I have given out orders to Chief Troyer that the cafes should be watched along with the saloons and that all violations must be dealt with accordingly. If any of these large hotels lose their licenses for violating the liquor law, they will have themselves to blame.

"I announced after taking office Monday that the laws of this city will be enforced to the letter at all times and Duluth citizens can rest assured that there will be no tilting of the lid while I am in office."

The head of the public safety division is now investigating several applications for license renewals and transfers, declaring that only good, clean men will be permitted to conduct saloons in this city. A request for a transfer of the Patrick Mulligan license to the Michigan street corner of the Spalding hotel is also being investigated by the commissioner, who said this morning that he is opposed to permitting too many saloons in one block, there being several in that street already.

Guillain was a director of the Suez Canal company and was connected with other important enterprises in France and abroad.

Byron P. Baker, 72 years old, a resident of St. Paul since 1865 and of Merriam Park for thirty-one years, died April 20. He was identified with the business activities of St. Paul since he came here, being connected with the Pittsburgh Coal company when he died. Mr. Baker was born in Ithaca, N. Y., in 1842.

Col. Samuel W. Dunning, U. S. A., who has been on the retired list for a year, died at San Francisco April 19, after an illness of several months. He was 56 years old. At the time of the San Francisco fire in 1906 Col. Dunning was on duty there.

PROSPERITY WAGON STARTS

"Climb Aboard or Get Run Over," Says David Williams.

No Time to Waste Growling About "Hard Times."

"The man who is wasting his time growling about bad times in business and telling everybody he meets that there is no hope—and there are a lot of these—is due to be either run over by the prosperity wagon, or, failing to catch it and climb aboard, will be left so far behind that he will be unable to catch up."

David Williams, vice president of the First National bank, who has just returned from a trip through the East extending over several weeks, so expressed himself to The Herald this morning.

Mr. Williams returns home with his ever-unswerving confidence stiffened and sustained by what he learned among business men and bankers while he was away. He declared today that the approach of a prosperous era is no longer to be doubted; that the last month has developed a growth in business which has wiped away the era of "hope" and developed an era of "certainty."

"I have been more than gratified at the feeling of business men throughout the East," said Mr. Williams this morning. "They declare themselves as certain that business is fast approaching a normal basis, and they are making themselves ready to meet it half way. It must be admitted that just now the country is depending on the foreign trade for its business, but in the meantime domestic conditions are developing along the proper line, and while domestic business is not yet nearly normal, it is growing in that direction with encouraging speed, and the feeling in the East is that it will have reached a normal stage before very long.

"It is reasonable to expect that it will, for with the large grain crop of last year bringing handsome prices and the prospects for another heavy crop, which will also bring big figures, there is bound to be a resumption of normal business. Farmers, with their purses full, must be expected to fill their needs, make new improvements and otherwise develop their farms. This all puts money in circulation and with this demand on manufacturers and business men generally, trade cannot help but develop.

"Even clear up in New England, where I visited while away, the feeling is excellent, gloom has been dispelled and business interests in general are preparing for the wave of prosperity which they feel to be imminent.

"That industries are resuming and that labor will be fully employed in a very short time, is a foregone conclusion."

DAVID WILLIAMS.

SUPERIOR

FOUR LICENSES MAY BE REVOKED

State Commander Reports.

In the report made by State Commander Mrs. Jessie K. Fager of Minneapolis, she said: "Many hive visits for the year 1913 were more for the purpose of learning the needs of the membership than for the purpose of instruction, and notwithstanding the adverse conditions and several months out of the field during this time, we finished the year with a net increase in membership. The year 1914, with changed conditions generally, was a year of gain in every way. Our record is one of which I am proud. The hives have assisted me in a splendid manner, and our showing for 1915 promises to be as good as before, if not better."

On Jan. 1, 1915 there were seventy-five hives in the state, with 418 social and 3,464 benefit membership, a total of 3,882 membership. The applications received during the term numbered 1,588. Protection written during the term amounted to $1,214,260 and benefits paid since organization $223,633.75.

Supreme Commander Speaks.

Miss Elna M. West, supreme commander of the order, in the course of her address, said: "The Ladies of the Maccabees is the largest benefit society in the world composed entirely of women. It is a remarkable business institution, a wonderful example of fraternalism. But it is something more, it is one of the great forces in the life of American women today. Our society has been the means of giving the opportunity for broader development to tens and tens of thousands of women. Bringing women into contact with other women in a large way, under circumstances that make for sympathy and co-operation in big things tends to widen their outlook, to make them more democratic and independent."

WATER USERS ARE GATHERING DATA

To Show Visiting Congressmen How Money Was Wasted on Project.

Williston, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The congressional committee which will visit the Williston irrigation project July 12 to 15 will be given an opportunity to inquire into the cost of the work, according to plans of the local Water Users association.

A statement of alleged excessive cost is now being prepared and association officials expect they will be able to convince the visitors that the land owners have not been fairly dealt with.

Charges of excessive construction charges have long been aired, but heretofore they have not taken concrete form. The cost of the project exceeded the estimate by a great margin, and that fact has seriously hampered the successful development of the farming lands that are under the project.

The congressmen who will come here are Gilette, Page, Mondell, Shirley, Bordland, Good, Sissons and Johnson. They are making a tour of all reclamation projects.

LOFTUS STARTS BACKFIRE.

Going After North Dakota Lawmakers Opposed to Terminal Elevator.

La Moure, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Loftus of Minnesota has completed a partial tour of the state during which he has given particular attention to districts of legislators who, in the recent assembly, opposed the proposal to establish a terminal elevator in St. Paul.

At a meeting here, Mr. Loftus criticized the course taken by the two members of the house of representatives from this district, both of whom voted against the measure.

The farmers, about 200 strong, passed a resolution criticizing the action of the La Moure county legislators, Messrs. Engel of the house, and Senator Porter. The motion was proposed by Mr. Loftus.

EARLY FLAX SOWING IS MOST BENEFICIAL

So Advises Plant Pathologist of North Dakota Agricultural College.

Agricultural College, N. D., April 21.—Plant Pathologist H. L. Bolley of the agricultural college has issued the following bulletin to flax-growers, emphasizing the necessity for early sowing of that grain:

"The topic of early and late sowing is one of much importance. Flax has usually been seeded whenever it has been found convenient, after the other grains are seeded. This often results in failure, when, in reality, the crop has slight opportunity to succeed because the time of sowing is bad. Observations extending over a number of years tend to confirm the belief that in most parts of North Dakota, early planting of flax, gives most reliable results, both in yield and quality.

"Late plantings often give large yield if they escape the fall frosts. This has induced many to plant later than is justifiable, with the result that the crop often loses out, fails to ripen evenly or is destroyed by frost.

Not Desirable Period.

"Many have been in the habit of sowing flax about May 20 to 25. Observations tend to indicate that this is not a very desirable period of planting, particularly in the northern counties of North Dakota; for the flax comes into blossom and boll formation just at the hottest period of the year when the soil moisture is apt to be scarce, the sun very hot, and the winds numerous. Under such conditions, the flax ripens a small crop because of the blighting of the flowers and bolls. It is therefore, quite evident that one should sow early enough to have flax blossom and form the bolls before the hot weather comes on or sufficiently late to have the blossoming and boll formation period begin as soon as the hottest weather is past, and yet early enough to escape autumn frosts. There can be no question about the matter for those who are raising seed for sowing purposes. These should, for the most part, plant early."

RUMMAGE SALE IS BECOMING SCANDAL

Reported Boat Figurehead, Loaned By Government, Was Sold at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald)—Portions of the metallic figurehead of the United States battleship North Dakota, loaned to the state for display purposes, are missing and it is said to have been sold as scrap iron for seven cents a pound.

About 1,000 pounds of the figurehead are reported to have been disposed of in this manner, leaving about 2,000 pounds still in possession of the state.

The figurehead was brought to the state through the efforts of Governor Hanna, the government making the loan for exhibition purposes only. The greatest portion of the figurehead still remains on display at the state capitol grounds—but about a third of it is missing and it is charged that it has been scrapped and sold.

State Rummage Sale.

Interesting figures on a recent rummage sale conducted by the state also have come to light within the last few days, as a result of declarations, published locally, that many valuable articles were sold at ridiculously low prices.

The statement of the sale shows the state officers and their employes were the principal purchasers, and items listed are rather interesting. Three desks were sold for—50 cents each, leather couches sold all the way from $8 to $23 each, carpets, of various sizes, sold at from $1 each to $13. Revolving bookcases sold at from $2.50 each to $5 each.

The total amount realized by the sale was $224, while the cost of advertising was $82.80.

Fargo, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday's board of education election resulted in the defeat of three candidates seeking re-election, and the choice of a new ticket composed of A. H. Dodsley, J. W. McHose and Mrs. H. H. Aaker.

MANY BAPTIZED IN SERPENT LAKE.

Large Throng Watches Public Immersion at Crosby Pentecostals.

Crosby, Minn., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-eight Pentecostals were baptized yesterday afternoon in Serpent lake at the Ingalls Motor company's docks. A hymn was sung and a prayer was read, then each member was totally immersed in the icy cold water by two of the Pentecostal ministers. The ceremony was witnessed by about 500 people. Pentecostal meetings have been held nightly the last week in the Leino hall, and last night they ended for an indefinite time as the ministers will leave for Bemidji.

BANKERS TO STAND PAT.

North Dakota State Concerns Not to Attack Examination Fee Law.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is said no steps will be taken by North Dakota bankers to refer back to the people the law passed by the last legislature fixing the assessment of fees for the examination of state banks.

This law increases the cost of examinations to the larger state banks quite materially, and Grand Forks state banks, under it, must pay a greater examination fee than is levied by the Federal government against national banks for examination.

BANKERS MEETING.

District and State Gathering of North Dakota Arouse Interest.

Fargo, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prominent speakers have been secured for the different district bankers' meetings and for the big state session to be held in Bismarck June 16 and 17. MISSOURI RIVER LOWEST IN YEARS.

Fort Yates, N. D., April 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Missouri river is this spring at the lowest stage it has been for thirty-two years. Like conditions prevail in the Cannon Ball and Grand rivers, both of which empty into the Missouri near here. The condition is unusual, as there was nearly the usual amount of snow in the territory during the past year. Spring rains, however, have been absent up to this time, which has had something to do with the lower level attained.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist.

It is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often invited during the period of expectation. This in part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses, such as laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

Constipation a Penalty of Age

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as keeping the bowels open. It makes one feel younger and fresher and forestalls colds, piles, fevers, and others dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative-tonic, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is the combination of simple herbs with pepsin sold by druggists everywhere under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The price is fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

Carpenters recommend

NEPONSET SHINGLES

PATENTED

They are double-width, built-up shingles with the butt ends of treble thickness. They go on like wooden shingles, but with half as many cracks and fewer nail-holes to grow into leaks.

Neponset Shingles are spark-proof and weather-proof—can't rust, crack, buckle, nor blow loose.

Color, a rich tone of gray. Let us show you this last word in roofing material.

MARKET UP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Firm After Early Weakness on Bullish Supply Situation.

Trading in Flaxseed Light, Put Prices Are Moderately Advanced.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 21.—The market was more active at close and quotations firmed up in good bidding. May wheat closed ⅛c up; July ¼c up and September ⅛c up. May durum closed 3c off and July 1c off. Oats closed unchanged at 55¼@55¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.11@1.12, and barley unchanged at from 65 to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c off at 65¾c bid and July ⅝c off at 65½c bid. Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.49¼, and calls at $1.54¼.

After a splurge at the opening of the market trading in wheat became a quiet proposition today. There was a sharp break at the start on reports of good rains through sections in the Southwest where dry conditions had been complained of. Good buying appeared on the break following reports of further Eastern millers and export inquiry and quotations were advanced to well above yesterday's close.

Traders are becoming more deeply impressed over the probability of a serious shortage developing in wheat supplies after the present and early May shipping orders have been taken care of. Taking into accounts boats loaded and in course of loading at the elevators it is figured out that spring wheat stocks in the local houses are down to about 6,500,000 bu. Of that vessel space has been already chartered for a large proportion for shipment down the lakes. This situation is leading operators to wonder where millers are going to come in at for their supplies of spring wheat between now and the harvesting of the new crop, and they are consequently going easy in increasing their commitments in the meantime. Though Eastern inquiry was received today, there were no advices of any business having been worked.

Encouraging reports are being received regarding the progress of seeding through the Northwest, and news from the winter wheat territory is on the cheerful order. It is said that the recent rains have dispelled fears of deterioration over many districts.

May wheat opened ⅜c off at $1.58⅞, sold up to $1.59¾ and then eased off ⅝c around the noon hour. July opened ¼c off at $1.56 and moved the same course as the near future. Increasing interest is being shown in September wheat and fair business of it is already reported to have been contracted for in a quiet way. It opened unchanged at $1.23½ and advanced 1⅜c.

Durum was comparatively neglected and the market in it turned weak. May opened ½c off at $1.72½ and declined 1¼c more. July held unchanged at $1.66.

Flaxseed Holds Firm.

Business in flaxseed was draggy, but the market was strong the greater part of the day with steady inquiry from crushers and bullish news from Argentina. It is claimed that estimates of the available surplus in that country will require to be again reduced on account of further rains and unsettled weather having interfered with threshing and deteriorated the seed still out in the fields. The close was easy with light demand.

May flax opened ¼c up at $1.99 and closed unchanged at $1.98¾ asked. July opened ¾c up at $2.02¼ and closed ½c up at $2.01¾. September opened ½c up at $2.04 and closed ¼c up at $2.03¾ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅞c off at $1.80¼ bid and July ⅛c up at $1.84.

At Buenos Aires, April flax closed 1c up at $1.18½ and at London ⅞c up at $1.91⅞.

Price Current says: "Based on reports of conditions existing on April 14 to 16, the soil condition is reported almost entirely favorable throughout the different corn belt and winter wheat states, with slight complaint of being too wet in a very few localities in Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, and slightly dry in a few localities in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. As a whole it can be said that the soil condition throughout these states is most excellent."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Weakness yesterday in America offset by firmness in Buenos Aires and scarcity of India offers with strength in Paris. The undertone was steady with trading dull. Spot market was steady, unchanged. Argentine advices were less favorable with quality lowered and importing countries generally bidding freely and taking all offers. American winters for August-September shipment sold at 54s 6d, while Rosa Fe March-April shipment 62s 7d.

"Corn was strong with advancing spot, strength in Buenos Aires and firmness of cargoes. Cargo market was strong, 3@4½d higher."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Favorable Soil Conditions and Liberal Offers Start Wheat Downward.

Chicago, April 21.—May wheat slumped today at the opening 2½c to 3¾c on renewed reports of favorable soil conditions, which brought about more liberal offerings than there was demand for.

In a few minutes the low prices seemed attractive enough to bring about a buying rally and prices rose to within ½c of yesterday's close, touching $1.60½. July and September wheat held the greater part of the trade and prices showed a narrower range than for the near month, being from ¼c to ⅞c lower.

Signs that foreigners were purchasing new crop futures here had much to do with a bulge which developed in prices after the early dip, but bearish advices regarding Italy led subsequently to something of a setback. The close was unsettled at ¼@1⅛c net advance.

Corn showed a drooping tendency, at the start, largely in sympathy with wheat. Opening prices were irregular, ⅛c lower to ¼c higher, but under a spurt of buying by influential houses prices firmed up all around.

Active cash demand from the east, together with the fact that country offerings were small, tended to uphold the market until wheat gave way late in the session. The close was nervous, ⅛@⅜c above last night.

The tone of oats was easier on reports of the appearance of needed moisture. Commission houses were sellers and demand was not large.

Provisions showed lower through the list, under a generally easy demand.

*—Inches and hundredths.
§—Highest yesterday, lowest last night.
‡—Not included in the averages.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting 0.10 or more.

NOTE—Weekly summaries of conditions in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington April 13, and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending April 20, 1915:

Washington, D. C., April 21, 1915.—In the winter wheat belt west of the Mississippi river dry, warm weather was highly beneficial and crops made excellent growth. Ground is well supplied with moisture. In the Ohio Valley and more eastern districts plants are generally small and growth is much retarded by lack of moisture.

In the spring wheat belt rapid progress was made as regards the preparation of soil and sowing, except that operations wer retarded in North Dakota on account of lack of rain.

In the corn belt the week was highly favorable for reparation of the soil; planting in the Central and Southern districts progressing satisfactorily.

Oat sowing practically completed except in more northern states and under favorable conditions.

The southwest ranges are in good condition and grass is growing rapidly west of the Mississippi river, but to the eastward they are short and the growth is slow on account of dry weather.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Alternate Advances and Declines Due to Mixed Buying.

Weakness in the Southwestern Railways Causes Late Selling.

New York, April 21.—Bullish activity was resumed at the outset of today's trading, initial quotations showing gains of 1 to 2 points in many important issues. Bethlehem Steel rose 3 points, which it soon increased to 7½. There were heavy offerings of Reading and Union Pacific at advances over yesterday's close, but the only leader to record a new high price for the movement was Amalgamated Copper. Rock Island yielded a fraction on opening sales of 5,000 shares and soon fell back 3 points to yesterday's low level. Prices eased generally before the end of the half hour, Coppers, however, adding to first prices.

After digesting the heavy offerings of the first hour, the market gathered fresh momentum on renewed buying of representative issues today. United States Steel failed to join this movement to any appreciable extent and Reading reflected selling under cover. Amalgamated and others in that group denoted much the same conditions. Rock Island remained under steady pressure and other railways of minor importance were sympathetically affected. Bethlehem Steel became relatively heavy, and specialties as a whole, were inclined to waver. By midday prices showed their second distinct decline of the session.

Constant selling caused further impairment of quoted values in the early afternoon. At that time Steel, Amalgamated, Union Pacific, Reading and other stocks of importance were selling below yesterday's closing level.

Alternate advances and declines, the result of mixed buying and selling accompanied today's active market. Coppers were the strongest features.

Increasing weakness in the Southwest railways, which fell from 3 to 6 points, precipitated further selling of the market. The closing was irregular.

BIG BULGES IN COPPERS

Copper Metal Sells Up to 20 Cents, Highest in Years.

Sharp Advances Are Recorded Through Mining List on Excited Buying.

For the first time since 1907 lake copper sold up to 20 cents a pound today. Electrolytic copper sales were reported at 18 cents.

That development furnished the impetus for a wild bull market in mining stocks at Boston. Advances extending up to $5 a share were recorded during the early trading, and practically every active issue in the list was advanced.

Granby was a leader in point of activity, and it closed $6.50 up at $86.75.

Butte & Ballaklava closed 25 cents up at $4.25; Butte & Superior 75 cents up at $55; Calumet & Arizona $2.50 up at $70; Greene-Cananea 75 cents up at $32.75; Copper Range $3.50 up at $60; Lake $1 up at $17; Mohawk $2.25 up at $77.75; North Butte 25 cents off at $32.25; Osceola $2.50 up at $88; Quincy $2 up at $88, and Shattuck 50 cents up at $29.

At New York, Amalgamated Copper closed 87c up at $88.75 and Anaconda 60c up at $38.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Alex Scott sold at $8.25, Calumet and Corbin at 14c, United Verde Extension at $3.70, Consolidated Copper Mines at $2, South Lake was quoted at $9.12 bid, Denn-Arizona at $7.75, Keating at $1.63, Savanna at $1.25 bid, Interstate Callahan at $14 bid and Warren at $5.63 bid.

Optimistic reports were presented at the annual meeting of the Shattuck-Arizona Copper company, held at Bisbee, Ariz., yesterday.

The following wire in reference to the meeting has been received by Skillings' Mining and Market Letter: "Retiring officers of Shattuck were re-elected. Denn-Arizona meeting was adjourned to Duluth on May 5. It was voted to erect a new office building at Bisbee. The Shattuck mine is looking well."

STEEL PLANTS RESUMING AND INCREASING FORCES.

Further reports of steel plants resuming and of others increasing their operations are coming to hand.

The South Chicago rail mill has resumed operations, beginning Friday afternoon after a several weeks' shutdown following an accident. It is said to have not much rail business ahead, but that it can run fairly full on other products.

The Gary mill hereafter will run five days weekly instead of four as recently. The American Bridge plant at Gary has resumed with 600 men after several weeks' shutdown.

Gary merchant mills have increased operations slightly to nearly full capacity. Plate mills which have been running four days weekly will also increase operations slightly soon. Gary will then be operating around 85 per cent and South Chicago 70 per cent, or combined between 75 and 80 per cent.

No additional furnaces have started within a fortnight, but some increase may, it is thought, occur at any time.

Announcement is made that the furnace of the Ohio Iron & Steel company at Lowellville will resume operations about May 1. The furnace has been idle seven months.

"It is probable," says the Wall Street Journal, "that those who are buying Republic Steel stocks are looking forward to the tremendous profits that are being made in the sale of benzol. The company is erecting a plant to manufacture this chemical from coal, and the work of construction is being rushed by every effort. It is understood that the production for months has been contracted for ahead.

"Benzol is a by-product of coal and is used for the manufacture of picric acid, which is one of the chief ingredients in making gunpowder.

"The Republic Iron & Steel company's ordinary steel business has increased with that of other steel companies and there is reason to suppose that the dividends on the preferred stock will be resumed in case the present rate of business continues."

MONEY MORE IN DEMAND

Business Men More. Disposed to Take Up Deferred Projects.

Duluth bankers state that while actual transactions in the discount market here are not showing any material increase as yet, inquiry is better, and the promise for the future is now more cheerful than at any time since the war began.

"Our discounts have shown an increase since the first of the month, just as they should at this season," said a bank official today, "but the betterment is not striking. However, it may be said that there is a different feeling in the air. The hopeful sentiment noted in the East during the last couple of weeks is working this way, and appears likely to exert a great influence on business in Duluth and the surrounding districts later on. We notice now that business men and manufacturers are disposed to take up projects that had been deferred since early last summer on account of tight money conditions. With the financial situation now in a normal state and funds available for legitimate business purposes, it looks as if we ought to be in far better times.

"At the present we are having quite a demand for money to finance the grain movement to the Eastern markets, but as a large proportion of the tonnage going down the lakes is for export, the funds will be released within a short time in the usual course of exchange channels.

Seeding in Progress.

"Our reports from Northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota are encouraging in that they show that farmers are pushing ahead with their seeding and that a much larger acreage than usual will go under crop. For the final result it will be up to weather conditions, but it is to be said that in so far as soil preparation goes, the crop has never gone into the ground in better shape."

Savings and commercial deposits in the local financial institutions are reported to be holding their own at present, but a steady picking up in volume is expected to begin within the next two or three weeks, when the ratio of employment in the various industrial enterprises should be better.

In the opinion of E. W. Decker, president of the Northwestern National bank at Minneapolis, money rates are likely to stiffen somewhat in the course of the next few weeks, owing to increased demand through farming operations and general business expansion.

"Deposits are going down," Mr. Decker said in the course of an interview, "because of the seasonal demand for cash, and we may expect to see this continue, while loans will increase. I should say that the withdrawals and the money demand were entirely normal for this time of year."

Regarding reports that wheat acreage in the Northwest is to be increased considerably this year, Mr. Decker said he did not look for this to affect the livestock industry materially. "While the wheat acreage undoubtedly will be larger than normal," he explained, "I believe the increase will be mostly in newly broken land. The farmers who are well along in the livestock business are not going, in my mind, to desert stock for grain to any large extent."

MARKED GAINS FOR COTTON

Domestic Sales and Export Demand Boost Prices Three Cents.

As a result of a great increase in domestic sales and large exports, cotton prices are now established at a new high level for the year and are practically 3 cents a pounds above the extreme of the depression reached last December. Trade conditions in the South have consequently improved remarkably and that, it is predicted, will shortly be reflected in increased purchases of all lines of manufactured goods from the Eastern and Middle states.

During the past three years, the Clyde Iron works of this city established a considerable trade in the South in its lines of logging and other machinery which was in a great measure interrupted when the depression in the cotton trade developed last August. A revival in the lumbering industry through the Southern states is now looked for by officials of the company, and it is expected that shipments of its products down that way will be resumed this summer upon an extended scale.

As an evidence of the extent of the revival in the cotton industry it is mentioned that the undertone in the cotton market is as firm now as at any time this season and that Southern holders are selling very sparingly. Most of them are standing out for still higher prices.

Up to date this season nearly 7,000,000 bales of cotton have been exported and it is thought that fully the normal quantity will be shipped to Europe before the end of the present crop year in spite of the tie-up in the trade at the start. American factories are also consuming the staple in large quantities, having taken last month over 30,000 bales more than was consumed during the corresponding period a year ago.

TELEGRAPH LINES PROSPER.

Current Earnings Show Large Increase Due to War.

Telegraph companies are faring well in war times, judging by their reports of current earnings.

The Western Union's net income in the quarter ended with March was at the rate of 6.4 per cent on the stock for the full year. The total of $1,687,165 showed a gain of $622,287 over the same period last year. It is understood that cable traffic accounted for a sizeable part of the net revenue, and evidently the improvement from this source of earnings offset by a large margin whatever recession of domestic income there was. The war acted to impair telegraph business in the United States, but stimulated the transmission of messages through the submarine lines of the company.

The American Telephone & Telegraph company showed a net surplus for the three months of $1,431,331 as compared with $1,292,212 during the same period last year.

PACKERS EXPECT BIG EXPORT TRADE

Store Immense Stock of Provisions to Ship When War Closes.

American packers are looking forward to the development of an enormous export trade in provisions when the war is over, and as a preliminary they are storing large stocks. It is said that the space engaged in warehouses through the Middle West is so large that operators in the butter and egg trade are experiencing difficulty in obtaining storage facilities at some points.

J. Ogden Armour is quoted as follows in the course of an interview with the correspondent of the Wall Street Journal at Chicago:

"The packing house industry is busier than for years. The plants are running at full capacity, and substantially more than a year ago. Gross sales have been above a year ago, until recently. Southern trade is improving. The South has picked up wonderfully, and our sales reflect this change. The principal cause of our unusual activity at this period is the large volume of orders since the war began. We hope, and with good reason expect, England will release our cargoes held up, aggregating nearly $4,000,000 for our company and probably about as much for other companies here. I don't think the product will sustain much damage from this detention.

"Grain and livestock prices look rather high to me all around, but peace in Europe would greatly stimulate provisions trade. I believe there is relatively more employment today in our industry than in any other."

HOME RULE BILL UP IN WISCONSIN

Senate Indorses Arnold Measure Providing for Same.

Madison, Wis., April 21.—Home rule for Wisconsin cities, which went down to defeat in the state-wide referendum last fall when it was one of many constitutional amendments voted upon, rose from the ruins today and received the senate's indorsement, 22 to 8, on the Arnold bill to delegate legislative powers upon cities for the settlement of their own peculiar problems.

The principal demand for it was voiced by Milwaukee members, who said that the first city of the state was tired of coming out to Madison for authority to trim her shade trees and settle her sewerage problem. Senator Martin denounced the bill as Socialistic.

The senate passed the Baxter bill requiring, as amended, all employers except those engaged in lumbering, circuses and traveling shows, to pay their employes twice a month. The vote was 19 to 9.

The senate state affairs committee recommend for indefinite postponement the Bosshard bill for one day's rest in seven for employes and the Scott bill abolishing the state athletic commission.

The assembly adopted a resolution creating a legislative committee of three members to investigate the necessity of creating the county of Burke out of parts of Shawano and Outagamie counties.

The anti-treating bill, relating to intoxicating liquors, was sent back to committee for a legal opinion as to its constitutionality.

By a vote of 62 to 31, the assembly refused to kill the so-called mill tax for the support of the university and the measure went to engrossment.

The committee on taxation unfavorably reported the Cretney bill to change the income tax from a state to a local collection system.

AGAIN RETURNS TO "DRY" COLUMN

Pontiac, Mich., April 21.—Oakland county, which on the face of the results election night, April 6, swung from the "wet" to the "dry" column in the local option contest, but later was credited back to the "wets" after a recount, again returned to the "dry" column today. The county board of election canvassers today threw out the ballots in eleven townships because the ballot boxes had not been sealed after the polls closed. This gave a majority of 26 for prohibition.

SHOOTS MAN AND WIFE AND COMMITS SUICIDE.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 21.—William Hunter, 49 years old, who came here recently from Hartford, Conn., shot and seriously wounded Mr. and Mrs. Beachey F. Crampton at a hotel here early today and then committed suicide.

Hunter had purchased the lease of the hotel from the Cramptons a week ago, and it is supposed, was dissatisfied with the deal.

The Cramptons may recover.

SELF-EVIDENT PROPOSITION.

Lippincott's Magazine: At a certain college it was the custom to have the students write the following pledge at the bottom of their examination papers:

"I hereby certify on my honor that I have neither given nor received aid during this examination."

Soon after handing in his paper to a professor noted for his sarcasm, a young fellow hurriedly entered the classroom and said:

"Professor, I forgot to put the pledge on my paper."

"Altogether unnecessary," replied the teacher. "I have just finished looking over your paper, and I feel sure you did not give or receive aid."

THEIR ONLY CHANCE.

Washington Star: Apropos of the wonderful bayonet charges of the French, Col. Arthur Riggs of Denver said:

"The bayonet is a French weapon. It was invented in Bayonne, on the southwest coast of France. Hence its name.

"It isn't because the French are poor shots that they resort to the bayonet. No, indeed, they are fine shots." He smiled. "Not like a squad of recruits I once drilled.

"I never saw such wretched shots as those recruits were. My drill sergeant tried them first at 750 yards, then at 500, then at 100 in vain.

"Then the drill sergeant looked at the squad and said:

"'Fix bayonets and charge the target! It's your only chance.'"

TWISTS OF GAME LAWS.

Municipal Court Spectators Learn Something About Minnesota Code.

SPECTATORS in municipal court learned some new things about Minnesota's game laws today when Victor Olson and Stone JoJhnson paid fines of $12.50 for catching fish in this county and selling them without crossing the boundary of the county.

Inasmuch as St. Louis county contains more than 150,000 persons, the act was a misdemeanor, and Deputy Game Warden August Tabor brought the two men here from Ault this morning. They caught thirty-eight pounds of pickerel in Stone lake several days ago and sold them for $2.

It is unlawful to catch fish in a county whose population is 150,000 or more, and sell them in the same county.

JUST ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER.

Ludwig Jensen Turned Down By Girl and Is Then Arrested.

Ludvig Jensen is a "most unlucky" man.

He stole a $100 bill from a friend so that he could be married, but the girl turned him down and a few weeks later he was arrested. He now is in jail, and will be given a hearing before Judge F. H. Cutting April 27.

On Jan. 22 one Lars Nelson stopped for the night at the Ryan hotel, West Superior street, and became acquainted with Jensen. Nelson was on his way to the old country, and had five $100 bills in his possession.

a few drinks Nelson entrusted one of the bills, which was Canadian, to Jensen, who was to change it for him. Jensen disappeared, and boarded a train for Pine City.

His Pine City girl seemingly was not overly impressed by the wealth of her suitor, so Jensen went on to Minneapolis. Success was elusive, however, and the $100 rapidly dwindled.

Jensen returned to Duluth yesterday and was arrested by Officer Mahlen.

WAS NOT MARRIED, BUT A SHOEMAKER.

"Are you married?"

"No, I'm a shoemaker."

That was the way Nels Rosengren, age 56, answered Judge F. H. Cutting in municipal court this morning. Rosengren, with two friends, Charles Anderson, age 59, and Jack Neimi, age 35, were facing a charge of drunkenness.

Arm in arm, the three strolled into police headquarters last night and asked Lieut. E. H. Barber for a "flop." He gave them one, but allowed them a jail cell instead of compelling them to go to the lodgers' room in the basement.

The shoemaker was sentenced to ten days at the workfarm, his offense being the second, while the others escaped with seven days.

ALL TOO SKEPTICAL.

Refused to Pick Up Purse Containing Seventy-Five Pennies.

For nearly an hour this noon a fat wallet lay on the sidewalk directly in front of the city hall entrance, and passersby refused to pick it up, fearful of being "the goat."

"Shingle nails," said M. J. Filiatrault, as he stopped and picked up the wallet on his way into the building. Without looking at the contents, he tossed it away. After this comment no one dared touch the purse, until finally Fred S. Jeffery, 4007 West Sixth street, picked it up and took it to police headquarters.

"Some shingle nails," he said, as he tossed it through the open window to Lieut. N. U. G. Terry.

Lieut. Terry, being a policeman, is more skeptical than an ordinary citizen, and just to prove that they weren't shingle nails, he took a peek inside the wallet when no one was looking.

It contained seventy-five pennies.
